16 And all the rulers from the nations of the sea will descend from their thrones and remove the headdresses from their heads and strip off their embroidered apparel; with dismay they will be dismayed, sit upon the earth and fear their destruction and groan over you;

17 and they will take up a lament over you and say to you, How were you brought down from the sea, the praised city which gave her fear to all who inhabit her?

18 And the islands will fear from the day of your fall.

19 Because thus says the Lord Lord, When I make you a desolate city like the cities which will not be inhabited, when I bring the abyss upon you and much water covers you,

20 and I will bring you down to those descending into a pit, to a people of old, and settle you in the depths of the earth as an everlasting wilderness with those descending into a pit, so that you may not be inhabited nor rise upon a land of life.

21 I will make you destruction, and you will no longer exist forever, says the Lord Lord.

Chapter 27

1 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Son of man, take up a lament over Sor

3 and say to Sor, who dwells at the entrance of the sea, the trading place of the peoples from many islands, Thus says the Lord to Sor, You said, I put my beauty around myself.

4 In the heart of the sea, for Beelim, your sons put beauty around you.

5 Cedar from Sanir was built for you; strips of cypress planks from Lebanon were taken to make fir masts for you.

6 From Basanitis they made your oars; your holy things they made from ivory, wooded houses from the islands of the Chettiin.

7 Fine linen with embroidery from Egypt became your covering, to put glory around you and wrap you in blue and purple from the islands of Elisai, and became your coverings.

8 And your rulers who inhabit Sidon and Aradians became your rowers; your wise ones, Sor, who were in you, these were your pilots.

9 The elders of the Byblians and their wise ones were in you, these strengthened your counsel; and all the ships of the sea and their rowers became yours toward the farthest west.

10 Persians and Lydians and Libyans were in your army, your warrior men hung shields and helmets in you, these gave your glory.

11 Sons of Aradians and your army were guards upon your walls, in your towers; they hung their quivers upon your moorings round about; these perfected your beauty.

12 Carthaginians were your merchants from the abundance of all your strength; silver and gold and iron and tin and lead they gave for your market.

13 Hellas and the whole and the neighboring lands, these traded with you in human souls and gave bronze vessels for your commerce.

14 From the house of Thergama they gave horses and horsemen for your market.

15 Sons of Rhodians were your merchants from islands; they multiplied your commerce with ivory tusks, and for the imported things you gave your payments in return,

16 people as your merchandise from the abundance of your mixed wares, myrrh and embroidered things from Tharsis, and Ramoth and Chorchor they gave for your market.

17 Ioudas and the sons of Israel, these were your merchants in the sale of grain and perfumes and cassia, and first honey and oil and resin they gave into your mixed wares.

18 Damascus was your merchant from the abundance of all your wealth; wine from Chelbon and wool from Miletos;

19 and wine they gave for your market. From Asel worked iron and a wheel are among your mixed wares.

20 Daidan were your merchants with choice beasts for chariots.

21 Arabia and all the rulers of Kedar, these were your merchants through your hand, camels and rams and lambs with which they trade with you.

22 Merchants of Saba and Ragma, these were your merchants with foremost spices and good stones, and gold they gave for your market.

23 Charran and Channa, these were your merchants. Assour and Charman were your merchants, 24 bringing merchandise, blue and choice treasures bound with cords and cypress things.

25 Ships, in them Carthaginians were your merchants in the multitude among your mixed wares, and you were filled and made exceedingly heavy in the heart of the sea.

26 In much water your rowers led you; the south wind crushed you in the heart of the sea.

27 There were your riches and your payment and that of your mixed wares and your rowers and your pilots and your counselors and your traders from your mixed wares and all your warrior men in you and all your gathering in your midst; they will fall in the heart of the sea on the day of your fall.

28 At the sound of your cry your pilots will fear with fear,

29 and all your rowers will descend from the ships, and the passengers and the bowmen of the sea will stand upon the earth

30 and shout over you with their voice and cry bitterly and place earth upon their head and spread ash beneath themselves.

32 And their sons will take up a lament over you and a lamentation for you,

33 How great a payment did you find from the sea? You filled nations from your multitude and from your mixed wares enriched all kings of the earth.

34 Now you were crushed in the sea, in the depth of water; your mixed wares and all your gathering in your midst fell, all your rowers.

35 All who inhabit the islands grew gloomy over you, and their kings were dismayed with dismay, and their face shed tears.

36 Merchants from nations hissed at you; you became destruction and shall no longer be forever.

Chapter 28

1 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 And you, son of man, say to the ruler of Tyre, Thus says the Lord, Because your heart was raised, and you said, I am God, I have inhabited a dwelling of God in the heart of the sea, but you are a human and not God, and you made your heart like God's heart,

3 are you wiser than Daniel? Did wise ones not instruct you in their knowledge?

4 Did you not by your knowledge or your understanding make wealth for yourself and gold and silver in your treasuries?

5 By your abundant knowledge and your commerce you multiplied your wealth; your heart was raised in your wealth.

6 Therefore thus says the Lord, Since you made your heart like God's heart,

7 in return for this behold, I bring against you foreign pests from nations, and they will draw their swords against you and against the beauty of your knowledge and lay your beauty low unto destruction

8 and bring you down, and you will die the death of wounded ones in the heart of the sea.

9 Will you, speaking, say, I am God, before those killing you? But you are a human and not God. In a multitude

10 of uncircumcised ones you will perish in the hands of foreigners; because I spoke, says the Lord.

11 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying,

12 Son of man, take up a lament over the ruler of Tyre and say to him, Thus says the Lord Lord, You are a seal of likeness and a crown of beauty;

13 you were in the delight of God's paradise; you have bound upon yourself every good stone, sardion and topaz and emerald and carbuncle and sapphire and jasper and silver and gold and ligyrion and agate and amethyst and chrysolite and beryl and onyx, and you filled your treasuries and your storehouses in you with gold from the day when you were created.

14 With the cheroub I placed you upon God's holy mountain; you were amid fiery stones.

15 You were blameless in your days from the day when you were created until the wrongs were found in you.

16 From the abundance of your commerce you filled your chambers with lawlessness and sinned and were wounded away from God's mountain, and the cheroub led you from amid fiery stones.

17 Your heart was raised on account of your beauty, your knowledge was corrupted with your beauty; because of the multitude of your sins I threw you upon the earth, gave you before kings to be made an example.

18 Because of the multitude of your sins and the injustices of your commerce you profaned your holy places; and I will bring fire out from your midst, this will devour you; and I will make you ash upon your earth before all who see you.

19 And all who know you among the nations will grow gloomy over you; you became destruction and shall no longer exist forever.

20 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying,

21 Son of man, set your face against Sidon and prophesy against her

22 and say, Thus says the Lord, Behold, I am against you, Sidon, and I will be glorified in you, and you will know that I am the Lord when I execute judgments in you, and I will be sanctified in you.

23 Blood and death in your squares, and wounded ones will fall by swords in you round about you; and they will know that I am the Lord.

24 And they will no longer be to the house of Israel a prickle of bitterness and a thorn of pain, from all those round about them who dishonored them; and they will know that I am the Lord.

25 Thus says the Lord Lord, And I will gather Israel from the nations where they were scattered there, and I will be sanctified in them before the peoples and the nations; and they will dwell upon their land which I have given to my servant Iakob,

26 and they will dwell upon it in hope and build houses and plant vineyards and dwell in hope, when I execute judgment upon all who dishonored them among those round about them; and they will know that I am the Lord their God and the God of their fathers.

Chapter 29

1 In the tenth year, in the tenth month, on the first of the month, a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Son of man, set your face against Pharao king of Egypt, and prophesy against him and against all Egypt,

3 and say, Thus says the Lord: Behold, I am against Pharao, the great dragon sitting in the midst of his rivers, who says, The rivers are mine, and I made them.

4 And I will put traps in your jaws and attach the fish of your river to your wings, and bring you up from the midst of your river, and all the fish of your river,

5 and cast you down quickly, and all the fish of your river. You shall fall upon the face of the plain, and you shall certainly not be gathered, and you shall certainly not be wrapped up; I have given you to the beasts of the earth and to the birds of heaven for devouring.

6 And all those inhabiting Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because you became a reed staff for the house of Israel.

7 When they took hold of you with their hand, you were crushed; and when every hand prevailed against them, and when they rested upon you, you were shattered and broke all their loins together.

8 Therefore thus says the Lord: Behold, I bring a sword upon you, and I will destroy men and livestock from you;

9 and the land of Egypt shall be destruction and desert, and they shall know that I am the Lord, because you say, The rivers are mine, and I made them.

10 Therefore behold, I am against you and against all your rivers, and I will give the land of Egypt over to desert and sword and destruction, from Magdolon and Syene and as far as the borders of the Ethiopians.

11 A man's foot shall certainly not pass through it, and a beast's foot shall certainly not pass through it, and it shall not be inhabited for forty years.

12 And I will give its land over to destruction in the midst of a desolated land, and its cities shall be in the midst of desolated cities for forty years; and I will scatter Egypt among the nations and winnow them into the countries.

13 Thus says the Lord: After forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the nations where they were scattered,

14 and I will turn back the captivity of the Egyptians and settle them in the land of Pathoures, in the land from which they were taken; and it shall be a lowly dominion

15 beside all the dominions; it shall certainly no longer be exalted over the nations, and I will make them few, so that they shall not be more numerous among the nations.

16 And they shall no longer be for the house of Israel a hope reminding them of lawlessness when they follow after them; and they shall know that I am the Lord.

17 And it happened in the twenty-seventh year, on the first of the first month, a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

18 Son of man, Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon subjected his force to great servitude against Tyre; every head bald and every shoulder shedding hair, and no wage came to him and to his force against Tyre and for the servitude with which they served against it.

19 Thus says the Lord Lord: Behold, I give the land of Egypt to Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon, and he shall plunder its plunder and despoil its spoils, and it shall be a wage for his force;

20 in return for his service with which he served against Tyre, I have given him the land of Egypt. Thus says the Lord Lord:

21 On that day a horn shall spring up for the whole house of Israel, and to you I will give an opened mouth in their midst; and they shall know that I am the Lord.

Chapter 30

1 And a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy and say, Thus says the Lord: Oh, oh, the day!

3 For the day of the Lord is near; it shall be a day, an end of nations.

4 And a sword shall come upon the Egyptians, and there shall be disturbance in Ethiopia, and wounded ones shall fall in Egypt, and its foundations shall collapse together.

5 Persians and Cretans and Lydians and Libyans and all the mixed peoples, and some of the sons of my covenant, shall fall by the sword in it.

6 And the supports of Egypt shall fall, and the insolence of its strength shall come down from Magdolon to Syene; they shall fall by the sword in it, says the Lord.

7 And it shall be desolated in the midst of desolated countries, and their cities shall be in the midst of desolated cities;

8 and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I put fire upon Egypt and all those helping it are shattered.

9 On that day messengers shall go out, hastening to make Ethiopia disappear, and there shall be disturbance among them on the day of Egypt, for behold, it comes. –

10 Thus says the Lord Lord: And I will destroy a multitude of Egyptians by the hand of Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon,

11 him and his people; pestilent ones sent from nations to destroy the land, and they shall all draw their swords against Egypt, and the land shall be filled with wounded ones.

12 And I will make their rivers desolate, and destroy the land and its fullness in the hands of foreigners; I, the Lord, have spoken. –

13 For thus says the Lord Lord: And I will destroy magnates from Memphis and rulers from the land of Egypt, and they shall no longer exist.

14 And I will destroy the land of Pathoures and put fire upon Tanis and execute vengeance in Diospolis,

15 and pour out my wrath upon Sais, the strength of Egypt, and destroy the multitude of Memphis;

16 and I will put fire upon Egypt, and Syene shall be disturbed with disturbance, and in Diospolis there shall be a bursting forth, and waters shall be poured out.

17 Young men of Heliopolis and Boubastos shall fall by the sword, and the women shall go in captivity.

18 And in Taphnas the day shall grow dark when I shatter there the scepters of Egypt, and the insolence of its strength shall perish there, and a cloud shall cover it, and its daughters shall be led away captive.

19 And I will execute judgment in Egypt, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 And it happened in the eleventh year, in the first month, on the seventh of the month, a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

21 Son of man, I shattered the arms of Pharao king of Egypt, and behold, it was not bound up for healing to be given, for a poultice to be put upon it, for strength to be given to take hold of a sword.

22 Therefore thus says the Lord Lord: Behold, I am against Pharao king of Egypt, and I will shatter his arms, the strong ones and the outstretched ones, and cast down his sword from his hand,

23 and scatter Egypt into the nations and winnow them into the countries;

24 and I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put my sword into his hand, and he shall bring it upon Egypt and plunder its plunder and despoil its spoils.

25 And I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharao shall fall; and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I put my sword into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he shall extend it over the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter Egypt into the nations and winnow them into the countries; and they shall all know that I am the Lord.

Chapter 31

1 And it happened in the eleventh year, in the third month, on the first of the month, a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Son of man, say to Pharao king of Egypt and to his multitude, To whom have you likened yourself in your height?

3 Behold, Assour, a cypress in Lebanon, and beautiful in its shoots and high in stature; its top came into the midst of clouds;

4 water nourished it, the abyss raised it high; it led its rivers around its plants and sent out its collections of water to all the trees of the plain.

5 Because of this its stature was raised above all the trees of the plain, and its branches spread wide from much water.

6 In its shoots all the birds of heaven nested, and beneath its branches all the beasts of the plain gave birth; in its shade every multitude of nations dwelt.

7 And it became beautiful in its height through the multitude of its branches, because its roots came into much water.

8 Such cypresses did not exist in the paradise of God, and pines were not like its shoots, and firs did not become like its branches; no tree in the paradise of God was likened to it in its beauty,

9 through the multitude of its branches, and the trees of the paradise of God's delight envied it. –

10 Therefore thus says the Lord: Because you became great in stature and put your top into the midst of clouds, and I saw when it was raised high,

11 I also delivered it into the hands of a ruler of nations, and he brought about its destruction.

12 And foreign pestilent ones from nations utterly destroyed it and cast it down upon the mountains; in all the ravines its branches fell, and its trunks were shattered in every plain of the earth, and all the peoples of the nations came down from their shelter and razed it to the ground.

13 Upon its fall all the birds of heaven rested, and upon its trunks all the beasts of the field came,

14 so that all the trees in the water might not be raised high in their stature; and they did not put their top into the midst of clouds, and all those drinking water did not stand against them in their height; all were given over to death, to the depth of the earth, in the midst of sons of men, to those descending into a pit. –

15 Thus says the Lord Lord: On the day when it descended into Hades, the abyss mourned it, and I stopped its rivers and held back a multitude of water, and Lebanon grew dark over it; all the trees of the plain fainted over it.

16 At the sound of its fall the nations were shaken, when I brought it down into Hades with those descending into a pit, and all the trees of delight and the choice ones of Lebanon, all those drinking water, comforted it in the earth.

17 For they too descended with it into Hades among those wounded by a sword, and its seed, those dwelling under its shelter, perished in the midst of their life.

18 To whom were you likened? Descend, and be brought down with the trees of delight into the depth of the earth; in the midst of the uncircumcised you shall lie with those wounded by a sword. Thus Pharao and the multitude of his strength, says the Lord Lord.

Chapter 32

1 And it happened in the eleventh year, in the twelfth month, on the first of the month, a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Son of man, take up a lament over Pharao king of Egypt, and you shall say to him, You were likened to a lion of nations, and you were like a dragon in the sea, and you were butting with your rivers and disturbing water with your feet and trampling your rivers.

3 Thus says the Lord: And I will cast over you nets of many peoples and bring you up with my hook,

4 and stretch you out upon the earth; plains shall be filled with you, and I will seat upon you all the birds of heaven, and fill with you all the beasts of all the earth;

5 and I will put your flesh upon the mountains and fill them with your blood,

6 and the earth shall be watered from your excrements, from your multitude upon the mountains; I will fill ravines with you.

7 And when you are extinguished I will cover heaven and darken its stars; I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall certainly not show its light;

8 all those showing light in heaven shall grow dark over you, and I will put darkness upon your land, says the Lord Lord.

9 And I will provoke the heart of many peoples to anger when I bring your captivity into the nations, into a land which you did not know.

10 And many nations shall be gloomy over you, and their kings shall be beside themselves with consternation when my sword flies before their faces, awaiting their fall from the day of your fall.

11 For thus says the Lord: A sword of the king of Babylon shall come to you

12 with swords of giants, and I will cast down your strength; all pestilent ones from nations, and they shall destroy the insolence of Egypt, and all its strength shall be shattered.

13 And I will destroy all its livestock from much water, and a man's foot shall certainly no longer disturb it, and a footprint of livestock shall certainly not trample it.

14 Thus then their waters shall be still, and their rivers shall flow like oil, says the Lord.

15 When I give Egypt over to destruction and the land is desolated with its fullness, when I scatter all those dwelling in it, then they shall know that I am the Lord.

16 It is a lament, and you shall lament it, and the daughters of the nations shall lament it; over Egypt and over all its strength they shall lament it, says the Lord Lord.

17 And it happened in the twelfth year, in the first month, on the fifteenth of the month, a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

18 Son of man, lament over the strength of Egypt, and the nations shall bring down its daughters dead into the depth of the earth, to those descending into a pit;

20 in the midst of those wounded by a sword they shall fall with him, and all his strength shall lie down.

21 And the giants shall say to you, Be in the depth of a pit; of whom are you better? Descend and lie down with the uncircumcised in the midst of those wounded by a sword.

22 There Assour and all his assembly, all wounded, were placed there, and their burial is in the depth of a pit, and his assembly came to be around his tomb, all the wounded who have fallen by a sword,

23 who put their fear upon the land of life.

24 There Ailam and all his force around his tomb, all the wounded who have fallen by a sword, and those descending uncircumcised into the depth of the earth, who have put their fear upon the land of life, and they received their torment with those descending into a pit,

25 in the midst of wounded ones.

26 There Mosoch and Thobel were placed, and all their strength around his tomb, all his wounded, all uncircumcised ones wounded by a sword, who have put their fear upon the land of life;

27 and they lay down with the giants who have fallen from of old, who descended into Hades with weapons of war and put their swords under their heads; and their lawlessnesses came upon their bones, because they terrified giants in the land of life.

28 And you shall lie down in the midst of the uncircumcised, with those wounded by a sword.

29 There the rulers of Assour were placed, who gave his strength over to a wound of a sword; these lay down with wounded ones, with those descending into a pit.

30 There the rulers of the north, all generals of Assour, those descending wounded, with their fear and their strength, lay down uncircumcised with those wounded by a sword, and bore their torment with those descending into a pit.

31 King Pharao shall see those, and be comforted over all their strength, says the Lord Lord.

32 For I have put his fear upon the land of life, and he shall lie down in the midst of the uncircumcised, with those wounded by a sword, Pharao and all his multitude, says the Lord Lord.

Chapter 33

1 And a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Son of man, speak to the sons of your people, and you shall say to them, A land upon which I bring a sword, and the people of the land take one man from among them and appoint him for themselves as a watchman,

3 and he sees the sword coming upon the land and blows the trumpet and signals to the people,

4 and the one hearing hears the sound of the trumpet and does not take heed, and the sword comes and overtakes him, his blood shall be upon his head;

5 because, having heard the sound of the trumpet, he did not take heed, his blood shall be upon him; and this one, because he took heed, rescued his soul.

6 And the watchman, if he sees the sword coming and does not signal with the trumpet, and the people do not take heed, and the sword comes and takes a soul from among them, this soul was taken because of its own lawlessness, and I will require the blood from the watchman's hand.

7 And you, son of man, I have appointed you a watchman for the house of Israel, and you shall hear a word from my mouth.

8 When I say to the sinner, By death you shall be put to death, and you do not speak so that the ungodly may take heed to keep from his way, the lawless one himself shall die in his lawlessness, but I will require his blood from your hand.

9 But if you forewarn the ungodly of his way, to turn away from it, and he does not turn away from his way, this one shall die in his ungodliness, and you have rescued your own soul. –

10 And you, son of man, say to the house of Israel, Thus you spoke, saying, Our errors and our lawlessnesses are upon us, and in them we are wasting away; and how shall we live?

11 Say to them, I live, thus says the Lord: I do not desire the death of the ungodly as I desire that the ungodly turn away from his way and live. Turn away with a turning away from your way; and why do you die, house of Israel?

12 Say to the sons of your people, A righteous man's righteousness shall certainly not rescue him on the day when he goes astray, and an ungodly man's lawlessness shall certainly not harm him on the day when he turns away from his lawlessness; and a righteous man shall certainly not be able to be saved.

13 When I say to the righteous man, This one has trusted in his righteousness, and he commits lawlessness, all his righteous deeds shall certainly not be remembered; in his injustice which he committed, in it he shall die.

14 And when I say to the ungodly, By death you shall be put to death, and he turns away from his sin and does judgment and righteousness,

15 and returns a pledge and repays what was seized, walks in ordinances of life so as not to do wrong, he shall live with life and shall certainly not die;

16 all his sins which he committed shall certainly not be remembered; because he did judgment and righteousness, in them he shall live.

17 And the sons of your people shall say, The way of the Lord is not straight; and this way of theirs is not straight.

18 When a righteous man turns away from his righteousness and commits lawlessnesses, he shall also die in them;

19 and when the sinner turns away from his lawlessness and does judgment and righteousness, in them he himself shall live.

20 And this is what you said, The way of the Lord is not straight; I will judge you, each in his ways, house of Israel.

21 And it happened in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, on the fifth of the month of our captivity, the one who had escaped came to me from Ierusalem, saying, The city has been captured.

22 And the hand of the Lord came upon me in the evening before he came, and opened my mouth until he came to me in the morning; and my mouth, having been opened, was no longer restrained.

23 And a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

24 Son of man, those inhabiting the desolated places upon the land of Israel say, Abraam was one and possessed the land, and we are more numerous; the land has been given to us for a possession.

25 Therefore say to them, Thus says the Lord Lord:

27 I live: surely those in the desolated places shall fall by a sword, and those upon the face of the plain shall be given to the beasts of the field for devouring, and those in the fortified places and those in the caves I will kill with death.

28 And I will make the land desolate, and the insolence of its strength shall perish, and the mountains of Israel shall be desolated because there is no one passing through.

29 And they shall know that I am the Lord; and I will make their land desolate, and it shall be desolated because of all their abominations which they committed.

30 And you, son of man, the sons of your people who speak about you beside the walls and in the gateways of the houses, and speak, a man to his brother, saying, Let us come together and hear the things proceeding from the Lord,

31 come to you as a people comes together, and sit before you and hear your words, and they shall certainly not do them, because falsehood is in their mouth, and their heart is after defilements.

32 And you become to them like the sound of a sweet-voiced, well-tuned psaltery, and they shall hear your words and shall certainly not do them.

33 And when it comes, they shall say, Behold, it comes; and they shall know that a prophet was in their midst.

Chapter 34

1 And a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel; prophesy and say to the shepherds, Thus says the Lord Lord: O shepherds of Israel, do shepherds feed themselves? Do the shepherds not feed the sheep?

3 Behold, you consume the milk and clothe yourselves with the wool and slaughter the fat one, and you do not feed my sheep;

4 you did not strengthen the weak one, and did not restore the sick one's body, and did not bind up the shattered one, and did not turn back the straying one, and did not seek the lost one, and you worked the strong one with toil.

5 And my sheep were scattered because there were no shepherds, and became food for all the beasts of the field;

6 and my sheep were scattered on every mountain and upon every high hill, and were scattered upon the face of all the earth, and there was no one seeking them out or turning them back.

7 Therefore, shepherds, hear a word of the Lord:

8 I live, says the Lord Lord: surely, because my sheep became plunder and my sheep became food for all the beasts of the plain because there were no shepherds, and the shepherds did not seek out my sheep, and the shepherds fed themselves but did not feed my sheep,

9 because of this, shepherds,

10 thus says the Lord Lord: Behold, I am against the shepherds, and I will require my sheep from their hands and turn them away from shepherding my sheep, and the shepherds shall no longer feed them; and I will rescue my sheep from their mouth, and they shall no longer be food for them.

11 For thus says the Lord: Behold, I will seek out my sheep and attend to them.

12 Just as the shepherd seeks his flock on a day when there is gloom and cloud among separated sheep, so I will seek out my sheep and drive them away from every place where they were scattered on a day of cloud and gloom.

13 And I will bring them out of the nations and gather them from the countries and bring them into their land, and feed them upon the mountains of Israel and in the ravines and in every inhabited place of the land;

14 in good pasture I will feed them, and on the high mountain of Israel shall be their folds; there they shall lie down and there they shall rest in good delight, and in rich pasture they shall be fed upon the mountains of Israel.

15 I will feed my sheep and I will give them rest, and they shall know that I am the Lord. Thus says the Lord Lord:

16 I will seek the lost one and turn back the straying one and bind up the shattered one and strengthen the failing one and guard the strong one, and feed them with judgment.

17 And you, sheep, thus says the Lord Lord: Behold, I will distinguish between sheep and sheep, rams and goats;

18 and is it not enough for you that you grazed the good pasture, and trampled the remainder of your pasture with your feet? And you drank the settled water and disturbed the rest with your feet;

19 and my sheep grazed what your feet had trampled and drank the water disturbed by your feet.

20 Therefore thus says the Lord Lord: Behold, I will distinguish between a strong sheep and a weak sheep.

21 With your sides and shoulders you push, and with your horns you were butting, and you were squeezing out every failing one.

22 And I will save my sheep, and they shall certainly no longer be plunder, and I will judge between ram and ram.

23 And I will raise up over them one shepherd, and he shall shepherd them, my servant Dauid, and he shall be their shepherd;

24 and I, the Lord, shall be a God to them, and Dauid a ruler in their midst; I, the Lord, have spoken.

25 And I will make with Dauid a covenant of peace and make evil beasts disappear from the land, and they shall dwell in the desert and sleep in the woods.

26 And I will place them around my mountain; and I will give you rain, rain of blessing.

27 And the trees in the plain shall give their fruit, and the land shall give its strength, and they shall dwell upon their land in hope of peace, and they shall know that I am the Lord when I shatter their yoke; and I will rescue them from the hand of those who enslaved them.

28 And they shall no longer be plunder for the nations, and the beasts of the earth shall certainly no longer eat them; and they shall dwell in hope, and there shall be no one terrifying them.

29 And I will raise up for them a plant of peace, and they shall no longer be perishing by famine upon the land, and shall certainly no longer bear the reproach of nations.

30 And they shall know that I am the Lord their God, and they are my people, the house of Israel, says the Lord.

31 You are my sheep and sheep of my flock, and I am the Lord your God, says the Lord Lord.

Chapter 35

1 And a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Son of man, turn your face toward mount Seir and prophesy against it,

3 and say, Thus says the Lord Lord: Behold, I am against you, mount Seir, and I will extend my hand against you and make you desolate, and you shall be desolated,

4 and I will make a desolation for your cities, and you shall be desolate; and you shall know that I am the Lord.

5 Because you became an everlasting enemy and lay in ambush for the house of Israel with deceit, in the hand of enemies, with a sword in a time of injustice at the end,

6 therefore, I live, says the Lord Lord: surely you sinned unto blood, and blood shall pursue you.

7 And I will make mount Seir a desert and a desolated place, and destroy men and livestock from it,

8 and fill the hills and your ravines with your wounded, and in all your plains those wounded by a sword shall fall in you.

9 I will make you an everlasting desolation, and your cities shall certainly no longer be inhabited; and you shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because you said, The two nations and the two countries shall be mine, and I will inherit them, and the Lord is there,

11 therefore, I live, says the Lord, and I will do to you according to your enmity, and I will be known to you when I judge you;

12 and you shall know that I am the Lord. I heard the sound of your blasphemies, because you said, The mountains of Israel are desolate, they have been given to us for devouring;

13 and you spoke boastfully against me with your mouth; I heard.

14 Thus says the Lord: In the rejoicing of all the earth I will make you desolate;

15 you shall be desolate, mount Seir, and all Idoumaia shall be utterly consumed; and you shall know that I am the Lord their God.

Chapter 36

1 And you, son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Israel and say to the mountains of Israel, Hear a word of the Lord:

2 Thus says the Lord Lord: Because the enemy said against you, Well done! Everlasting deserts have become a possession for us,

3 therefore prophesy and say, Thus says the Lord Lord: Because you were dishonored and hated by those around you, so that you became a possession for the remaining nations, and you came up as talk upon a tongue and as a reproach to nations,

4 therefore, mountains of Israel, hear a word of the Lord: Thus says the Lord to the mountains and the hills and the ravines and the torrents and the utterly desolated and vanished places and the abandoned cities, which became plunder and something trampled for the nations remaining round about;

5 therefore thus says the Lord Lord: Surely in the fire of my wrath I spoke against the remaining nations and against all Idoumaia, because they gave my land to themselves for a possession with rejoicing, dishonoring souls in order to destroy in plunder;

6 therefore prophesy to the land of Israel and say to the mountains and the hills and the ravines and the valleys, Thus says the Lord: Behold, in my jealousy and in my wrath I spoke because you bore reproaches of nations;

7 therefore I will raise my hand against the nations around you; these shall receive their dishonor;

8 but your grapes and your fruit, mountains of Israel, my people shall eat, because they draw near to coming.

9 For behold, I am for you and will look upon you, and you shall be cultivated and sown.

10 And I will multiply men upon you, the whole house of Israel completely, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolated land shall be built up.

11 And I will multiply men and livestock upon you and settle you as at your beginning, and do good to you as in your former times; and you shall know that I am the Lord.

12 And I will bring forth men upon you, my people Israel, and they shall inherit you, and you shall be a possession for them; and you shall certainly no longer be bereaved of children by them.

13 Thus says the Lord Lord: Because they said to you, You are one devouring men, and you became bereaved of children by your nation,

14 therefore you shall no longer eat men and shall no longer bereave your nation of children, says the Lord Lord.

15 And the dishonor of nations shall no longer be heard against you, and you shall certainly not bear reproaches of peoples, says the Lord Lord.

16 And a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

17 Son of man, the house of Israel dwelt upon their land and defiled it in their way and in their idols and in their uncleannesses; like the uncleanness of the woman sitting apart was their way before my face.

18 And I poured out my wrath upon them,

19 and scattered them into the nations and winnowed them into the countries; according to their way and according to their sin I judged them.

20 And they entered into the nations where they entered, and profaned my holy name when it was said of them, These are the Lord's people, and they have gone out of his land.

21 And I spared them because of my holy name, which the house of Israel profaned among the nations where they entered.

22 Therefore say to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord: I do not act for you, house of Israel, but for my holy name, which you profaned among the nations where you entered.

23 And I will sanctify my great name which was profaned among the nations, which you profaned in their midst, and the nations shall know that I am the Lord when I am sanctified in you before their eyes.

24 And I will take you out of the nations and assemble you from all the lands and bring you into your land.

25 And I will sprinkle clean water upon you, and you shall be cleansed from all your uncleannesses and from all your idols, and I will cleanse you.

26 And I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit within you, and remove the stone heart from your flesh and give you a heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you and cause you to walk in my just requirements and keep my judgments and do them.

28 And you shall dwell upon the land which I gave to your fathers, and you shall be a people to me, and I shall be a God to you.

29 And I will save you from all your uncleannesses and call for the grain and multiply it, and I will not put famine upon you;

30 and I will multiply the fruit of the tree and the produce of the field, so that you may not receive a reproach of famine among the nations.

31 And you shall remember your evil ways and your practices which were not good, and be disgusted before their face in your lawlessnesses and over your abominations.

32 I do not act because of you, says the Lord Lord; it shall be known to you. Be ashamed and abashed because of your ways, house of Israel.

33 Thus says the Lord: On the day when I cleanse you from all your lawlessnesses, I will also settle the cities, and the desolate places shall be built up.

34 And the land which had vanished shall be cultivated, whereas it had become a vanished land before the eyes of everyone passing by.

35 And they shall say, That land which had vanished became like a garden of delight, and the desolate and vanished and demolished cities were established as fortified ones.

36 And the nations, as many as remain around you, shall know that I, the Lord, built up the demolished places and planted the vanished places; I, the Lord, have spoken and will do it.

37 Thus says the Lord: Yet for this I shall be sought by the house of Israel, to do it for them; I will multiply them, men like sheep.

38 Like holy sheep, like the sheep of Ierusalem in its feasts, so the desolate cities shall be full of flocks of men; and they shall know that I am the Lord.

Chapter 37

1 And the hand of the Lord came upon me, and the Lord brought me out in spirit and placed me in the midst of the plain, and this was full of human bones;

2 and he led me around them all about, and behold, very many upon the face of the plain, very dry.

3 And he said to me, Son of man, shall these bones live? And I said, Lord, you know these things.

4 And he said to me, Prophesy over these bones, and you shall say to them, Dry bones, hear a word of the Lord:

5 Thus says the Lord to these bones: Behold, I bring into you a spirit of life,

6 and I will put sinews upon you and bring flesh up upon you and stretch skin over you and put my spirit into you, and you shall live; and you shall know that I am the Lord.

7 And I prophesied as he commanded me. And it happened while I was prophesying, and behold, a shaking, and it brought the bones together, each to its joint.

8 And I saw, and behold, sinews and flesh were growing upon them, and skin was coming up over them above, and there was no spirit in them.

9 And he said to me, Prophesy, son of man, prophesy to the spirit and say to the spirit, Thus says the Lord: Come from the four winds and breathe into these dead ones, and let them live.

10 And I prophesied as he commanded me; and the spirit entered into them, and they lived and stood upon their feet, a very great assembly.

11 And the Lord spoke to me, saying, Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel, and they say, Our bones have become dry, our hope has perished, we have ceased to be heard.

12 Therefore prophesy and say, Thus says the Lord: Behold, I open your tombs and will bring you up out of your tombs and bring you into the land of Israel,

13 and you shall know that I am the Lord when I open your graves, to bring my people up out of the graves.

14 And I will put my spirit into you, and you shall live, and I will place you upon your land, and you shall know that I, the Lord, have spoken and will do it, says the Lord.

15 And a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

16 Son of man, take for yourself a staff and write upon it Ioudas and the sons of Israel attached to him; and you shall take for yourself a second staff and write upon it, For Ioseph, a staff of Ephraim and all the sons of Israel added to him.

17 And you shall join them to one another for yourself into one staff, to bind them, and they shall be in your hand.

18 And it shall be, when the sons of your people say to you, Will you not tell us what these things are to you?

19 that you shall say to them, Thus says the Lord: Behold, I will take the tribe of Ioseph which is through the hand of Ephraim and the tribes of Israel attached to him and put them upon the tribe of Iouda, and they shall be one staff in the hand of Iouda.

20 And the staffs upon which you wrote shall be in your hand before them,

21 and you shall say to them, Thus says the Lord Lord: Behold, I take the whole house of Israel from the midst of the nations where they entered, and I will gather them from all those around them and bring them into the land of Israel;

22 and I will make them one nation in my land and in the mountains of Israel, and there shall be one ruler of them, and they shall no longer be two nations, nor shall they certainly be divided any longer into two kingdoms,

23 so that they may no longer be defiled with their idols. And I will deliver them from all their lawlessnesses in which they sinned and cleanse them, and they shall be a people to me, and I, the Lord, shall be a God to them.

24 And my servant Dauid shall be a ruler in their midst, and there shall be one shepherd of all; for they shall walk in my ordinances and keep my judgments and do them.

25 And they shall dwell upon their land which I have given to my servant Iakob, where their fathers dwelt; and they themselves shall dwell upon it, and Dauid my servant shall be their ruler forever.

26 And I will make with them a covenant of peace; an everlasting covenant shall be with them; and I will put my holy places in their midst forever.

27 And my dwelling shall be among them, and I shall be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 And the nations shall know that I am the Lord who sanctifies them, when my holy places are in their midst forever.

Chapter 38

1 And a word of the Lord came to me, saying,

2 Son of man, set your face against Gog and the land of Magog, ruler of Ros, Mosoch and Thobel, and prophesy against him,

3 and say to him, Thus says the Lord Lord: Behold, I am against you, Gog, ruler of Ros, Mosoch and Thobel,

4 and I will gather you and all your force, horses and horsemen, all clothed in breastplates, a great assembly, shields and helmets and swords,

5 Persians and Ethiopians and Libyans, all with helmets and shields,

6 Gomer and all those around him, the house of Thergama from the extremity of the north and all those around him, and many nations with you;

7 be prepared, prepare yourself, you and all your assembly, those gathered with you, and you shall be an advance guard for me.

8 After many days he shall be prepared, and at the end of years he shall come and arrive at the land turned away from a sword, of those gathered from many nations, upon the land of Israel, which became wholly desolate; and this one has come out of nations, and they shall all dwell in peace.

9 And you shall go up like rain and come like a cloud to cover a land, and you shall be there, and all those around you and many nations with you.

10 Thus says the Lord Lord: And it shall be on that day, words shall come up upon your heart, and you shall devise evil thoughts,

11 and say, I will go up upon an abandoned land; I will come upon those resting in quietness and dwelling in peace, all inhabiting a land in which there is no wall or bars, and they have no doors,

12 to plunder plunder and despoil their spoils, to turn your hand upon the desolated land which was settled, and upon a nation gathered from many nations, who have acquired possessions, dwelling upon the navel of the earth.

13 Saba and Daidan and Carthaginian merchants and all their villages shall say to you, Are you coming for plunder, to plunder and despoil spoils? Have you gathered your assembly to take silver and gold, to carry away a possession, to despoil spoils?

14 Therefore prophesy, son of man, and say to Gog, Thus says the Lord: On that day, when my people Israel are settled in peace, shall you not be roused?

15 And you shall come from your place, from the extremity of the north, and many nations with you, all riders of horses, a great assembly and a large force,

16 and you shall go up against my people Israel like a cloud to cover a land; it shall be at the end of the days, and I will bring you up against my land, so that all the nations may know me when I am sanctified in you before them.

17 Thus says the Lord Lord to Gog: You are the one about whom I spoke before former days through the hand of my servants, prophets of Israel, in those days and years, to bring you against them.

18 And it shall be on that day, on the day when Gog comes against the land of Israel, says the Lord Lord, my wrath shall rise,

19 and my jealousy. In the fire of my anger I spoke: Surely on that day there shall be a great shaking upon the land of Israel,

20 and the fish of the sea and the birds of heaven and the beasts of the plain and all the creeping things creeping upon the earth and all men upon the face of the earth shall be shaken from the presence of the Lord, and the mountains shall be torn apart, and the ravines shall fall, and every wall shall fall upon the earth.

21 And I will call every terror against him, says the Lord; a man's sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will judge him with death and blood and flooding rain and hailstones, and I will rain fire and sulfur upon him and upon all those with him and upon many nations with him.

23 And I will be magnified and sanctified and glorified and known before many nations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

Chapter 39

1 And you, son of man, prophesy against Gog and say, Thus says the Lord: Behold, I am against you, Gog, ruler of Ros, Mosoch and Thobel,

2 and I will gather you and guide you and bring you up from the extremity of the north and lead you up onto the mountains of Israel.

3 And I will destroy your bow from your left hand and your arrows from your right hand, and cast you down

4 upon the mountains of Israel, and you shall fall, and all those around you, and the nations with you shall be given to multitudes of birds; to every winged creature and all the beasts of the plain I have given you to be devoured.

5 Upon the face of the plain you shall fall, because I have spoken, says the Lord.

6 And I will send fire upon Gog, and the islands shall be inhabited in peace; and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 And my holy name shall be known in the midst of my people Israel, and my holy name shall no longer be profaned; and the nations shall know that I am the Lord, holy in Israel.

8 Behold, it comes, and you shall know that it shall be, says the Lord Lord; this is the day of which I spoke.

9 And those inhabiting the cities of Israel shall go out and burn with the weapons, shields and poles and bows and arrows and hand staffs and spears; and they shall burn fire with them for seven years.

10 And they shall certainly not take wood from the plain, nor shall they certainly cut it from the woods, but they shall burn the weapons with fire; and they shall plunder those who plundered them and despoil those who despoiled them, says the Lord.

11 And it shall be on that day, I will give Gog a renowned place, a memorial in Israel, the common grave of those who came against it beside the sea, and they shall build around the mouth of the ravine; and they shall bury Gog there and all his multitude, and it shall be called, The gai, the common grave of Gog.

12 And the house of Israel shall bury them, so that the land may be cleansed, in seven months;

13 and all the people of the land shall bury them, and it shall be a renown for them on the day when I was glorified, says the Lord.

14 And they shall continually assign men traversing the land to bury those remaining upon the face of the earth, to cleanse it after the seven months, and they shall search out.

15 And everyone passing through the land and seeing a human bone shall build a sign beside it, until those burying bury it in the gai, the common grave of Gog;

16 for indeed the name of the city is Common Grave; and the land shall be cleansed.

17 And you, son of man, say, Thus says the Lord: Say to every winged bird and to all the beasts of the plain, Be gathered and come, be gathered from all those round about to my sacrifice which I have sacrificed for you, a great sacrifice upon the mountains of Israel, and you shall eat flesh and drink blood.

18 You shall eat flesh of giants and drink blood of rulers of the earth, rams and calves and goats, and the calves all fattened.

19 And you shall eat fat to fullness and drink blood to drunkenness from my sacrifice which I sacrificed for you.

20 And you shall be filled at my table with horse and rider, giant and every warrior man, says the Lord.

21 And I will put my glory among you, and all the nations shall see my judgment which I executed, and my hand which I brought upon them.

22 And the house of Israel shall know that I am the Lord their God from this day and beyond.

23 And all the nations shall know that the house of Israel was taken captive because of their sins, because they rejected me, and I turned my face away from them and delivered them into the hands of their enemies, and they all fell by a sword.

24 According to their uncleannesses and according to their lawless deeds I did to them, and turned my face away from them.

25 Therefore thus says the Lord Lord: Now I will turn back the captivity of Iakob and have mercy on the house of Israel and be jealous for my holy name.

26 And they shall receive their own dishonor and the injustice which they committed, when they are settled upon their land in peace, and there shall be no one terrifying them.

27 When I turn them back from the nations and gather them from the countries of the nations, I shall also be sanctified in them before the nations,

28 and they shall know that I am the Lord their God when I appear to them among the nations.

29 And I will no longer turn my face away from them, because I poured out my wrath upon the house of Israel, says the Lord Lord.

Chapter 40

1 And it happened in the twenty-fifth year of our captivity, in the first month, on the tenth of the month, in the fourteenth year after the city was captured, on that day the hand of the Lord came upon me and brought me

2 in a vision of God into the land of Israel, and placed me upon a very high mountain, and upon it was something like a city's structure opposite.

3 And he brought me in there, and behold, a man, and his appearance was like the appearance of shining bronze, and in his hand was a builders' cord and a measuring reed, and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man said to me, Have you seen, son of man? See with your eyes and hear with your ears and set in your heart everything that I show you, because you have entered here in order that I may show you, and you shall show everything that you see to the house of Israel.

5 And behold, an enclosure outside the house round about; and in the man's hand was a reed, the measure six cubits, by a cubit and a palm, and he measured the outer wall, its breadth equal to the reed and its height equal to the reed.

6 And he entered the gate facing east by seven steps and measured the ailam of the gate, equal to the reed,

7 and the thee, equal to the reed in length and equal to the reed in breadth, and the ailam between the thaielatha, six cubits, and the second thee, equal to the reed in breadth and equal to the reed in length, and the ailam, five cubits,

8 and the third thee, equal to the reed in breadth and equal to the reed in length,

9 and the ailam of the gateway beside the ailam of the gate, eight cubits, and the aileu, two cubits, and the ailam of the gate on the inside,

10 and the thee of the gate, thee opposite, three on this side and three on that side, and one measure for the three and one measure for the ailam on this side and that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the door of the gateway, ten cubits, and the width of the gateway, thirteen cubits,

12 and a cubit added upon the front of the theim on this side and that side, and the thee, six cubits on this side and six cubits on that side.

13 And he measured the gate from the wall of the thee to the wall of the thee, a breadth of twenty-five cubits, this gate opposite a gate;

14 and the open space of the ailam of the gate, sixty cubits, twenty theim of the gate round about;

15 and the open space of the gate outside to the open space of the ailam of the gate inside, fifty cubits;

16 and concealed windows upon the theim and upon the ailam inside the gate of the court round about, and likewise for the ailam, windows round about inside, and upon the ailam, palms on this side and that side.

17 And he brought me into the inner court, and behold, chambers and colonnades around the court, thirty chambers in the colonnades,

18 and the porticoes behind the gates, along the length of the gates, the lower colonnade.

19 And he measured the breadth of the court from the open space of the outer gate on the inside to the open space of the gate facing outside, a hundred cubits, of the one facing east. And he brought me to the north,

20 and behold, a gate facing north for the outer court, and he measured it, both its length and its breadth.

21 And its thee, three on this side and three on that side, and its aileu and its ailammo and its palms, and it came to be according to the measures of the gate facing east, fifty cubits its length and twenty-five cubits its width.

22 And its windows and its ailammo and its palms were as the gate facing east; and by seven steps they went up to it, and the ailammo were inside.

23 And a gate for the inner court faced the north gate, in the manner of the gate facing east, and he measured the court from gate to gate, a hundred cubits.

24 And he brought me southward, and behold, a gate facing south, and he measured it and the thee and the aileu and the ailammo according to these measures.

25 And its windows and the ailammo round about were as the windows of the ailam, fifty cubits its length and twenty-five cubits its width.

26 And it had seven steps, and ailammo inside, and it had palms, one on this side and one on that side, upon the aileu.

27 And a gate opposite a gate of the inner court toward the south; and he measured the court from gate to gate, a hundred cubits the width toward the south.

28 And he brought me into the inner court of the gate toward the south, and measured the gate according to these measures,

29 and the thee and the aileu and the ailammo according to these measures; and it and the ailammo had windows round about; fifty cubits its length, and the width twenty-five cubits.

31 And ailammo toward the outer court, and palms for the aileu, and eight steps.

32 And he brought me into the gate facing east and measured it according to these measures,

33 and the thee and the aileu and the ailammo according to these measures; and it and the ailammo had windows round about, fifty cubits its length and twenty-five cubits its width.

34 And ailammo toward the inner court, and palms upon the aileu on this side and that side, and it had eight steps.

35 And he brought me into the gate toward the north and measured according to these measures,

36 and the thee and the aileu and the ailammo; and it had windows round about, and its ailammo; fifty cubits its length and twenty-five cubits its width.

37 And the ailammo toward the outer court, and palms for the aileu on this side and that side, and it had eight steps.

38 Its chambers and its doorways and its ailammo were at the gate

39 of the second, a drain, so that they may slaughter in it the offerings for sin and for ignorance;

40 and behind the channel of the whole burnt offerings of the one facing north, two tables toward the east, and behind the second and the ailam of the gate, two tables eastward,

41 four on this side and four on that side behind the gate; upon them they shall slaughter the sacrifices, opposite the eight tables of the sacrifices.

42 And four tables of the whole burnt offerings, of hewn stone, a cubit and a half in breadth and two cubits and a half in length and a cubit in height; upon them they shall place the implements with which they slaughter there the whole burnt offerings and the sacrifices.

43 And they shall have a hewn cornice of a palm inside round about, and above upon the tables, roofs for shelter from rain and from dryness.

44 And he brought me into the inner court, and behold, two recesses in the inner court, one behind the gate facing north, extending toward the south, and one behind the gate toward the south but facing north.

45 And he said to me, This recess facing south is for the priests keeping the charge of the house,

46 and the recess facing north is for the priests keeping the charge of the altar; those are the sons of Saddouk who draw near from Leui to the Lord to minister to him.

47 And he measured the court, a length of a hundred cubits and a width of a hundred cubits on its four sides, and the altar opposite the house.

48 And he brought me into the ailam of the house. And he measured the ail of the ailam, five cubits the breadth on this side and five cubits on that side, and the width of the doorway, fourteen cubits, and the shoulders of the door of the ailam, three cubits on this side and three cubits on that side;

49 and the length of the ailam, twenty cubits, and the width, twelve cubits; and by ten steps they went up to it; and pillars were upon the ailam, one on this side and one on that side.

Chapter 41

1 And he brought me into the temple, for which he measured the ailam, six cubits the breadth on this side and six cubits the width of the ailam on that side,

2 and the width of the gateway, ten cubits, and the shoulders of the gateway, five cubits on this side and five cubits on that side; and he measured its length, forty cubits, and the width, twenty cubits.

3 And he entered the inner court and measured the ail of the doorway, two cubits, and the doorway, six cubits, and the shoulders of the doorway, seven cubits on this side and seven cubits on that side.

4 And he measured the length of the doors, forty cubits, and a width of twenty cubits in front of the temple. And he said, This is the holy of holies.

5 And he measured the wall of the house, six cubits, and the width of the side chamber, four cubits round about.

6 And the side chambers, side chamber upon side chamber, thirty-three twice, and a space in the wall of the house in the side chambers round about, for those taking hold to see, so that they might not touch the walls of the house at all.

7 And the width of the upper one of the side chambers was according to the addition from the wall toward the upper one around the house, so that it might widen above, and they might ascend from the lower ones to the upper rooms and from the middle ones to the third story.

8 And the thrael of the house, a height round about, a space of the side chambers equal to the reed, a space of six cubits.

9 And the width of the wall of the side chamber outside, five cubits; and the remaining spaces between the side chambers of the house

10 and between the recesses, a width of twenty cubits, the circuit around the house.

11 And the doors of the recesses opened onto the remaining space of the one door toward the north; and the one door toward the south, and the width of the opening of the remaining space, five cubits in breadth round about.

12 And the dividing structure in front of the remaining space toward the sea, seventy cubits, the breadth of the wall of the dividing structure five cubits, a width round about, and its length ninety cubits.

13 And he measured opposite the house a length of a hundred cubits, and the remaining spaces and the dividing structures and their walls, a length of a hundred cubits,

14 and the width in front of the house and the remaining spaces opposite, a hundred cubits.

15 And he measured the length of the dividing structure in front of the remaining space behind that house, and the remaining spaces on this side and that side, a hundred cubits the length. And the temple and the corners and the outer ailam

16 were paneled, and the windows latticed, openings for light round about for the three, so as to look through; and the house and the adjoining parts were covered in wood round about, and the floor, and from the floor to the windows, and the windows opening threefold for looking through.

17 And as far as beside the inner one and as far as the outer one, and upon the whole wall round about inside and outside,

18 cheroubin were carved, and palms between cheroub and cheroub; two faces for the cheroub,

19 a man's face toward the palm on this side and that side, and a lion's face toward the palm on this side and that side; the whole house was carved round about,

20 from the floor to the paneling, the cheroubin and palms carved.

21 And the holy place and the temple opened out square. Before the holy places was an appearance like the sight

22 of a wooden altar, three cubits its height, and the length two cubits and the width two cubits; and it had horns, and its base and its walls were wooden; and he said to me, This is the table before the face of the Lord.

23 And two doorways for the temple and the holy place;

24 two door leaves for the two hinged doorways, two door leaves for the one and two door leaves for the second door.

25 And carving upon them, and upon the door leaves of the temple, cheroubin and palms according to the carving of the holy places, and fine timbers in front of the ailam outside,

26 and concealed windows. And he measured on this side and that side, to the ceilings of the ailam and the joined side chambers of the house.

Chapter 42

1 And he brought me out into the outer court eastward, opposite the gate toward the north; and he brought me in, and behold, five recesses adjoining the remaining space and adjoining the dividing structure toward the north,

2 a hundred cubits in length toward the north, and the breadth fifty cubits,

3 laid out in the manner of the gates of the inner court and in the manner of the colonnades of the outer court, arranged in rows, three porticoes facing one another.

4 And opposite the recesses, a walkway ten cubits in breadth, a hundred cubits in length; and their doorways toward the north.

5 And the upper walkways likewise, because the colonnade projected from it, from the lower colonnade, and the space; thus a colonnade and a space, and thus porticoes;

6 because they were triple and did not have pillars like the pillars of the outer ones, therefore they projected beyond the lower and middle ones from the ground.

7 And an opening outside in the manner of the recesses of the outer court facing opposite the recesses toward the north, a length of fifty cubits;

8 because the length of the recesses facing into the outer court was fifty cubits, and these are facing those; the whole, a hundred cubits.

9 And the doors of these recesses of the entrance toward the east, to enter through them from the outer court,

10 were along the opening of the walkway at the beginning. – And the parts toward the south, in front of the south, in front of the remaining space and in front of the dividing structure, recesses,

11 and the walkway before them according to the measures of the recesses toward the north, and according to their length and according to their width and according to all their exits and according to all their turnings and according to their openings and according to their doorways

12 of the recesses toward the south, and according to the doorways from the beginning of the walkway, as toward an opening of a reed's space, and eastward to enter through them. –

13 And he said to me, The recesses toward the north and the recesses toward the south which are in front of the spaces, these are the recesses of the holy place, in which the priests, sons of Saddouk, who draw near to the Lord, shall eat there the holy of holies; and there they shall put the holy of holies and the sacrifice and the offerings for sin and the offerings for ignorance, because the place is holy.

14 No one shall enter there except the priests; they shall not go out from the holy place into the outer court, so that those presenting may always be holy, and may not touch their apparel in which they minister in them, because they are holy; and they shall put on other garments when they touch the people. –

15 And the measuring of the house inside was completed. And he brought me out by the way of the gate facing east and measured the outline of the house round about in order.

16 And he stood behind the gate facing east and measured five hundred with the measuring reed;

17 and he turned toward the north and measured the front toward the north, five hundred cubits with the measuring reed;

18 and he turned toward the sea and measured the front toward the sea, five hundred with the measuring reed;

19 and he turned toward the south and measured opposite the south, five hundred with the measuring reed;

20 the four sides by the same reed. And he arranged it, and their enclosure round about, five hundred eastward and five hundred cubits in width, to distinguish between the holy places and the outer wall in the arrangement of the house.

Chapter 43

1 And he brought me to the gate facing east and led me out,

2 and behold, the glory of the God of Israel was coming by the way of the gate facing east, and the sound of the camp was like the sound of many doubling their voices, and the earth shone out like brightness from the glory round about.

3 And the vision which I saw was according to the vision which I saw when I was entering to anoint the city, and the vision of the chariot which I saw was according to the vision which I saw at the river Chobar; and I fall upon my face.

4 And the glory of the Lord entered the house by the way of the gate facing east.

5 And a spirit took me up and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the house was full of the glory of the Lord.

6 And I stood, and behold, a voice from the house of one speaking to me, and the man stood beside me.

7 And he said to me, Have you seen, son of man, the place of my throne and the place of the footprint of my feet, in which my name shall dwell in the midst of the house of Israel forever? And the house of Israel shall no longer profane my holy name, they and their leaders, with their prostitution and with the murders of the leaders in their midst,

8 when they place my threshold among their thresholds and my doorposts adjoining their doorposts, and they made my wall as adjoining me and them, and profaned my holy name with their lawlessnesses which they were committing; and I crushed them in my wrath and in murder.

9 And now let them thrust their prostitution and the murders of their leaders away from me, and I will dwell in their midst forever.

10 And you, son of man, show the house to the house of Israel, and they shall cease from their sins; and its appearance and its arrangement,

11 and they themselves shall receive their punishment concerning all that they did. And you shall draw the house and its exits and its structure, and make known to them all its ordinances and all its laws, and draw it before them, and they shall keep all my just requirements and all my ordinances and do them;

12 and the drawing of the house upon the summit of the mountain, all its boundaries round about, holy of holies.

13 And these are the measures of the altar, by a cubit of a cubit and a palm; a hollow, a cubit in depth and a cubit the width, and a cornice upon its rim round about, a span. And this is the height of the altar:

14 from the depth of the beginning of its hollow to the great lower propitiatory, two cubits, and the width a cubit; and from the small propitiatory to the great propitiatory, four cubits, and a width of a cubit;

15 and the ariel, four cubits, and from the ariel and above the horns, a cubit.

16 And the ariel, twelve cubits in length by twelve cubits in breadth, square on its four sides;

17 and the propitiatory, fourteen cubits in length by fourteen cubits in width on its four sides; and its cornice circling it round about, half a cubit, and its surrounding space a cubit round about; and its steps facing east.

18 And he said to me, Son of man, thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: These are the ordinances of the altar on the day of its making, to offer whole burnt offerings upon it and pour blood against it.

19 And you shall give to the priests, the Levites from the seed of Saddouk who draw near to me, says the Lord God, to minister to me, a calf from the cattle for sin;

20 and they shall take from its blood and put it upon the four horns of the altar and upon the four corners of the propitiatory and upon the base round about, and make atonement for it;

21 and they shall take the calf for sin, and it shall be burned in the separated part of the house outside the holy places.

22 And on the second day they shall take two unblemished kids of goats for sin and make atonement for the altar as they made atonement with the calf;

23 and after you complete the atonement, they shall present an unblemished calf from the cattle and an unblemished ram from the sheep,

24 and you shall present them before the Lord, and the priests shall cast salt upon them and offer them as whole burnt offerings to the Lord.

25 For seven days you shall prepare a kid for sin each day, and a calf from the cattle and a ram from the sheep; they shall prepare unblemished ones

26 for seven days; and they shall make atonement for the altar and cleanse it and fill their hands.

27 And it shall be from the eighth day and beyond, the priests shall prepare upon the altar your whole burnt offerings and your offerings of deliverance. And I will accept you, says the Lord.

Chapter 44

1 And he turned me back by the way of the outer gate of the holy places facing east, and it was shut.

2 And the Lord said to me, This gate shall be shut; it shall not be opened, and no one shall certainly pass through it, because the Lord, the God of Israel, shall enter through it, and it shall be shut;

3 for the leader, this one shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord; by the way of the ailam of the gate he shall enter, and by its way he shall go out. –

4 And he brought me in by the way of the gate toward the north, opposite the house, and I saw, and behold, the house of the Lord was full of glory, and I fall upon my face.

5 And the Lord said to me, Son of man, set in your heart and see with your eyes and hear with your ears everything that I speak with you, according to all the ordinances of the house of the Lord and according to all its laws; and you shall set your heart upon the entrance of the house, according to all its exits in all the holy places.

6 And you shall say to the house provoking bitterness, to the house of Israel, Thus says the Lord God: Let all your lawlessnesses suffice you, house of Israel,

7 in that you brought in foreign sons, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my holy places, and they were profaning them when you presented bread, fat and blood, and you were transgressing my covenant in all your lawlessnesses,

8 and you appointed them to keep charges in my holy places.

9 Therefore thus says the Lord God: No foreign son, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter my holy places, among all the sons of foreigners who are in the midst of the house of Israel,

10 but only the Levites who leapt away from me when Israel went astray from me after their thoughts, and they shall receive their injustice,

11 and shall be in my holy places ministering as doorkeepers at the gates of the house and ministering to the house; these shall slaughter the whole burnt offerings and the sacrifices for the people, and these shall stand before the people to minister to them.

12 Because they were ministering to them before the face of their idols, and it became for the house of Israel a punishment for injustice, for this reason I raised my hand against them, says the Lord God,

13 and they shall not draw near to me to serve as priests to me, nor to approach the holy things of the sons of Israel, nor my holy of holies, and they shall receive their dishonor in the straying in which they strayed.

14 And they shall assign them to keep the charges of the house for all its works and for everything they may do. –

15 The priests, the Levites, the sons of Saddouk, who kept the charges of my holy places when the house of Israel went astray from me, these shall approach me to minister to me and stand before my face to present to me a sacrifice, fat and blood, says the Lord God.

16 These shall enter my holy places, and these shall approach my table to minister to me, and they shall keep my charges.

17 And it shall be, when they enter the gates of the inner court, they shall put on linen robes and shall not put on woolen ones when they minister from the gate of the inner court;

18 and they shall have linen turbans upon their heads and linen breeches upon their loins, and shall not gird themselves tightly.

19 And when they go out into the outer court to the people, they shall take off their robes in which they minister, and put them in the recesses of the holy places, and put on other robes, and shall certainly not sanctify the people with their robes.

20 And they shall not shave their heads and shall not strip their hair bare; covering, they shall cover their heads.

21 And no priest shall certainly drink wine when they enter the inner court.

22 And they shall not take for themselves as a wife a widow or a woman cast out, but only a virgin from the seed of Israel; and if a widow is left by a priest, they shall take her.

23 And they shall teach my people between holy and profane, and make known to them between unclean and clean.

24 And these shall preside over a judgment of blood, to distinguish; they shall uphold my just requirements and judge my judgments and keep my laws and my ordinances in all my feasts, and sanctify my sabbaths.

25 And they shall not come to a human soul so as to be defiled, except for his father and mother and son and daughter and brother and sister who has not become a man's wife, he shall be defiled.

26 And after he is cleansed, he shall count out seven days for himself;

27 and on the day when they enter the inner court to minister in the holy place, they shall present a propitiation, says the Lord God.

28 And it shall be an inheritance for them; I am an inheritance for them, and a possession shall not be given to them among the sons of Israel, because I am their possession.

29 And these shall eat the sacrifices and the offerings for sin and the offerings for ignorance, and everything set apart in Israel shall be theirs;

30 firstfruits of everything and the firstborn of everything and all the portions taken from all your firstfruits shall be for the priests; and you shall give your first produce to the priest, to put your blessings upon your houses.

31 And the priests shall not eat anything that has died of itself or been taken by beasts, from the birds or from the livestock.

Chapter 45

1 And when you measure out the land as an inheritance, you shall set apart a firstfruit for the Lord, holy, from the land, twenty-five thousand in length and twenty thousand in width; it shall be holy in all its boundaries round about.

2 And from this there shall be for a sanctuary five hundred by five hundred, square round about, and a space of fifty cubits for it round about.

3 And from this measurement you shall measure a length of twenty-five thousand and a width of ten thousand, and in it shall be the sanctuary, holy of holies;

4 from the land it shall be for the priests ministering in the holy place, and shall be for those drawing near to minister to the Lord, and it shall be for them a place for houses set apart for their sanctification.

5 Twenty-five thousand in length and ten thousand in width shall be for the Levites ministering to the house, for them as a possession, cities to inhabit.

6 And you shall give the possession of the city five thousand in width and twenty-five thousand in length; like the firstfruit of the holy places they shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And for the leader, on this side and on that side of the firstfruits of the holy places, for the possession of the city, in front of the firstfruits of the holy places and in front of the possession of the city, the parts toward the sea, and from the parts toward the sea toward the east; and the length like one of the portions from the boundaries toward the sea, and the length to the boundaries toward the east of the land;

8 and it shall be a possession for him in Israel, and the leaders of Israel shall no longer oppress my people, and the house of Israel shall inherit the land according to their tribes. –

9 Thus says the Lord God: Let it suffice you, leaders of Israel; remove injustice and misery and do judgment and righteousness, take oppression away from my people, says the Lord God.

10 Let there be for you a just balance and a just measure and a just choinix.

11 The measure and the choinix shall equally be one for receiving; the choinix a tenth of the gomor, and the measure a tenth of the gomor; it shall be equal in relation to the gomor.

12 And the weight, twenty obols; the five shekels, five, and the ten shekels, ten, and the mina shall be fifty shekels for you.

13 And this is the firstfruit which you shall set apart: a sixth of the measure from the gomor of wheat, and a sixth of the oiphi from the kor of barley.

14 And the ordinance of the oil: a kotyle of oil from ten kotylai, because the ten kotylai are a gomor.

15 And a sheep from the ten sheep, a portion taken from all the clans of Israel, for sacrifices and for whole burnt offerings and for an offering of deliverance, to make atonement for you, says the Lord God.

16 And all the people shall give this firstfruit to the leader of Israel.

17 And through the leader shall be the whole burnt offerings, and the sacrifices and the libations shall be in the feasts and in the new moons and in the sabbaths and in all the feasts of the house of Israel; he himself shall prepare the offerings for sin and the sacrifice and the whole burnt offerings and the offerings of deliverance, to make atonement for the house of Israel.

18 Thus says the Lord God: In the first month, on the first of the month, you shall take an unblemished calf from the cattle to make atonement for the holy place.

19 And the priest shall take from the blood of the atonement and put it upon the doorposts of the house and upon the four corners of the temple and upon the altar and upon the doorposts of the gate of the inner court.

20 And thus you shall do in the seventh month, on the first of the month; you shall take a portion from each one and make atonement for the house.

21 And in the first month, on the fourteenth of the month, the pascha shall be a feast for you; for seven days you shall eat unleavened things.

22 And on that day the leader shall prepare for himself and the house and for all the people of the land a calf for sin.

23 And for the seven days of the feast he shall prepare whole burnt offerings for the Lord, seven calves and seven unblemished rams each day for the seven days, and a kid of goats for sin each day.

24 And as a sacrifice you shall prepare a cake for the calf and a cake for the ram, and a hin of oil for the cake.

25 And in the seventh month, on the fifteenth of the month, at the feast you shall prepare according to the same things for seven days, as the offerings for sin and as the whole burnt offerings and as the manaa and as the oil.

Chapter 46

1 Thus says the Lord God: The gate in the inner court facing east shall be shut for the six working days, but on the day of the sabbaths it shall be opened, and on the day of the new moon it shall be opened.

2 And the leader shall enter by the way of the ailam of the gate outside and stand at the thresholds of the gate, and the priests shall prepare his whole burnt offerings and his offerings of deliverance; and he shall worship upon the threshold of the gate and go out, and the gate shall certainly not be shut until evening.

3 And the people of the land shall worship at the thresholds of that gate on the sabbaths and on the new moons before the Lord.

4 And the leader shall present the whole burnt offerings to the Lord: on the day of the sabbaths, six unblemished lambs and an unblemished ram,

5 and a manaa, a cake for the ram, and for the lambs a sacrifice, a gift of his hand, and a hin of oil for the cake;

6 and on the day of the new moon, an unblemished calf and six lambs, and a ram shall be unblemished,

7 and a cake for the ram and a cake for the calf shall be a manaa, and for the lambs as his hand may produce, and a hin of oil for the cake.

8 And when the leader enters, he shall enter by the way of the ailam of the gate, and by the way of the gate he shall go out.

9 And when the people of the land enter before the Lord in the feasts, the one entering by the way of the gate toward the north to worship shall go out by the way of the gate toward the south, and the one entering by the way of the gate toward the south shall go out by the way of the gate toward the north; he shall not return by the gate through which he entered, but shall go out straight opposite it.

10 And the leader in their midst, when they enter, shall enter with them, and when they go out, he shall go out.

11 And in the feasts and in the assemblies the manaa shall be a cake for the calf and a cake for the ram, and for the lambs as his hand may produce, and a hin of oil for the cake.

12 But if the leader makes a vow, a whole burnt offering of deliverance to the Lord, he shall also open for himself the gate facing east and prepare his whole burnt offering and his offerings of deliverance, in the manner that he does on the day of the sabbaths, and he shall go out and shut the doors after he goes out.

13 And he shall prepare an unblemished year-old lamb as a whole burnt offering each day to the Lord; in the morning he shall prepare it;

14 and he shall prepare a manaa with it in the morning, a sixth of the measure and a third of the hin of oil to mix the fine flour, a manaa for the Lord, an ordinance continually.

15 You shall prepare the lamb and the manaa, and you shall prepare the oil in the morning, a whole burnt offering continually.

16 Thus says the Lord God: If the leader gives a gift to one of his sons from his inheritance, this shall be a possession in inheritance for his sons.

17 But if he gives a gift to one of his servants, it shall also be his until the year of release, and he shall return it to the leader; except for the inheritance of his sons, it shall be theirs.

18 And the leader shall certainly not take from the inheritance of the people to oppress them; from his own possession he shall give an inheritance to his sons, so that my people may not be scattered, each from his possession.

19 And he brought me into the entrance behind the gate, into the recess of the holy places of the priests facing north, and behold, a place separated there.

20 And he said to me, This is the place where the priests shall boil there the offerings for ignorance and the offerings for sin, and there they shall bake the manaa, so as not to bring it out into the outer court at all, to sanctify the people.

21 And he brought me out into the outer court and led me around the four parts of the court, and behold, a court at the corner of the court, a court at the corner of the court;

22 at the four corners of the court, a small court, a length of forty cubits and a width of thirty cubits, one measure for the four.

23 And recesses round about in them, round about the four, and kitchens made beneath the recesses round about;

24 and he said to me, These are the houses of the kitchens, where those ministering to the house shall boil there the sacrifices of the people.

Chapter 47

1 And he brought me to the thresholds of the house, and behold, water was going out beneath the open space eastward, because the face of the house faced east, and the water was descending from the right side, from the south, upon the altar.

2 And he brought me out by the way of the gate toward the north and led me around by the way outside toward the gate of the court facing east, and behold, the water was flowing down from the right side.

3 As a man went out opposite, and a measure was in his hand, he measured a thousand with the measure, and passed through the water, water of release;

4 and he measured a thousand and passed through the water, water up to the thighs; and he measured a thousand and passed through water up to the waist;

5 and he measured a thousand and could not pass through, because the water was surging like the rush of a torrent which they shall not cross.

6 And he said to me, Have you seen, son of man? And he brought me to the bank of the river.

7 At my return, and behold, upon the bank of the river very many trees on this side and that side.

8 And he said to me, This water which goes out into Galilaia toward the east, and was descending upon Arabia and coming as far as the sea, to the water of the outlet, shall also make the waters healthy.

9 And it shall be, every soul of the living creatures swarming everywhere the river comes there shall live, and there shall be very many fish there, because this water comes there, and it shall make healthy and shall live; everything to which the river comes there shall live.

10 And fishermen shall stand there from Aingadin to Ainagalim; it shall be a drying place of nets; it shall be by itself, and its fish shall be like the fish of the great sea, a very great multitude.

11 And in its outlet and in its turning back and in its overflow they shall certainly not become healthy; they have been given over to salt.

12 And by the river, upon its bank on this side and that side, every food-bearing tree shall come up; what is upon it shall certainly not grow old, nor shall its fruit certainly fail; it shall bear first fruit in its newness, because these waters of theirs go out from the holy places, and their fruit shall be for food and their growth for health.

13 Thus says the Lord God: These boundaries you shall inherit of the land; for the twelve tribes of the sons of Israel, an addition of an allotment.

14 And you shall inherit it, each as his brother, concerning which I raised my hand to give it to their fathers, and this land shall fall to you as an inheritance.

15 And these are the boundaries of the land toward the north: from the great sea, the one descending and dividing around the entrance of Hemath, Seddada,

16 Berotha, Sebraim, Heliam, between the boundaries of Damascus and between the boundaries of Hemath, the court of Saunan, which are above the boundaries of Auranitis.

17 These are the boundaries from the sea, from the court of Ainan, the boundaries of Damascus and the parts toward the north.

18 And the parts toward the east, between Auranitis and between Damascus and between Galaaditis and between the land of Israel, the Iordanes marks the boundary to the sea toward the east of Phoinikon; these are the parts toward the east.

19 And the parts toward the south and southwest, from Thaiman and Phoinikon as far as the water of Marimoth Kades, extending to the great sea; this is the south and southwest part.

20 This is the part of the great sea; it marks the boundary as far as opposite the entrance of Hemath, as far as its entrance; these are the parts toward the sea, Hemath.

21 And you shall divide this land for them, for the tribes of Israel.

22 You shall cast it by lot for yourselves and for the sojourners dwelling among you, who begot sons in your midst; and they shall be to you like natives among the sons of Israel; with you they shall eat in inheritance in the midst of the tribes of Israel;

23 and they shall be in a tribe of sojourners, among the sojourners with them; there you shall give them an inheritance, says the Lord God.

Chapter 48

1 And these are the names of the tribes: from the beginning toward the north along the part of the descent of the dividing course to the entrance of Hemath, the court of Ainan, the boundary of Damascus toward the north along the part of the court of Hemath, and for them shall be the parts toward the east as far as toward the sea: Dan, one.

2 And from the boundaries of Dan, the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Aser, one.

3 And from the boundaries of Aser, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Nephthalim, one.

4 And from the boundaries of Nephthali, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Manasse, one.

5 And from the boundaries of Manasse, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Ephraim, one.

6 And from the boundaries of Ephraim, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Rouben, one.

7 And from the boundaries of Rouben, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Iouda, one.

8 And from the boundaries of Iouda, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea, shall be the firstfruit of the portion set apart, twenty-five thousand in width and a length like one of the portions from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea, and the holy place shall be in their midst;

9 a firstfruit which they shall set apart for the Lord, a length of twenty-five thousand and a width of twenty-five thousand.

10 Of these shall be the firstfruit of the holy places: for the priests, toward the north twenty-five thousand, and toward the sea a breadth of ten thousand, and toward the east a breadth of ten thousand, and toward the south a length of twenty-five thousand, and the mountain of the holy places shall be in its midst;

11 for the sanctified priests, sons of Saddouk, who keep the charges of the house, who did not go astray in the straying of the sons of Israel in the manner that the Levites went astray,

12 and the firstfruit given from the firstfruits of the land shall be theirs, holy of holies, from the boundaries of the Levites.

13 But for the Levites, the parts adjoining the boundaries of the priests, a length of twenty-five thousand and a width of ten thousand. The whole length twenty-five thousand and width twenty thousand.

14 None of it shall be sold or measured out, nor shall the first produce of the land be taken away, because it is holy to the Lord.

15 But the five thousand remaining in the width alongside the twenty-five thousand shall be an outer wall for the city, for dwelling and for its open space, and the city shall be in its midst.

16 And these are its measures: from the parts toward the north, four thousand five hundred, and from the parts toward the south, four thousand five hundred, and from the parts toward the east, four thousand five hundred, and from the parts toward the sea, four thousand five hundred;

17 and there shall be a space for the city toward the north, two hundred fifty, and toward the south, two hundred fifty, and toward the east, two hundred fifty, and toward the sea, two hundred fifty.

18 And the remainder of the length adjoining the firstfruits of the holy places, ten thousand toward the east and ten thousand toward the sea, and they shall be the firstfruits of the holy place, and its produce shall be for bread for those working the city;

19 and let those working the city work it, from all the tribes of Israel.

20 The whole firstfruit, twenty-five thousand by twenty-five thousand; as a square you shall set apart its firstfruit of the holy place from the possession of the city.

21 But the remainder for the leader, on this side and on that side from the firstfruits of the holy place and for the possession of the city, along twenty-five thousand in length as far as the boundaries toward the east, and toward the sea along twenty-five thousand as far as the boundaries toward the sea, adjoining the portions of the leader; and the firstfruit of the holy places and the sanctuary of the house shall be in its midst.

22 And from the possession of the Levites and from the possession of the city it shall be in the midst of the leaders; between the boundaries of Iouda and between the boundaries of Beniamin it shall belong to the leaders.

23 And the remainder of the tribes, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Beniamin, one.

24 And from the boundaries of Beniamin, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Symeon, one.

25 And from the boundaries of Symeon, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Issachar, one.

26 And from the boundaries of Issachar, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Zaboulon, one.

27 And from the boundaries of Zaboulon, from the parts toward the east as far as those toward the sea: Gad, one.

28 And from the boundaries of Gad as far as the parts toward the southwest, and its boundaries shall be from Thaiman and the water of Marimoth Kades, an inheritance as far as the great sea.

29 This is the land which you shall cast by lot for the tribes of Israel, and these are their divisions, says the Lord God.

30 And these are the exits of the city toward the north, four thousand five hundred by measure.

31 And the gates of the city are by the names of the tribes of Israel: three gates toward the north, one gate of Rouben and one gate of Iouda and one gate of Leui.

32 And the parts toward the east, four thousand five hundred; and three gates, one gate of Ioseph and one gate of Beniamin and one gate of Dan.

33 And the parts toward the south, four thousand five hundred by measure; and three gates, one gate of Symeon and one gate of Issachar and one gate of Zaboulon.

34 And the parts toward the sea, four thousand five hundred by measure; and three gates, one gate of Gad and one gate of Aser and one gate of Nephthalim.

35 A circuit of eighteen thousand. And the name of the city, from the day when it comes into being, shall be its name.

Chapter 1

6 ..... and judgments came from other cities to them.

7 /8 These, seeing a woman beautiful in appearance, the wife of their brother from the sons of Israel, named Sousanna, daughter of Chelkias, wife of Ioakim, walking in her husband's paradise in the late afternoon, and desiring her,

9 perverted their mind and turned their eyes aside so as not to look into heaven or remember righteous judgments.

10 /11 And both were stricken concerning her, and neither disclosed to the other the evil possessing them concerning her, nor did the woman know this matter.

12 And when dawn came, as they came they stole a march on one another, hastening to see who would appear to her first and speak to her.

13 /14 And behold, she was walking according to her custom, and one of the elders had come, and behold, the other arrived, and one examined the other, saying, Why did you go out thus at dawn without taking me along? And each confessed his pain to the other.

19 And one said to the other, Let us go to her; and having agreed, they approached her and were trying to force her.

22 And the Jewish woman said to them, I know that if I do this, it is death for me, and if I do not do it, I shall not escape your hands;

23 but it is better for me, without doing it, to fall into your hands than to sin before the Lord.

28 But the lawbreaking men turned away, making threats among themselves and lying in wait to put her to death; and they came to the assembly of the city where they were dwelling, and all the sons of Israel who were there sat together;

29 and the two elders and judges stood up and said, Send for Sousanna daughter of Chelkias, who is the wife of Ioakim; and they immediately called her.

30 And when the woman arrived with her own father and mother, her male servants and female servants, being five hundred in number, also arrived, and the four children of Sousanna;

31 and the woman was very delicate.

32 And the lawbreakers ordered her to be uncovered, so that they might be filled with the beauty of their desire for her;

33 and all those with her wept, and everyone who knew her.

34 And the elders and judges stood up and placed their hands upon her head;

35 but her heart had trusted in the Lord her God, and looking up, she wept within herself, saying,

35 a Lord, eternal God, who knows all things before their coming into being, you know that I did not do what these lawless men wickedly devise against me. And the Lord heard her petition.

36 And the two elders said, We were walking in her husband's paradise,

37 and going around the course we saw this woman resting with a man, and standing we watched them having intercourse with one another,

38 and they did not know that we were standing there. Then we agreed with one another, saying, Let us learn who these are.

39 And approaching, we recognized her, but the young man fled, covered up,

40 and taking hold of this woman, we were questioning her, Who is the man?

41 And she did not tell us who he was. These things we testify. And the whole assembly believed them, as being elders and judges of the people.

44 /45 And behold, an angel of the Lord, while she was being led out to perish, and the angel gave, as he was commanded, a spirit of understanding to Daniel, who was younger.

48 And Daniel, separating the crowd and standing in their midst, said, So foolish, sons of Israel? Without examining or learning the clear truth, did you condemn a daughter of Israel?

51 And now separate them for me far from one another, so that I may examine them.

52 And when they were separated, Daniel said to the assembly, Now do not look to the fact that these are elders, saying, They shall certainly not lie; but I will examine them according to what occurs to me. And he called one of them, and they brought the elder to the younger man, and Daniel said to him, Hear, hear, you who have grown old in evil days; now your sins have come, which you were committing formerly,

53 entrusted to hear and judge judgments bringing death, and you condemned the innocent but released the guilty, when the Lord says, You shall not kill an innocent and righteous one;

54 now then, under what tree and in what sort of place of the paradise have you seen them being together? And the ungodly one said, Under a mastic tree.

55 And the younger man said, Rightly you have lied against your own soul; for the angel of the Lord shall split your soul today.

56 And removing this one, he said to bring the other to him; and to this one also he said, Why is your seed perverted, like Sidon's and not like Iouda's? Beauty deceived you, foul desire;

57 and thus you were doing to daughters of Israel, and they, being afraid, were having intercourse with you, but a daughter of Iouda did not endure bearing your sickness in lawlessness;

58 now then tell me, Under what tree and in what place of the garden did you catch them having intercourse with one another? And he said, Under an evergreen oak.

59 And Daniel said, Sinner, now the angel of the Lord stands holding the sword until the people utterly destroy you, to saw you apart.

60-62 And the whole assembly cried out at the younger man, as from their own mouth he had established them both as agreeing false witnesses; and as the law declares, they did to them as they had wickedly devised against the sister. And they muzzled them, and leading them out, threw them into a ravine; then the angel of the Lord cast fire through their midst. And innocent blood was saved on that day.

63 Because of this the younger ones are beloved of Iakob in their simplicity. And let us be watchful for capable younger sons; for younger ones shall act piously, and there shall be in them a spirit of knowledge and understanding forever and ever.

Chapter 1

1 And there was a man dwelling in Babylon, and his name was Ioakim.

2 And he took a wife whose name was Sousanna, daughter of Chelkias, very beautiful and fearing the Lord;

3 and her parents were righteous and taught their daughter according to the law of Moyses.

4 And Ioakim was very rich, and he had a paradise adjoining his house; and the Jews came to him because he was more renowned than all.

5 And two elders from the people were appointed judges in that year, concerning whom the Master spoke, that lawlessness went out from Babylon, from elder judges who seemed to govern the people.

6 These were continually present in Ioakim's house, and all those having cases judged came to them.

7 And it happened, when the people went away at midday, Sousanna would enter and walk in her husband's paradise.

8 And the two elders watched her each day entering and walking, and came to desire her.

9 And they perverted their own mind and turned their eyes aside so as not to look into heaven or remember righteous judgments.

10 And both were stricken concerning her, and did not tell one another their pain,

11 because they were ashamed to disclose their desire, that they wanted to have intercourse with her.

12 And they were eagerly watching each day to see her.

13 And one said to the other, Let us now go home, because it is time for a meal; and going out, they separated from one another;

14 and turning back, they came to the same place, and questioning one another about the reason, they confessed their desire; and then together they appointed a time when they would be able to find her alone.

15 And it happened, while they were watching for a suitable day, she once entered, as yesterday and the third day, with only two girls, and desired to bathe in the paradise, because it was hot;

16 and no one was there except the two elders, hidden and watching her.

17 And she said to the girls, Bring me now oil and soap, and shut the doors of the paradise so that I may bathe.

18 And they did as she said and shut the doors of the paradise, and went out by the side doors to bring the things ordered them, and did not see the elders, because they were hidden.

19 And it happened, when the girls went out, the two old men also stood up and ran upon her,

20 and said, Behold, the doors of the paradise are shut, and no one sees us, and we desire you; therefore consent to us and be with us;

21 but if not, we shall testify against you that a young man was with you, and because of this you sent the girls away from you.

22 And Sousanna sighed and said, Tight places are all around me; for if I do this, it is death for me, and if I do not do it, I shall not escape your hands;

23 it is preferable for me, without doing it, to fall into your hands than to sin before the Lord.

24 And Sousanna cried out with a great voice, and the two old men also cried out against her.

25 And one ran and opened the doors of the paradise.

26 And when those from the house heard the cry in the paradise, they rushed in through the side door to see what had happened to her.

27 And when the old men spoke their words, the servants were very ashamed, because never had such a word been spoken about Sousanna.

28 And it happened on the next day, when the people assembled before her husband Ioakim, the two old men came full of the lawless intent against Sousanna to put her to death,

29 and said before the people, Send for Sousanna daughter of Chelkias, who is the wife of Ioakim; and they sent.

30 And she came, and her parents and her children and all her relatives;

31 and Sousanna was very delicate and beautiful in appearance.

32 And the lawbreakers commanded her to be uncovered, for she was covered, so that they might be filled with her beauty;

33 and those with her and all those seeing her were weeping.

34 And the two old men stood up in the midst of the people and put their hands upon her head;

35 and she, weeping, looked up into heaven, because her heart was trusting in the Lord.

36 And the old men said, While we were walking alone in the paradise, this woman entered with two maidservants and shut the doors of the paradise and dismissed the maidservants;

37 and a young man who had been hidden came to her and lay down with her.

38 And we, being in the corner of the paradise, saw the lawlessness and ran upon them;

39 and seeing them having intercourse, we were not able to gain hold of him, because he was stronger than we and had opened the doors and leapt out,

40 but taking hold of this woman, we were asking who the young man was,

41 and she did not want to tell us. These things we testify. And the assembly believed them as elders of the people and judges, and they condemned her to die.

42 And Sousanna cried out with a great voice and said, Eternal God, knower of hidden things, who knows all things before their coming into being,

43 you know that they testified false things against me; and behold, I die, having done none of the things which these wickedly devised against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voice.

45 And while she was being led away to perish, God roused the holy spirit of a younger boy whose name was Daniel,

46 and he cried out with a great voice, I am clean from this woman's blood.

47 And all the people turned to him and said, What is this word which you have spoken?

48 And he, standing in their midst, said, So foolish, sons of Israel? Without examining or learning the clear truth, did you condemn a daughter of Israel?

49 Return to the judgment seat; for these testified false things against her.

50 And all the people returned with haste. And the elders said to him, Come, sit in our midst and tell us; for God has given you the dignity of an elder.

51 And Daniel said to them, Separate them far from one another, and I will examine them.

52 And when they were separated one from the other, he called one of them and said to him, You who have grown old in evil days, now your sins have come, which you were committing formerly,

53 judging unjust judgments and condemning the innocent but releasing the guilty, when the Lord says, You shall not kill an innocent and righteous one;

54 now then, if indeed you saw this woman, say, Under what tree did you see them having intercourse with one another? And he said, Under a mastic tree.

55 And Daniel said, Rightly you have lied against your own head; for already an angel of God, having received a sentence from God, shall split you in the middle.

56 And removing him, he commanded the other to be brought forward; and he said to him, Seed of Chanaan and not of Iouda, beauty thoroughly deceived you, and desire perverted your heart;

57 thus you were doing to daughters of Israel, and they, being afraid, were having intercourse with you, but a daughter of Iouda did not endure your lawlessness;

58 now then tell me, Under what tree did you catch them having intercourse with one another? And he said, Under an evergreen oak.

59 And Daniel said to him, Rightly you too have lied against your own head; for the angel of God waits holding the sword to saw you in the middle, so that he may utterly destroy you.

60 And the whole assembly cried out with a great voice and blessed God, who saves those hoping in him.

61 And they rose against the two old men, because Daniel established from their mouth that they had testified falsely, and they did to them in the manner that they had wickedly devised for their neighbor,

62 to do according to the law of Moyses, and they killed them; and innocent blood was saved on that day.

63 And Chelkias and his wife praised God concerning their daughter Sousanna, with Ioakim her husband and all the relatives, because no shameful deed was found in her.

64 And Daniel became great before the people from that day and beyond.

1 Daniel

Chapter 1

1 In the third year of King Ioakim of Ioudaia, Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon arrived at Ierusalem and was besieging it.

2 And the Lord delivered it into his hands, and Ioakim the king of Ioudaia and a certain portion of the sacred vessels of the Lord, and he carried them away to Babylon and deposited them in his idol temple.

3 And the king told Abiesdri, his own chief eunuch, to bring him from the sons of the magnates of Israel and from the royal family and from the chosen ones,

4 young men unblemished and handsome and knowledgeable in all wisdom and literate and intelligent and wise and strong, so as to be in the king's house, and to teach them letters and the Chaldean language,

5 and to give them a provision from the king's house each day, and from the royal table and from the wine which the king drinks, and to educate them for three years, and from these to set them before the king.

6 And from the family of the sons of Israel, those from Ioudaia, were Daniel, Ananias, Misael, Azarias.

7 And the chief eunuch put names upon them: upon Daniel, Baltasar, and upon Ananias, Sedrach, and upon Misael, Misach, and upon Azarias, Abdenago.

8 And Daniel considered in his heart how not to be polluted with the king's dinner and with the wine he drinks, and petitioned the chief eunuch so that he might not be defiled together with them.

9 And the Lord gave Daniel honor and favor before the chief eunuch.

10 And the chief eunuch said to Daniel, I am anxious concerning my lord the king, who has appointed your food and your drink, lest he see your faces wasted and weak beside the young men of the foreigners brought up with you, and I endanger my own neck.

11 And Daniel said to Abiesdri, who had been appointed chief eunuch over Daniel, Ananias, Misael, Azarias,

12 Test your servants now for ten days, and let some of the pulses of the earth be given to us, so as to eat and drink water;

13 and if our appearance seems wasted beside the other young men eating from the royal dinner, as you may wish, so deal with your servants.

14 And he dealt with them in this manner and tested them for ten days.

15 And after the ten days their appearance seemed beautiful and the condition of their body better than the other young men eating the royal dinner.

16 And Abiesdri was taking away their dinner and their wine, and giving them pulses instead.

17 And the Lord gave the young men knowledge and understanding and prudence in every literary art; and to Daniel he gave understanding in every word and vision and dreams and in all wisdom.

18 And after these days the king ordered them to be brought in, and they were brought by the chief eunuch to King Nabouchodonosor.

19 And the king conversed with them, and among the wise none was found like Daniel and Ananias and Misael and Azarias; and they were with the king.

20 And in every matter and understanding and education, as much as the king sought from them, he found them tenfold wiser than the sophists and philosophers in all his kingdom; and the king glorified them and appointed them rulers and designated them wise beyond all his men in affairs in all his land and in his kingdom.

21 And Daniel continued until the first year of the reign of Cyrus king of the Persians.

Chapter 2

1 And in the second year of the reign of Nabouchodonosor, it happened that the king fell into visions and dreams and was disturbed in his dream, and his sleep departed from him.

2 And the king ordered the enchanters and the magi and the sorcerers of the Chaldeans to be brought in to tell the king his dreams, and arriving, they stood beside the king.

3 And the king said to them, I have seen a dream and my spirit was moved; therefore I want to know the dream.

4 And the Chaldeans spoke to the king in Syrian, Lord king, live forever; tell your dream to your servants, and we shall explain its interpretation to you.

5 And answering, the king said to the Chaldeans, If you do not truly tell me the dream and make its interpretation clear to me, you shall be made an example, and your possessions shall be taken into the royal treasury;

6 but if you explain the dream to me and tell its interpretation, you shall receive gifts of every kind and shall be glorified by me; make the dream clear to me and interpret it.

7 And they answered a second time, saying, King, say the vision, and your servants shall interpret concerning these things.

8 And the king said to them, Truly I know that you are buying time, just as you have seen that the matter has departed from me; therefore just as I have ordered, so it shall be;

9 if you do not truly tell me the dream and make its interpretation clear, you shall fall into death; for you agreed to make false statements before me until the time is changed; now then, if you tell me the matter which I saw in the night, I shall know that you shall also make its interpretation clear.

10 And the Chaldeans answered before the king, No one of those upon the earth shall be able to tell the king what he has seen, as you ask, and every king and every ruler does not ask such a thing of any wise man and magus and Chaldean;

11 and the word which you seek, king, is difficult and extraordinary, and there is no one who shall make these things clear to the king, except perhaps an angel whose dwelling is not with any flesh; therefore it cannot happen as you suppose.

12 Then the king, becoming gloomy and deeply grieved, ordered all the wise men of Babylonia to be led out;

13 and it was decreed to kill them all, and Daniel and all those with him were sought in order to perish together.

14 Then Daniel told the counsel and opinion which he had to Arioches, the king's chief cook, whom he had ordered to lead out the sophists of Babylonia,

15 and was inquiring of him, saying, Concerning what is a decree issued bitterly by the king? Then Arioches made the ordinance known to Daniel.

16 And Daniel quickly entered before the king and petitioned that time be given him by the king, and that he might make everything clear before the king.

17 Then Daniel went away to his house and showed everything to Ananias and Misael and Azarias, his companions;

18 and he prescribed fasting and petition and seeking help from the Lord Most High concerning this mystery, so that Daniel and those with him might not be given over to destruction together with the sophists of Babylon.

19 Then in a vision in that very night the king's mystery was clearly revealed to Daniel; then Daniel blessed the Lord Most High,

20 and speaking out, said, The name of the great Lord shall be blessed forever, because wisdom and greatness are his;

21 and he changes seasons and times, removing kings and appointing them, giving wisdom to the wise and understanding to those with knowledge;

22 revealing deep and dark things, and knowing the things in darkness and the things in light, and with him is a lodging;

23 to you, Lord of my fathers, I give thanks and praise, because you gave me wisdom and prudence, and now made known to me as much as I petitioned to make clear to the king concerning these things.

24 And Daniel entered before Arioch, who had been appointed by the king to kill all the sophists of Babylonia, and said to him, Do not destroy the sophists of Babylonia, but bring me in before the king, and I will make each thing clear to the king.

25 Then Arioch hastily brought Daniel in before the king and said to him, I have found a wise man from the captivity of the sons of Ioudaia, who shall make each thing clear to the king.

26 And answering, the king said to Daniel, who was called Baltasar in Chaldean, Shall you be able to make clear to me the vision which I saw, and its interpretation?

27 And Daniel, speaking out before the king, said, The disclosure of the mystery which the king has seen does not belong to wise men and sorcerers and enchanters and Gazarenes,

28 but there is a God in heaven revealing mysteries, who made clear to King Nabouchodonosor what must happen at the end of the days. King, live forever; the dream and the vision of your head upon your bed are these.

29 You, king, lying down upon your bed, have seen everything that must happen at the end of the days, and the one revealing mysteries made clear to you what must happen.

30 And to me this mystery was not revealed because of wisdom existing in me beyond all men, but for the sake of its being made clear to the king, what you conceived in your heart was made known to me in knowledge.

31 And you, king, have seen, and behold, one image, and that image was very great, and its surpassing appearance stood before you, and the appearance of the image was fearful;

32 and its head was of fine gold, the chest and the arms silver, the belly and the thighs bronze,

33 and the legs iron, the feet partly of iron and partly earthenware.

34 You were watching until a stone was cut from a mountain without hands and struck the image upon its iron and earthenware feet and ground them down.

35 Then together the iron and the earthenware and the bronze and the silver and the gold became fine, and became as though finer than chaff on a threshing floor, and the wind blew them away so that nothing was left of them; and the stone which struck the image became a great mountain and struck all the earth.

36 This is the vision; and we shall also tell the interpretation before the king.

37 You, king, are a king of kings, and to you the Lord of heaven gave dominion and kingdom and strength and honor and glory,

38 in the whole inhabited world, from men and wild beasts and birds of heaven and the fish of the sea, he delivered under your hands to rule over all; you are the golden head.

39 And after you a kingdom less than you shall arise, and a third, another bronze kingdom, which shall rule over all the earth.

40 And a fourth kingdom, strong like iron which subdues everything and cuts down every tree, and all the earth shall be shaken.

41 And as you have seen its feet partly of potter's earthenware and partly of iron, another kingdom shall be in it, in two parts, just as you saw the iron mixed together with the clay earthenware;

42 and the toes of the feet partly iron and partly earthenware, a certain part of the kingdom shall be strong and a certain part shall be shattered.

43 And as you saw the iron mixed together with the clay earthenware, they shall be mingled in the generation of men, but shall not be of one mind or well disposed to one another, just as neither can iron be blended with earthenware.

44 And in the times of these kings the God of heaven shall establish another kingdom, which shall exist forever and shall not be destroyed, and this kingdom shall certainly not permit another nation, but shall strike and make these kingdoms disappear, and shall itself stand forever,

45 just as you have seen a stone cut from a mountain without hands, and it crushed together the earthenware, the iron and the bronze and the silver and the gold. The great God made known to the king the things that shall be at the end of the days, and the vision is exact, and its interpretation trustworthy.

46 Then King Nabouchodonosor fell upon his face to the ground and worshiped Daniel, and ordered sacrifices and libations to be made for him.

47 And the king, speaking out to Daniel, said, Truly your God is a God of gods and Lord of kings, who alone reveals hidden mysteries, because you were able to make this mystery clear.

48 Then King Nabouchodonosor exalted Daniel and gave great and many gifts and appointed him over the affairs of Babylonia and designated him ruler and leader of all the sophists of Babylonia.

49 And Daniel petitioned the king that Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago be appointed over the affairs of Babylonia; and Daniel was in the royal court.

Chapter 3

1 In the eighteenth year, King Nabouchodonosor, governing cities and countries and all those dwelling upon the earth from India to Ethiopia, made a golden image, its height sixty cubits and its breadth six cubits, and set it in a plain of the enclosure of the country of Babylonia.

2 And Nabouchodonosor, king of kings and ruling over the whole inhabited world, sent to gather together all the nations and tribes and tongues, satraps, generals, local rulers and consuls, administrators and those in authority by country, and all those throughout the inhabited world, to come to the dedication of the golden image which King Nabouchodonosor set up;

3 and those written before stood opposite the image.

4 And the herald proclaimed to the crowds, It is commanded you, nations and countries, peoples and tongues:

5 when you hear the sound of the trumpet, pipe and lyre, sambyke and psaltery, symphony and every kind of musical instrument, fall down and worship the golden image which King Nabouchodonosor set up;

6 and everyone who does not fall down and worship, they shall throw him into the burning furnace of fire.

7 And at that time, when all the nations heard the sound of the trumpet and every sound of musical instruments, all the nations, tribes and tongues fell down and worshiped the golden image which Nabouchodonosor set up, before it.

8 At that time Chaldean men approached and accused the Jews,

9 and taking up the matter, said, Lord king, live forever;

10 you, king, ordered and decreed that every man who hears the sound of the trumpet and every sound of musical instruments should fall down and worship the golden image,

11 and whoever does not fall down and worship shall be thrown into the burning furnace of fire;

12 but there are certain Jewish men whom you appointed over the country of Babylonia, Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago; those men did not fear your command and did not serve your idol and did not worship your golden image which you set up.

13 Then Nabouchodonosor, enraged with anger, ordered Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago to be brought; then the men were brought before the king.

14 And seeing them together, King Nabouchodonosor said to them, Why, Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago, do you not serve my gods and not worship the golden image which I set up?

15 And now, if indeed you are ready, upon hearing the trumpet and every sound of musical instruments, to fall down and worship the golden image which I set up; but if indeed not, know that if you do not worship, you shall immediately be thrown into the burning furnace of fire; and what god shall rescue you from my hands?

16 And answering, Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago said to King Nabouchodonosor, King, we have no need to answer you concerning this command;

17 for there is a God in the heavens, one Lord of ours whom we fear, who is able to rescue us from the furnace of fire, and from your hands, king, he shall rescue us;

18 and then it shall be evident to you that we neither serve your idol nor worship your golden image which you set up.

19 Then Nabouchodonosor was filled with wrath, and the form of his face was changed, and he ordered the furnace to be heated sevenfold beyond what it ought to be heated;

20 and he ordered the strongest men in the force to bind Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago together and throw them into the burning furnace of fire.

21 Then those men were bound together, having their footwear and their tiaras upon their heads with their clothing, and were thrown into the furnace.

22 Since the king's ordinance was urgent and the furnace was heated sevenfold beyond its former heat, the men appointed bound them together and brought them to the furnace and threw them into it.

23 So the flame, coming out of the furnace, burned and killed the men who bound those with Azarias together, but they themselves were preserved.

24 Thus then Ananias and Azarias and Misael prayed and sang a hymn to the Lord when the king ordered them to be thrown into the furnace.

25 And Azarias stood and prayed thus, and opening his mouth, was giving thanks to the Lord together with his companions in the midst of the fire, while the furnace was heated greatly by the Chaldeans, and they said,

26 Blessed are you, Lord, the God of our fathers, and praiseworthy and glorified is your name forever,

27 because you are righteous in everything you did to us, and all your works are true, and your ways straight, and all your judgments true,

28 and you executed judgments of truth according to everything you brought upon us and upon your holy city of our fathers, Ierusalem, because in truth and judgment you did all these things because of our sins.

29 For we sinned in everything and acted lawlessly in departing from you, and sinned greatly in everything, and did not obey the commandments of your law,

30 nor preserve them nor do as you commanded us, so that it might go well for us.

31 And now everything you brought upon us and everything you did to us, you did in true judgment,

32 and delivered us into the hands of our lawless enemies and most hostile apostates, and to an unjust king, most wicked beyond all the earth.

33 And now we cannot open our mouth; shame and reproach have come to your servants and to those revering you.

34 Do not deliver us up completely because of your name, and do not scatter your covenant,

35 and do not remove your mercy from us because of Abraam, beloved by you, and because of Isaak your servant and Israel your holy one,

36 as you spoke to them, saying that you would multiply their seed like the stars of heaven and like the sand beside the shore of the sea.

37 For, Master, we have been made smaller than all the nations, and are lowly in all the earth today because of our sins,

38 and at this time there is no ruler or prophet or leader or whole burnt offering or sacrifice or offering or incense or place to offer fruit before you and find mercy;

39 but with a shattered soul and humbled spirit may we be accepted, as with whole burnt offerings of rams and bulls and as with myriads of fat lambs;

40 thus let our sacrifice be before you today, and make atonement behind you, because there is no shame for those trusting in you, and bring to completion behind you.

41 And now we follow with a whole heart and fear you and seek your face; do not put us to shame,

42 but deal with us according to your clemency and according to the multitude of your mercy,

43 and rescue us according to your wonders, and give glory to your name, Lord.

44 And may all those displaying evils to your servants be abashed and put to shame from all their dominion, and may their strength be shattered;

45 let them know that you alone are Lord God and glorious over the whole inhabited world.

46 And the king's attendants who threw them in did not cease heating the furnace. And when they threw the three into the furnace at once, and the furnace was red-hot in its heat sevenfold, and when they threw them in, those throwing them in were above them, and the others were burning naphtha and tow and pitch and vine branches beneath them.

47 And the flame spread above the furnace for forty-nine cubits,

48 and went through and burned those of the Chaldeans whom it found around the furnace.

49 But an angel of the Lord descended together with those with Azarias into the furnace and shook the flame of fire out of the furnace,

50 and made the midst of the furnace like a whistling breeze of dew, and the fire did not touch them at all and did not hurt or trouble them.

51 And the three, taking up the song as from one mouth, were singing hymns and glorifying and blessing and exalting God in the furnace, saying,

52 Blessed are you, Lord, the God of our fathers, and praiseworthy and highly exalted forever, and blessed is the holy name of your glory, and exceedingly praiseworthy and highly exalted for all ages.

53 Blessed are you in the temple of your holy glory, and exceedingly hymned and exceedingly glorious forever.

54 Blessed are you upon the throne of your kingdom, and hymned and highly exalted forever.

55 Blessed are you who looks upon abysses, seated upon cheroubim, and praiseworthy and glorified forever.

56 Blessed are you in the firmament, and hymned and glorified forever.

57 Bless the Lord, all the works of the Lord; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

58 Bless the Lord, angels of the Lord; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

59 Bless the Lord, heavens; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

60 Bless the Lord, all waters above heaven; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

61 Bless the Lord, all the powers of the Lord; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

62 Bless the Lord, sun and moon; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

63 Bless the Lord, stars of heaven; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

64 Bless the Lord, every shower and dew; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

65 Bless the Lord, all winds; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

66 Bless the Lord, fire and heat; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

67 Bless the Lord, chill and cold; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

68 Bless the Lord, dews and snowfalls; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

69 Bless the Lord, frosts and cold; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

70 Bless the Lord, hoarfrosts and snows; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

71 Bless the Lord, nights and days; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

72 Bless the Lord, light and darkness; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

73 Bless the Lord, lightnings and clouds; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

74 Let the earth bless the Lord; let it sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

75 Bless the Lord, mountains and hills; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

76 Bless the Lord, everything growing upon the earth; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

77 Bless the Lord, springs; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

78 Bless the Lord, seas and rivers; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

79 Bless the Lord, sea monsters and all things moving in the waters; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

80 Bless the Lord, all birds of heaven; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

81 Bless the Lord, quadrupeds and beasts of the earth; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

82 Bless the Lord, sons of men; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

83 Bless the Lord, Israel; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

84 Bless the Lord, priests; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

85 Bless the Lord, servants; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

86 Bless the Lord, spirits and souls of righteous ones; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

87 Bless the Lord, holy ones and humble in heart; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever.

88 Bless the Lord, Ananias, Azarias, Misael; sing hymns and highly exalt him forever, because he rescued us from Hades and saved us from the hand of death and delivered us from the midst of a burning flame and redeemed us from the fire.

89 Give thanks to the Lord, because he is good, because his mercy is forever.

90 Bless, all those revering the God of gods; sing hymns and give thanks, because his mercy is forever and forever and ever.

91 And it happened when the king heard them singing hymns, and standing, he watched them alive, then King Nabouchodonosor marveled and rose hastily and said to his friends,

92 Behold, I see four men unbound walking in the fire, and no destruction has occurred in them, and the appearance of the fourth is the likeness of an angel of God.

93 And the king approached the door of the furnace [which was] burning with fire and called them by name, Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago, servants of the Most High God of gods, come out of the fire. Thus then the men came out from the midst of the fire.

94 And the consuls, local rulers and chiefs of clans and the king's friends were gathered, and watched those men, that the fire did not touch their body, and their hair was not burned, and their trousers were not changed, nor was a smell of fire in them.

95 And King Nabouchodonosor took up the matter and said, Blessed is the Lord, the God of Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago, who sent his angel and saved his servants who hoped in him, for they rejected the king's command and delivered their bodies to burning, so that they might not serve or worship any other god except their God;

96 and now I decree that every nation and all tribes and all tongues, whoever blasphemes against the Lord, the God of Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago, shall be dismembered and his house confiscated, because there is no other god who shall be able to rescue thus.

97 Thus then the king gave authority to Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago over the whole country and appointed them rulers.

4 In the eighteenth year of the reign of Nabouchodonosor he said, I was at peace in my house and flourishing upon my throne.

5 I saw a dream and became apprehensive, and fear fell upon me.

10 I was sleeping, and behold, a high tree growing upon the earth; its appearance great, and there was no other like it.

12 Its branches in length were about thirty stadia, and beneath it all the beasts of the earth took shade, and in it the birds of heaven nested; its fruit was abundant and good, and supplied all the living creatures.

11 And its appearance was great; its top reached as far as heaven, and its bulk as far as the clouds, filling the things beneath heaven; the sun and the moon dwelt in it and illuminated all the earth.

13 I was watching in my sleep, and behold, an angel was sent in strength from heaven,

14 and he called out and said to it, Cut it down and destroy it; for it has been ordered by the Most High to uproot it and make it useless.

15 And thus he said, Leave one root of it in the earth, so that with the beasts of the earth in the mountains he may graze grass like an ox;

16 and his body may be changed by the dew of heaven, and for seven years he may be fed with them,

17 until he knows that the Lord of heaven has authority over everything in heaven and upon the earth, and does among them whatever he wishes.

17 a Before me it was cut down in one day, and its destruction in one hour of the day, and its branches were given to every wind, and it was dragged and thrown down; and he was eating the grass of the earth with the beasts of the earth, and was delivered into custody, and was bound by them in fetters and bronze handcuffs. I greatly marveled at all these things, and my sleep departed from my eyes.

18 And rising in the morning from my bed, I called Daniel, the ruler of the sophists and the leader of those interpreting dreams, and related the dream to him, and he showed me its whole interpretation.

19 And Daniel marveled greatly, and suspicion pressed upon him, and becoming afraid, trembling taking him and his appearance changing, shaking his head, for one hour he was astonished and answered me with a gentle voice, King, may this dream come upon those hating you, and its interpretation upon your enemies.

20 The tree planted in the earth, whose appearance is great, is you, king.

21 And all the birds of heaven nesting in it: the strength of the earth and of the nations and of all the tongues as far as the ends of the earth, and all the countries serve you.

22 And that that tree was raised high and drew near to heaven and its bulk touched the clouds: you, king, were raised high above all men upon the face of all the earth; your heart was exalted with arrogance and strength concerning the Holy One and his angels; your works were seen, because you desolated the house of the living God on account of the sins of the sanctified people.

23 And the vision which you saw, that an angel was sent in strength from the Lord, and that he said to remove the tree and cut it down: the judgment of the great God shall come upon you,

24 and the Most High and his angels run against you;

25 they shall lead you away into custody and send you into a deserted place.

26 And the root of the tree left, since it was not uprooted: the place of your throne shall be preserved for you for a season and an hour. Behold, they prepare against you and shall scourge you and bring upon you the things judged.

27 The Lord lives in heaven, and his authority is over all the earth; petition him concerning your sins, and redeem all your injustices with alms, so that clemency may be given you and you may be long-lived upon the throne of your kingdom, and he may not destroy you. Love these words; for my word is exact, and your time full.

28 And at the completion of the words, Nabouchodonosor, when he heard the interpretation of the vision, kept the words in his heart. –

29 And after twelve months the king was walking upon the walls of the city with all his glory and passing upon its towers,

30 and answering, said, This is great Babylon, which I built, and it shall be called the house of my kingdom by the strength of my might, for the honor of my glory.

31 And at the completion of his word he heard a voice from heaven, To you it is said, King Nabouchodonosor, the kingdom of Babylon has been taken from you and is given to another, a despised man in your house; behold, I appoint him over your kingdom, and he shall receive your authority and your glory and your luxury, so that you may know that the God of heaven has authority in the kingdom of men, and to whomever he wishes he shall give it; and by sunrise another king shall rejoice in your house and possess your glory and your strength and your authority.

32 And the angels shall pursue you for seven years, and you shall certainly not be seen, nor shall you certainly speak with any man; they shall feed you grass like an ox, and your pasture shall be from the greenery of the earth; behold, in place of your glory they shall bind you, and another shall have the house of your luxury and your kingdom.

33 And by morning everything shall be accomplished upon you, Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon, and nothing of all these things shall fall short. –

33 a I, Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon, was bound for seven years; they fed me grass like an ox, and I ate from the greenery of the earth. And after seven years I gave my soul to petition and pleaded concerning my sins before the Lord, the God of heaven, and concerning my ignorances I petitioned the great God of gods.

34 And my hair became like an eagle's wings, my nails like a lion's; my flesh and my heart were changed, I walked naked with the beasts of the earth. I saw a dream, and suspicions have seized me, and after a time much sleep took me and drowsiness fell upon me. And at the completion of the seven years my time of redemption came, and my sins and my ignorances were fulfilled before the God of heaven; and concerning my ignorances I petitioned the great God of gods, and behold, one angel called me from heaven, saying, Nabouchodonosor, serve the holy God of heaven and give glory to the Most High; the kingdom of your nation is restored to you.

36 At that time my kingdom was restored to me, and my glory was returned to me.

37 I give thanks to the Most High and praise the one who created heaven and earth and the seas and the rivers and everything in them; I give thanks and praise, because he is God of gods and Lord of lords and King of kings, because he performs signs and wonders and changes seasons and times, removing the kingdom of kings and appointing others instead of them.

37 a From now on I will serve him, and from fear of him trembling has seized me, and I praise all his holy ones; for the gods of the nations do not have strength in themselves to turn a king's kingdom to another king, and to kill and make alive and perform signs and great and fearful wonders and change exceedingly great affairs, as the God of heaven did in me and changed great affairs concerning me. All the days of my kingdom I will present sacrifices concerning my soul to the Most High, for a fragrant odor to the Lord, and do what is pleasing before him, I and my people, my nation and my countries in my authority. And as many as spoke against the God of heaven, and as many as are caught saying anything, these I will condemn to death. –

38 And King Nabouchodonosor wrote a circular letter to all the nations by place and countries and all tongues dwelling in all the countries, through generations and generations: Praise the Lord, the God of heaven, and present sacrifice and offering to him gloriously; I, king of kings, give thanks to him gloriously, because he did thus with me; on that very day he seated me upon my throne, and I gained possession of my authority and my kingdom among my people, and my greatness was restored to me.

39 King Nabouchodonosor to all nations and all countries and all those dwelling in them: May peace be multiplied to you at every time. And now I will show you the deeds which the great God did with me; and it seemed good to me to demonstrate to you and to your sophists that there is a God, and his wonders are great, his kingdom a kingdom forever, his authority from generations to generations. And he sent letters concerning everything that had happened to him in his kingdom to all the nations under his kingdom.

Chapter 5

1 t King Baltasar made a great reception on the day of the dedication of his royal palaces, and called two thousand men from his magnates. On that day Baltasar, exalted by the wine and boasting, praised all the gods of the nations, the cast and carved ones in his place, and did not give praise to God Most High. In that very night fingers like a man's came out and inscribed upon the wall of his house, upon the plaster opposite the lamp, Mane phares thekel. And their interpretation is: mane, it has been numbered; phares, it has been removed; thekel, it has been weighed.

1 King Baltasar made a great banquet for his companions and was drinking wine.

2 And his heart was exalted, and he said to bring the gold and silver vessels of the house of God which Nabouchodonosor his father brought from Ierusalem, and to pour wine in them for his companions.

3 And they were brought, and they were drinking in them,

4 and blessing their handmade idols, and did not bless the eternal God who has authority over their spirit.

5 In that very hour fingers like those of a man's hand came out and wrote upon the wall of his house, upon the plaster opposite the light, before King Baltasar, and he saw a hand writing.

6 And his appearance was changed, and fears and suspicions were pressing upon him. So the king hastened and stood up and was looking at that writing, and the companions around him were boasting.

7 And the king called out with a great voice to summon the enchanters and sorcerers and Chaldeans and Gazarenes to announce the interpretation of the writing. And they were entering to inspect and see the writing, and could not interpret the interpretation of the writing for the king. Then the king issued an ordinance, saying, Every man who shows the interpretation of the writing, he shall clothe him in purple and put a golden necklace upon him, and authority over the third part of the kingdom shall be given to him.

8 And the enchanters and sorcerers and Gazarenes were entering, and no one could announce the interpretation of the writing.

9 Then the king called the queen concerning the sign and showed her how great it was, and that no man could announce to the king the interpretation of the writing.

10 Then the queen mentioned to him Daniel, who was from the captivity of Ioudaia,

11 and said to the king, The man was knowledgeable and wise and surpassing all the wise men of Babylon,

12 and a holy spirit is in him, and in the days of your father the king he showed extraordinary interpretations to Nabouchodonosor your father.

13 Then Daniel was brought before the king, and answering, the king said to him,

16 O Daniel, can you show me the interpretation of the writing? And I will clothe you in purple and put a golden necklace upon you, and you shall have authority over the third part of my kingdom.

17 Then Daniel stood opposite the writing and read, and thus answered the king, This is the writing: It has been numbered, reckoned, removed; and the hand which wrote stood still. And this is their interpretation.

23 King, you made a banquet for your friends and were drinking wine, and the vessels of the house of the living God were brought to you, and you were drinking in them, you and your magnates, and praised all the handmade idols of men; and you did not bless the living God, and your spirit is in his hand, and he himself gave you your kingdom, and you did not bless him or praise him.

26-28 This is the interpretation of the writing: Your time of the kingdom has been numbered, your kingdom is ending, your kingdom has been cut short and completed, it is given to the Medes and the Persians.

29 Then King Baltasar clothed Daniel in purple and put a golden necklace upon him and gave him authority over the third part of his kingdom.

30 And the interpretation came upon King Baltasar, and the kingdom has been removed from the Chaldeans and was given to the Medes and the Persians.

Chapter 6

1 And Artaxerxes of the Medes received the kingdom. And Dareios was full of days and glorious in old age;

2 and he appointed a hundred twenty-seven satraps over all his kingdom,

3 and over them three men as their leaders, and Daniel was one of the three men,

4 having authority above all in the kingdom. And Daniel was clothed in purple and great and glorious before King Dareios, because he was glorious and knowledgeable and intelligent, and a holy spirit was in him, and he prospered in the king's affairs which he conducted. Then the king resolved to appoint Daniel over all his kingdom, and the two men whom he appointed with him, and a hundred twenty-seven satraps.

5 And when the king resolved to appoint Daniel over all his kingdom, then the two young men devised a counsel and opinion among themselves, speaking to one another, since they found no sin or ignorance against Daniel concerning which they might accuse him before the king,

6 and said, Come, let us establish a decree among ourselves, that no man shall make a request and shall certainly not pray a prayer to any god for thirty days, but only to King Dareios; but if not, he shall die; so that they might overcome Daniel before the king, and he might be thrown into the pit of the lions. For they knew that Daniel prays and petitions the Lord his God three times a day.

7 Then those men approached and said before the king,

8 We have established a decree and enactment, that every man who prays a prayer or makes any request to any god for thirty days, except to King Dareios, shall be thrown into the pit of the lions.

9 And they petitioned the king to establish the decree and not change it, because they knew that Daniel prays and petitions three times a day, so that he might be overcome through the king and thrown into the pit of the lions.

10 And thus King Dareios established and ratified it.

11 And Daniel, learning the decree which he established against him, opened windows in his upper room opposite Ierusalem, and would fall upon his face three times a day, as he did formerly, and petition.

12 And they watched Daniel and caught him praying three times a day each day.

13 Then these men appealed to the king and said, King Dareios, did you not issue a decree that no man should pray a prayer or make a request to any god for thirty days, but to you, king; but if not, he shall be thrown into the pit of the lions? And answering, the king said to them, The word is exact, and the decree shall remain.

13 a And they said to him, We adjure you by the decrees of the Medes and Persians not to change the ordinance or show partiality, and not to diminish anything of what has been said, and to punish the man who did not abide by this decree. And he said, Thus I will do as you say, and this stands for me.

14 And they said, Behold, we found Daniel your friend praying and petitioning the face of his God three times a day.

15 And the king, grieving, said that Daniel should be thrown into the pit of the lions according to the decree which he established against him. Then the king was greatly grieved over Daniel and was helping to rescue him from the hands of the satraps until sunset, 16 and could not rescue him from them.

17 And King Dareios cried out and said to Daniel, Your God, whom you serve continually three times a day, he himself shall rescue you from the hand of the lions; until morning take courage.

18 Then Daniel was thrown into the pit of the lions, and a stone was brought and placed at the mouth of the pit, and the king sealed it with his own ring and with the rings of his magnates, so that Daniel might not be taken away by them, or the king draw him up out of the pit.

19 Then the king returned to his royal palaces and spent the night fasting, and was grieving concerning Daniel. Then the God of Daniel, exercising providence for him, shut the mouths of the lions, and they did not trouble Daniel.

20 And King Dareios rose early in the morning and took the satraps with him, and going, stood at the mouth of the pit of the lions.

21 Then the king called Daniel with a great voice, with weeping, saying, O Daniel, are you indeed alive, and has your God whom you serve continually saved you from the lions, and have they not destroyed you?

22 Then Daniel answered with a great voice and said, King, I am still living,

23 and God has saved me from the lions, because righteousness was found in me before him; and before you also, king, neither ignorance nor sin was found in me; but you listened to men misleading kings and threw me into the pit of the lions for destruction.

24 Then all the forces were gathered and saw Daniel, how the lions did not trouble him.

25 Then those two men who testified against Daniel, they and their wives and their children, were thrown to the lions, and the lions killed them and crushed their bones.

26 Then Dareios wrote to all nations and countries and tongues, to those dwelling in all his land, saying,

27 Let all men in my kingdom worship and serve the God of Daniel, for he is God, enduring and living through generations of generations forever;

28 I, Dareios, shall worship and serve him all my days, for handmade idols cannot save as the God of Daniel redeemed Daniel.

29 And King Dareios was added to his family, and Daniel was appointed over the kingdom of Dareios; and Cyrus the Persian received his kingdom.

Chapter 7

1 In the first year of Baltasar reigning over the country of Babylonia, Daniel saw a vision beside his head upon his bed; then Daniel wrote the vision which he saw in headings of words:

2 Upon my bed I was watching during sleeps of the night, and behold, four winds of heaven fell upon the great sea.

3 And four beasts were coming up out of the sea, differing one from another.

4 The first was like a lioness having wings like an eagle's; I was watching until its wings were plucked, and it was lifted from the earth and stood upon human feet, and a human heart was given to it.

5 And behold, after it another beast having a likeness of a bear, and it stood upon one side, and three ribs were in its mouth, and thus he said, Rise, devour much flesh.

6 And after these things I was watching another beast like a leopard, and four wings were stretching out above it, and the beast had four heads, and a tongue was given to it.

7 And after these things I was watching in a vision of the night a fourth beast, fearful, and its terror surpassing in strength, having great iron teeth, eating and pounding, trampling round about with its feet, acting differently from all the beasts before it; and it had ten horns,

8 and many counsels in its horns. And behold, another single horn grew up among them, small among its horns, and three of the first horns were dried up through it; and behold, eyes like human eyes in this horn, and a mouth speaking great things, and it was making war against the holy ones.

9 I was watching until thrones were placed, and an ancient of days was seated, having a garment like snow, and the hair of his head like clean white wool, the throne like a flame of fire,

10 and a river of fire was going out before his face; a thousand thousands were attending him and ten thousand ten thousands stood beside him; and a court sat, and books were opened.

11 I was watching then the sound of the great words which the horn was speaking, and the beast was beaten to death, and its body perished and was given to burning with fire.

12 And he removed those around it from their authority, and a time of life was given to them until a time and season.

13 I was watching in a vision of the night, and behold, upon the clouds of heaven one like a son of man was coming, and he was present as an ancient of days, and those standing beside were present to him.

14 And authority was given to him, and all the nations of the earth according to families and all glory were serving him; and his authority is an everlasting authority which shall certainly not be taken away, and his kingdom one which shall certainly not be destroyed. –

15 And I, Daniel, becoming distressed at these things in the vision of the night,

16 approached one of those standing and was seeking from him the exact truth concerning all these things. And answering, he speaks to me and made clear to me the interpretation of the words:

17 These great beasts are four kingdoms which shall perish from the earth;

18 and holy ones of the Most High shall receive the kingdom and possess the kingdom forever and forever and ever.

19 Then I wanted to ascertain exactly concerning the fourth beast, destroying everything and exceedingly fearful, and behold, its teeth iron and its claws bronze, devouring everyone round about and trampling with its feet,

20 and concerning its ten horns upon its head and the other one which grew up, and three fell out through it, and that horn had eyes and a mouth speaking great things, and its appearance surpassed the others.

21 And I was observing that horn engaging in war against the holy ones and routing them,

22 until the ancient of days came, and he gave judgment to the holy ones of the Most High, and the season was given, and the holy ones possessed the kingdom.

23 And it was said to me concerning the fourth beast, that a fourth kingdom shall be upon the earth, which shall differ beyond all the earth and overturn it and grind it down.

24 And the ten horns of the kingdom, ten kings shall stand, and the other king shall stand after these, and he shall differ in evils beyond the first and humble three kings;

25 and he shall speak words against the Most High and wear down the holy ones of the Most High and expect to change seasons and law, and everything shall be delivered into his hands until a season and seasons and until half a season.

26 And the judgment shall sit, and they shall destroy the authority and resolve to defile and destroy until the end.

27 And he gave the kingdom and authority and their magnificence and the dominion of all the kingdoms under heaven to a holy people of the Most High, to reign an everlasting kingdom, and all [the] authorities shall be subjected to him and obey him.

28 Until the conclusion of the word I, Daniel, was greatly held in consternation, and my condition changed for me, and I fixed the matter in my heart.

Chapter 8

1 In the third year of Baltasar reigning, a vision which I, Daniel, saw after I saw the first.

2 And I saw in the vision of my dream, while I was in the city of Sousa, which is in the country of Elymais, while I was still beside the gate Ailam,

3 looking up, I saw one great ram standing opposite the gate, and it had horns, and one higher than the other, and the higher one was rising.

4 And after these things I saw the ram butting toward the east and toward the north and toward the west and south, and all the beasts did not stand before it, and there was no one delivering from its hands, and it did as it wished and was exalted.

5 And I was considering, and behold, a male goat was coming from the west upon the face of the earth and was not touching the earth, and the goat had one horn between its eyes.

6 And it came against the ram having the horns which I saw standing beside the gate, and ran toward it in wrathful anger.

7 And I saw it approaching the ram, and it became enraged against it and struck and shattered its two horns, and there was no longer strength in the ram to stand opposite the goat; and it dashed it to the earth and shattered it, and there was no one delivering the ram from the goat.

8 And the male goat grew exceedingly strong, and when it grew strong, its great horn was shattered, and four other horns came up behind it toward the four winds of heaven.

9 And from one of them one strong horn grew up and grew strong and struck toward the south and toward the east and toward the north;

10 and it was raised high as far as the stars of heaven, and was dashed to the earth by the stars and trampled by them,

11 until the chief commander delivers the captivity, and through him the mountains from of old were dashed down, and their place and sacrifice were removed, and he placed it down upon the earth, and it became fragrant and came to be, and the holy place shall be desolated;

12 and sins came upon the sacrifice, and righteousness was thrown to the ground, and it acted and became fragrant.

13 And I was hearing another holy one speaking, and the other said to the phelmouni who was speaking, Until when shall the vision stand, and the sacrifice which was taken away and the sin of desolation which was given, and shall the holy places be desolated for trampling?

14 And he said to him, Until evening and morning, two thousand three hundred days, and the holy place shall be cleansed.

15 And it happened while I was watching, I, Daniel, was seeking to understand the vision, and behold, one stood opposite me like the appearance of a man.

16 And I heard a man's voice in the midst of Oulai, and he called and said, Gabriel, make that one understand the vision. And crying out, the man said, The vision pertains to that ordinance.

17 And he came and stood beside my position, and when he came I was alarmed and fell upon my face, and he said to me, Understand, son of man, for this vision is yet for an hour of a season.

18 And while he spoke with me, I fell asleep upon my face to the ground, and touching me, he raised me upon the place,

19 and said to me, Behold, I tell you what shall be at the end of the anger for the sons of your people; for it shall yet remain for hours of a season of completion.

20 The ram which you saw, which has the horns, is a king of Medes and Persians.

21 And the male goat is a king of the Greeks; and the great horn between its eyes is the first king himself.

22 And the four horns which were shattered and came up behind it, four kings of his nation shall arise, not according to his strength.

23 And at the end of their kingdom, when their sins are being fulfilled, a king shameless in face, understanding riddles, shall arise.

24 And his strength shall be established, and not by his strength, and he shall destroy wonderfully and prosper and act and destroy rulers and a people of holy ones.

25 And his thought is against the holy ones, and falsehood shall prosper in his hands, and his heart shall be exalted, and by deceit he shall make many disappear, and he shall stand for destructions of men and make a gathering of a hand and sell himself.

26 The vision of evening and morning was found to be true; and now the vision is closed up, for it is yet for many days.

27 I, Daniel, became weak for many days, and rising, was again conducting royal affairs. And I was fainting over the vision, and there was no one understanding.

Chapter 9

1 In the first year under Dareios of Xerxes, from the Median race, who reigned over the kingdom of the Chaldeans,

2 in the first year of his reign I, Daniel, considered in the books the number of the years, when an ordinance came to the land concerning Ieremias the prophet, to raise up for the completion of the reproach of Ierusalem, seventy years.

3 And I set my face toward the Lord God to find prayer and mercy with fasts and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed to the Lord God and confessed and said, Behold, Lord, you are the great and strong and fearful God, keeping the covenant and mercy for those loving you and those keeping your ordinances;

5 we sinned, acted unjustly, acted ungodly and departed and transgressed your commandments and your judgments,

6 and did not hear your servants the prophets, the things they spoke in your name to our kings and our rulers and our fathers and every nation upon the earth.

7 To you, Lord, belongs righteousness, and to us shame of face as on this day, to men of Iouda and those seated in Ierusalem and all the people Israel, the nearest and the farther away, in all the countries into which you scattered them there in the offense with which they offended before you.

8 Master, to us belongs shame of face, and to our kings and rulers and our fathers, because we sinned against you.

9 To the Lord belong righteousness and mercy, because we departed from you,

10 and did not hear the voice of the Lord our God to follow your law which you gave before Moses and us through your servants the prophets.

11 And all Israel abandoned your law and departed so as not to hear your voice, and the curse and the oath written in the law of Moses, servant of God, came upon us, because we sinned against him.

12 And he established for us his ordinances, as much as he spoke against us and against our judges, as much as you judged for us, to bring great evils upon us, such as did not occur under heaven as occurred in Ierusalem.

13 According to what is written in the covenant of Moses, all the evils came upon us, and we did not seek out the face of the Lord our God, to depart from our sins and understand your righteousness, Lord.

14 And the Lord God kept watch over the evils and brought them upon us, because the Lord our God is righteous in everything he may do, and we did not hear his voice.

15 And now, Master, Lord our God, who brought your people out of Egypt with your high arm and made a name for yourself as on this day, we sinned, we have acted in ignorance.

16 Master, according to your righteousness let your wrath and your anger turn away from your city Ierusalem, your holy mountain, because in our sins and in the ignorances of our fathers, Ierusalem and your people, Lord, are a reproach among all those around us.

17 And now hear, Master, the prayer of your servant and attend to my petitions, and let your face look upon your desolate holy mountain for the sake of your servants, Master.

18 Incline your ear, Lord, and hear me; open your eyes and see our desolation and that of your city upon which your name has been called; for it is not on account of our righteous deeds that we petition in our prayers before you, but because of your mercy,

19 Lord, be propitious yourself. Lord, hear and act and do not delay for your own sake, Master, because your name has been called upon your city Sion and upon your people Israel. –

20 And while I was speaking, praying and confessing my sins and the sins of my people Israel and petitioning in prayers before the Lord my God and also for the holy mountain of our God,

21 and while I was still speaking in my prayer, and behold, the man whom I saw in my sleep at the beginning, Gabriel, moving swiftly, approached me at the hour of the evening sacrifice.

22 And he approached and spoke with me and said, Daniel, I have now come out to show you understanding.

23 At the beginning of your petition an ordinance went out from the Lord, and I came to show you, because you are deserving of pity; and understand the ordinance.

24 Seventy weeks were determined for your people and for the city Sion, for sin to be completed and injustices to become scarce and injustices to be wiped away and the vision to be understood and everlasting righteousness to be given and the vision to be completed and a holy of holies to be gladdened.

25 And you shall know and understand and rejoice and find ordinances to be answered, and you shall build Ierusalem as a city for the Lord.

26 And after seven and seventy and sixty-two, an anointing shall be removed and shall not exist, and a kingdom of nations shall destroy the city and the holy place together with the anointed one, and his completion shall come with anger and until a season of completion; from war it shall be warred against.

27 And the covenant shall prevail over many, and again it shall return and be rebuilt in breadth and length; and at the completion of seasons and after seven and seventy seasons and sixty-two years until a season of completion of war, the desolation shall also be removed when the covenant prevails over many weeks; and at the end of the week the sacrifice and the libation shall be taken away, and upon the temple shall be an abomination of desolations until completion, and a completion shall be given upon the desolation.

Chapter 10

1 In the first year of Cyrus king of the Persians, an ordinance was shown to Daniel, whose name was called Baltasar, and the vision and the ordinance are true, and the strong multitude shall understand the ordinance, and I understood it in a vision.

2 In those days I, Daniel, was mourning for three weeks;

3 I did not eat bread of desires, and meat and wine did not enter my mouth; I did not anoint myself with oil until I completed the three weeks of days.

4 And it happened on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, and I was upon the bank of the great river, which is Tigris,

5 and I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, one man clothed in fine linen and girded at the waist with fine linen, and light from his midst,

6 and his body like tharsis, and his face like an appearance of lightning, and his eyes like torches of fire, and his arms and feet like flashing bronze, and the sound of his speech like the sound of a tumult.

7 And I, Daniel, saw this great vision, and the men with me did not see this vision, and strong fear fell upon them, and they fled in haste;

8 and I was left alone and saw this great vision, and no strength was left in me, and behold, a spirit turned upon me for destruction, and I did not prevail.

9 And I did not hear the sound of his speech; I had fallen upon my face upon the earth.

10 And behold, he brought a hand to me and raised me upon my knees, upon the footprints of my feet.

11 And he said to me, Daniel, you are a man deserving of pity; understand the ordinances which I speak to you, and stand upon your place, for I have now been sent to you. And when he spoke this ordinance with me, I stood trembling.

12 And he said to me, Do not fear, Daniel; for from the first day when you set your face to understand and humble yourself before the Lord your God, your word was heard, and I entered [at] your word.

13 And the general of the king of the Persians had stood opposed before me for twenty-one days, and behold, Michael, one of the first rulers, came to help me, and I left him there with the general of the king of the Persians.

14 And he said to me, I came to show you what shall meet your people at the end of the days, for there is yet a vision for days.

15 And when he spoke these ordinances with me, I put my face upon the earth and was silent.

16 And behold, something like a likeness of a man's hand touched my lips; and I opened my mouth and spoke and said to the one standing opposite me, Lord, and like a vision it turned to my side upon me, and there was no strength in me;

17 and how shall the servant be able to speak with his lord? And I became weak, and there is no strength in me, and no spirit was left in me.

18 And one like an appearance of a man again touched me and strengthened me,

19 and said to me, You are a man deserving of pity; do not fear, be well; be courageous and strong. And when he spoke with me, I became strong and said, Let my lord speak, because he strengthened me.

20 And he said to me, Do you know why I came to you? And now I will return to fight with the general of the king of the Persians; and I was going out, and behold, a general of the Greeks was entering.

21 And indeed I will show you the first things in a record of truth, and there was no one helping with me concerning these things except Michael the angel;

Chapter 11

1 And in the first year of King Cyrus he told me to become strong and courageous. –

2 And now I came to show you the truth. Behold, three kings have stood opposed in Persia, and the fourth shall be rich with great wealth beyond all; and when he grows strong in his wealth, he shall rise against every king of the Greeks.

3 And a powerful king shall stand and rule with much dominion and do as he wishes.

4 And when he arises, his kingdom shall be shattered and divided toward the four winds of heaven, not according to his might or according to his dominion with which he ruled, because his kingdom shall be removed, and he shall teach these things to others.

5 And he shall strengthen a kingdom of Egypt; and one of the rulers shall overpower him and rule; his dominion is a great dominion.

6 And he shall bring them to a completion of years, and a king of Egypt shall enter the northern kingdom to make agreements; and he shall certainly not prevail, because his arm shall not establish strength, and his arm shall become numb, and that of those going with him, and he shall remain for hours.

7 And a plant shall arise from his root by itself, and a king of the north shall come against his force in his strength and make a disturbance and prevail.

8 And he shall overthrow their gods with their cast images, and their crowds with the vessels of their desires, silver and gold, they shall carry away in captivity into Egypt; and there shall be a year for a king of the north.

9 And he shall enter the kingdom of Egypt for days; and he shall return to his land,

10 and his son. And he shall be provoked and gather an assembly of a great crowd and enter against it, sweeping along; he shall pass through and return and be greatly incited.

11 And a king of Egypt shall become angry and war with a king of the north, and the assembly shall be delivered into his hands;

12 and he shall take the assembly, and his heart shall be exalted, and he shall disturb many and shall certainly not fear.

13 And a king of the north shall return and gather an assembly of a city greater than the first at the completion of a season of a year, and enter into it against him with a great crowd and with much money.

14 And in those seasons thoughts shall arise against the king of Egypt; and he shall rebuild the fallen things of your nation and arise to establish the prophecy, and they shall stumble.

15 And a king of the north shall come and turn his spears and take the fortified city, and the arms of a king of Egypt shall stand with his rulers, and he shall have no strength to oppose him.

16 And the one coming against him shall do according to his will, and there shall be no one standing opposed before him; and he shall stand in the country, and everything shall be accomplished in his hands.

17 And he shall set his face to come forcibly with all his work, and make agreements with him; and he shall give him a daughter of man to destroy her, and she shall not obey, and it shall not be.

18 And he shall set his face toward the sea and take many, and turn back the anger of their reproach with an oath according to his reproach.

19 He shall turn his face to strengthen his country, and stumble and fall and not be found.

20 And from his root a plant of a kingdom shall arise to stand, a man striking the glory of a king; and in the last days he shall be shattered, and not in anger or in war.

21 And one readily despised shall arise in his place, and glory of a king shall not be given to him; and he shall come suddenly, a king shall prevail in his inheritance.

22 And he shall shatter the shattered arms from before his face;

23 and with the covenant and a people arrayed with him he shall practice falsehood, also against a strong nation with a small nation.

24 Suddenly he shall desolate a city and do what his fathers did not do, nor his fathers' fathers; he shall give them plunder and spoils and money, and devise against the strong city, and his thoughts are in vain.

25 And his strength and his heart shall be roused against the king of Egypt with a great crowd, and the king of Egypt shall be provoked to war with an exceedingly very strong crowd; and he shall not stand, because he shall devise against him with a thought;

26 and his cares shall consume him and turn him back, and he shall pass through and sweep along, and many wounded ones shall fall.

27 And two kings alone shall dine together and eat at one table and speak lies and shall not prosper; for completion is yet for a season.

28 And he shall return to his country with much money, and his heart is against the covenant of the holy place; he shall act and return to his country

29 for a season. And he shall enter Egypt, and it shall not be as the first and the last.

30 And Romans shall come and thrust him out and rebuke him; and he shall return and become angry against the covenant of the holy place; and he shall act and return and devise against them, because they abandoned the covenant of the holy place.

31 And arms from him shall stand and defile the holy place of fear and remove the sacrifice and place an abomination of desolation.

32 And in sins of a covenant they shall defile among a harsh people, and the people knowing these things shall prevail and act.

33 And thoughtful ones of the nation shall bring understanding to many; and they shall stumble by a sword and grow old in it, and be stained in captivity and in plunder of days.

34 And when they are shattered, they shall gather a little strength, and many shall gather to them upon a city, and many as in an inheritance.

35 And some of those understanding shall consider purifying themselves and being chosen and being cleansed until a season of completion; for there is yet a season for hours.

36 And the king shall do according to his will and be provoked to anger and exalted over every god, and shall speak extraordinary things against the God of gods and prosper until the anger is completed; for a completion is coming upon him.

37 And he shall certainly not regard the gods of his fathers and shall certainly not regard a woman's desire, because he shall be exalted in everything, and strong nations shall be subjected to him;

38 in his place he shall also move a god whom his fathers did not know; he shall honor him with gold and silver and precious stone. And with desirable things

39 he shall act concerning cities, and come into a strong fortress; with a foreign god whom he recognizes, he shall multiply glory and rule over him greatly and divide a country as a gift.

40 And at an hour of completion the king of Egypt shall lock horns with him, and a king of the north shall become enraged against him with chariots and many horses and many ships, and enter the country of Egypt,

41 and come into my country,

42 and in the country of Egypt there shall be no one escaping in it.

43 And he shall gain possession of the place of gold and the place of silver and everything desired of Egypt, and Libyans and Ethiopians shall be in his crowd.

44 And a report shall disturb him from the east and north, and he shall go out in strong wrath and with a sword to make many disappear and kill them.

45 And then he shall set his tent between the seas and the mountain of the will of the Holy One; and the hour of his completion shall come, and there shall be no one helping him.

Chapter 12

1 And at that hour Michael, the great angel standing over the sons of your people, shall pass by; that is a day of affliction such as did not occur from when they came into being until that day; and on that day all the people found inscribed in the book shall be exalted.

2 And many of those sleeping in the breadth of the earth shall arise, some to everlasting life, some to reproach, and some to dispersion and everlasting shame.

3 And those understanding shall shine like luminaries of heaven, and those strengthening my words like the stars of heaven forever and ever.

4 And you, Daniel, cover the ordinances and seal the book until a season of completion, until the many go mad and the earth is filled with injustice. –

5 And I, Daniel, saw, and behold, two others stood, one on this side of the river and one on that side.

6 And I said to the one clothed in fine linen above, When then is the completion of the wonders you have told me, and their purification?

7 And I heard the one clothed in fine linen who was above the water of the river, Until a season of completion; and he raised his right and left hands to heaven and swore by God who lives forever, that for a season and seasons and half a season is the completion of hands of release of a holy people, and all these things shall be completed.

8 And I heard and did not understand at that very time, and said, Lord, what is the resolution of this word, and of what are these parables?

9 And he said to me, Go away, Daniel, because the ordinances are covered and sealed, until 10 many are tested and sanctified, and sinners sin; and all the sinners shall certainly not understand, and those understanding shall pay attention.

11 From when the continual sacrifice is removed and the abomination of desolation is prepared to be placed, a thousand two hundred ninety days.

12 Blessed is the one remaining, and he shall reach a thousand three hundred thirty-five days.

13 And you, go, rest; for there are yet days and hours for the fulfillment of completion, and you shall rest and arise to your glory at the completion of days.

2 Daniel

Chapter 1

1 In the third year of the reign of Ioakim king of Iouda, Nabouchodonosor king of Babylon came to Ierusalem and was besieging it.

2 And the Lord gave into his hand Ioakim king of Iouda and some of the vessels of the house of God, and he brought them to the land of Sennaar, to the house of his god; and he brought the vessels into the treasury house of his god.

3 And the king told Asphanez his chief eunuch to bring in from the sons of the captivity of Israel and from the seed of the kingdom and from the phorthommin,

4 young men in whom there is no blemish, and beautiful in appearance and understanding in all wisdom and knowing knowledge and comprehending prudence, and in whom there is strength to stand in the king's house, and to teach them letters and the language of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed for them the daily portion each day from the king's table and from the wine of his drinking, and to nourish them for three years, and after these things to stand before the king.

6 And among them, from the sons of Iouda, were Daniel and Ananias and Misael and Azarias.

7 And the chief eunuch put names upon them, upon Daniel, Baltasar, and upon Ananias, Sedrach, and upon Misael, Misach, and upon Azarias, Abdenago.

8 And Daniel set upon his heart that he should certainly not be polluted with the king's table and with the wine of his drinking, and petitioned the chief eunuch that he should certainly not be polluted.

9 And God gave Daniel mercy and compassion before the chief eunuch.

10 And the chief eunuch said to Daniel, I fear my lord the king, who appointed your food and your drink, lest he see your faces gloomy beside the boys of your age, and you condemn my head before the king.

11 And Daniel said to Amelsad, whom the chief eunuch appointed over Daniel, Ananias, Misael, Azarias,

12 Test your servants now for ten days, and let them give us some of the seeds, and we shall eat and drink water;

13 and let our appearances be seen before you, and the appearances of the boys eating the king's table, and as you see, deal with your servants.

14 And he listened to them and tested them for ten days.

15 And after the end of the ten days their appearances were seen to be good and strong in flesh beyond the boys eating the king's table.

16 And Amelsad was taking away their dinner and the wine of their drink, and was giving them seeds.

17 And these boys, the four of them, God gave them understanding and prudence in all literature and wisdom; and Daniel understood in every vision and dreams.

18 And after the end of the days when the king said to bring them in, the chief eunuch also brought them before Nabouchodonosor.

19 And the king spoke with them, and from all of them none was found like Daniel and Ananias and Misael and Azarias; and they stood before the king.

20 And in every matter of wisdom and knowledge which the king sought from them, he found them tenfold beyond all the enchanters and magi in all his kingdom.

21 And Daniel continued until the first year of King Cyrus.

Chapter 2

1 In the second year of the reign of Nabouchodonosor, Nabouchodonosor dreamed a dream, and his spirit was beside itself, and his sleep departed from him.

2 And the king said to call the enchanters and the magi and the sorcerers and the Chaldeans to tell the king his dreams, and they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said to them, I dreamed, and my spirit was beside itself to know the dream.

4 And the Chaldeans spoke to the king in Syrian, King, live forever; you tell the dream to your servants, and we shall announce the interpretation.

5 The king answered and said to the Chaldeans, The word has departed from me; if you do not make known to me the dream and its interpretation, you shall be for destruction, and your houses shall be plundered;

6 but if you make known to me the dream and its interpretation, you shall receive gifts and presents and much honor from me; only tell me the dream and its interpretation.

7 They answered a second time and said, Let the king tell the dream to his servants, and we shall announce its interpretation.

8 The king answered and said, Truly I know that you are buying time, because you saw that the matter departed from me;

9 therefore if you do not tell me the dream, I know that you agreed to say a false and corrupt word before me until the season passes; tell me my dream, and I shall know that you shall tell me its interpretation.

10 The Chaldeans answered before the king and say, There is no man upon dry land who shall be able to make known the king's matter, because no great king and ruler asks such a matter of an enchanter, magus and Chaldean;

11 for the word which the king asks is difficult, and there is no other who shall announce it before the king except gods, whose dwelling is not with any flesh.

12 Then the king, in wrath and much anger, said to destroy all the wise men of Babylon;

13 and the decree went out, and the wise men were being killed, and they sought Daniel and his friends to kill them.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsel and opinion to Arioch, the king's chief cook, who went out to kill the wise men of Babylon:

15 Officer of the king, concerning what did the shameless decision go out from the presence of the king? And Arioch made the matter known to Daniel.

16 And Daniel entered and petitioned the king to give him time, and that he might announce its interpretation to the king.

17 And Daniel entered his house and made the matter known to Ananias and Misael and Azarias, his friends;

18 and they were seeking compassion from the God of heaven concerning this mystery, so that Daniel and his friends might not perish with the remaining wise men of Babylon.

19 Then the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a vision of the night; and he blessed the God of heaven,

20 Daniel, and said, May the name of God be blessed from everlasting and to everlasting, because wisdom and understanding are his;

21 and he changes seasons and times, appoints kings and removes them, giving wisdom to the wise and prudence to those knowing understanding;

22 he reveals deep and hidden things, knowing the things in darkness, and the light is with him;

23 to you, the God of my fathers, I give thanks and praise, because you gave me wisdom and power and now made known to me what we petitioned from you, and made known to me the king's vision.

24 And Daniel came to Arioch, whom the king appointed to destroy the wise men of Babylon, and said to him, Do not destroy the wise men of Babylon, but bring me before the king, and I will tell the interpretation to the king.

25 Then Arioch hastily brought Daniel before the king and said to him, I have found a man from the sons of the captivity of Ioudaia who shall announce the interpretation to the king.

26 And the king answered and said to Daniel, whose name was Baltasar, Are you able to tell me the dream which I saw and its interpretation?

27 And Daniel answered before the king and says, The mystery which the king asks is not for wise men, magi, enchanters, Gazarenes to announce to the king,

28 but there is a God in heaven revealing mysteries, and he made known to King Nabouchodonosor what must happen at the end of the days. Your dream and the visions of your head upon your bed are these.

29 You, king, your thoughts upon your bed came up, what must happen after these things, and the one revealing mysteries made known to you what must happen.

30 And to me this mystery was not revealed by wisdom existing in me beyond all the living, but for the sake of making the interpretation known to the king, so that you may know the thoughts of your heart.

31 You, king, were watching, and behold, one image; that image was great and its appearance surpassing, standing before your face, and its sight fearful;

32 the image, whose head was of fine gold, its hands and chest and arms silver, the belly and the thighs bronze,

33 the shins iron, the feet partly iron and partly earthenware.

34 You were watching until a stone was cut from a mountain without hands and struck the image upon the iron and earthenware feet and reduced them to fineness completely.

35 Then the earthenware, the iron, the bronze, the silver, the gold were reduced to fineness at once and became like dust from a summer threshing floor; and the abundance of wind carried them away, and no place was found for them; and the stone which struck the image became a great mountain and filled all the earth.

36 This is the dream; and we shall tell its interpretation before the king.

37 You, king, are a king of kings, to whom the God of heaven gave a strong and mighty and honored kingdom;

38 in every place where the sons of men dwell, both beasts of the field and birds of heaven he gave into your hand, and appointed you lord of all; you are the golden head.

39 And after you another kingdom inferior to you shall arise, and a third kingdom which is the bronze, which shall rule over all the earth.

40 And a fourth kingdom shall be strong like iron; in the manner that iron reduces to fineness and subdues everything, so it shall reduce everything to fineness and subdue it.

41 And because you saw the feet and the toes partly earthenware and partly iron, it shall be a divided kingdom, and some of the iron root shall be in it, in the manner that you saw the iron mixed with the earthenware;

42 and the toes of the feet partly iron and partly earthenware, some part of the kingdom shall be strong, and some of it shall be shattered.

43 Because you saw the iron mixed with the earthenware, they shall be mingled in the seed of men and shall not cling one to another, as iron does not mix with earthenware.

44 And in the days of those kings the God of heaven shall raise up a kingdom which shall not be destroyed forever, and his kingdom shall not be left to another people; it shall reduce to fineness and winnow all the kingdoms, and it shall itself arise forever,

45 in the manner that you saw that a stone was cut from a mountain without hands and reduced to fineness the earthenware, the iron, the bronze, the silver, the gold. The great God made known to the king what must happen after these things, and the dream is true, and its interpretation trustworthy.

46 Then King Nabouchodonosor fell upon his face and worshiped Daniel, and said to pour out a manaa and fragrances for him.

47 And answering, the king said to Daniel, Truly your God himself is God of gods and Lord of kings and a revealer of mysteries, because you were able to reveal this mystery.

48 And the king exalted Daniel and gave him great and many gifts, and appointed him over the whole country of Babylon and ruler of satraps over all the wise men of Babylon.

49 And Daniel requested from the king, and he appointed Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago over the works of the country of Babylon; and Daniel was in the king's court.

Chapter 3

1 In the eighteenth year Nabouchodonosor the king made a golden image, its height sixty cubits, its breadth six cubits, and set it up in the plain of Deira in the country of Babylon.

2 And he sent to gather the consuls and the generals and the local governors, leaders and tyrants and those in authority and all the rulers of the countries, to come to the dedication of the image which Nabouchodonosor the king had set up;

3 and the local governors, consuls, generals, leaders, great tyrants, those in authority and all the rulers of the countries gathered for the dedication of the image which Nabouchodonosor the king had set up, and stood before the image which Nabouchodonosor had set up.

4 And the herald cried with strength: To you it is said, peoples, tribes, tongues:

5 at whatever hour you hear the sound of the trumpet and pipe and lyre, sambyke and psaltery and symphony and every kind of musical instrument, fall down and worship the golden image which Nabouchodonosor the king has set up;

6 and whoever does not fall down and worship shall at that very hour be thrown into the burning furnace of fire.

7 And it happened, when the peoples heard the sound of the trumpet and pipe and lyre, sambyke and psaltery and symphony and every kind of musical instrument, all the peoples, tribes, tongues fell down and worshipped the golden image which Nabouchodonosor the king had set up.

8 Then Chaldean men approached and accused the Jews

9 before King Nabouchodonosor: King, live unto the ages;

10 you, king, established a decree that every person who hears the sound of the trumpet and pipe and lyre, sambyke and psaltery and symphony and every kind of musical instrument

11 and does not fall down and worship the golden image shall be thrown into the burning furnace of fire;

12 there are Jewish men whom you appointed over the affairs of the country of Babylon, Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago. Those men have not obeyed your decree, king; they do not serve your gods and do not worship the golden image which you set up.

13 Then Nabouchodonosor in wrath and anger said to bring Sedrach, Misach and Abdenago, and they were brought before the king.

14 And Nabouchodonosor answered and said to them: Is it truly so, Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago, that you do not serve my gods and do not worship the golden image which I set up?

15 Now therefore, if you are ready, so that whenever you hear the sound of the trumpet and pipe and lyre, sambyke and psaltery and symphony and every kind of musical instrument, you fall down and worship the image which I made; but if you do not worship, at that very hour you shall be thrown into the burning furnace of fire; and who is the god who will deliver you from my hands?

16 And Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago answered, saying to King Nabouchodonosor: We have no need to answer you concerning this matter;

17 for there is a God whom we serve, able to deliver us from the burning furnace of fire, and from your hands, king, he will rescue us;

18 and if not, let it be known to you, king, that we do not serve your gods and do not worship the golden image which you set up.

19 Then Nabouchodonosor was filled with wrath, and the appearance of his face was changed against Sedrach, Misach and Abdenago, and he said to heat the furnace sevenfold, until it was completely heated;

20 and he told men mighty in strength to bind Sedrach, Misach and Abdenago and throw them into the burning furnace of fire.

21 Then those men were bound with their trousers and tiaras and greaves and their garments, and were thrown into the midst of the burning furnace of fire.

22 Since the king's word prevailed, and the furnace was heated exceedingly.

23 And these three, Sedrach, Misach and Abdenago, fell into the midst of the burning furnace of fire, bound.

24 And they walked in the midst of the flame, hymning God and blessing the Lord.

25 And Azarias stood up and prayed thus, and opened his mouth in the midst of the fire and said:

26 Blessed are you, Lord, the God of our fathers, and praiseworthy, and your name is glorified unto the ages,

27 because you are righteous in all that you have done to us, and all your works are true, and your ways straight, and all your judgments truth,

28 and you made judgments of truth in all that you brought upon us and upon the holy city of our fathers, Ierusalem, because in truth and judgment you brought all these things upon us because of our sins.

29 Because we sinned and acted lawlessly in departing from you, and we sinned in all things and did not listen to your commandments

30 nor keep them nor do as you commanded us, that it might be well with us.

31 And all that you brought upon us, and all that you did to us, you did in true judgment

32 and handed us over into the hands of lawless enemies, most hateful apostates, and to a king unjust and most wicked beyond all the earth.

33 And now it is not possible for us to open our mouth; shame and reproach have come upon your servants and those who revere you.

34 Do not indeed hand us over completely, for your name's sake, and do not scatter your covenant

35 and do not remove your mercy from us, for the sake of Abraam, loved by you, and for the sake of Isaak your servant and Israel your holy one,

36 to whom you spoke, saying to them that you would multiply their seed as the stars of heaven and as the sand beside the shore of the sea.

37 Because, Master, we have been diminished beyond all the nations, and we are lowly in all the earth today because of our sins,

38 and at this time there is no ruler and prophet and leader, nor whole burnt offering nor sacrifice nor offering nor incense, no place to make a fruit offering before you and find mercy;

39 but with a broken soul and a spirit of humiliation may we be accepted, as with whole burnt offerings of rams and bulls and as with myriads of fat lambs;

40 thus let our sacrifice be before you today, and to accomplish it behind you, because there shall be no shame for those who trust in you.

41 And now we follow with our whole heart and fear you and seek your face; do not put us to shame,

42 but do with us according to your forbearance and according to the multitude of your mercy

43 and deliver us according to your wonders and give glory to your name, Lord.

44 And may all who display evils toward your servants be ashamed, and may they be put to shame away from all power and dominion, and may their strength be broken;

45 let them know that you alone are the Lord God and glorious over the whole inhabited world.

46 And the king's attendants who had thrown them in did not cease heating the furnace with naphtha and pitch and tow and vine branches.

47 And the flame spread above the furnace to forty-nine cubits

48 and passed through and burned those of the Chaldeans whom it found around the furnace.

49 But the angel of the Lord descended together with those around Azarias into the furnace and shook the flame of fire out of the furnace

50 and made the midst of the furnace like a whistling wind of dew, and the fire did not touch them at all and did not hurt or trouble them.

51 Then the three, as from one mouth, hymned and glorified and blessed God in the furnace, saying:

52 Blessed are you, Lord, the God of our fathers, and praiseworthy and highly exalted unto the ages, and blessed is the holy name of your glory, and exceedingly praiseworthy and highly exalted unto the ages.

53 Blessed are you in the temple of your holy glory, and exceedingly hymned and exceedingly glorious unto the ages.

55 Blessed are you, who look upon abysses, seated upon cheroubin, and praiseworthy and highly exalted unto the ages.

54 Blessed are you upon the throne of your kingdom, and exceedingly hymned and highly exalted unto the ages.

56 Blessed are you in the firmament of heaven, and hymned and glorified unto the ages.

57 Bless the Lord, all the works of the Lord; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

59 Bless the Lord, heavens; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

58 Bless the Lord, angels of the Lord; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

60 Bless the Lord, all waters above heaven; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

61 Bless the Lord, all the powers; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

62 Bless the Lord, sun and moon; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

63 Bless the Lord, stars of heaven; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

64 Bless the Lord, all rain and dew; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

65 Bless the Lord, all the winds; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

66 Bless the Lord, fire and heat; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

67 Bless the Lord, cold and scorching heat; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

68 Bless the Lord, dews and snowstorms; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

71 Bless the Lord, nights and days; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

72 Bless the Lord, light and darkness; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

69 Bless the Lord, ice and cold; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

70 Bless the Lord, frosts and snows; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

73 Bless the Lord, lightnings and clouds; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

74 Let the earth bless the Lord; let it hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

75 Bless the Lord, mountains and hills; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

76 Bless the Lord, all things growing in the earth; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

78 Bless the Lord, seas and rivers; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

77 Bless the Lord, springs; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

79 Bless the Lord, sea creatures and all things moving in the waters; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

80 Bless the Lord, all the birds of heaven; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

81 Bless the Lord, all the beasts and livestock; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

82 Bless the Lord, sons of men; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

83 Bless the Lord, Israel; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

84 Bless the Lord, priests of the Lord; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

85 Bless the Lord, servants of the Lord; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

86 Bless the Lord, spirits and souls of the righteous; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

87 Bless the Lord, holy ones and humble in heart; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages.

88 Bless the Lord, Ananias, Azarias, Misael; hymn and highly exalt him unto the ages, because he delivered us from Hades and saved us from the hand of death and rescued us from the midst of a furnace of burning flame, and from the midst of fire he rescued us.

89 Give thanks to the Lord, because he is good, because his mercy is unto the age.

90 Bless, all who revere the Lord, the God of gods; hymn and give thanks, because his mercy is unto the age.

91 And Nabouchodonosor heard them hymning and wondered and rose up in haste and said to his magnates: Did we not throw three men bound into the midst of the fire? And they said to the king: Truly, king.

92 And the king said: Behold, I see four men loosed and walking in the midst of the fire, and there is no destruction in them, and the appearance of the fourth is like a son of God.

93 Then Nabouchodonosor approached the door of the burning furnace of fire and said: Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago, servants of the Most High God, come out and come here. And Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago came out from the midst of the fire.

94 And the satraps and the generals and the local governors and the king's potentates gather, and they observed the men, that the fire had not ruled their body, and the hair of their head had not been set aflame, and their trousers had not been changed, and there was no smell of fire on them.

95 And Nabouchodonosor answered and said: Blessed is the God of Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago, who sent his angel and delivered his servants, because they trusted in him and changed the king's word and handed over their bodies to fire, so that they might not serve or worship any god except their God;

96 and I set forth a decree: Every people, tribe, tongue that speaks blasphemy against the God of Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago shall be for destruction, and their houses for plunder, because there is no other god who shall be able to rescue thus.

97 Then the king directed Sedrach, Misach, Abdenago in the country of Babylon and deemed them worthy to lead all the Jews who were in his kingdom.

Chapter 4

1 Nabouchodonosor the king to all the peoples, tribes and tongues dwelling in all the earth: May peace be multiplied to you;

2 the signs and wonders which the Most High God did with me, it pleased me to announce to you

3 how great and mighty they are; his kingdom is an eternal kingdom, and his authority unto generation and generation.

4 I, Nabouchodonosor, was prospering in my house and flourishing.

5 I saw a dream, and it frightened me, and I was troubled upon my bed, and the visions of my head disturbed me.

6 And through me a decree was established to bring before me all the wise men of Babylon, that they might make known to me the interpretation of the dream.

7 And the enchanters, magicians, Gazarenes, Chaldeans came in, and I told the dream before them, and they did not make its interpretation known to me,

8 until Daniel came, whose name is Baltasar according to the name of my god, who has a holy spirit of God in himself, and I told the dream before him:

9 Baltasar, ruler of the enchanters, whom I knew, that a holy spirit of God is in you and no mystery is beyond your ability, hear the vision of the dream which I saw, and tell me its interpretation.

10 Upon my bed I was observing, and behold, a tree in the midst of the earth, and its height great.

11 The tree grew great and strong, and its height reached heaven and its bulk the ends of all the earth;

12 its leaves beautiful, and its fruit abundant, and food for all in it; and beneath it the wild beasts encamped, and in its branches the birds of heaven dwelt, and all flesh was fed from it.

13 I was observing in a vision of the night upon my bed, and behold, an ir and holy one descended from heaven

14 and called with strength and said thus: Cut down the tree and pluck off its branches and shake off its leaves and scatter its fruit; let the beasts be moved from beneath it and the birds from its branches;

15 only leave the growth of its roots in the earth, and in a bond of iron and bronze and in the grass outside, and in the dew of heaven he shall lie, and with the beasts his portion shall be in the grass of the earth.

16 His heart shall be changed from that of humans, and a beast's heart shall be given to him, and seven times shall pass over him.

17 By a decision of ir is the word, and the demand a saying of holy ones, that the living may know that the Most High is lord of the kingdom of humans, and to whomever he pleases he will give it, and the despised among humans he will raise over it.

18 This is the dream which I, Nabouchodonosor the king, saw; and you, Baltasar, tell the interpretation, because all the wise men of my kingdom cannot show me its interpretation, but you, Daniel, can, because a holy spirit of God is in you.

19 Then Daniel, whose name is Baltasar, was stunned for about one hour, and his thoughts disturbed him. And the king answered and said: Baltasar, let the dream and the interpretation not alarm you. And Baltasar answered and said: Lord, may the dream be for those who hate you, and its interpretation for your enemies.

20 The tree which you saw, which grew great and strong, whose height reached heaven and its bulk all the earth,

21 and its leaves flourishing and its fruit abundant and food for all in it, beneath which the wild beasts dwelt and in whose branches the birds of heaven encamped,

22 is you, king, because you grew great and strong, and your greatness grew and reached heaven and your dominion the ends of the earth.

23 And because the king saw an ir and holy one descending from heaven, and he said: Pluck off the tree and destroy it, only leave the growth of its roots in the earth, and in a bond of iron and bronze and in the grass outside, and in the dew of heaven he shall lodge, and with wild beasts his portion shall be, until seven times pass over him,

24 this is its interpretation, king, and it is a decision of the Most High which has reached my lord the king,

25 and they shall drive you out from humans, and your dwelling shall be with wild beasts, and they shall feed you grass like an ox, and you shall lodge in the dew of heaven, and seven times shall pass over you, until you know that the Most High rules the kingdom of humans, and to whomever he pleases he will give it.

26 And because they said: Leave the growth of the tree's roots, your kingdom shall remain for you from the time you know the heavenly authority.

27 Therefore, king, let my counsel please you, and redeem your sins with almsgiving and your injustices with compassion for the poor; perhaps God will be patient with your transgressions. –

28 All these things reached Nabouchodonosor the king.

29 After twelve months, walking upon the palace of his kingdom in Babylon,

30 the king answered and said: Is this not Babylon the great, which I built for a house of kingship by the might of my strength, for the honor of my glory?

31 While the word was still in the king's mouth, a voice came from heaven: To you they say, King Nabouchodonosor: The kingdom has passed from you,

32 and they shall drive you out from humans, and your dwelling shall be with wild beasts, and they shall feed you grass like an ox, and seven times shall pass over you, until you know that the Most High rules the kingdom of humans, and to whomever he pleases he will give it.

33 At that very hour the word was accomplished upon Nabouchodonosor, and he was driven out from humans and ate grass like an ox, and his body was drenched by the dew of heaven, until his hair grew like lions' and his nails like birds'.

34 And after the end of the days I, Nabouchodonosor, lifted my eyes to heaven, and my understanding returned to me, and I blessed the Most High and praised and glorified him who lives unto the age, because his authority is eternal authority and his kingdom unto generation and generation,

35 and all who dwell on the earth were reckoned as nothing, and he does according to his will in the power of heaven and in the dwelling of the earth, and there is none who will oppose his hand and say to him: What have you done?

36 At that very time my understanding returned to me, and I came into the honor of my kingdom, and my form returned to me, and my tyrants and my magnates sought me, and I was strengthened over my kingdom, and greater greatness was added to me.

37 Now therefore I, Nabouchodonosor, praise and highly exalt and glorify the King of heaven, because all his works are true and his paths judgment, and all who walk in arrogance he is able to humble.

Chapter 5

1 Baltasar the king made a great dinner for his thousand magnates, and before the thousand was the wine. And drinking,

2 Baltasar said, at the taste of the wine, to bring the golden and silver vessels which Nabouchodonosor his father had taken out of the temple in Ierusalem, and let the king and his magnates and his concubines and his wives drink in them.

3 And the golden and silver vessels which he had taken out of the temple of God in Ierusalem were brought, and the king and his magnates and his concubines and his wives drank in them;

4 they drank wine and praised the golden and silver and bronze and iron and wooden and stone gods.

5 At that very hour fingers of a human hand came out and wrote opposite the lamp upon the plaster of the wall of the king's house, and the king observed the joints of the hand that was writing.

6 Then the king's form was changed, and his thoughts disturbed him, and the joints of his loins were loosened, and his knees knocked together.

7 And the king cried with strength to bring in magicians, Chaldeans, Gazarenes, and said to the wise men of Babylon: Whoever reads this writing and makes its interpretation known to me shall be clothed in purple, and the golden necklace shall be upon his neck, and he shall rule third in my kingdom.

8 And all the king's wise men came in and could not read the writing nor make its interpretation known to the king.

9 And King Baltasar was greatly troubled, and his form was changed upon him, and his magnates were disturbed.

10 And the queen entered the drinking house and said: King, live unto the ages; let your thoughts not trouble you, and let your form not be changed;

11 there is a man in your kingdom in whom is a spirit of God, and in the days of your father wakefulness and understanding were found in him, and King Nabouchodonosor your father appointed him ruler of enchanters, magicians, Chaldeans, Gazarenes,

12 because an extraordinary spirit is in him, and prudence and understanding, interpreting dreams and announcing concealed things and loosing bonds, Daniel, and the king put upon him the name Baltasar; now therefore let him be called, and he will announce its interpretation to you.

13 Then Daniel was brought before the king, and the king said to Daniel: Are you Daniel, of the sons of the captivity of Ioudaia which the king my father brought?

14 I heard about you that a spirit of God is in you, and wakefulness and understanding and extraordinary wisdom were found in you.

15 And now the wise men, magicians, Gazarenes came before me, that they might read this writing and make its interpretation known to me, and they could not announce it to me.

16 And I heard about you that you can interpret judgments; now therefore if you can read the writing and make its interpretation known to me, you shall be clothed in purple, and the golden necklace shall be upon your neck, and you shall rule third in my kingdom.

17 Then Daniel answered and said before the king: Let your gifts be yours, and give the gift of your house to another; but I shall read the writing to the king and make its interpretation known to you.

18 King, the Most High God gave the kingdom and greatness and honor and glory to Nabouchodonosor your father, 19 and because of the greatness which he gave him, all the peoples, tribes, tongues trembled and feared before him; whom he wished, he killed, and whom he wished, he struck, and whom he wished, he exalted, and whom he wished, he humbled.

20 And when his heart was exalted and his spirit grew strong to act arrogantly, he was brought down from the throne of his kingdom, and his honor was taken away from him,

21 and he was driven out from humans, and his heart was given with the beasts, and his dwelling was with wild asses, and they fed him grass like an ox, and his body was drenched by the dew of heaven, until he knew that the Most High God rules the kingdom of humans, and to whomever he pleases he will give it.

22 And you, his son Baltasar, did not humble your heart before him, although you knew all these things,

23 and you exalted yourself against the Lord God of heaven, and they brought the vessels of his house before you, and you and your magnates and your concubines and your wives drank wine in them, and you praised the golden and silver and bronze and iron and wooden and stone gods, which do not see and do not hear and do not know, and the God in whose hand is your breath and all your ways, him you did not glorify.

24 Therefore from before him a joint of a hand was sent, and it inscribed this writing.

25 And this is the writing inscribed: Mane thekel phares.

26 This is the interpretation of the saying: mane, God measured your kingdom and completed it;

27 thekel, it was weighed in a balance and found deficient;

28 phares, your kingdom has been divided and given to Medes and Persians.

29 And Baltasar spoke, and they clothed Daniel in purple and put the golden necklace around his neck, and he proclaimed concerning him that he should be third ruler in the kingdom.

30 On that very night Baltasar the king of the Chaldeans was killed.

Chapter 6

1 And Dareios the Mede received the kingdom, being sixty-two years old.

2 And it pleased Dareios, and he appointed over the kingdom a hundred and twenty satraps to be in his whole kingdom,

3 and above them three administrators, of whom Daniel was one, for the satraps to render account to them, so that the king might not be troubled;

4 and Daniel was above them, because an extraordinary spirit was in him, and the king appointed him over his whole kingdom.

5 And the administrators and the satraps sought to find a pretext against Daniel; and they found no pretext or transgression or fault against him, because he was faithful.

6 And the administrators said: We shall not find a pretext against Daniel except in the ordinances of his God.

7 Then the administrators and the satraps stood before the king and said to him: King Dareios, live unto the ages;

8 all the generals and satraps, consuls and local governors over your kingdom have taken counsel to establish by a royal enactment and strengthen a restriction, that whoever asks a request from any god or human for thirty days except from you, king, shall be thrown into the pit of lions;

9 now therefore, king, establish the restriction and issue a writing, so that the decree of Medes and Persians may not be changed.

10 Then King Dareios commanded the decree to be written.

11 And Daniel, when he knew that the decree had been inscribed, entered his house, and his windows were open in his upper rooms opposite Ierusalem, and three times a day he bent upon his knees and prayed and gave thanks before his God, as he had been doing before.

12 Then those men watched and found Daniel making request and supplicating his God.

13 And approaching, they say to the king: King, did you not establish a restriction, that every person who asks a request from any god or human for thirty days except from you, king, shall be thrown into the pit of lions? And the king said: The word is true, and the decree of Medes and Persians shall not pass away.

14 Then they answered and say before the king: Daniel, of the sons of the captivity of Ioudaia, has not submitted to your decree concerning the restriction which you established, and three times a day he asks his requests from his God.

15 Then the king, when he heard the saying, was greatly grieved at it and struggled concerning Daniel to deliver him, and until evening he was struggling to deliver him.

16 Then those men say to the king: Know, king, that it is a decree for Medes and Persians that no restriction and enactment which the king establishes must be altered.

17 Then the king spoke, and they brought Daniel and threw him into the pit of lions; and the king said to Daniel: Your God, whom you serve continually, he will deliver you.

18 And they brought a stone and placed it upon the mouth of the pit, and the king sealed it with his ring and with the ring of his magnates, so that nothing might be changed concerning Daniel.

19 And the king went away to his house and lay down without dinner, and they did not bring foods to him, and sleep departed from him. And God shut the mouths of the lions, and they did not trouble Daniel.

20 Then the king rose early in the light and came in haste to the pit of lions;

21 and as he drew near the pit he cried with a strong voice: Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you serve continually, been able to deliver you from the mouth of the lions?

22 And Daniel said to the king: King, live unto the ages;

23 my God sent his angel and blocked the mouths of the lions, and they did not injure me, because uprightness was found in me before him; and also before you, king, I did no transgression.

24 Then the king was greatly gladdened at it and said to bring Daniel up from the pit; and Daniel was brought up from the pit, and no destruction was found in him, because he believed in his God.

25 And the king spoke, and they brought the men who had accused Daniel, and they were thrown into the pit of lions, they and their sons and their wives; and they had not reached the floor of the pit before the lions ruled over them and crushed all their bones.

26 Then Dareios the king wrote to all the peoples, tribes, tongues dwelling in all the earth: May peace be multiplied to you;

27 from before me a decree was established, that in every domain of my kingdom they should tremble and fear before the God of Daniel, because he is the living God and remains unto the ages, and his kingdom shall not be destroyed, and his dominion is unto the end;

28 he takes hold and rescues and does signs and wonders in heaven and upon the earth, he who delivered Daniel from the hand of the lions.

29 And Daniel prospered in the kingdom of Dareios and in the kingdom of Cyrus the Persian.

Chapter 7

1 In the first year of Baltasar king of the Chaldeans, Daniel saw a dream, and the visions of his head upon his bed, and he wrote the dream:

2 I, Daniel, was observing in my vision of the night, and behold, the four winds of heaven struck against the great sea.

3 And four great beasts came up from the sea, differing from one another.

4 The first was like a lioness, and its wings like an eagle's; I was observing until its wings were plucked out, and it was lifted from the earth and stood upon human feet, and a human heart was given to it.

5 And behold, a second beast like a bear, and it stood upon one side, and three ribs were in its mouth between its teeth, and thus they said to it: Rise, eat much flesh.

6 After this I was observing, and behold, another beast like a leopard, and it had four bird's wings above it, and the beast had four heads, and authority was given to it.

7 After this I was observing, and behold, a fourth beast, fearful and terrifying and exceedingly strong, and its teeth great and iron, eating and crushing, and it trampled the remainder with its feet, and it differed exceedingly from all the beasts before it, and it had ten horns.

8 I considered its horns, and behold, another small horn came up in their midst, and three of the horns before it were uprooted before it, and behold, eyes like human eyes were in this horn, and a mouth speaking great things.

9 I was observing until thrones were placed, and an ancient of days sat, and his garment was white like snow, and the hair of his head like clean wool; his throne a flame of fire, its wheels burning fire;

10 a river of fire flowed before him, a thousand thousands ministered to him, and ten thousand myriads stood before him; a court sat, and books were opened.

11 I was observing then because of the sound of the great words which that horn spoke, until the beast was killed and perished, and its body was given to burning by fire.

12 And the rule of the remaining beasts was removed, and length of life was given to them until a time and a time.

13 I was observing in a vision of the night, and behold, with the clouds of heaven one like a son of man was coming, and he reached the ancient of days and was brought before him.

14 And to him were given rule and honor and the kingdom, and all the peoples, tribes, tongues shall serve him; his authority is eternal authority, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom shall not be destroyed. –

15 My spirit shuddered within my condition, I, Daniel, and the visions of my head troubled me.

16 And I approached one of those standing and sought from him the exact truth concerning all these things, and he told me the exact truth and made known to me the interpretation of the words:

17 These four great beasts, four kingdoms shall arise upon the earth, which shall be taken away;

18 and holy ones of the Most High shall receive the kingdom and hold it unto the age of the ages.

19 And I sought precisely concerning the fourth beast, because it differed from every beast, exceedingly fearful, its teeth iron and its claws bronze, eating and crushing, and it trampled the remainder with its feet,

20 and concerning its ten horns upon its head and the other which came up and shook out three of the earlier ones, that horn which had eyes and a mouth speaking great things, and its appearance greater than the remaining ones.

21 I was observing, and that horn made war with the holy ones and prevailed against them,

22 until the ancient of days came and gave judgment to holy ones of the Most High, and the time arrived and the holy ones possessed the kingdom.

23 And he said: The fourth beast shall be a fourth kingdom in the earth, which shall surpass all the kingdoms and devour all the earth and trample it and cut it down.

24 And its ten horns, ten kings shall arise, and after them another shall arise, who shall surpass in evils all those before him, and shall humble three kings;

25 and he shall speak words against the Most High and wear out the holy ones of the Most High and intend to change times and law, and it shall be given into his hand until a time and times and half a time.

26 And the court shall sit, and they shall remove the rule to annihilate and destroy unto the end.

27 And the kingdom and authority and greatness of the kings beneath all heaven were given to holy ones of the Most High, and his kingdom is an eternal kingdom, and all the rulers shall serve and obey him.

28 Thus far is the end of the word. I, Daniel, my thoughts greatly disturbed me, and my form was changed upon me, and I kept the saying in my heart.

Chapter 8

1 In the third year of the kingdom of Baltasar the king a vision appeared to me, I, Daniel, after the one which appeared to me at the beginning.

2 And I was in Sousa the citadel, which is in the country of Ailam, and I saw in a vision, and I was upon the Oubal,

3 and I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, one ram standing before the Oubal, and it had horns, and the horns were high, and the one higher than the other, and the high one came up last.

4 I saw the ram butting toward the sea and north and south, and none of the beasts shall stand before it, and there was none delivering from its hand, and it did according to its will and grew great.

5 And I was considering, and behold, a male goat came from the southwest over the face of all the earth and was not touching the earth, and the goat had a conspicuous horn between its eyes.

6 And it came to the ram which had the horns, which I had seen standing before the Oubal, and ran toward it in the impulse of its strength.

7 And I saw it reach the ram, and it became fierce against it and struck the ram and broke both its horns, and the ram had no strength to stand before it; and it threw it upon the earth and trampled it, and there was none delivering the ram from its hand.

8 And the male goat grew exceedingly great, and when it became strong its great horn was broken, and four horns came up beneath it toward the four winds of heaven.

9 And from one of them came out one strong horn, and it grew exceedingly great toward the south and toward the east and toward the host;

10 it grew great unto the host of heaven, and fell upon the earth from the host of heaven and from the stars, and trampled them,

11 and until the chief commander rescues the captivity, and because of it sacrifice was dashed down, and it happened and prospered for it, and the sanctuary shall be desolated;

12 and sin was given against the sacrifice, and righteousness was thrown to the ground, and it acted and prospered.

13 And I heard one holy one speaking, and one holy one said to the phelmouni who was speaking: Until when shall the vision stand, the sacrifice taken away and the sin of desolation given, and the sanctuary and the host be trampled?

14 And he said to him: Until evening and morning, two thousand and three hundred days, and the sanctuary shall be cleansed.

15 And it happened, when I, Daniel, saw the vision and sought understanding, and behold, there stood before me something like the appearance of a man.

16 And I heard a man's voice between the Oubal, and it called and said: Gabriel, cause that one to understand the vision.

17 And he came and stood beside where I stood, and when he came I was terrified and fall upon my face, and he said to me: Understand, son of man, for the vision is still for the end of a time.

18 And when he spoke with me I fall upon my face upon the earth, and he touched me and stood me upon my feet

19 and said: Behold, I make known to you the things which shall be at the last of the wrath; for the vision is still for the end of a time.

20 The ram which you saw, which has the horns, is king of Medes and Persians.

21 And the male goat is king of Greeks; and the great horn which was between its eyes, it is the first king.

22 And of the broken one, beneath which four horns stood, four kings shall arise from his nation, and not in his strength.

23 And at the last of their kingdom, when their sins are being fulfilled, a king shameless in face and understanding riddles shall arise.

24 And his strength shall be mighty, and not in his own strength, and he shall destroy wondrously and prosper and act and destroy mighty ones and a holy people.

25 And the yoke of his collar shall prosper; deceit is in his hand, and he shall grow great in his heart and destroy many by deceit and stand for the destruction of many and break them like eggs with a hand.

26 And the vision of the evening and the morning which was spoken is true; and you, seal the vision, because it is for many days.

27 And I, Daniel, lay down and was sick for days, and rose and did the king's affairs; and I wondered at the vision, and there was none understanding.

Chapter 9

1 In the first year of Dareios the son of Asoueros, of the seed of the Medes, who reigned over the kingdom of the Chaldeans,

2 in year one of his kingdom I, Daniel, understood in the books the number of the years concerning which the word of the Lord came to Ieremias the prophet for the completion of the desolation of Ierusalem, seventy years.

3 And I gave my face toward the Lord God to seek prayer and supplications with fastings and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed to the Lord my God and confessed and said: Lord, the great and wonderful God, who keeps your covenant and mercy for those who love you and those who keep your commandments,

5 we sinned, acted unjustly, acted lawlessly and departed and turned aside from your commandments and from your judgments

6 and did not listen to your servants the prophets, who spoke in your name to our kings and our rulers and our fathers and to all the people of the land.

7 To you, Lord, belongs righteousness, and to us shame of face as this day, to the man of Iouda and those dwelling in Ierusalem and all Israel, those near and those far in all the earth, where you scattered them there in their unfaithfulness with which they were unfaithful to you.

8 Lord, to us belongs shame of face, and to our kings and our rulers and our fathers, we who sinned against you.

9 To the Lord our God belong compassions and propitiations, because we departed

10 and did not listen to the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in his laws which he gave before us by the hands of his servants the prophets.

11 And all Israel transgressed your law and turned aside so as not to hear your voice, and the curse and the oath written in the law of Moyses the servant of God came upon us, because we sinned against him.

12 And he established his words which he spoke against us and against our judges who judged us, to bring great evils upon us, such as have not happened beneath all heaven according to what happened in Ierusalem.

13 As it is written in the law of Moyses, all these evils came upon us, and we did not supplicate the face of the Lord our God, to turn from our injustices and to understand in all your truth.

14 And the Lord watched and brought them upon us, because the Lord our God is righteous in all his doing which he did, and we did not listen to his voice.

15 And now, Lord our God, who brought your people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand and made yourself a name as this day, we sinned, we acted lawlessly.

16 Lord, in all your mercy let your wrath and your anger indeed turn away from your city Ierusalem, your holy mountain, because we sinned, and through our injustices and those of our fathers Ierusalem and your people became a reproach among all those around us.

17 And now hear, Lord our God, the prayer of your servant and his supplications, and make your face shine upon your desolate sanctuary for your sake, Lord.

18 Incline your ear, my God, and hear; open your eyes and see our annihilation and that of your city upon which your name has been called; because it is not on our righteous acts that we cast our plea for compassion before you, but on your many compassions.

19 Lord, hear; Lord, be propitious; Lord, attend and act; do not delay, for your sake, my God, because your name has been called upon your city and upon your people. –

20 And while I was still speaking and praying and confessing my sins and the sins of my people Israel and casting my plea for mercy before the Lord my God concerning the holy mountain of my God,

21 and while I was still speaking in prayer, and behold, the man Gabriel, whom I saw in the vision at the beginning, flying, touched me about the hour of the evening sacrifice.

22 And he caused me to understand and spoke with me and said: Daniel, now I came out to instruct you in understanding.

23 At the beginning of your supplication a word came out, and I came to announce it to you, because you are a man of desires; and consider the saying and understand the apparition.

24 Seventy weeks were cut short upon your people and upon your holy city, for sin to be completed and to seal sins and wipe away lawless acts and to make atonement for injustices and to bring eternal righteousness and to seal vision and prophet and to anoint a holy of holies.

25 And you shall know and understand: from the going out of a word to answer and to build Ierusalem until an anointed leader, seven weeks and sixty-two weeks; and it shall return, and street and wall shall be built, and the times shall be emptied out.

26 And after the sixty-two weeks an anointing shall be utterly destroyed, and there is no judgment in it; and he shall destroy the city and the sanctuary together with the leader who comes, and they shall be cut off in a flood, and until the end of a shortened war he shall appoint desolations.

27 And he shall strengthen a covenant for many, one week; and in the half of the week my sacrifice and libation shall be taken away, and upon the temple an abomination of desolations, and until the completion of a time a completion shall be given upon the desolation.

Chapter 10

1 In the third year of Cyrus king of the Persians a word was revealed to Daniel, whose name was called Baltasar, and the word was true, and great power and understanding were given to him in the apparition.

2 In those days I, Daniel, was mourning three weeks of days;

3 bread of desires I did not eat, and meat and wine did not enter my mouth, and I did not anoint myself with ointment until the completion of three weeks of days.

4 On the twenty-fourth day of the first month, and I was beside the great river, it is Eddekel,

5 and I lifted my eyes and saw, and behold, one man clothed in baddin, and his loins girded with gold of Ophaz,

6 and his body like tharsis, and his face like the appearance of lightning, and his eyes like torches of fire, and his arms and legs like the appearance of gleaming bronze, and the sound of his words like the sound of a crowd.

7 And I, Daniel, alone saw the apparition, and the men with me did not see the apparition, but a great astonishment fell upon them, and they fled in fear;

8 and I was left alone and saw this great apparition, and no strength was left in me, and my glory was changed into destruction, and I retained no strength.

9 And I heard the sound of his words, and when I heard him I was stunned, and my face was upon the earth.

10 And behold, a hand touching me, and it raised me upon my knees.

11 And he said to me: Daniel, man of desires, understand the words which I speak to you, and stand in your position, because now I was sent to you. And when he spoke this word to me I rose trembling.

12 And he said to me: Do not fear, Daniel; because from the first day on which you gave your heart to understand and to be afflicted before your God, your words were heard, and I came because of your words.

13 And the ruler of the kingdom of the Persians stood opposite me twenty-one days, and behold, Michael, one of the first rulers, came to help me, and I left him there with the ruler of the kingdom of the Persians

14 and came to cause you to understand all that shall meet your people at the last of the days, because the vision is still for days.

15 And when he spoke with me according to these words I gave my face to the earth and was stunned.

16 And behold, something like the likeness of a son of man touched my lips; and I opened my mouth and spoke and said to the one standing before me: Lord, in your apparition my inward parts were turned within me, and I had no strength;

17 and how shall your servant, lord, be able to speak with this my lord? And as for me, from now no strength shall stand in me, and no breath was left in me.

18 And again one like the appearance of a human touched me and strengthened me

19 and said to me: Do not fear, man of desires, peace to you; be courageous and be strong. And when he spoke with me I became strong and said: Let my lord speak, because you strengthened me.

20 And he said: Do you know why I came to you? And now I shall return to war with the ruler of the Persians; and I was going out, and the ruler of the Greeks was coming.

21 But I shall announce to you what is inscribed in a writing of truth, and there is not one holding with me concerning these things except Michael your ruler;

Chapter 11

1 And I, in the first year of Cyrus, stood for might and strength. –

2 And now I shall announce truth to you. Behold, three kings shall yet arise in Persia, and the fourth shall be rich with great wealth beyond all; and after becoming strong through his wealth he shall rise against all the kingdoms of Greeks.

3 And a mighty king shall arise and rule a great dominion and do according to his will.

4 And as soon as he stands, his kingdom shall be broken and divided toward the four winds of heaven, and not to his descendants nor according to his dominion which he ruled, because his kingdom shall be plucked out and given to others besides these.

5 And the king of the south shall become strong; and one of his rulers shall become strong against him and rule a great dominion over his authority.

6 And after his years they shall mingle, and a daughter of the king of the south shall come to the king of the north to make agreements with him; and she shall not retain strength of arm, and his seed shall not stand, and she shall be handed over, and those bringing her and the young woman and the one strengthening her in the times.

7 And from the blossom of her root one shall stand in his position and come to the host and enter the strongholds of the king of the north and act in them and prevail.

8 And indeed their gods with their molten images, every desirable vessel of theirs of silver and gold, he shall carry with captivity into Egypt; and he shall stand above the king of the north.

9 And he shall enter the kingdom of the king of the south; and return to his land.

10 And his sons shall gather a multitude of many forces, and he shall come, coming and flooding; and he shall pass through and settle down and engage in combat as far as his stronghold.

11 And the king of the south shall become fierce and go out and war with the king of the north; and he shall establish a great multitude, and the multitude shall be handed over into his hand;

12 and he shall take the multitude, and his heart shall be exalted, and he shall cast down myriads and shall not prevail.

13 And the king of the north shall return and bring a multitude greater than the earlier one, and at the end of the times of years he shall come on with an advance in great force and with much substance.

14 And in those times many shall rise against the king of the south; and the sons of the pestilent ones of your people shall be lifted up to establish a vision and shall grow weak.

15 And the king of the north shall come and pour out a mound and seize fortified cities, and the arms of the king of the south shall not stand, and his chosen ones shall arise, and there shall be no strength to stand.

16 And the one coming against him shall do according to his will, and there is none standing before him; and he shall stand in the land of sabi, and it shall be completed in his hand.

17 And he shall set his face to come with the strength of his whole kingdom, and he shall make all things straight with him; and he shall give him a daughter of women to destroy her, and she shall certainly not remain and shall not be for him.

18 And he shall turn his face toward the islands and seize many and stop rulers of their reproach, only his reproach shall return to him.

19 And he shall turn his face toward the stronghold of his land and grow weak and fall and not be found.

20 And from his root a plant of kingship shall arise in his position, causing to pass through, exacting the glory of a kingdom; and in those days he shall be broken, and not in faces nor in war.

21 He shall stand in his position; he was despised, and they did not give him the glory of a kingdom; and he shall come in prosperity and prevail over kingdoms through slippery dealings.

22 And the arms of the one flooding shall be flooded from before him and broken, and a leader of a covenant;

23 and from the minglings with him he shall practice deceit and go up and overpower him with a small nation.

24 And in prosperity and in fertile countries he shall come and do what his fathers and his fathers' fathers did not do; booty and spoils and substance he shall scatter to them, and against Egypt he shall devise his devices, even until a time.

25 And his strength and his heart shall be stirred against the king of the south with a great force, and the king of the south shall join battle with a great and exceedingly strong force; and he shall not stand, because they shall devise devices against him;

26 and they shall eat his necessary provisions and break him, and he shall flood forces, and many wounded shall fall.

27 And both kings, their hearts are toward wickedness, and at one table they shall speak falsehoods, and it shall not prosper; because the end is still for a time.

28 And he shall return to his land with much substance, and his heart shall be against a holy covenant, and he shall act and return to his land.

29 At the time he shall return and come into the south, and it shall not be as the first and as the last.

30 And the Kitian ones going out shall come against him, and he shall be humbled; and he shall return and be enraged against a holy covenant; and he shall act and return and give heed to those forsaking a holy covenant.

31 And seeds from him shall arise and profane the sanctuary of dominion and remove the continual offering and give an abomination made desolate.

32 And those acting lawlessly against a covenant shall bring on through slippery dealings, and a people knowing their God shall prevail and act.

33 And the understanding ones of the people shall understand many things; and they shall grow weak by sword and by flame and by captivity and by plundering for days.

34 And when they grow weak they shall be helped with a little help, and many shall be added to them through slippery dealings.

35 And some of those understanding shall grow weak, to refine them and to select and to reveal, until the end of a time; because it is still for a time.

36 And he shall do according to his will, and the king shall be exalted and grow great above every god and speak excessive things and prosper, until the wrath is completed; for it happens toward completion.

37 And he shall not give heed to all the gods of his fathers, nor to the desire of women, and he shall not give heed to any god, because he shall grow great above all;

38 and he shall glorify a god maozin in his place, and a god whom his fathers did not know he shall glorify with gold and silver and precious stone and desirable things.

39 And he shall act for the fortifications of refuges with a foreign god and multiply glory and subject many to them and divide land in gifts.

40 And at the end of a time he shall clash with the king of the south, and the king of the north shall gather against him with chariots and horsemen and many ships, and enter the land and break and pass through.

41 And he shall enter the land of sabi, and many shall grow weak; and these shall be saved from his hand, Edom and Moab and the chief part of the sons of Ammon.

42 And he shall stretch his hand over the land, and the land of Egypt shall not be for salvation.

43 And he shall rule over the hidden stores of gold and silver and over all the desirable things of Egypt and of Libyans and Ethiopians in their fortifications.

44 And reports and urgent messages shall trouble him from the east and from the north, and he shall come in great wrath to annihilate and to devote many to destruction.

45 And he shall pitch his tent ephadano between the seas, toward a holy mountain sabi; and he shall come to his portion, and there is none rescuing him.

Chapter 12

1 And at that time Michael shall arise, the great ruler who stands over the sons of your people; and there shall be a time of affliction, an affliction such as has not happened since a nation came into being upon the earth until that time; and at that time your people shall be saved, everyone found written in the book.

2 And many of those sleeping in the earth's mound shall be awakened, these to eternal life and these to reproach and to eternal shame.

3 And those understanding shall shine out like the brightness of the firmament, and some of the many righteous like the stars unto the ages and still further.

4 And you, Daniel, shut up the words and seal the book until a time of completion, until many are taught and knowledge is multiplied. –

5 And I, Daniel, saw, and behold, two others stood, one on this side of the bank of the river and one on that side of the bank of the river.

6 And he said to the man clothed in the baddin, who was above the water of the river: Until when is the end of the wonders which you have spoken?

7 And I heard the man clothed in the baddin, who was above the water of the river, and he lifted his right hand and his left hand to heaven and swore by him who lives unto the age: For a time of times and half a time; when the scattering of the hand of a sanctified people is completed, they shall know all these things.

8 And I heard and did not understand and said: Lord, what are the last things of these?

9 And he said: Come, Daniel, because the words are shut up and sealed until the end of a time;

10 may many be selected and made white and refined, and may lawless ones act lawlessly; and all lawless ones shall not understand, and the intelligent shall understand.

11 And from the time of the alteration of the continual offering and the giving of an abomination of desolation, a thousand two hundred and ninety days.

12 Blessed is the one enduring and reaching a thousand three hundred and thirty-five days.

13 And you, come and rest; for there are still days toward the fulfillment of completion, and you shall rise to your lot at the completion of days.

1 Bel and the Dragon

Chapter 1

1 From the prophecy of Ambakoum son of Iesous, of the tribe of Levi.

2 There was a certain man, a priest, whose name was Daniel son of Abal, a companion of the king of Babylon.

3 And there was an idol, Bel, which the Babylonians revered; and twelve artabas of fine flour and four sheep and six measures of oil were expended for it each day.

4 And the king revered it, and the king went each day and worshipped it; but Daniel prayed to the Lord.

5 And the king said to Daniel: Why do you not worship Bel? And Daniel said to the king: I revere no one except the Lord God, who created heaven and earth and has dominion over all flesh.

6 And the king said to him: Is this, then, not a god? Do you not see how much is spent on it each day?

7 And Daniel said to him: By no means; let no one deceive you; for this is clay within and bronze without; and I swear to you by the Lord, the God of gods, that this has never eaten anything.

8 And the king, enraged, called those presiding over the temple and said to them: Show the one eating what is prepared for Bel; but if not, you shall die, or Daniel who asserts that these things are not eaten by it. And they said: Bel himself is the one devouring them.

9 And Daniel said to the king: Let it be thus; if I do not show that Bel is not the one devouring these things, I shall die, and all those with me. And there were seventy priests for Bel, apart from women and children.

10 And they brought the king into the idol's shrine.

11 And the foods were set before the king and Daniel, and mixed wine was brought in and set before Bel. And Daniel said: You yourself see that these things are laid here, king; therefore you seal the locks of the temple when it is closed.

13 And the word pleased the king.

14 And Daniel commanded his people, after putting everyone out of the temple, to sprinkle the whole temple with ashes, with none outside him knowing. And then he commanded the temple to be sealed with the king's ring and the rings of certain distinguished priests; and it happened thus.

15-17 And it happened on the next day that they arrived at the place; and the priests of Bel had entered through concealed doors and devoured everything laid beside Bel and drunk up the wine. And Daniel said: Look upon your seals, whether they remain, men who are priests; and you also, king, consider whether anything inconsistent has happened for you. And they found the seal as it had been, and removed the seal.

18 And opening the doors, they saw everything set out consumed and the tables empty; and the king rejoiced and said to Daniel: Bel is great, and there is no deceit with him.

19 And Daniel laughed exceedingly and said to the king: Come, see the deceit of the priests. And Daniel said: King, whose are these footprints?

20 And the king said: Of men and women and children.

21 And he went to the house in which the priests were staying and found the foods of Bel and the wine; and Daniel showed the king the concealed doors through which the priests entered and consumed what was set before Bel.

22 And the king brought them out of the shrine of Bel and handed them over to Daniel; and he gave Daniel the expenditure for it, and overthrew Bel.

23 And there was a dragon in the same place, and the Babylonians revered it.

24 And the king said to Daniel: Surely you will not also say that this is bronze? Behold, it lives and eats and drinks; worship it.

25 And Daniel said: King, give me the authority, and I shall kill the dragon without iron and staff.

26 And the king granted it to him and said to him: It is given to you.

27 And Daniel took thirty minas of pitch and fat and hairs, boiled them together and made a cake and threw it into the dragon's mouth, and after eating it burst apart. And he showed it to the king, saying: Do you not revere these things, king?

28 And all those from the country gathered against Daniel and said: The king has become a Jew; he overthrew Bel and killed the dragon.

30 And the king, seeing that the crowd of the country had gathered against him, called his companions and said: I give Daniel for destruction.

31-32 And there was a pit in which seven lions were fed, to which those plotting against the king were handed over, and each day two bodies of those condemned to death were supplied to them. And the crowds threw Daniel into that pit, so that he might be devoured and not even obtain burial. And Daniel was in the pit six days.

33 And it happened on the sixth day, and Ambakoum had breads crumbled in a bowl in a boiled dish and a jar of mixed wine, and was going into the plain to the reapers.

34 And an angel of the Lord spoke to Ambakoum, saying: Thus says the Lord God to you: The meal which you have, take away to Daniel in the pit of lions in Babylon.

35 And Ambakoum said: Lord God, I have not seen Babylon, and I do not know where the pit is.

36 And the angel of the Lord took hold of him, Ambakoum, by the hair of his head and placed him above the pit in Babylon.

37 And Ambakoum said to Daniel: Rise and eat the meal which the Lord God sent you.

38 And Daniel said: For the Lord God has remembered me, he who does not forsake those who love him.

39 And Daniel ate; and the angel of the Lord set Ambakoum where he had taken him from, on the same day. And the Lord God remembered Daniel.

40 And after these things the king came out mourning Daniel and, bending into the pit, sees him sitting.

41 And the king cried out and said: Great is the Lord God, and there is no other except him.

42 And the king brought Daniel out of the pit; and those responsible for his destruction he threw into the pit before Daniel, and they were devoured.

2 Bel and the Dragon

Chapter 1

1 And King Astyages was added to his fathers, and Cyrus the Persian received his kingdom.

2 And Daniel was a companion of the king and distinguished beyond all his friends.

3 And the Babylonians had an idol whose name was Bel, and twelve artabas of fine flour and forty sheep and six measures of wine were expended for it each day.

4 And the king revered it and went each day to worship it; but Daniel worshipped his God.

5 And the king said to him: Why do you not worship Bel? And he said: Because I do not revere idols made by hands, but the living God who created heaven and earth and has dominion over all flesh.

6 And the king said to him: Does Bel not seem to you to be a living god? Indeed, do you not see how much he eats and drinks each day?

7 And Daniel laughed and said: Do not be deceived, king; for this is clay within and bronze without, and has never eaten or drunk.

8 And the king, enraged, called its priests and said to them: If you do not tell me who is devouring this expenditure, you shall die; but if you show that Bel devours them, Daniel shall die, because he blasphemed against Bel.

9 And Daniel said to the king: Let it be according to your saying. And there were seventy priests of Bel, apart from women and children.

10 And the king came with Daniel into the house of Bel.

11 And the priests of Bel said: Behold, we run off outside, but you, king, set out the foods and mix the wine and set it out and shut the door and seal it with your ring; and when you come early, if you do not find everything eaten by Bel, we shall die, or Daniel who lies against us.

12 And they were scornful, because they had made a hidden entrance beneath the table and continually entered through it and consumed them.

13 And it happened when those men went out, and the king set the foods before Bel.

14 And Daniel commanded his boys, and they brought ashes and sprinkled the whole temple before the king alone; and going out they closed the door and sealed it with the king's ring, and departed.

15 And the priests came at night according to their custom, and their wives and their children, and devoured everything and drank it up.

16 And the king rose early in the morning, and Daniel with him.

17 And the king said: Are the seals safe, Daniel? And he said: Safe, king.

18 And it happened, as soon as the doors were opened, the king looked upon the table and cried with a great voice: Great are you, Bel, and there is not even one deceit with you.

19 And Daniel laughed and restrained the king from entering inside and said: Look indeed at the floor and know whose these footprints are.

20 And the king said: I see the footprints of men and women and children.

21 And the king, angered, then seized the priests and their wives and their children, and they showed him the hidden doors through which they entered and consumed the things upon the table.

22 And the king killed them and gave Bel over to Daniel, and he overthrew it and its temple.

23 And there was a great dragon, and the Babylonians revered it.

24 And the king said to Daniel: You cannot say that this is not a living god; and worship it.

25 And Daniel said: I shall worship the Lord my God, because he is a living God; but you, king, give me authority, and I shall kill the dragon without sword and staff.

26 And the king said: I give it to you.

27 And Daniel took pitch and fat and hairs and boiled them together and made cakes and put them into the dragon's mouth, and the dragon ate and burst apart. And he said: See your objects of reverence.

28 And it happened when the Babylonians heard, they were exceedingly indignant and banded together against the king and said: The king has become a Jew; he pulled down Bel and killed the dragon and slaughtered the priests.

29 And coming to the king they said: Hand Daniel over to us; but if not, we shall kill you and your house.

30 And the king saw that they pressed him exceedingly, and being compelled he handed Daniel over to them.

31 And they threw him into the pit of lions, and he was there six days.

32 And there were seven lions in the pit, and two bodies and two sheep were given to them each day; but then none were given to them, so that they might devour Daniel.

33 And Ambakoum the prophet was in Ioudaia, and he boiled a boiled dish and crumbled breads into a bowl and was going to the plain to take it to the reapers.

34 And an angel of the Lord said to Ambakoum: Take the meal which you have to Babylon, to Daniel in the pit of lions.

35 And Ambakoum said: Lord, I have not seen Babylon and do not know the pit.

36 And the angel of the Lord took hold of the crown of his head and, carrying him by the hair of his head, placed him in Babylon above the pit in the rushing of his spirit.

37 And Ambakoum cried, saying: Daniel, Daniel, take the meal which God sent you.

38 And Daniel said: For you remembered me, God, and did not forsake those who love you.

39 And Daniel rose and ate; and the angel of God immediately restored Ambakoum to his place.

40 And the king came on the seventh day to mourn Daniel; and he came to the pit and looked in, and behold, Daniel sitting.

41 And crying out with a great voice he said: Great are you, Lord, the God of Daniel, and there is no other except you.

42 And he pulled him up, and those responsible for his destruction he threw into the pit, and they were devoured immediately before him.

Matthew

Chapter 1

1 Book of the origin of Jesus Christ, son of Dabid, son of Abraam.

2 Abraam begot Isaak, and Isaak begot Iakob, and Iakob begot Ioudas and his brothers,

3 and Ioudas begot Phares and Zara from Thamar, and Phares begot Esrom, and Esrom begot Aram,

4 and Aram begot Aminadab, and Aminadab begot Naasson, and Naasson begot Salmon,

5 and Salmon begot Booz from Rachab, and Booz begot Obed from Routh, and Obed begot Iessai,

6 and Iessai begot Dabid the king, and Dabid the king begot Solomon from the woman of Ourias,

7 and Solomon begot Roboam, and Roboam begot Abia, and Abia begot Asa,

8 and Asa begot Iosaphat, and Iosaphat begot Ioram, and Ioram begot Ozias,

9 and Ozias begot Ioatham, and Ioatham begot Achaz, and Achaz begot Ezekias,

10 and Ezekias begot Manasses, and Manasses begot Amon, and Amon begot Iosias,

11 and Iosias begot Iechonias and his brothers at the deportation to Babylon.

12 And after the deportation to Babylon Iechonias begot Salathiel, and Salathiel begot Zorobabel,

13 and Zorobabel begot Abioud, and Abioud begot Eliakeim, and Eliakeim begot Azor,

14 and Azor begot Sadok, and Sadok begot Acheim, and Acheim begot Elioud,

15 and Elioud begot Eleazar, and Eleazar begot Matthan, and Matthan begot Iakob,

16 and Iakob begot Joseph, the husband of Maria, from whom Jesus was born, who is called Christ.

17 Therefore all the generations from Abraam until Dabid are fourteen generations, and from Dabid until the deportation to Babylon fourteen generations, and from the deportation to Babylon until the Christ fourteen generations.

18 And the birth of Jesus Christ was thus: for when his mother Maria was betrothed to Joseph, before they came together, she was found having a child in the womb from the Holy Spirit.

19 And Joseph her husband, being righteous and not wishing to expose her publicly, resolved to release her secretly.

20 And when he considered these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying: Joseph, son of Dabid, do not fear to take Mariam your wife, for what was begotten in her is from the Holy Spirit.

21 And she shall bear a son, and you shall call his name Jesus, for he shall save his people from their sins.

22 And this whole thing has happened so that what was spoken by the Lord through the prophet might be fulfilled, saying:

23 Behold, the virgin shall have a child in the womb and bear a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which translated is: God with us.

24 And Joseph, awakened from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord commanded him and took his wife,

25 and did not know her until she bore her firstborn son, and he called his name Jesus.

Chapter 2

1 And when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Ioudaia in the days of Herod the king, behold, magi from the east arrived in Hierosolyma,

2 saying: Where is the one born king of the Jews? For we saw his star in the east and came to worship him.

3 And Herod the king, hearing, was troubled, and all Hierosolyma with him,

4 and gathering all the chief priests and scribes of the people, he inquired from them where the Christ is born.

5 And they said to him: In Bethlehem of Ioudaia, for thus it is written through the prophet:

6 And you, Bethlehem, land of Iouda, are by no means least among the rulers of Iouda; for from you shall come out a leader who shall shepherd my people Israel.

7 Then Herod, secretly calling the magi, ascertained precisely from them the time of the star appearing,

8 and sending them to Bethlehem said: Go and inquire precisely concerning the child, and when you find him, announce it to me, so that I also may come and worship him.

9 And hearing the king, they went, and behold, the star which they saw in the east went before them until it came and stood above where the child was.

10 And seeing the star, they rejoiced with exceedingly great joy,

11 and coming into the house they found the child with Maria his mother, and falling down they worshipped him, and opening their treasures they offered him gifts, gold and frankincense and myrrh.

12 And being instructed in a dream not to return to Herod, they withdrew to their country by another way.

13 And when they withdrew, behold, an angel of the Lord appears in a dream to Joseph, saying: Rise, take the child and his mother and flee into Egypt, and be there until I tell you; for Herod is about to seek the child to destroy him.

14 And he rose and took the child and his mother by night and withdrew into Egypt,

15 and was there until the death of Herod, so that what was spoken by the Lord through the prophet might be fulfilled, saying: Out of Egypt I called my son.

16 Then Herod, seeing that he was mocked by the magi, was exceedingly enraged, and sending out he killed all the boys in Bethlehem and in all its boundaries, from two years old and below, according to the time which he had precisely ascertained from the magi.

17 Then what was spoken by Ieremias the prophet was fulfilled, saying:

18 A voice was heard in Rama, lamentation and weeping and much wailing, Rachel weeping for her children, and she did not wish to be comforted, because they are not.

19 And when Herod died, behold, an angel of the Lord appears in a dream to Joseph in Egypt,

20 saying: Rise, take the child and his mother and go into the land of Israel; for those seeking the soul of the child have died.

21 And he rose and took the child and his mother and came into the land of Israel.

22 And hearing that Archelaos reigns over Ioudaia instead of Herod his father, he feared to go there; and being instructed in a dream, he withdrew into the parts of Galilee,

23 and coming, he dwelt in a city called Nazaret, so that what was spoken through the prophets might be fulfilled: He shall be called a Nazorean.

Chapter 3

1 And in those days John the Baptist arrives, proclaiming in the wilderness of Ioudaia

2 and saying: Repent, for the kingdom of the heavens has drawn near.

3 For this is the one spoken of by Esaias the prophet, saying: A voice of one crying in the wilderness: Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 And John himself had his garment of camel's hairs and a leather belt around his loins, and his food was locusts and wild honey.

5 Then Hierosolyma and all Ioudaia and all the surrounding country of the Jordan went out to him,

6 and were baptized in the Jordan by him, confessing their sins.

7 And seeing many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to his baptism, he said to them: Offspring of vipers, who showed you to flee from the coming wrath?

8 Therefore produce fruits worthy of repentance,

9 and do not think to say within yourselves: We have Abraam as father; for I say to you that God can raise up children for Abraam from these stones.

10 And already the axe also lies at the root of the trees; therefore every tree not producing good fruit is cut down and thrown into fire.

11 I indeed baptize you in water for repentance, but the one coming after me is stronger than I, whose sandals I am not sufficient to carry; he shall baptize you in the Holy Spirit and fire,

12 whose winnowing shovel is in his hand, and he shall thoroughly cleanse his threshing floor and gather his grain into the storehouse, but burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire.

13 Then Jesus arrives from Galilee at the Jordan to John, to be baptized by him.

14 But John tried to prevent him, saying: I have need to be baptized by you, and you come to me?

15 And Jesus answered and said to him: Permit it now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness. Then he permits him.

16 And Jesus, baptized, came up immediately from the water, and behold, the heavens were opened to him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and coming upon him,

17 and behold, a voice from the heavens, saying: This is my beloved son, in whom I was well pleased.

Chapter 4

1 Then Jesus was led up into the wilderness by the Spirit to be tempted by the devil.

2 And fasting forty days and forty nights, afterward he hungered.

3 And the tempter approached him and said: If you are a son of God, say that these stones become breads.

4 And he answered and said: It is written: A human shall not live on bread alone, but on every saying coming out through the mouth of God.

5 Then the devil takes him to the holy city and sets him upon the pinnacle of the temple,

6 and says to him: If you are a son of God, throw yourself down; for it is written that he shall command his angels concerning you, and upon their hands they shall lift you, lest you strike your foot against a stone.

7 Jesus said to him: Again it is written: You shall not put the Lord your God to the test.

8 Again the devil takes him to an exceedingly high mountain and shows him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory,

9 and says to him: All these things I shall give you, if you fall down and worship me.

10 Then Jesus says to him: Go away, Satan; for it is written: You shall worship the Lord your God and serve him alone.

11 Then the devil leaves him, and behold, angels approached and ministered to him.

12 And Jesus, hearing that John was handed over, withdrew into Galilee,

13 and leaving Nazaret, he came and dwelt in Capernaoum beside the sea, in the boundaries of Zaboulon and Nephthaleim,

14 so that what was spoken through Esaias the prophet might be fulfilled, saying:

15 Land of Zaboulon and land of Nephthaleim, way of the sea, beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the nations,

16 the people sitting in darkness saw a great light, and for those sitting in a country and shadow of death, light arose for them.

17 From then Jesus began to proclaim and say: Repent, for the kingdom of the heavens has drawn near.

18 And Jesus, walking beside the sea of Galilee, saw two brothers, Simon who is called Peter and Andrew his brother, throwing a casting net into the sea, for they were fishermen,

19 and says to them: Come after me, and I shall make you fishermen of humans.

20 And immediately leaving the nets, they followed him.

21 And going on from there, he saw two other brothers, Iakobos the son of Zebedaios and John his brother, in the boat with Zebedaios their father, mending their nets, and called them.

22 And immediately leaving the boat and their father, they followed him.

23 And Jesus went around all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues and proclaiming the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and every infirmity among the people.

24 And the report of him went into all Syria, and they brought to him all those who were ill, afflicted with various diseases and torments, and those possessed by demons and those moonstruck and paralytics, and he healed them.

25 And many crowds followed him from Galilee and Decapolis and Hierosolyma and Ioudaia and beyond the Jordan.

Chapter 5

1 And seeing the crowds, he went up onto the mountain, and when he sat down his disciples approached him,

2 and opening his mouth he taught them, saying:

3 Blessed are the poor in spirit, because theirs is the kingdom of the heavens.

4 Blessed are those mourning, because they shall be comforted.

5 Blessed are the meek, because they shall inherit the earth.

6 Blessed are those hungering and thirsting for righteousness, because they shall be filled.

7 Blessed are the merciful, because they shall receive mercy.

8 Blessed are the clean in heart, because they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the peacemakers, because they shall be called sons of God.

10 Blessed are those persecuted for righteousness, because theirs is the kingdom of the heavens.

11 Blessed are you when they reproach you and persecute and say every evil saying against you, lying, for my sake.

12 Rejoice and exult, because your reward is great in the heavens; for thus they persecuted the prophets before you.

13 You are the salt of the earth; but if the salt becomes tasteless, with what shall it be salted? It has strength for nothing any longer except to be thrown outside and trampled by humans.

14 You are the light of the world. A city lying above a mountain cannot be hidden,

15 nor do they light a lamp and place it under the bushel measure, but upon the lampstand, and it shines for all in the house.

16 Thus let your light shine before humans, so that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in the heavens.

17 Do not think that I came to dissolve the law or the prophets; I did not come to dissolve but to fulfill.

18 For amen, I say to you: until heaven and earth pass away, one iota or one stroke shall certainly not pass away from the law until everything happens.

19 Therefore whoever loosens one of these least commandments and teaches humans thus shall be called least in the kingdom of the heavens; but whoever does and teaches, this one shall be called great in the kingdom of the heavens.

20 For I say to you that unless your righteousness abounds beyond that of the scribes and Pharisees, you shall certainly not enter the kingdom of the heavens.

21 You heard that it was said to the ancients: You shall not murder; and whoever murders shall be liable to the judgment.

22 But I say to you that everyone angry with his brother without cause shall be liable to the judgment; and whoever says to his brother: Raka, shall be liable to the council; and whoever says: Fool, shall be liable to the Gehenna of fire.

23 Therefore if you offer your gift upon the altar and there remember that your brother has something against you,

24 leave your gift there before the altar and go, first be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift.

25 Be well disposed to your adversary quickly, while you are on the way with him, lest the adversary hand you over to the judge and the judge hand you over to the attendant and you be thrown into prison.

26 Amen, I say to you: you shall certainly not come out from there until you repay the last quadrans.

27 You heard that it was said to the ancients: You shall not commit adultery.

28 But I say to you that everyone looking at a woman to desire her has already committed adultery with her in his heart.

29 And if your right eye causes you to stumble, take it out and throw it away from you; for it benefits you that one of your members perish and your whole body not be thrown into Gehenna.

30 And if your right hand causes you to stumble, cut it off and throw it away from you; for it benefits you that one of your members perish and your whole body not be thrown into Gehenna.

31 And it was said: Whoever releases his wife, let him give her a document of divorce.

32 But I say to you that whoever releases his wife, except for a matter of fornication, causes her to commit adultery, and whoever marries a released woman commits adultery.

33 Again you heard that it was said to the ancients: You shall not swear falsely, but shall render your oaths to the Lord.

34 But I say to you not to swear at all, neither by heaven, because it is God's throne,

35 nor by earth, because it is the footstool of his feet, nor toward Hierosolyma, because it is the city of the great King, 36 nor shall you swear by your head, because you cannot make one hair white or black.

37 And let your word be: Yes, yes; no, no; and what exceeds these is from the evil one.

38 You heard that it was said: An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.

39 But I say to you not to resist the evil one; but whoever slaps you upon your right cheek, turn to him the other also,

40 and to the one wishing to litigate with you and take your tunic, leave him your cloak also,

41 and whoever compels you to go one mile, go with him two.

42 Give to the one asking you, and do not turn away the one wishing to borrow from you.

43 You heard that it was said: You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy.

44 But I say to you: Love your enemies, bless those cursing you, do good to those hating you, and pray for those abusing you and persecuting you,

45 so that you may become sons of your Father in the heavens, because he makes his sun rise upon evil and good people and sends rain upon righteous and unrighteous people.

46 For if you love those loving you, what reward do you have? Do not even the tax collectors do the same?

47 And if you greet only your brothers, what more do you do? Do not even the tax collectors do thus?

48 Therefore you shall be perfect, just as your Father in the heavens is perfect.

Chapter 6

1 Take heed not to do your almsgiving before humans to be seen by them; otherwise you have no reward with your Father in the heavens.

2 Therefore when you do almsgiving, do not trumpet before you, just as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the lanes, so that they may be glorified by humans; amen, I say to you: they have received their reward.

3 But when you do almsgiving, let your left hand not know what your right hand does,

4 so that your almsgiving may be in secret, and your Father who sees in secret, he shall repay you openly.

5 And when you pray, you shall not be just as the hypocrites, because they love to pray standing in the synagogues and at the corners of the streets, so that they may appear to humans; amen, I say to you that they have received their reward.

6 But you, when you pray, enter your inner chamber, and closing your door, pray to your Father in secret, and your Father who sees in secret shall repay you openly.

7 And when praying, do not babble just as the nations do; for they think that they shall be heard through their many words.

8 Therefore do not become like them, for your Father knows what you have need of before you ask him.

9 Therefore pray thus: Our Father in the heavens, let your name be sanctified;

10 let your kingdom come; let your will be done, as in heaven, also upon the earth;

11 give us today our daily bread;

12 and forgive us our debts, as we also forgive our debtors;

13 and do not bring us into temptation, but rescue us from the evil one.

14 For if you forgive humans their transgressions, your heavenly Father shall forgive you also;

15 but if you do not forgive humans their transgressions, neither shall your Father forgive your transgressions.

16 And when you fast, do not become gloomy just as the hypocrites, for they disfigure their faces so that they may appear to humans to be fasting; amen, I say to you that they have received their reward.

17 But you, fasting, anoint your head and wash your face,

18 so that you may not appear to humans to be fasting, but to your Father in secret; and your Father who sees in secret shall repay you openly.

19 Do not store up treasures for yourselves upon the earth, where moth and consumption destroy and where thieves dig through and steal;

20 but store up treasures for yourselves in heaven, where neither moth nor consumption destroys and where thieves do not dig through or steal.

21 For where your treasure is, there your heart shall be also.

22 The lamp of the body is the eye; therefore if your eye is simple, your whole body shall be luminous;

23 but if your eye is evil, your whole body shall be dark. Therefore if the light in you is darkness, how great the darkness!

24 No one can serve two lords; for either he shall hate the one and love the other, or hold to one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.

25 Therefore I say to you: Do not be anxious for your soul, what you shall eat and what you shall drink, nor for your body, what you shall put on. Is not the soul more than food and the body than clothing?

26 Look at the birds of heaven, because they do not sow or reap or gather into storehouses, and your heavenly Father feeds them. Do you not differ from them much more?

27 And who among you, being anxious, can add one cubit to his stature?

28 And why are you anxious concerning clothing? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they do not toil or spin;

29 and I say to you that not even Solomon in all his glory was clothed like one of these.

30 And if God thus clothes the grass of the field, which is today and tomorrow is thrown into an oven, shall he not much more clothe you, you of little faith?

31 Therefore do not be anxious, saying: What shall we eat? Or: What shall we drink? Or: What shall we put on?

32 For the nations seek all these things; for your heavenly Father knows that you need all these things.

33 But seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you.

34 Therefore do not be anxious for tomorrow, for tomorrow shall be anxious for its own things; sufficient for the day is its evil.

Chapter 7

1 Do not judge, so that you may not be judged;

2 for with the judgment with which you judge you shall be judged, and with the measure with which you measure it shall be measured back to you.

3 And why do you look at the speck in your brother's eye, but do not consider the beam in your own eye?

4 Or how shall you say to your brother: Let me cast the speck out of your eye, and behold, the beam is in your eye?

5 Hypocrite, first cast the beam out of your eye, and then you shall see clearly to cast the speck out of your brother's eye.

6 Do not give what is holy to the dogs, nor throw your pearls before the pigs, lest they trample them with their feet and turn and tear you.

7 Ask, and it shall be given to you; seek, and you shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you.

8 For everyone asking receives, and the one seeking finds, and to the one knocking it shall be opened.

9 Or what human is there among you who, if his son asks for bread, shall give him a stone?

10 And if he asks for a fish, shall he give him a serpent?

11 Therefore if you, being evil, know to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Father in the heavens give good things to those asking him?

12 Therefore all things whatsoever you wish humans to do to you, thus also do to them; for this is the law and the prophets.

13 Enter through the narrow gate, because broad is the gate and spacious the way leading away to destruction, and many are those entering through it;

14 because narrow is the gate and constricted the way leading away to life, and few are those finding it.

15 And take heed of the false prophets, who come to you in sheep's garments, but within are ravenous wolves.

16 From their fruits you shall recognize them. Do they gather grapes from thorns or figs from thistles?

17 Thus every good tree produces good fruits, but the rotten tree produces evil fruits.

18 A good tree cannot produce evil fruits, nor a rotten tree produce good fruits.

19 Every tree not producing good fruit is cut down and thrown into fire.

20 Therefore indeed from their fruits you shall recognize them.

21 Not everyone saying to me: Lord, Lord, shall enter the kingdom of the heavens, but the one doing the will of my Father in the heavens.

22 Many shall say to me on that day: Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name and cast out demons in your name and do many mighty works in your name?

23 And then I shall declare to them: I never knew you; depart from me, you who work lawlessness.

24 Therefore everyone who hears these words of mine and does them, I shall liken him to a prudent man who built his house upon the rock;

25 and the rain descended and the rivers came and the winds blew and fell against that house, and it did not fall, for it had been founded upon the rock.

26 And everyone hearing these words of mine and not doing them shall be likened to a foolish man who built his house upon the sand;

27 and the rain descended and the rivers came and the winds blew and struck that house, and it fell, and its fall was great.

28 And it happened, when Jesus completed these words, the crowds were astonished at his teaching,

29 for he was teaching them as one having authority and not as the scribes.

Chapter 8

1 And when he came down from the mountain, many crowds followed him.

2 And behold, a leper came and worshipped him, saying: Lord, if you wish, you can cleanse me.

3 And Jesus stretched out his hand and touched him, saying: I wish; be cleansed. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed.

4 And Jesus says to him: See that you tell no one, but go, show yourself to the priest and offer the gift which Moses commanded, for a testimony to them.

5 And when Jesus entered Capernaoum, a centurion approached him, appealing to him

6 and saying: Lord, my servant lies in the house paralyzed, terribly tormented.

7 And Jesus says to him: I shall come and heal him.

8 And the centurion answered and said: Lord, I am not sufficient for you to enter under my roof, but only say a word, and my servant shall be healed.

9 For I also am a human under authority, having soldiers under myself, and I say to this one: Go, and he goes, and to another: Come, and he comes, and to my slave: Do this, and he does it.

10 And Jesus, hearing, wondered and said to those following: Amen, I say to you: not even in Israel did I find such faith.

11 And I say to you that many shall come from east and west and recline with Abraam and Isaak and Iakob in the kingdom of the heavens;

12 but the sons of the kingdom shall be cast out into the outer darkness; there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13 And Jesus said to the centurion: Go, and as you believed, let it happen for you. And his servant was healed at that hour.

14 And Jesus came into Peter's house and saw his mother-in-law lying down and feverish,

15 and touched her hand, and the fever left her, and she rose and ministered to them.

16 And when evening came, they brought to him many possessed by demons, and he cast out the spirits with a word and healed all those who were ill,

17 so that what was spoken through Esaias the prophet might be fulfilled, saying: He took our weaknesses and bore the diseases.

18 And Jesus, seeing many crowds around him, commanded to depart to the other side.

19 And one scribe approached and said to him: Teacher, I shall follow you wherever you go.

20 And Jesus says to him: The foxes have dens and the birds of heaven dwelling places, but the Son of man has nowhere to lay his head.

21 And another of his disciples said to him: Lord, permit me first to go away and bury my father.

22 But Jesus said to him: Follow me, and leave the dead to bury their own dead.

23 And when he entered the boat, his disciples followed him.

24 And behold, a great shaking happened in the sea, so that the boat was covered by the waves; but he slept.

25 And his disciples approached and awakened him, saying: Lord, save us, we are perishing.

26 And he says to them: Why are you cowardly, you of little faith? Then rising, he rebuked the winds and the sea, and a great calm came.

27 And the humans wondered, saying: What sort of one is this, that even the winds and the sea obey him?

28 And when he came to the other side, to the country of the Gergesenes, two possessed by demons met him, coming out of the tombs, exceedingly fierce, so that no one could pass by that way.

29 And behold, they cried, saying: What is there between us and you, Jesus, son of God? Did you come here before the time to torment us?

30 And far from them there was a herd of many pigs feeding.

31 And the demons appealed to him, saying: If you cast us out, permit us to go into the herd of pigs.

32 And he said to them: Go. And coming out, they went into the herd of pigs, and behold, the whole herd of pigs rushed down the cliff into the sea and died in the waters.

33 And those feeding them fled, and going into the city announced everything, and the things concerning those possessed by demons.

34 And behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus, and seeing him they appealed that he depart from their boundaries.

Chapter 9

1 And entering the boat he crossed over and came into his own city.

2 And behold, they brought to him a paralytic lying upon a bed, and Jesus, seeing their faith, said to the paralytic: Take courage, child; your sins are forgiven you.

3 And behold, some of the scribes said within themselves: This one blasphemes.

4 And Jesus, seeing their thoughts, said: Why do you think evil things in your hearts?

5 For which is easier, to say: Your sins are forgiven you, or to say: Rise and walk?

6 But so that you may know that the Son of man has authority upon the earth to forgive sins—then he says to the paralytic: Rise, take up your bed and go to your house.

7 And rising, he went away to his house.

8 And the crowds, seeing, wondered and glorified God who gave such authority to humans.

9 And Jesus, passing on from there, saw a human sitting at the tax office, called Matthew, and says to him: Follow me. And rising, he followed him.

10 And it happened, as he reclined in the house, and behold, many tax collectors and sinners came and reclined together with Jesus and his disciples.

11 And the Pharisees, seeing, said to his disciples: Why does your teacher eat with tax collectors and sinners?

12 And Jesus, hearing, said to them: Those who are strong have no need of a physician, but those who are ill.

13 But go and learn what this is: I wish mercy and not sacrifice; for I did not come to call righteous people, but sinners to repentance.

14 Then John's disciples approach him, saying: Why do we and the Pharisees fast much, but your disciples do not fast?

15 And Jesus said to them: Can the sons of the bridal chamber mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? But days shall come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and then they shall fast.

16 And no one puts a patch of unfulled cloth upon an old garment, for its filling pulls away from the garment, and a worse tear happens.

17 Nor do they put new wine into old wineskins; otherwise the wineskins burst and the wine is poured out and the wineskins perish; but they put new wine into fresh wineskins, and both are preserved.

18 While he spoke these things to them, behold, a ruler came and worshipped him, saying: My daughter has just died, but come and place your hand upon her, and she shall live.

19 And Jesus rose and followed him, and his disciples.

20 And behold, a woman hemorrhaging twelve years approached from behind and touched the fringe of his garment,

21 for she said within herself: If I only touch his garment, I shall be saved.

22 And Jesus turned and saw her and said: Take courage, daughter; your faith has saved you. And the woman was saved from that hour.

23 And Jesus came into the ruler's house and saw the flute players and the crowd in an uproar,

24 and says to them: Withdraw, for the girl did not die, but sleeps. And they laughed at him.

25 But when the crowd was cast out, he entered and took hold of her hand, and the girl was raised.

26 And this report went out into all that land.

27 And as Jesus passed on from there, two blind men followed him, crying and saying: Have mercy on us, son of Dabid.

28 And when he came into the house, the blind men approached him, and Jesus says to them: Do you believe that I can do this? They say to him: Yes, Lord.

29 Then he touched their eyes, saying: According to your faith let it happen for you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Jesus sternly warned them, saying: See that no one knows.

31 But going out, they spread the report of him in all that land.

32 And as they went out, behold, they brought to him a mute human possessed by a demon,

33 and when the demon was cast out, the mute spoke, and the crowds wondered, saying: Never did it appear thus in Israel.

34 But the Pharisees said: By the ruler of the demons he casts out demons.

35 And Jesus went around all the cities and the villages, teaching in their synagogues and proclaiming the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and every infirmity among the people.

36 And seeing the crowds, he had compassion concerning them, because they were exhausted and cast down, like sheep not having a shepherd.

37 Then he says to his disciples: The harvest indeed is great, but the workers few;

38 therefore supplicate the Lord of the harvest, that he send out workers into his harvest.

Chapter 10

1 And calling his twelve disciples to him, he gave them authority over unclean spirits, so as to cast them out and heal every disease and every infirmity.

2 And the names of the twelve apostles are these: first Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, Iakobos the son of Zebedaios and John his brother,

3 Philip and Bartholomaios, Thomas and Matthew the tax collector, Iakobos the son of Alphaios and Lebbaios surnamed Thaddaios,

4 Simon the Kananite and Ioudas Iskariotes, who also handed him over.

5 These twelve Jesus sent out, commanding them, saying: Do not go into a way of nations, and do not enter a city of Samaritans;

6 but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

7 And as you go, proclaim, saying that the kingdom of the heavens has drawn near.

8 Heal the sick, cleanse lepers, raise the dead, cast out demons; freely you received, freely give.

9 Do not acquire gold or silver or bronze for your belts,

10 no bag for the way, nor two tunics nor sandals nor a staff; for the worker is worthy of his food.

11 And whatever city or village you enter, inquire who in it is worthy, and remain there until you go out.

12 And as you enter the house, greet it,

13 and if the house is worthy, let your peace come upon it; but if it is not worthy, let your peace return to you.

14 And whoever does not receive you or hear your words, as you go out of that house or city, shake off the dust of your feet.

15 Amen, I say to you: it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodoma and Gomorra on the day of judgment than for that city.

16 Behold, I send you as sheep in the midst of wolves; therefore become prudent as the serpents and unmixed as the doves.

17 And take heed of humans, for they shall hand you over to councils and flog you in their synagogues,

18 and you shall also be brought before governors and kings for my sake, for a testimony to them and the nations.

19 And when they hand you over, do not be anxious how or what you shall speak, for what you shall speak shall be given to you at that hour;

20 for you are not those speaking, but the Spirit of your Father who speaks in you.

21 And brother shall hand over brother to death, and father a child, and children shall rise against parents and put them to death,

22 and you shall be hated by all because of my name; but the one enduring to the end, this one shall be saved.

23 And when they persecute you in this city, flee to the other; for amen, I say to you: you shall certainly not finish the cities of Israel until the Son of man comes.

24 A disciple is not above the teacher, nor a slave above his lord.

25 It is sufficient for the disciple to become as his teacher and the slave as his lord. If they called the master of the house Beelzeboul, how much more his household members?

26 Therefore do not fear them, for there is nothing covered which shall not be uncovered, and hidden which shall not be known.

27 What I say to you in the darkness, say in the light, and what you hear in the ear, proclaim upon the housetops.

28 And do not fear those killing the body but unable to kill the soul; but fear rather the one able to destroy both soul and body in Gehenna.

29 Are not two sparrows sold for an assarion? And one of them shall not fall upon the earth without your Father.

30 And even the hairs of your head are all numbered.

31 Therefore do not fear; you differ from many sparrows.

32 Therefore everyone who acknowledges me before humans, I also shall acknowledge him before my Father in the heavens;

33 but whoever denies me before humans, I also shall deny him before my Father in the heavens.

34 Do not think that I came to cast peace upon the earth; I did not come to cast peace, but a sword.

35 For I came to divide a human against his father, and a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law,

36 and a human's enemies are his household members.

37 The one loving father or mother above me is not worthy of me, and the one loving son or daughter above me is not worthy of me,

38 and whoever does not take his cross and follow after me is not worthy of me.

39 The one finding his soul shall lose it, and the one losing his soul for my sake shall find it.

40 The one receiving you receives me, and the one receiving me receives the one who sent me.

41 The one receiving a prophet in the name of a prophet shall receive a prophet's reward, and the one receiving a righteous person in the name of a righteous person shall receive a righteous person's reward.

42 And whoever gives one of these little ones only a cup of cold water to drink in the name of a disciple, amen, I say to you: he shall certainly not lose his reward.

Chapter 11

1 And it happened, when Jesus finished giving orders to his twelve disciples, he departed from there to teach and proclaim in their cities.

2 And John, hearing in prison the works of the Christ, sent two of his disciples

3 and said to him: Are you the coming one, or do we await another?

4 And Jesus answered and said to them: Go and announce to John what you hear and see:

5 blind people regain sight and lame people walk, lepers are cleansed and deaf people hear, dead people are raised and poor people are given good news,

6 and blessed is whoever does not stumble because of me.

7 And as these went, Jesus began to say to the crowds concerning John: What did you go out into the wilderness to behold? A reed shaken by wind?

8 But what did you go out to see? A human clothed in soft garments? Behold, those wearing soft things are in the houses of kings.

9 But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet.

10 For this is the one concerning whom it is written: Behold, I send my messenger before your face, who shall prepare your way before you.

11 Amen, I say to you: among those born of women none greater than John the Baptist has arisen; but the lesser in the kingdom of the heavens is greater than he.

12 And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of the heavens suffers violence, and violent ones seize it.

13 For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John,

14 and if you wish to receive it, he is Elias who is to come.

15 The one having ears to hear, let him hear.

16 And to what shall I liken this generation? It is like children sitting in marketplaces and calling to their companions

17 and saying: We played the flute for you, and you did not dance; we lamented for you, and you did not beat your breasts.

18 For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they say: He has a demon.

19 The Son of man came eating and drinking, and they say: Behold, a gluttonous human and a wine drinker, a friend of tax collectors and sinners. And wisdom was justified by her children.

20 Then he began to reproach the cities in which most of his mighty works happened, because they did not repent:

21 Woe to you, Chorazin; woe to you, Bethsaida; because if the mighty works which happened in you had happened in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.

22 Nevertheless I say to you: it shall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon on the day of judgment than for you.

23 And you, Capernaoum, who were exalted unto heaven, shall be brought down unto Hades; because if the mighty works which happened in you had happened in Sodoma, they would have remained until today.

24 Nevertheless I say to you that it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodoma on the day of judgment than for you.

25 At that time Jesus answered and said: I give thanks to you, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because you hid these things from wise and understanding people and revealed them to infants.

26 Yes, Father, because thus it became pleasing before you.

27 All things were handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows the Son except the Father, nor does anyone know the Father except the Son and whoever the Son wishes to reveal him to.

28 Come to me, all who toil and are burdened, and I shall give you rest.

29 Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, because I am meek and lowly in heart, and you shall find rest for your souls;

30 for my yoke is good and my burden light.

Chapter 12

1 At that time Jesus went through the grainfields on the sabbaths, and his disciples hungered and began to pluck ears of grain and eat.

2 And the Pharisees, seeing, said to him: Behold, your disciples do what it is not lawful to do on a sabbath.

3 And he said to them: Did you not read what Dabid did when he hungered, he and those with him,

4 how he entered the house of God and ate the breads of presentation, which it was not lawful for him to eat, nor for those with him, except for the priests alone?

5 Or did you not read in the law that on the sabbaths the priests in the temple profane the sabbath and are guiltless?

6 And I say to you that one greater than the temple is here.

7 But if you had known what this is: I wish mercy and not sacrifice, you would not have condemned the guiltless.

8 For the Son of man is lord even of the sabbath.

9 And departing from there he came into their synagogue,

10 and behold, there was a human having a withered hand, and they questioned him, saying: Is it lawful to heal on the sabbaths? So that they might accuse him.

11 And he said to them: What human shall there be among you who shall have one sheep, and if it falls into a pit on the sabbaths, shall he not take hold of it and raise it?

12 Therefore how much does a human differ from a sheep! So it is lawful to do good on the sabbaths.

13 Then he says to the human: Stretch out your hand. And he stretched it out, and it was restored healthy as the other.

14 And the Pharisees went out and took counsel against him, how they might destroy him.

15 But Jesus, knowing, withdrew from there, and many crowds followed him, and he healed them all

16 and rebuked them so that they might not make him manifest,

17 so that what was spoken through Esaias the prophet might be fulfilled, saying:

18 Behold, my servant whom I chose, my beloved in whom my soul was well pleased; I shall place my Spirit upon him, and he shall announce judgment to the nations.

19 He shall not quarrel or cry out, nor shall anyone hear his voice in the streets;

20 a broken reed he shall not break off, and smoking flax he shall not extinguish, until he brings out judgment unto victory,

21 and in his name nations shall hope.

22 Then one possessed by a demon, blind and mute, was brought to him, and he healed him, so that the blind and mute one both spoke and saw.

23 And all the crowds were astonished and said: Could this be the son of Dabid?

24 But the Pharisees, hearing, said: This one does not cast out demons except by Beelzeboul, ruler of the demons.

25 And Jesus, knowing their thoughts, said to them: Every kingdom divided against itself is desolated, and every city or house divided against itself shall not stand.

26 And if Satan casts out Satan, he was divided against himself; therefore how shall his kingdom stand?

27 And if I cast out demons by Beelzeboul, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they shall be your judges.

28 But if I cast out demons by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God has reached you.

29 Or how can anyone enter the house of the strong one and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong one? And then he shall plunder his house.

30 The one not being with me is against me, and the one not gathering with me scatters.

31 Therefore I say to you: every sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven humans, but the blasphemy of the Spirit shall not be forgiven humans.

32 And whoever says a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him; but whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this age nor in the coming one.

33 Either make the tree good and its fruit good, or make the tree rotten and its fruit rotten; for from the fruit the tree is known.

34 Offspring of vipers, how can you speak good things, being evil? For from the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks.

35 The good human brings out good things from the good treasure of the heart, and the evil human brings out evil things from the evil treasure.

36 And I say to you that every idle saying which humans speak, they shall render an account concerning it on the day of judgment;

37 for from your words you shall be justified, and from your words you shall be condemned.

38 Then some of the scribes and Pharisees answered, saying: Teacher, we wish to see a sign from you.

39 And he answered and said to them: An evil and adulterous generation seeks a sign, and a sign shall not be given to it except the sign of Ionas the prophet.

40 For just as Ionas was in the belly of the sea creature three days and three nights, thus the Son of man shall be in the heart of the earth three days and three nights.

41 Ninevite men shall rise in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, because they repented at the proclamation of Ionas, and behold, more than Ionas is here.

42 A queen of the south shall be raised in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, because she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and behold, more than Solomon is here.

43 And when the unclean spirit comes out from the human, it passes through waterless places seeking rest and does not find it.

44 Then it says: I shall return to my house from which I came out. And coming, it finds it unoccupied, swept and adorned.

45 Then it goes and takes with itself seven other spirits more evil than itself, and entering they dwell there, and the last things of that human become worse than the first. Thus it shall be also for this evil generation.

46 And while he still spoke to the crowds, behold, his mother and brothers stood outside, seeking to speak to him.

47 And someone said to him: Behold, your mother and your brothers stand outside, seeking to speak to you.

48 And he answered and said to the one who told him: Who is my mother, and who are my brothers?

49 And stretching out his hand toward his disciples, he said: Behold, my mother and my brothers;

50 for whoever does the will of my Father in the heavens, he is my brother and sister and mother.

Chapter 13

1 And on that day Jesus went out of the house and was sitting beside the sea.

2 And many crowds gathered to him, so that he entered the boat and sat down, and the whole crowd stood on the shore.

3 And he spoke many things to them in parables, saying: Behold, the sower went out to sow.

4 And as he sowed, some fell beside the road, and the birds came and devoured them.

5 And others fell on the rocky places, where they did not have much earth, and immediately sprang up because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sun rose, they were scorched, and because they had no root, they withered.

7 And others fell upon the thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked them.

8 And others fell upon the good earth and were giving fruit, one a hundred, another sixty, and another thirty.

9 He who has ears to hear, let him hear.

10 And the disciples approached and said to him: Why do you speak to them in parables?

11 And he answered and said to them: Because to you it has been given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of the heavens, but to them it has not been given.

12 For whoever has, to him it shall be given, and he shall have abundance; but whoever does not have, even what he has shall be taken from him.

13 For this reason I speak to them in parables: because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand.

14 And in them the prophecy of Isaiah is fulfilled, which says: With hearing you shall hear and shall certainly not understand, and seeing you shall see and shall certainly not perceive.

15 For the heart of this people has grown fat, and with their ears they heard heavily, and they closed their eyes, lest they see with their eyes and hear with their ears and understand with their heart and turn, and I heal them.

16 But blessed are your eyes, because they see, and your ears, because they hear.

17 For amen, I say to you that many prophets and righteous men desired to see what you see and did not see, and to hear what you hear and did not hear.

18 You, therefore, hear the parable of the sower.

19 When anyone hears the word of the kingdom and does not understand, the evil one comes and snatches away what was sown in his heart. This is the one sown beside the road.

20 And the one sown on the rocky places, this is the one who hears the word and immediately receives it with joy.

21 But he has no root in himself, but is temporary; and when affliction or persecution arises because of the word, immediately he is made to stumble.

22 And the one sown among the thorns, this is the one who hears the word, and the care of this age and the deceit of wealth choke the word, and he becomes unfruitful.

23 And the one sown upon the good earth, this is the one who hears the word and understands, who indeed bears fruit and produces, one a hundred, another sixty, and another thirty.

24 He set another parable before them, saying: The kingdom of the heavens was likened to a man sowing good seed in his field.

25 But while the men slept, his enemy came and sowed darnel among the wheat and went away.

26 And when the blade sprouted and produced fruit, then the darnel also appeared.

27 And the slaves of the master of the house approached and said to him: Lord, did you not sow good seed in your field? From where, then, does it have the darnel?

28 And he said to them: An enemy man did this. And the slaves said to him: Do you wish, then, that we go and gather them?

29 But he said: No, lest in gathering the darnel you uproot the wheat together with them.

30 Let both grow together until the harvest, and at the time of the harvest I shall say to the harvesters: Gather the darnel first and bind them into bundles to burn them up, but gather the wheat into my storehouse.

31 He set another parable before them, saying: The kingdom of the heavens is like a grain of mustard, which a man took and sowed in his field.

32 Which is indeed smaller than all the seeds, but when it grows, it is greater than the garden plants and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the heaven come and dwell in its branches.

33 He spoke another parable to them: The kingdom of the heavens is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three sata of flour, until the whole was leavened.

34 Jesus spoke all these things to the crowds in parables, and without a parable he did not speak to them,

35 so that what was spoken through the prophet might be fulfilled, saying: I shall open my mouth in parables; I shall utter things hidden from the foundation of the world.

36 Then Jesus left the crowds and came into the house, and his disciples approached him, saying: Explain to us the parable of the darnel of the field.

37 And he answered and said to them: The one sowing the good seed is the Son of man.

38 And the field is the world, and the good seed, these are the sons of the kingdom; and the darnel are the sons of the evil one.

39 And the enemy who sowed them is the devil, and the harvest is the completion of the age, and the harvesters are angels.

40 Therefore, just as the darnel is gathered and burned up with fire, so shall it be at the completion of this age.

41 The Son of man shall send his angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdom all the stumbling blocks and those who practice lawlessness,

42 and shall cast them into the furnace of fire. There shall be the weeping and the grinding of teeth.

43 Then the righteous shall shine out like the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears to hear, let him hear.

44 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is like a treasure hidden in the field, which a man found and hid, and from his joy he goes and sells everything he has and buys that field.

45 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is like a merchant man seeking beautiful pearls, 46 who, having found one very precious pearl, went away and sold everything he had and bought it.

47 Again, the kingdom of the heavens is like a dragnet cast into the sea and gathering from every kind,

48 which, when it was filled, they drew up onto the shore, and sitting down they gathered the good into vessels, but cast the rotten outside.

49 So shall it be at the completion of the age: the angels shall come out and separate the evil from the midst of the righteous,

50 and shall cast them into the furnace of fire. There shall be the weeping and the grinding of teeth.

51 Jesus says to them: Have you understood all these things? They say to him: Yes, Lord.

52 And he said to them: For this reason every scribe who has been made a disciple for the kingdom of the heavens is like a master of a house who brings out of his treasure new things and old.

53 And it happened, when Jesus finished these parables, he departed from there.

54 And coming into his homeland, he was teaching them in their synagogue, so that they were astonished and said: From where does this man have this wisdom and the mighty works?

55 Is this not the carpenter's son? Is his mother not called Mariam, and his brothers James and Joses and Simon and Judas?

56 And his sisters, are they not all with us? From where, then, does this man have all these things?

57 And they were made to stumble at him. But Jesus said to them: A prophet is not without honor except in his homeland and in his house.

58 And he did not perform many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

Chapter 14

1 At that time Herod the tetrarch heard the report of Jesus,

2 and said to his servants: This is John the Baptist; he was raised from the dead, and for this reason the powers work in him.

3 For Herod had seized John and bound him and put him in prison because of Herodias, the wife of Philip his brother.

4 For John was saying to him: It is not lawful for you to have her.

5 And wishing to kill him, he feared the crowd, because they held him as a prophet.

6 And while Herod's birthday was being celebrated, the daughter of Herodias danced in the midst and pleased Herod, 7 whereupon he promised her with an oath to give whatever she might ask.

8 And she, prompted by her mother, says: Give me here on a platter the head of John the Baptist.

9 And the king was grieved, but because of the oaths and those reclining with him, he commanded it to be given.

10 And sending, he beheaded John in the prison.

11 And his head was brought on a platter and given to the girl, and she brought it to her mother.

12 And his disciples approached and took the body and buried it, and came and reported to Jesus.

13 And hearing, Jesus withdrew from there in a boat to a deserted place privately. And hearing, the crowds followed him on foot from the cities.

14 And coming out, Jesus saw a great crowd and had compassion on them and healed their sick.

15 And when evening came, his disciples approached him, saying: The place is deserted, and the hour has already passed; dismiss the crowds so that they may go into the villages and buy food for themselves.

16 But Jesus said to them: They have no need to go away; you give them something to eat.

17 And they say to him: We have nothing here except five loaves and two fish.

18 And he said: Bring them here to me.

19 And commanding the crowds to recline on the grass, and taking the five loaves and the two fish, he looked up into the heaven and blessed, and breaking, he gave the loaves to the disciples, and the disciples to the crowds.

20 And all ate and were filled, and they took up the surplus of the fragments, twelve baskets full.

21 And those eating were about five thousand men, apart from women and children.

22 And immediately Jesus compelled his disciples to enter the boat and go ahead of him to the other side, until he should dismiss the crowds.

23 And dismissing the crowds, he went up into the mountain privately to pray. And when evening came, he was there alone.

24 But the boat was already in the middle of the sea, tormented by the waves, for the wind was contrary.

25 And in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went toward them, walking upon the sea.

26 And the disciples, seeing him walking upon the sea, were troubled, saying: It is an apparition. And they cried out from fear.

27 But immediately Jesus spoke to them, saying: Take courage; I am; do not fear.

28 And Peter answered him and said: Lord, if it is you, command me to come to you upon the waters.

29 And he said: Come. And Peter went down from the boat and walked upon the waters to come to Jesus.

30 But seeing the strong wind, he feared, and beginning to sink, he cried out, saying: Lord, save me.

31 And immediately Jesus stretched out his hand and took hold of him, and says to him: You of little faith, why did you doubt?

32 And when they entered the boat, the wind ceased.

33 And those in the boat came and worshiped him, saying: Truly you are God's Son.

34 And crossing over, they came into the land of Gennesaret.

35 And recognizing him, the men of that place sent into that whole surrounding region, and brought to him all who were ill,

36 and begged him that they might only touch the fringe of his garment; and as many as touched were saved.

Chapter 15

1 Then the scribes and Pharisees from Jerusalem approach Jesus, saying:

2 Why do your disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? For they do not wash their hands when they eat bread.

3 And he answered and said to them: Why do you also transgress the commandment of God because of your tradition?

4 For God commanded, saying: Honor your father and mother; and: He who speaks evil of father or mother, let him die by death.

5 But you say: Whoever says to his father or mother: Whatever you might benefit from me is a gift,

6 and shall certainly not honor his father or his mother. And you made the commandment of God void because of your tradition.

7 Hypocrites, Isaiah prophesied well concerning you, saying:

8 This people approaches me with their mouth and honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me.

9 And in vain they worship me, teaching teachings, commandments of men.

10 And calling the crowd to him, he said to them: Hear and understand.

11 What enters into the mouth does not defile the man, but what goes out of the mouth, this defiles the man.

12 Then his disciples approached and said to him: Do you know that the Pharisees, hearing the word, were made to stumble?

13 And he answered and said: Every planting which my heavenly Father did not plant shall be uprooted.

14 Leave them; they are blind guides of the blind. And if a blind man guides a blind man, both shall fall into a pit.

15 And Peter answered and said to him: Explain this parable to us.

16 And Jesus said: Are you also still without understanding?

17 Do you not yet perceive that everything entering into the mouth goes into the belly and is cast out into the latrine?

18 But the things going out of the mouth come out of the heart, and those defile the man.

19 For out of the heart come evil reasonings, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, blasphemies.

20 These are the things defiling the man, but eating with unwashed hands does not defile the man.

21 And Jesus went out from there and withdrew into the regions of Tyre and Sidon.

22 And behold, a Canaanite woman came out from those borders and cried out to him, saying: Have mercy on me, Lord, Son of David; my daughter is badly demon-possessed.

23 But he did not answer her a word. And his disciples approached and asked him, saying: Dismiss her, because she cries out behind us.

24 And he answered and said: I was not sent except to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

25 And she came and worshiped him, saying: Lord, help me.

26 And he answered and said: It is not good to take the children's bread and cast it to the little dogs.

27 And she said: Yes, Lord, for even the little dogs eat from the crumbs falling from their masters' table.

28 Then Jesus answered and said to her: O woman, great is your faith; let it happen to you as you wish. And her daughter was healed from that hour.

29 And departing from there, Jesus came beside the sea of Galilee, and going up into the mountain, he was sitting there.

30 And many crowds approached him, having with them lame, blind, mute, maimed, and many others, and cast them beside Jesus' feet, and he healed them,

31 so that the crowds marveled, seeing the mute speaking, the maimed healthy, the lame walking, and the blind seeing; and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 And Jesus called his disciples to him and said: I have compassion on the crowd, because already they remain with me three days and have nothing to eat; and I do not wish to dismiss them fasting, lest they faint on the road.

33 And his disciples say to him: From where do we have so many loaves in a deserted place as to fill so great a crowd?

34 And Jesus says to them: How many loaves do you have? And they said: Seven, and a few little fish.

35 And he commanded the crowds to recline upon the earth.

36 And taking the seven loaves and the fish, he gave thanks and broke them and gave to his disciples, and the disciples to the crowd.

37 And all ate and were filled, and they took up the surplus of the fragments, seven large baskets full.

38 And those eating were four thousand men, apart from women and children.

39 And dismissing the crowds, he entered the boat and came into the borders of Magdala.

Chapter 16

1 And the Pharisees and Sadducees approached, testing him, and asked him to show them a sign from the heaven.

2 And he answered and said to them: When evening comes, you say: Fair weather, for the heaven is red.

3 And in the morning: Today a storm, for the heaven is red and gloomy. Hypocrites, you know how to discern the face of the heaven, but you cannot discern the signs of the times.

4 An evil and adulterous generation seeks a sign, and a sign shall not be given to it except the sign of Jonah the prophet. And leaving them, he went away.

5 And his disciples came to the other side and forgot to take loaves.

6 And Jesus said to them: See and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

7 And they were reasoning among themselves, saying: Because we did not take loaves.

8 And Jesus knew and said to them: Why do you reason among yourselves, you of little faith, because you did not take loaves?

9 Do you not yet perceive, nor remember the five loaves of the five thousand, and how many baskets you took?

10 Nor the seven loaves of the four thousand, and how many large baskets you took?

11 How do you not perceive that I did not speak to you concerning bread, to beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees?

12 Then they understood that he did not say to beware of the leaven of bread, but of the teaching of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

13 And Jesus came into the regions of Caesarea Philippi and was asking his disciples, saying: Who do men say that I, the Son of man, am?

14 And they said: Some John the Baptist, and others Elijah, and others Jeremiah or one of the prophets.

15 He says to them: But you, who do you say that I am?

16 And Simon Peter answered and said: You are the Christ, the Son of the living God.

17 And Jesus answered and said to him: Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah, because flesh and blood did not reveal this to you, but my Father who is in the heavens.

18 And I also say to you that you are Peter, and upon this rock I shall build my church, and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it.

19 And I shall give you the keys of the kingdom of the heavens, and whatever you bind upon the earth shall be bound in the heavens, and whatever you loose upon the earth shall be loosed in the heavens.

20 Then he charged his disciples that they should tell no one that he is Jesus the Christ.

21 From then Jesus began to show his disciples that he must go to Jerusalem and suffer many things from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised on the third day.

22 And Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him, saying: Mercy to you, Lord; this shall certainly not happen to you.

23 But he turned and said to Peter: Go behind me, Satan; you are my stumbling block, because you do not mind the things of God, but the things of men.

24 Then Jesus said to his disciples: If anyone wishes to come behind me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me.

25 For whoever wishes to save his soul shall lose it, but whoever loses his soul because of me shall find it.

26 For what does a man profit if he gains the whole world but suffers the loss of his soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

27 For the Son of man is about to come in the glory of his Father with his angels, and then he shall repay each according to his conduct.

28 Amen, I say to you: There are some of those standing here who shall certainly not taste death until they see the Son of man coming in his kingdom.

Chapter 17

1 And after six days Jesus takes Peter and James and John his brother with him, and brings them up into a high mountain privately.

2 And he was transfigured before them, and his face shone like the sun, and his garments became white like the light.

3 And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, conversing with him.

4 And Peter answered and said to Jesus: Lord, it is good for us to be here; if you wish, let us make three tents here, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah.

5 While he was still speaking, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them, and behold, a voice from the cloud, saying: This is my beloved Son, in whom I was well pleased; hear him.

6 And hearing, the disciples fell upon their face and feared exceedingly.

7 And Jesus approached and touched them and said: Rise, and do not fear.

8 And lifting their eyes, they saw no one except Jesus alone.

9 And as they were descending from the mountain, Jesus commanded them, saying: Tell the vision to no one until the Son of man rises from the dead.

10 And his disciples questioned him, saying: Why, then, do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?

11 And Jesus answered and said to them: Elijah indeed comes first and shall restore all things.

12 But I say to you that Elijah already came, and they did not recognize him, but did to him whatever they wished. So also the Son of man is about to suffer by them.

13 Then the disciples understood that he spoke to them concerning John the Baptist.

14 And when they came to the crowd, a man approached him, kneeling to him,

15 and saying: Lord, have mercy on my son, because he is moon-struck and suffers badly; for often he falls into the fire and often into the water.

16 And I brought him to your disciples, and they were not able to heal him.

17 And Jesus answered and said: O unbelieving and perverted generation, until when shall I be with you? Until when shall I bear with you? Bring him here to me.

18 And Jesus rebuked him, and the demon came out from him, and the boy was healed from that hour.

19 Then the disciples approached Jesus privately and said: Why were we not able to cast it out?

20 And Jesus said to them: Because of your unbelief. For amen, I say to you: If you have faith like a grain of mustard, you shall say to this mountain: Move from here to there, and it shall move; and nothing shall be impossible for you.

21 But this kind does not go out except in prayer and fasting.

22 And while they were staying in Galilee, Jesus said to them: The Son of man is about to be handed over into the hands of men,

23 and they shall kill him, and on the third day he shall be raised. And they were exceedingly grieved.

24 And when they came to Capernaum, those receiving the two-drachma payments approached Peter and said: Does your teacher not pay the two drachmas?

25 He says: Yes. And when he entered the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying: What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings of the earth receive duties or tax? From their sons or from strangers?

26 Peter says to him: From strangers. Jesus said to him: Then the sons are free.

27 But so that we do not make them stumble, go to the sea and cast a hook, and take the first fish that comes up, and opening its mouth you shall find a stater. Take that and give it to them for me and you.

Chapter 18

1 In that hour the disciples approached Jesus, saying: Who, then, is greater in the kingdom of the heavens?

2 And Jesus called a child to him and stood it in their midst,

3 and said: Amen, I say to you: Unless you turn and become like the children, you shall certainly not enter into the kingdom of the heavens.

4 Whoever, therefore, humbles himself like this child, this one is the greater in the kingdom of the heavens.

5 And whoever receives one such child in my name receives me.

6 But whoever makes one of these little ones who believe in me stumble, it is advantageous for him that a donkey millstone be hung around his neck and he be drowned in the depth of the sea.

7 Woe to the world because of the stumbling blocks! For it is necessary that the stumbling blocks come; nevertheless, woe to that man through whom the stumbling block comes!

8 And if your hand or your foot makes you stumble, cut them off and cast them from you. It is good for you to enter into life lame or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into the eternal fire.

9 And if your eye makes you stumble, take it out and cast it from you. It is good for you to enter into life one-eyed, rather than having two eyes to be cast into the Gehenna of fire.

10 See that you do not despise one of these little ones; for I say to you that their angels in the heavens continually see the face of my Father who is in the heavens.

11 For the Son of man came to save what was lost.

12 What do you think? If a certain man has a hundred sheep, and one of them wanders, does he not leave the ninety-nine upon the mountains and go and seek the wandering one?

13 And if he happens to find it, amen, I say to you that he rejoices over it more than over the ninety-nine that have not wandered.

14 So it is not the will before your Father who is in the heavens that one of these little ones perish.

15 And if your brother sins against you, go and reprove him between you and him alone. If he hears you, you have gained your brother.

16 But if he does not hear, take with you one or two more, so that upon the mouth of two witnesses or three every word may be established.

17 And if he refuses to hear them, tell the church; and if he also refuses to hear the church, let him be to you as the gentile and the tax collector.

18 Amen, I say to you: Whatever you bind upon the earth shall be bound in the heaven, and whatever you loose upon the earth shall be loosed in the heaven.

19 Again I say to you that if two of you agree upon the earth concerning any matter which they ask, it shall happen for them from my Father who is in the heavens.

20 For where two or three are gathered into my name, there I am in their midst.

21 Then Peter approached him and said: Lord, how often shall my brother sin against me and I forgive him? Until seven times?

22 Jesus says to him: I do not say to you until seven times, but until seventy times seven.

23 For this reason the kingdom of the heavens was likened to a king who wished to settle an account with his slaves.

24 And when he began to settle it, one debtor of ten thousand talents was brought to him.

25 And as he had nothing to repay, his lord commanded that he be sold, and his wife and the children and everything he had, and repayment be made.

26 Therefore the slave fell down and worshiped him, saying: Lord, be patient with me, and I shall repay you everything.

27 And the lord of that slave, having compassion, released him and forgave him the loan.

28 But that slave went out and found one of his fellow slaves who owed him a hundred denarii, and seizing him, he was choking him, saying: Repay me whatever you owe.

29 Therefore his fellow slave fell at his feet and begged him, saying: Be patient with me, and I shall repay you everything.

30 But he was unwilling, and went away and cast him into prison until he should repay what was owed.

31 And his fellow slaves, seeing what happened, were exceedingly grieved, and came and explained to their lord everything that happened.

32 Then his lord called him to him and says to him: Evil slave, I forgave you all that debt because you begged me.

33 Should you not also have had mercy on your fellow slave, as I also had mercy on you?

34 And his lord became angry and handed him over to the torturers until he should repay everything owed to him.

35 So also my heavenly Father shall do to you, unless you each forgive your brother their trespasses from your hearts.

Chapter 19

1 And it happened, when Jesus finished these words, he departed from Galilee and came into the borders of Judea beyond the Jordan.

2 And many crowds followed him, and he healed them there.

3 And the Pharisees approached him, testing him and saying to him: Is it lawful for a man to dismiss his wife for every cause?

4 And he answered and said to them: Have you not read that he who made them from the beginning made them male and female,

5 and said: Because of this a man shall leave father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall be into one flesh?

6 So that they are no longer two, but one flesh. What, therefore, God joined together, let man not separate.

7 They say to him: Why, then, did Moses command to give a document of divorce and dismiss her?

8 He says to them: Because Moses, in view of your hardness of heart, permitted you to dismiss your wives; but from the beginning it has not been so.

9 But I say to you that whoever dismisses his wife, except for fornication, and marries another commits adultery, and he who marries a dismissed woman commits adultery.

10 His disciples say to him: If the case of the man with the wife is so, it is not advantageous to marry.

11 And he said to them: Not all make room for this word, but those to whom it has been given.

12 For there are eunuchs who were born so from their mother's womb, and there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by men, and there are eunuchs who made themselves eunuchs because of the kingdom of the heavens. He who is able to make room, let him make room.

13 Then children were brought to him, so that he might lay his hands upon them and pray; but the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Jesus said: Allow the children, and do not hinder them from coming to me, for of such is the kingdom of the heavens.

15 And laying his hands upon them, he went from there.

16 And behold, one approached and said to him: Good teacher, what good thing shall I do so that I may have eternal life?

17 And he said to him: Why do you call me good? No one is good except one, God. But if you wish to enter into life, keep the commandments.

18 He says to him: Which? And Jesus said: You shall not murder; you shall not commit adultery; you shall not steal; you shall not testify falsely;

19 honor your father and mother; and: You shall love your neighbor as yourself.

20 The young man says to him: All these I have kept from my youth; what do I still lack?

21 Jesus said to him: If you wish to be perfect, go, sell your possessions and give to the poor, and you shall have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.

22 But hearing the word, the young man went away grieving, for he had many possessions.

23 And Jesus said to his disciples: Amen, I say to you that a rich man shall enter into the kingdom of the heavens with difficulty.

24 And again I say to you: It is easier for a camel to pass through the hole of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

25 And hearing, his disciples were exceedingly astonished, saying: Who, then, can be saved?

26 And Jesus looked at them and said to them: With men this is impossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 Then Peter answered and said to him: Behold, we left everything and followed you; what, then, shall there be for us?

28 And Jesus said to them: Amen, I say to you that you who followed me, in the regeneration, when the Son of man sits upon his throne of glory, you also shall sit upon twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

29 And everyone who left houses or brothers or sisters or father or mother or wife or children or fields because of my name shall receive a hundredfold and shall inherit eternal life.

30 But many first shall be last, and last first.

Chapter 20

1 For the kingdom of the heavens is like a master of a house who went out early in the morning to hire workers into his vineyard.

2 And agreeing with the workers for a denarius for the day, he sent them into his vineyard.

3 And going out about the third hour, he saw others standing idle in the marketplace,

4 and said to those: You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is just I shall give you.

5 And they went away. Again going out about the sixth and ninth hour, he did likewise.

6 And going out about the eleventh hour, he found others standing idle, and says to them: Why have you stood here idle the whole day?

7 They say to him: Because no one hired us. He says to them: You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is just you shall receive.

8 And when evening came, the lord of the vineyard says to his steward: Call the workers and repay them the wage, beginning from the last until the first.

9 And those of about the eleventh hour came and received a denarius each.

10 And the first came and supposed that they would receive more, and they also received a denarius each.

11 And receiving it, they were grumbling against the master of the house,

12 saying: These last worked one hour, and you made them equal to us who bore the burden of the day and the scorching heat.

13 And he answered and said to one of them: Friend, I do not wrong you; did you not agree with me for a denarius?

14 Take what is yours and go; but I wish to give to this last one as also to you.

15 Or is it not lawful for me to do what I wish with my own things? Is your eye evil because I am good?

16 So the last shall be first, and the first last; for many are called, but few chosen.

17 And going up to Jerusalem, Jesus took the twelve disciples privately on the road and said to them:

18 Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of man shall be handed over to the chief priests and scribes, and they shall condemn him to death,

19 and shall hand him over to the gentiles to mock and scourge and crucify, and on the third day he shall rise.

20 Then the mother of the sons of Zebedee approached him with her sons, worshiping and asking something from him.

21 And he said to her: What do you wish? She says to him: Say that these two sons of mine may sit, one at your right and one at your left, in your kingdom.

22 And Jesus answered and said: You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup which I am about to drink, and to be baptized with the baptism with which I am baptized? They say to him: We are able.

23 And he says to them: My cup indeed you shall drink, and with the baptism with which I am baptized you shall be baptized; but to sit at my right and at my left is not mine to give, but to those for whom it has been prepared by my Father.

24 And hearing, the ten were indignant concerning the two brothers.

25 And Jesus called them to him and said: You know that the rulers of the nations lord over them, and the great exercise authority over them.

26 But it shall not be so among you; rather, whoever wishes to become great among you, let him be your servant.

27 And whoever wishes to be first among you, let him be your slave,

28 just as the Son of man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his soul as a ransom for many.

29 And as they were going out from Jericho, a great crowd followed him.

30 And behold, two blind men sitting beside the road, hearing that Jesus was passing by, cried out, saying: Have mercy on us, Lord, Son of David.

31 And the crowd rebuked them so that they should be silent; but they cried out more, saying: Have mercy on us, Lord, Son of David.

32 And Jesus stood and called them and said: What do you wish me to do for you?

33 They say to him: Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Jesus had compassion and touched their eyes, and immediately their eyes saw again, and they followed him.

Chapter 21

1 And when they drew near to Jerusalem and came to Bethphage, toward the mountain of Olives, then Jesus sent two disciples,

2 saying to them: Go into the village opposite you, and immediately you shall find a donkey bound and a colt with her; loose them and bring them to me.

3 And if anyone says anything to you, you shall say: Their Lord has need of them; and immediately he shall send them.

4 And this whole thing has happened so that what was spoken through the prophet might be fulfilled, saying:

5 Say to the daughter of Zion: Behold, your king comes to you, meek and mounted upon a donkey and a colt, the son of a beast of burden.

6 And the disciples went and did as Jesus commanded them,

7 and brought the donkey and the colt, and laid their garments upon them, and he sat upon them.

8 And the very great crowd spread their own garments in the road, and others were cutting branches from the trees and spreading them in the road.

9 And the crowds going before and those following were crying out, saying: Hosanna to the Son of David! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord! Hosanna in the highest!

10 And when he entered Jerusalem, the whole city was shaken, saying: Who is this?

11 And the crowds were saying: This is Jesus the prophet, the one from Nazareth of Galilee.

12 And Jesus entered into the temple of God and cast out all those selling and buying in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those selling the doves.

13 And he says to them: It is written: My house shall be called a house of prayer; but you made it a cave of robbers.

14 And blind and lame people approached him in the temple, and he healed them.

15 But the chief priests and the scribes, seeing the wonderful things he did and the children crying out in the temple and saying: Hosanna to the Son of David, were indignant,

16 and said to him: Do you hear what these say? And Jesus says to them: Yes; have you never read that out of the mouth of infants and nursing children you prepared praise?

17 And leaving them, he went out of the city to Bethany and lodged there.

18 And in the morning, returning to the city, he was hungry.

19 And seeing one fig tree upon the road, he came to it and found nothing on it except leaves only, and says to it: Let fruit no longer come from you forever. And immediately the fig tree withered.

20 And seeing, the disciples marveled, saying: How did the fig tree wither immediately?

21 And Jesus answered and said to them: Amen, I say to you: If you have faith and do not doubt, you shall do not only the thing of the fig tree, but even if you say to this mountain: Be lifted and cast into the sea, it shall happen.

22 And all things, whatever you ask in prayer, believing, you shall receive.

23 And when he came into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people approached him as he taught, saying: By what authority do you do these things? And who gave you this authority?

24 And Jesus answered and said to them: I also shall ask you one word, which, if you tell me, I also shall tell you by what authority I do these things.

25 The baptism of John, from where was it? From heaven or from men? And they were reasoning among themselves, saying: If we say: From heaven, he shall say to us: Why, then, did you not believe him?

26 But if we say: From men, we fear the crowd, for all hold John as a prophet.

27 And answering Jesus, they said: We do not know. He also said to them: Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things.

28 But what do you think? A man had two children, and approaching the first, he said: Child, go, work today in my vineyard.

29 And he answered and said: I do not wish to. But afterward he regretted it and went.

30 And approaching the second, he said likewise. And he answered and said: I, lord; and did not go.

31 Which of the two did the will of the father? They say to him: The first. Jesus says to them: Amen, I say to you that the tax collectors and the prostitutes go before you into the kingdom of God.

32 For John came to you in a way of righteousness, and you did not believe him; but the tax collectors and the prostitutes believed him. But you, seeing, did not afterward regret it so as to believe him.

33 Hear another parable: There was a certain master of a house who planted a vineyard and put a fence around it and dug a winepress in it and built a tower, and leased it to farmers and went abroad.

34 And when the season of the fruits drew near, he sent his slaves to the farmers to receive his fruits.

35 And the farmers took his slaves, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Again he sent other slaves, more than the first, and they did to them likewise.

37 But afterward he sent his son to them, saying: They shall respect my son.

38 But the farmers, seeing the son, said among themselves: This is the heir; come, let us kill him and take possession of his inheritance.

39 And taking him, they cast him outside the vineyard and killed him.

40 Therefore, when the lord of the vineyard comes, what shall he do to those farmers?

41 They say to him: He shall destroy those evil men evilly, and shall lease the vineyard to other farmers, who shall repay him the fruits in their seasons.

42 Jesus says to them: Have you never read in the Scriptures: The stone which the builders rejected, this became the head of the corner; this came from the Lord, and it is marvelous in our eyes?

43 For this reason I say to you that the kingdom of God shall be taken from you and given to a nation producing its fruits.

44 And he who falls upon this stone shall be shattered, but upon whomever it falls, it shall crush him.

45 And the chief priests and the Pharisees, hearing his parables, knew that he speaks concerning them.

46 And seeking to seize him, they feared the crowds, since they held him as a prophet.

Chapter 22

1 And Jesus answered and again spoke to them in parables, saying:

2 The kingdom of the heavens was likened to a king who made a wedding feast for his son,

3 and sent his slaves to call those invited to the wedding feast, and they were unwilling to come.

4 Again he sent other slaves, saying: Tell those invited: Behold, I prepared my meal; my bulls and the fattened beasts are slaughtered, and everything is ready; come to the wedding feast.

5 But they disregarded it and went away, one to his own field, another to his trade.

6 And the rest seized his slaves and mistreated and killed them.

7 And the king heard and became angry, and sending his armies, he destroyed those murderers and burned their city.

8 Then he says to his slaves: The wedding feast indeed is ready, but those invited were not worthy.

9 Therefore go to the outlets of the roads, and as many as you find, invite to the wedding feast.

10 And those slaves went out into the roads and gathered all whom they found, both evil and good, and the wedding feast was filled with those reclining.

11 And the king entered to look upon those reclining and saw there a man not clothed in a wedding garment.

12 And he says to him: Friend, how did you enter here without having a wedding garment? And he was silenced.

13 Then the king said to the servants: Bind his feet and hands, take him away and cast him into the outer darkness. There shall be the weeping and the grinding of teeth.

14 For many are called, but few chosen.

15 Then the Pharisees went and took counsel so that they might trap him in a word.

16 And they send their disciples to him with the Herodians, saying: Teacher, we know that you are true and teach the way of God in truth, and you care concerning no one, for you do not look upon the face of men.

17 Tell us, therefore, what you think: Is it lawful to give tax to Caesar or not?

18 And Jesus knew their wickedness and said: Why do you test me, hypocrites?

19 Show me the coin of the tax. And they brought him a denarius.

20 And he says to them: Whose is this image and the inscription?

21 They say to him: Caesar's. Then he says to them: Therefore repay the things of Caesar to Caesar, and the things of God to God.

22 And hearing, they marveled, and leaving him, they went away.

23 On that day Sadducees approached him, who say there is no resurrection, and questioned him,

24 saying: Teacher, Moses said: If anyone dies without having children, his brother shall marry his wife and raise up seed for his brother.

25 And there were seven brothers among us, and the first married and died, and having no seed, left his wife to his brother.

26 Likewise also the second and the third, until the seven.

27 And last of all the woman also died.

28 In the resurrection, therefore, whose wife of the seven shall she be? For all had her.

29 And Jesus answered and said to them: You wander, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God.

30 For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels of God in heaven.

31 But concerning the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was spoken to you by God, saying:

32 I am the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob? God is not God of the dead, but of the living.

33 And hearing, the crowds were astonished at his teaching.

34 And the Pharisees, hearing that he silenced the Sadducees, gathered together.

35 And one of them, a lawyer, questioned him, testing him and saying:

36 Teacher, which commandment is great in the law?

37 And Jesus said to him: You shall love the Lord your God with your whole heart and with your whole soul and with your whole mind.

38 This is the first and great commandment.

39 And a second is like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself.

40 On these two commandments hang the whole law and the prophets.

41 And while the Pharisees were gathered, Jesus questioned them,

42 saying: What do you think concerning the Christ? Whose son is he? They say to him: David's.

43 He says to them: How, then, does David in spirit call him Lord, saying:

44 The Lord said to my Lord: Sit at my right until I place your enemies as a footstool of your feet?

45 If, therefore, David calls him Lord, how is he his son?

46 And no one was able to answer him a word, nor did anyone dare from that day to question him any longer.

Chapter 23

1 Then Jesus spoke to the crowds and to his disciples,

2 saying: The scribes and the Pharisees sat upon the seat of Moses.

3 Therefore everything, whatever they tell you to keep, keep and do; but do not do according to their works, for they say and do not do.

4 For they bind heavy burdens and hard to bear, and lay them upon the shoulders of men, but with their finger they are unwilling to move them.

5 And all their works they do to be seen by men; and they broaden their phylacteries and enlarge the fringes of their garments.

6 And they love the first reclining place at the suppers and the first seats in the synagogues,

7 and the greetings in the marketplaces, and to be called by men: Rabbi, Rabbi.

8 But you, do not be called Rabbi, for one is your guide, the Christ, and you are all brothers.

9 And do not call anyone your father upon the earth, for one is your Father, the one in the heavens.

10 Nor be called guides, for one is your guide, the Christ.

11 But the greater of you shall be your servant.

12 And whoever exalts himself shall be humbled, and whoever humbles himself shall be exalted.

13 But woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you devour the houses of the widows, and with a pretext pray long; for this reason you shall receive greater judgment.

14 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you shut the kingdom of the heavens before men; for you do not enter, nor do you allow those entering to enter.

15 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you go around the sea and the dry land to make one proselyte, and when he becomes one, you make him a son of Gehenna twice as much as you.

16 Woe to you, blind guides, who say: Whoever swears by the sanctuary, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gold of the sanctuary is obligated.

17 Fools and blind men! For which is greater, the gold or the sanctuary sanctifying the gold?

18 And: Whoever swears by the altar, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gift upon it is obligated.

19 Fools and blind men! For which is greater, the gift or the altar sanctifying the gift?

20 Therefore he who swears by the altar swears by it and by all the things upon it.

21 And he who swears by the sanctuary swears by it and by the one dwelling in it.

22 And he who swears by the heaven swears by the throne of God and by the one sitting upon it.

23 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you tithe the mint and the dill and the cumin, and left the weightier things of the law: judgment and mercy and faith. These you ought to have done, and not leave those.

24 Blind guides, straining out the gnat but swallowing the camel!

25 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you cleanse the outside of the cup and the dish, but inside they are full from plunder and lack of self-control.

26 Blind Pharisee, cleanse first the inside of the cup and the dish, so that their outside also may become clean.

27 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you resemble whitewashed tombs, which indeed appear beautiful outside, but inside are full of bones of the dead and all uncleanness.

28 So also you indeed appear righteous to men outside, but inside you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.

29 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you build the tombs of the prophets and adorn the monuments of the righteous,

30 and say: If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been their partners in the blood of the prophets.

31 So that you testify to yourselves that you are sons of those who murdered the prophets.

32 And you, fill up the measure of your fathers.

33 Serpents, offspring of vipers, how shall you flee from the judgment of Gehenna?

34 For this reason, behold, I send to you prophets and wise men and scribes, and some of them you shall kill and crucify, and some of them you shall scourge in your synagogues and persecute from city to city,

35 so that upon you may come all righteous blood poured out upon the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel until the blood of Zechariah son of Barachiah, whom you murdered between the sanctuary and the altar.

36 Amen, I say to you: All these things shall come upon this generation.

37 Jerusalem, Jerusalem, who kills the prophets and stones those sent to her, how often I wished to gather your children together in the manner that a hen gathers her chicks together under her wings, and you were unwilling!

38 Behold, your house is left to you deserted.

39 For I say to you: You shall certainly not see me from now until you say: Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.

Chapter 24

1 And Jesus went out and was going away from the temple, and his disciples approached to show him the buildings of the temple.

2 And Jesus said to them: Do you not see all these things? Amen, I say to you: There shall certainly not be left here a stone upon a stone which shall certainly not be demolished.

3 And while he sat upon the mountain of Olives, the disciples approached him privately, saying: Tell us, when shall these things be, and what is the sign of your coming and of the completion of the age?

4 And Jesus answered and said to them: See that no one leads you astray.

5 For many shall come in my name, saying: I am the Christ, and shall lead many astray.

6 And you shall be about to hear wars and reports of wars; see that you are not alarmed, for all must happen, but the end is not yet.

7 For nation shall rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be famines and pestilences and earthquakes in places.

8 And all these things are the beginning of birth pains.

9 Then they shall hand you over to affliction and shall kill you, and you shall be hated by all the nations because of my name.

10 And then many shall be made to stumble, and shall hand one another over and hate one another.

11 And many false prophets shall rise and shall lead many astray.

12 And because lawlessness is multiplied, the love of the many shall grow cold.

13 But he who endures until the end, this one shall be saved.

14 And this good news of the kingdom shall be proclaimed in the whole inhabited world as a testimony to all the nations, and then the end shall come.

15 Therefore, when you see the abomination of desolation, spoken of through Daniel the prophet, standing in a holy place, let the reader perceive, 16 then let those in Judea flee to the mountains.

17 Let the one upon the roof not descend to take anything out of his house.

18 And let the one in the field not turn back to take his garments.

19 And woe to those having in the womb and those nursing in those days!

20 And pray that your flight may not happen in winter nor on a Sabbath.

21 For then there shall be great affliction, such as has not happened from the beginning of the world until now, nor shall certainly happen.

22 And unless those days were shortened, no flesh would be saved; but because of the chosen, those days shall be shortened.

23 Then if anyone says to you: Behold, here is the Christ, or: Here, do not believe.

24 For false christs and false prophets shall rise and shall give great signs and wonders, so as to lead astray, if possible, even the chosen.

25 Behold, I have told you beforehand.

26 Therefore, if they say to you: Behold, he is in the desert, do not go out; behold, in the inner rooms, do not believe.

27 For just as the lightning comes out from the east and appears until the west, so also shall be the coming of the Son of man.

28 For wherever the corpse may be, there the eagles shall be gathered.

29 And immediately after the affliction of those days the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give its light, and the stars shall fall from the heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken.

30 And then the sign of the Son of man shall appear in the heaven, and then all the tribes of the earth shall mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming upon the clouds of the heaven with power and much glory.

31 And he shall send his angels with a trumpet of a great voice, and they shall gather his chosen together from the four winds, from the extremities of the heavens until their extremities.

32 And learn the parable from the fig tree: When its branch already becomes tender and puts forth the leaves, you know that summer is near.

33 So also you, when you see all these things, know that it is near, at the doors.

34 Amen, I say to you: This generation shall certainly not pass until all these things happen.

35 The heaven and the earth shall pass away, but my words shall certainly not pass away.

36 But concerning that day and the hour no one knows, not even the angels of the heavens, except my Father alone.

37 And just as the days of Noah, so also shall be the coming of the Son of man.

38 For just as they were in the days before the flood, eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day on which Noah entered into the ark,

39 and did not know until the flood came and took all away, so also shall be the coming of the Son of man.

40 Then two shall be in the field; the one is taken along and the one is left.

41 Two women grinding at the mill; one is taken along and one is left.

42 Therefore keep watch, because you do not know at what hour your Lord comes.

43 But know this, that if the master of the house had known in which watch the thief comes, he would have kept watch and would not have allowed his house to be dug through.

44 For this reason you also become ready, because at an hour you do not think, the Son of man comes.

45 Who, then, is the faithful and prudent slave whom his lord appointed over his household to give them food in season?

46 Blessed is that slave whom his lord, coming, shall find doing so.

47 Amen, I say to you that he shall appoint him over all his possessions.

48 But if that evil slave says in his heart: My lord delays to come,

49 and begins to beat the fellow slaves, and to eat and drink with those who are drunk,

50 the lord of that slave shall come on a day which he does not expect and at an hour which he does not know,

51 and shall cut him in two and place his portion with the hypocrites. There shall be the weeping and the grinding of teeth.

Chapter 25

1 Then the kingdom of the heavens shall be likened to ten virgins who took their lamps and went out to meet the bridegroom.

2 And five of them were prudent, and the five foolish.

3 Those who were foolish took their own lamps and did not take oil with themselves.

4 But the prudent took oil in their vessels with their lamps.

5 And while the bridegroom delayed, all grew drowsy and slept.

6 And in the middle of the night a cry has arisen: Behold, the bridegroom comes; go out to meet him.

7 Then all those virgins rose and put their lamps in order.

8 And the foolish said to the prudent: Give us from your oil, because our lamps are going out.

9 But the prudent answered, saying: Lest it not suffice for us and you; go rather to those selling and buy for yourselves.

10 And while they were going away to buy, the bridegroom came, and those ready entered with him into the wedding feast, and the door was shut.

11 And afterward the remaining virgins also come, saying: Lord, Lord, open to us.

12 But he answered and said: Amen, I say to you: I do not know you.

13 Therefore keep watch, because you do not know the day nor the hour in which the Son of man comes.

14 For just as a man going abroad called his own slaves and handed his possessions over to them,

15 and to one he gave five talents, and to another two, and to another one, to each according to his own ability, and immediately went abroad.

16 And the one who received the five talents went and worked with them and made another five talents.

17 Likewise also the one with the two, he also gained another two.

18 But the one who received the one went away and dug in the earth and hid his lord's silver.

19 And after much time the lord of those slaves comes and settles an account with them.

20 And the one who received the five talents approached and brought another five talents, saying: Lord, you handed over five talents to me; see, I gained another five talents upon them.

21 And his lord said to him: Well, good and faithful slave; over few things you were faithful, over many I shall appoint you. Enter into the joy of your lord.

22 And the one who received the two talents also approached and said: Lord, you handed over two talents to me; see, I gained another two talents upon them.

23 His lord said to him: Well, good and faithful slave; over few things you were faithful, over many I shall appoint you. Enter into the joy of your lord.

24 And the one who had received the one talent also approached and said: Lord, I knew you, that you are a hard man, harvesting where you did not sow and gathering from where you did not scatter.

25 And fearing, I went away and hid your talent in the earth; see, you have what is yours.

26 And his lord answered and said to him: Evil and lazy slave, you knew that I harvest where I did not sow and gather from where I did not scatter.

27 Therefore you ought to have put my silver with the bankers, and coming, I would have received what is mine with interest.

28 Therefore take the talent from him and give it to the one having the ten talents.

29 For to everyone who has it shall be given, and he shall have abundance; but from the one who does not have, even what he has shall be taken from him.

30 And cast the useless slave into the outer darkness. There shall be the weeping and the grinding of teeth.

31 And when the Son of man comes in his glory and all the holy angels with him, then he shall sit upon his throne of glory.

32 And all the nations shall be gathered before him, and he shall separate them from one another, just as the shepherd separates the sheep from the goats.

33 And he shall stand the sheep at his right, but the little goats at the left.

34 Then the king shall say to those at his right: Come, those blessed by my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world.

35 For I was hungry and you gave me to eat; I thirsted and you gave me to drink; I was a stranger and you gathered me in;

36 naked and you clothed me; I was sick and you visited me; I was in prison and you came to me.

37 Then the righteous shall answer him, saying: Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsting and give you to drink?

38 And when did we see you a stranger and gather you in, or naked and clothe you?

39 And when did we see you sick or in prison and come to you?

40 And the king shall answer and say to them: Amen, I say to you: Insofar as you did it to one of these least brothers of mine, you did it to me.

41 Then he shall also say to those at the left: Go from me, those cursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels.

42 For I was hungry and you did not give me to eat; I thirsted and you did not give me to drink;

43 I was a stranger and you did not gather me in; naked and you did not clothe me; sick and in prison and you did not visit me.

44 Then they also shall answer him, saying: Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsting or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison, and did not serve you?

45 Then he shall answer them, saying: Amen, I say to you: Insofar as you did not do it to one of these least, neither did you do it to me.

46 And these shall go away into eternal punishment, but the righteous into eternal life.

Chapter 26

1 And it happened, when Jesus finished all these words, he said to his disciples:

2 You know that after two days the Passover takes place, and the Son of man is handed over to be crucified.

3 Then the chief priests and the scribes and the elders of the people gathered into the courtyard of the high priest called Caiaphas,

4 and took counsel so that they might seize Jesus by deceit and kill him.

5 But they were saying: Not during the feast, so that an uproar may not arise among the people.

6 And while Jesus was in Bethany in the house of Simon the leper,

7 a woman approached him, having an alabaster vessel of very costly ointment, and poured it upon his head as he reclined.

8 But his disciples, seeing, were indignant, saying: Why this waste?

9 For this ointment could have been sold for much and given to the poor.

10 And Jesus knew and said to them: Why do you give troubles to the woman? For she worked a good work toward me.

11 For you always have the poor with yourselves, but you do not always have me.

12 For she, in putting this ointment upon my body, did it to bury me.

13 Amen, I say to you: Wherever this good news is proclaimed in the whole world, what she did shall also be spoken of as a memorial of her.

14 Then one of the twelve, called Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests,

15 and said: What do you wish to give me, and I shall hand him over to you? And they weighed out thirty silver pieces for him.

16 And from then he was seeking an opportunity to hand him over.

17 And on the first day of the unleavened bread, the disciples approached Jesus, saying to him: Where do you wish us to prepare for you to eat the Passover?

18 And he said: Go into the city to a certain man and tell him: The teacher says: My time is near; with you I hold the Passover with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Jesus directed them and prepared the Passover.

20 And when evening came, he was reclining with the twelve.

21 And while they were eating, he said: Amen, I say to you that one of you shall hand me over.

22 And being exceedingly grieved, each of them began to say to him: Surely it is not I, Lord?

23 And he answered and said: The one who dipped his hand with me in the dish, this one shall hand me over.

24 The Son of man indeed goes as it is written concerning him, but woe to that man through whom the Son of man is handed over! It was good for him if that man had not been born.

25 And Judas, the one handing him over, answered and said: Surely it is not I, Rabbi? He says to him: You said it.

26 And while they were eating, Jesus took the bread and blessed and broke it and was giving it to the disciples, and said: Take, eat; this is my body.

27 And taking the cup and giving thanks, he gave it to them, saying: Drink from it, all of you.

28 For this is my blood, that of the new covenant, poured out concerning many for forgiveness of sins.

29 But I say to you that I shall certainly not drink from now of this produce of the vine until that day when I drink it new with you in the kingdom of my Father.

30 And having sung a hymn, they went out to the mountain of Olives.

31 Then Jesus says to them: All of you shall be made to stumble at me in this night, for it is written: I shall strike the shepherd, and the sheep of the flock shall be scattered.

32 But after I am raised, I shall go before you into Galilee.

33 And Peter answered and said to him: Even if all shall be made to stumble at you, I shall never be made to stumble.

34 Jesus said to him: Amen, I say to you that in this night, before a rooster calls, you shall deny me three times.

35 Peter says to him: Even if I must die with you, I shall certainly not deny you. Likewise also all the disciples said.

36 Then Jesus comes with them into a place called Gethsemane and says to the disciples: Sit here until I go and pray there.

37 And taking Peter and the two sons of Zebedee with him, he began to be grieved and distressed.

38 Then he says to them: My soul is exceedingly sorrowful until death; remain here and keep watch with me.

39 And going forward a little, he fell upon his face, praying and saying: My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless, not as I wish, but as you.

40 And he comes to the disciples and finds them sleeping, and says to Peter: So, were you not strong enough to keep watch with me one hour?

41 Keep watch and pray so that you may not enter into temptation; the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh weak.

42 Again, going away a second time, he prayed, saying: My Father, if this cup cannot pass from me unless I drink it, let your will happen.

43 And coming, he finds them sleeping again, for their eyes were weighed down.

44 And leaving them, he went away and again prayed a third time, saying the same word.

45 Then he comes to his disciples and says to them: Sleep the rest and take your rest; behold, the hour has drawn near, and the Son of man is handed over into the hands of sinners.

46 Rise, let us go; behold, the one handing me over has drawn near.

47 And while he was still speaking, behold, Judas, one of the twelve, came, and with him a great crowd with swords and clubs from the chief priests and elders of the people.

48 And the one handing him over gave them a sign, saying: Whomever I kiss, he is the one; seize him.

49 And immediately approaching Jesus, he said: Greetings, Rabbi; and kissed him fervently.

50 And Jesus said to him: Friend, for what are you here? Then they approached and laid their hands upon Jesus and seized him.

51 And behold, one of those with Jesus stretched out his hand and drew his sword, and striking the slave of the high priest, took off his ear.

52 Then Jesus says to him: Return your sword to its place, for all who take a sword shall perish by a sword.

53 Or do you think that I cannot now appeal to my Father, and he shall provide me more than twelve legions of angels?

54 How, then, should the Scriptures be fulfilled, that it must happen so?

55 In that hour Jesus said to the crowds: As against a robber you came out with swords and clubs to arrest me. Daily I sat with you teaching in the temple, and you did not seize me.

56 But this whole thing has happened so that the Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled. Then all the disciples left him and fled.

57 And those who seized Jesus led him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were gathered.

58 And Peter was following him from afar until the courtyard of the high priest, and entering inside, he was sitting with the attendants to see the end.

59 And the chief priests and the elders and the whole council were seeking false testimony against Jesus so that they might put him to death,

60 and did not find it; and though many false witnesses approached, they did not find it.

61 But afterward two false witnesses approached and said: This man said: I am able to demolish the sanctuary of God and to build it through three days.

62 And the high priest stood up and said to him: Do you answer nothing? What do these testify against you?

63 But Jesus was silent. And the high priest answered and said to him: I adjure you by the living God that you tell us whether you are the Christ, the Son of God.

64 Jesus says to him: You said it. Nevertheless, I say to you: From now you shall see the Son of man sitting at the right of the Power and coming upon the clouds of the heaven.

65 Then the high priest tore his garments, saying: He blasphemed! What further need do we have of witnesses? See, now you heard his blasphemy.

66 What do you think? And they answered and said: He is liable to death.

67 Then they spat into his face and struck him with fists, and others slapped him,

68 saying: Prophesy to us, Christ; who is the one who struck you?

69 And Peter was sitting outside in the courtyard, and one servant girl approached him, saying: You also were with Jesus the Galilean.

70 But he denied before all, saying: I do not know what you say.

71 And when he went out to the gateway, another saw him and says to those there: This man also was with Jesus the Nazarene.

72 And again he denied with an oath: I do not know the man.

73 And after a little while those standing approached and said to Peter: Truly you also are one of them, for even your speech makes you evident.

74 Then he began to curse and swear: I do not know the man. And immediately a rooster called.

75 And Peter remembered the saying of Jesus, who had said to him: Before a rooster calls, you shall deny me three times. And going outside, he wept bitterly.

Chapter 27

1 And when morning came, all the chief priests and the elders of the people took counsel against Jesus so as to put him to death.

2 And binding him, they led him away and handed him over to Pontius Pilate the governor.

3 Then Judas, the one handing him over, seeing that he was condemned, regretted it and returned the thirty silver pieces to the chief priests and the elders,

4 saying: I sinned, handing over innocent blood. And they said: What is that to us? You shall see to it.

5 And throwing the silver pieces in the sanctuary, he withdrew, and going away, he hanged himself.

6 And the chief priests took the silver pieces and said: It is not lawful to put them into the treasury, since it is the price of blood.

7 And taking counsel, they bought with them the potter's field for burial for strangers.

8 Therefore that field was called Field of Blood until today.

9 Then what was spoken through Jeremiah the prophet was fulfilled, saying: And they took the thirty silver pieces, the price of the one priced, whom they priced from the sons of Israel,

10 and gave them for the potter's field, as the Lord directed me.

11 And Jesus stood before the governor, and the governor questioned him, saying: Are you the king of the Jews? And Jesus said to him: You say it.

12 And while he was accused by the chief priests and the elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then Pilate says to him: Do you not hear how many things they testify against you?

14 And he did not answer him concerning even one word, so that the governor marveled exceedingly.

15 And at a feast the governor was accustomed to release to the crowd one prisoner whom they wished.

16 And they then had a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

17 Therefore, when they gathered, Pilate said to them: Whom do you wish me to release to you, Barabbas or Jesus called Christ?

18 For he knew that because of envy they handed him over.

19 And while he sat upon the judgment seat, his wife sent to him, saying: Nothing between you and that righteous man, for I suffered many things today in a dream because of him.

20 But the chief priests and the elders persuaded the crowds that they should ask for Barabbas, but destroy Jesus.

21 And the governor answered and said to them: Which of the two do you wish me to release to you? And they said: Barabbas.

22 Pilate says to them: What, then, shall I do with Jesus called Christ? They all say to him: Let him be crucified.

23 And the governor said: For what evil did he do? But they cried out exceedingly, saying: Let him be crucified.

24 And Pilate, seeing that he profits nothing, but rather an uproar arises, took water and washed his hands before the crowd, saying: I am innocent of the blood of this righteous man; you shall see to it.

25 And all the people answered and said: His blood upon us and upon our children.

26 Then he released Barabbas to them, but scourged Jesus and handed him over to be crucified.

27 Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the praetorium and gathered the whole cohort against him.

28 And stripping him, they put a scarlet cloak around him.

29 And weaving a crown from thorns, they put it upon his head, and a reed in his right hand, and kneeling before him, they were mocking him, saying: Greetings, king of the Jews.

30 And spitting upon him, they took the reed and were striking his head.

31 And when they mocked him, they stripped the cloak from him and clothed him in his garments and led him away to crucify him.

32 And going out, they found a Cyrenian man named Simon; they compelled this man to take up his cross.

33 And coming into a place called Golgotha, which is called Place of a Skull, 34 they gave him vinegar mixed with gall to drink, and tasting it, he was unwilling to drink.

35 And crucifying him, they divided his garments among themselves, casting a lot, so that what was spoken by the prophet might be fulfilled: They divided my garments among themselves, and upon my clothing they cast a lot.

36 And sitting, they were guarding him there.

37 And they placed above his head his accusation, written: This is Jesus the king of the Jews.

38 Then two robbers are crucified with him, one at the right and one at the left.

39 And those passing by were blaspheming him, moving their heads,

40 and saying: You who demolish the sanctuary and build it in three days, save yourself; if you are God's Son, descend from the cross.

41 And likewise also the chief priests, mocking with the scribes and elders, were saying:

42 He saved others; he cannot save himself. If he is king of Israel, let him descend now from the cross, and we shall believe him.

43 He has trusted in God; let him rescue him now, if he wants him, for he said: I am God's Son.

44 And the robbers crucified with him were also reproaching him with the same thing.

45 And from the sixth hour darkness came upon the whole earth until the ninth hour.

46 And about the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a great voice, saying: Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? This is: My God, my God, why did you forsake me?

47 And some of those standing there, hearing, were saying: This man calls Elijah.

48 And immediately one of them ran and took a sponge and filled it with vinegar and put it on a reed and was giving him to drink.

49 But the rest were saying: Leave it; let us see whether Elijah comes to save him.

50 And Jesus again cried out with a great voice and released the spirit.

51 And behold, the veil of the sanctuary was torn into two from above until below, and the earth was shaken and the rocks were split,

52 and the tombs were opened, and many bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep were raised,

53 and coming out of the tombs after his resurrection, they entered into the holy city and appeared to many.

54 And the centurion and those with him guarding Jesus, seeing the earthquake and the things that happened, feared exceedingly, saying: Truly this was God's Son.

55 And many women were there, watching from afar, who followed Jesus from Galilee, serving him,

56 among whom was Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James and Joses and the mother of the sons of Zebedee.

57 And when evening came, a rich man from Arimathea came, named Joseph, who himself also became a disciple of Jesus.

58 This man approached Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be given back.

59 And Joseph took the body and wrapped it in a clean linen cloth,

60 and put it in his new tomb, which he hewed in the rock, and rolling a great stone to the door of the tomb, he went away.

61 And Mary Magdalene and the other Mary were there, sitting opposite the tomb.

62 And on the next day, which is after the Preparation, the chief priests and the Pharisees gathered to Pilate,

63 saying: Lord, we remembered that that deceiver said while still living: After three days I rise.

64 Therefore command the tomb to be secured until the third day, lest his disciples come by night and steal him and tell the people: He was raised from the dead; and the last deception shall be worse than the first.

65 And Pilate said to them: You have a guard; go, secure it as you know.

66 And they went and secured the tomb, sealing the stone with the guard.

Chapter 28

1 And late on the Sabbath, as it was dawning toward the first day of the week, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary came to look upon the tomb.

2 And behold, a great earthquake happened, for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven and approached and rolled the stone away from the door, and was sitting upon it.

3 And his appearance was like lightning, and his garment white as snow.

4 And from fear of him those guarding were shaken and became like dead men.

5 And the angel answered and said to the women: Do not fear, you; for I know that you seek Jesus who has been crucified.

6 He is not here, for he was raised as he said; come, see the place where the Lord lay.

7 And go quickly and tell his disciples that he was raised from the dead, and behold, he goes before you into Galilee; there you shall see him. Behold, I told you.

8 And going out quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, they ran to report to his disciples.

9 And as they were going to report to his disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying: Rejoice. And they approached and took hold of his feet and worshiped him.

10 Then Jesus says to them: Do not fear; go, report to my brothers that they should go away into Galilee, and there they shall see me.

11 And while they were going, behold, some of the guard came into the city and reported to the chief priests all the things that happened.

12 And gathering with the elders and taking counsel, they gave sufficient silver pieces to the soldiers,

13 saying: Say that his disciples came by night and stole him while we slept.

14 And if this is heard before the governor, we shall persuade him and make you free from care.

15 And they took the silver pieces and did as they were taught; and this word was spread abroad among Jews until today.

16 And the eleven disciples went into Galilee, to the mountain where Jesus appointed them.

17 And seeing him, they worshiped him; but some doubted.

18 And Jesus approached and spoke to them, saying: All authority was given to me in heaven and upon earth.

19 Therefore go and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them into the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit,

20 teaching them to keep everything, whatever I commanded you; and behold, I am with you all the days until the completion of the age. Amen.

Mark

Chapter 1

1 Beginning of the good news of Jesus Christ, Son of God.

2 As it is written in the prophets: Behold, I send my messenger before your face, who shall prepare your way before you.

3 A voice of one crying in the desert: Prepare the way of the Lord; make his paths straight.

4 John came, baptizing in the desert and proclaiming a baptism of repentance for forgiveness of sins.

5 And the whole Judean region and the Jerusalemites were going out to him, and all were being baptized by him in the Jordan river, confessing their sins.

6 And John was clothed in camel's hair and a leather belt around his waist, and eating locusts and wild honey.

7 And he was proclaiming, saying: The one stronger than I comes behind me, whose strap of his sandals I am not sufficient to stoop and loose.

8 I indeed baptized you in water, but he shall baptize you in the Holy Spirit.

9 And it happened in those days, Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee and was baptized by John into the Jordan.

10 And immediately, coming up from the water, he saw the heavens being torn and the Spirit like a dove descending upon him.

11 And a voice came from the heavens: You are my beloved Son, in whom I was well pleased.

12 And immediately the Spirit drives him out into the desert.

13 And he was there in the desert forty days, being tempted by Satan, and was with the wild beasts, and the angels were serving him.

14 And after John was handed over, Jesus came into Galilee, proclaiming the good news of the kingdom of God,

15 and saying: The time has been fulfilled, and the kingdom of God has drawn near; repent and believe in the good news.

16 And walking beside the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a casting net in the sea, for they were fishermen.

17 And Jesus said to them: Come behind me, and I shall make you become fishers of men.

18 And immediately leaving their nets, they followed him.

19 And going forward a little from there, he saw James the son of Zebedee and John his brother, and they were in the boat mending the nets.

20 And immediately he called them, and leaving their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired men, they went away behind him.

21 And they enter into Capernaum, and immediately on the Sabbath he entered into the synagogue and was teaching.

22 And they were astonished at his teaching, for he was teaching them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

23 And in their synagogue there was a man in an unclean spirit, and he cried out,

24 saying: Ah! What is between us and you, Jesus the Nazarene? Did you come to destroy us? I know you, who you are: the Holy One of God.

25 And Jesus rebuked him, saying: Be silenced, and come out of him.

26 And the unclean spirit convulsed him and cried with a great voice and came out of him.

27 And all were amazed, so that they debated among themselves, saying: What is this? What is this new teaching, that with authority he commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey him?

28 And his report immediately went out into the whole surrounding region of Galilee.

29 And immediately going out from the synagogue, they came into the house of Simon and Andrew with James and John.

30 And Simon's mother-in-law lay sick with a fever, and immediately they tell him concerning her.

31 And approaching, he raised her, taking hold of her hand, and the fever left her immediately, and she was serving them.

32 And when evening came, when the sun set, they were bringing to him all who were ill and those demon-possessed.

33 And the whole city was gathered together at the door.

34 And he healed many who were ill with various diseases and cast out many demons, and did not allow the demons to speak, because they knew him.

35 And early, while it was very much night, he rose and went out and went away into a deserted place, and there he was praying.

36 And Simon and those with him pursued him,

37 and finding him, they say to him: All seek you.

38 And he says to them: Let us go into the neighboring village towns, so that I may proclaim there also, for to this end I have come out.

39 And he was proclaiming in their synagogues throughout all Galilee and casting out the demons.

40 And a leper comes to him, begging him and kneeling to him and saying to him: If you wish, you are able to cleanse me.

41 And Jesus had compassion and stretched out his hand and touched him, and says to him: I wish; be cleansed.

42 And when he spoke, immediately the leprosy went away from him, and he was cleansed.

43 And sternly admonishing him, immediately he sent him out,

44 and says to him: See that you say nothing to anyone, but go, show yourself to the priest and offer concerning your cleansing what Moses commanded, as a testimony to them.

45 But he went out and began to proclaim much and spread the word abroad, so that he could no longer openly enter into a city, but was outside in deserted places, and they were coming to him from everywhere.

Chapter 2

1 And again he entered into Capernaum after some days, and it was heard that he is in a house.

2 And immediately many gathered, so that there was no longer room, not even at the door, and he was speaking the word to them.

3 And they come to him, bringing a paralytic, carried by four.

4 And being unable to draw near to him because of the crowd, they unroofed the roof where he was, and digging through, they lower the pallet upon which the paralytic lay.

5 And Jesus, seeing their faith, says to the paralytic: Child, your sins have been forgiven you.

6 And some of the scribes were sitting there and reasoning in their hearts:

7 Why does this man speak blasphemies so? Who is able to forgive sins except one, God?

8 And immediately Jesus, recognizing in his spirit that they reason so among themselves, said to them: Why do you reason these things in your hearts?

9 Which is easier, to say to the paralytic: Your sins have been forgiven you, or to say: Rise and take up your pallet and walk?

10 But so that you may know that the Son of man has authority to forgive sins upon the earth, he says to the paralytic:

11 I say to you: Rise and take up your pallet and go into your house.

12 And he rose immediately and took up the pallet and went out before all, so that all were astonished and glorified God, saying: We never saw so.

13 And he went out again beside the sea, and the whole crowd was coming to him, and he was teaching them.

14 And passing by, he saw Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting at the tax office, and says to him: Follow me. And rising, he followed him.

15 And it happened, while he reclined in his house, many tax collectors and sinners also reclined with Jesus and his disciples, for they were many and followed him.

16 And the scribes and the Pharisees, seeing him eating with the tax collectors and sinners, were saying to his disciples: Why is it that he eats and drinks with the tax collectors and sinners?

17 And hearing, Jesus says to them: Those who are strong have no need of a physician, but those who are ill. I did not come to call righteous men, but sinners to repentance.

18 And John's disciples and those of the Pharisees were fasting, and they come and say to him: Why do John's disciples and those of the Pharisees fast, but your disciples do not fast?

19 And Jesus said to them: Can the sons of the bridal chamber fast while the bridegroom is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with themselves, they cannot fast.

20 But days shall come when the bridegroom is taken away from them, and then they shall fast in those days.

21 And no one sews a patch of unfulled cloth upon an old garment; otherwise its filling, the new, takes away from the old, and a worse tear happens.

22 And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; otherwise the new wine bursts the wineskins, and the wine is poured out and the wineskins shall perish; but new wine must be put into fresh wineskins.

23 And it happened that he passed through the grainfields on the Sabbath, and his disciples began to make a way, plucking the ears of grain.

24 And the Pharisees were saying to him: See, why do they do on the Sabbath what is not lawful?

25 And he was saying to them: Have you never read what David did when he had need and was hungry, he and those with him,

26 how he entered into the house of God in the time of Abiathar the high priest, and ate the loaves of the presentation, which it is not lawful to eat except for the priests, and also gave to those who were with him?

27 And he was saying to them: The Sabbath came into being because of man, not man because of the Sabbath.

28 So that the Son of man is Lord also of the Sabbath.

Chapter 3

1 And he entered again into the synagogue, and a man was there having his hand withered.

2 And they were watching him, whether he would heal him on the Sabbath, so that they might accuse him.

3 And he says to the man having the withered hand: Rise into the midst.

4 And he says to them: Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save a soul or to kill? But they were silent.

5 And looking around at them with anger, grieving at the hardening of their heart, he says to the man: Stretch out your hand. And he stretched it out, and his hand was restored healthy as the other.

6 And the Pharisees went out and immediately with the Herodians were taking counsel against him, so that they might destroy him.

7 And Jesus withdrew with his disciples toward the sea, and a great multitude from Galilee followed him, and from Judea,

8 and from Jerusalem and from Idumea and beyond the Jordan, and those around Tyre and Sidon, a great multitude, hearing how many things he was doing, came to him.

9 And he told his disciples that a little boat should remain ready for him because of the crowd, so that they might not press him.

10 For he healed many, so that as many as had afflictions fell upon him to touch him.

11 And the unclean spirits, whenever they saw him, were falling before him and crying out, saying: You are the Son of God.

12 And he was rebuking them much, so that they might not make him manifest.

13 And he goes up into the mountain and calls to him those whom he himself wished, and they went to him.

14 And he made twelve, so that they might be with him and so that he might send them to proclaim,

15 and to have authority to heal the diseases and cast out the demons.

16 And he put upon Simon the name Peter,

17 and James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James, and he put upon them names, Boanerges, which is: Sons of thunder;

18 and Andrew and Philip and Bartholomew and Matthew and Thomas and James the son of Alphaeus and Thaddaeus and Simon the Cananite,

19 and Judas Iscariot, who also handed him over. And they come into a house.

20 And a crowd comes together again, so that they are not able even to eat bread.

21 And those belonging to him heard and went out to seize him, for they were saying: He is out of his mind.

22 And the scribes who came down from Jerusalem were saying: He has Beelzebul, and: By the ruler of the demons he casts out the demons.

23 And calling them to him, he was saying to them in parables: How can Satan cast out Satan?

24 And if a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand.

25 And if a house is divided against itself, that house cannot stand.

26 And if Satan rose against himself and has been divided, he cannot stand, but has an end.

27 No one can enter into the house of the strong man and plunder his goods unless he first binds the strong man, and then he shall plunder his house.

28 Amen, I say to you that all sins shall be forgiven the sons of men, and blasphemies, as many as they may blaspheme.

29 But whoever blasphemes against the Holy Spirit has no forgiveness forever, but is liable to eternal judgment.

30 Because they were saying: He has an unclean spirit.

31 Therefore his brothers and his mother come, and standing outside, they sent to him, calling him.

32 And a crowd was sitting around him, and they said to him: Behold, your mother and your brothers outside seek you.

33 And he answered them, saying: Who is my mother or my brothers?

34 And looking around in a circle at those sitting around him, he says: See, my mother and my brothers.

35 For whoever does the will of God, this one is my brother and my sister and mother.

Chapter 4

1 And again he began to teach beside the sea, and a great crowd gathered to him, so that he entered into the boat and sat on the sea, and the whole crowd was upon the earth beside the sea.

2 And he was teaching them many things in parables and was saying to them in his teaching:

3 Hear; behold, the sower went out to sow.

4 And it happened as he sowed, some fell beside the road, and the birds of the heaven came and devoured it.

5 And other fell upon the rocky ground, where it did not have much earth, and immediately sprang up because it had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sun rose, it was scorched, and because it had no root, it withered.

7 And other fell into the thorns, and the thorns grew up and choked it, and it gave no fruit.

8 And other fell into the good earth and was giving fruit, rising and growing, and was bearing, one thirty and one sixty and one a hundred.

9 And he was saying to them: He who has ears to hear, let him hear.

10 And when he was alone, those around him with the twelve asked him about the parable.

11 And he was saying to them: To you it has been given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God, but to those outside all things happen in parables,

12 so that seeing they may see and not perceive, and hearing they may hear and not understand, lest they turn and their sins be forgiven them.

13 And he says to them: Do you not know this parable? And how shall you know all the parables?

14 The sower sows the word.

15 And these are those beside the road where the word is sown, and when they hear, immediately Satan comes and takes away the word sown in their hearts.

16 And these likewise are those sown upon the rocky places, who, when they hear the word, immediately receive it with joy,

17 and have no root in themselves, but are temporary; then, when affliction or persecution arises because of the word, immediately they are made to stumble.

18 And these are those sown into the thorns; these are those hearing the word,

19 and the cares of this age and the deceit of wealth and the desires concerning the remaining things enter in and choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful.

20 And these are those sown upon the good earth, who hear the word and receive it and bear fruit, one thirty and one sixty and one a hundred.

21 And he was saying to them: Does the lamp come so that it may be placed under the bushel or under the bed? Is it not so that it may be placed upon the lampstand?

22 For there is nothing hidden unless it should be manifested, nor did anything become concealed except so that it might come into the open.

23 If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear.

24 And he was saying to them: See what you hear; with the measure with which you measure it shall be measured to you, and it shall be added to you who hear.

25 For whoever has, to him it shall be given, and whoever does not have, even what he has shall be taken from him.

26 And he was saying: So is the kingdom of God, as if a man casts the seed upon the earth,

27 and sleeps and rises night and day, and the seed sprouts and grows long, how he himself does not know.

28 For the earth bears fruit of itself, first a blade, then an ear, then full grain in the ear.

29 And when the fruit yields, immediately he sends the sickle, because the harvest has arrived.

30 And he was saying: To what shall we liken the kingdom of God, or in what parable shall we set it forth?

31 As to a grain of mustard, which, when sown upon the earth, is smaller than all the seeds upon the earth.

32 And when it is sown, it rises and becomes greater than all the garden plants and makes great branches, so that the birds of the heaven can dwell under its shade.

33 And with many such parables he was speaking the word to them, as they were able to hear.

34 But without a parable he was not speaking to them, and privately he was explaining everything to his disciples.

35 And he says to them on that day, when evening came: Let us pass through to the other side.

36 And leaving the crowd, they take him along as he was in the boat, and other little boats also were with him.

37 And a great windstorm arises, and the waves were beating into the boat, so that it was already being filled.

38 And he was in the stern, sleeping upon the cushion, and they wake him and say to him: Teacher, do you not care that we perish?

39 And waking, he rebuked the wind and said to the sea: Be silent; be silenced. And the wind ceased, and a great calm came.

40 And he said to them: Why are you so cowardly? How do you have no faith?

41 And they feared a great fear and were saying to one another: Who, then, is this, that even the wind and the sea obey him?

Chapter 5

1 And they came to the other side of the sea, into the region of the Gadarenes.

2 And when he went out from the boat, immediately a man from the tombs in an unclean spirit met him,

3 who had his dwelling in the tombs, and no one could bind him, not even with chains,

4 because he had often been bound with shackles and chains, and the chains had been torn apart by him and the shackles shattered, and no one was strong enough to tame him.

5 And continually, night and day, in the mountains and in the tombs, he was crying out and cutting himself with stones.

6 And seeing Jesus from afar, he ran and worshiped him,

7 and crying with a great voice, said: What is between me and you, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I adjure you by God, do not torture me.

8 For he was saying to him: Come out of the man, unclean spirit.

9 And he was questioning him: What is your name? And he answered, saying: Legion is my name, because we are many.

10 And he was begging him much that he might not send them outside the region.

11 And there was there by the mountains a great herd of pigs feeding.

12 And all the demons begged him, saying: Send us into the pigs so that we may enter into them.

13 And immediately Jesus permitted them, and the unclean spirits came out and entered into the pigs, and the herd rushed down the precipice into the sea; and they were about two thousand, and were drowning in the sea.

14 And those feeding the pigs fled and reported into the city and into the fields, and they went out to see what has happened.

15 And they come to Jesus and see the demon-possessed man sitting and clothed and in his right mind, the one who had had the legion, and they feared.

16 And those who saw recounted to them how it happened to the demon-possessed man, and concerning the pigs.

17 And they began to beg him to depart from their borders.

18 And when he entered into the boat, the man who had been demon-possessed was begging him that he might be with him.

19 But Jesus did not allow him, but says to him: Go into your house to your own people, and report to them how many things the Lord did for you and had mercy on you.

20 And he went away and began to proclaim in the Decapolis how many things Jesus did for him, and all were marveling.

21 And when Jesus crossed over in the boat again to the other side, a great crowd gathered to him, and he was beside the sea.

22 And behold, one of the synagogue rulers comes, named Jairus, and seeing him, falls at his feet,

23 and was begging him much, saying: My little daughter is at the point of death; that you come and lay your hands upon her, so that she may be saved, and she shall live.

24 And he went away with him, and a great crowd was following him, and they were pressing him together.

25 And a certain woman, being in a flow of blood twelve years,

26 and having suffered many things by many physicians, and having spent everything she had, and having benefited nothing, but rather having come into the worse,

27 heard concerning Jesus and came in the crowd from behind and touched his garment.

28 For she was saying: Even if I touch his garments, I shall be saved.

29 And immediately the fountain of her blood dried up, and she knew in her body that she has been healed from the affliction.

30 And immediately Jesus, recognizing in himself the power which had gone out from him, turned in the crowd and was saying: Who touched my garments?

31 And his disciples were saying to him: You see the crowd pressing you together, and you say: Who touched me?

32 And he was looking around to see the one who did this.

33 And the woman, fearing and trembling, knowing what had happened to her, came and fell before him and told him all the truth.

34 And he said to her: Daughter, your faith has saved you; go into peace, and be healthy from your affliction.

35 While he was still speaking, they come from the synagogue ruler, saying: Your daughter died; why do you still trouble the teacher?

36 And Jesus immediately heard the word being spoken and says to the synagogue ruler: Do not fear; only believe.

37 And he allowed no one to follow together with him except Peter and James and John the brother of James.

38 And he comes into the house of the synagogue ruler and sees an uproar, people weeping and wailing much.

39 And entering, he says to them: Why do you make an uproar and weep? The child did not die, but sleeps.

40 And they were laughing at him. But he cast all out and takes the father of the child and the mother and those with him, and enters where the child was lying.

41 And taking hold of the child's hand, he says to her: Talitha koumi, which is translated: Girl, I say to you, rise.

42 And immediately the girl rose and was walking, for she was twelve years old; and they were astonished with great astonishment.

43 And he charged them much that no one should know this, and said that something should be given her to eat.

Chapter 6

1 And he went out from there and came into his homeland, and his disciples follow him.

2 And when the Sabbath came, he began to teach in the synagogue, and many hearing were astonished, saying: From where does this man have these things? And what is the wisdom given to him, that even such mighty works happen through his hands?

3 Is this not the carpenter, the son of Mary, and brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon? And are not his sisters here with us? And they were made to stumble at him.

4 And Jesus was saying to them: A prophet is not without honor except in his homeland and among his relatives and in his house.

5 And he could do no mighty work there, except he laid his hands upon a few sick people and healed them.

6 And he was marveling because of their unbelief. And he was going around the villages in a circle, teaching.

7 And he calls the twelve to him and began to send them two by two, and was giving them authority over the unclean spirits.

8 And he commanded them to take nothing for a journey except a staff only, no bag, no bread, no copper in the belt,

9 but to be shod with sandals, and: Do not put on two tunics.

10 And he was saying to them: Wherever you enter into a house, remain there until you go out from there.

11 And as many as do not receive you nor hear you, going out from there, shake off the dust from beneath your feet as a testimony to them. Amen, I say to you: It shall be more bearable for Sodom or Gomorrah on the day of judgment than for that city.

12 And going out, they were proclaiming that they should repent.

13 And they were casting out many demons and anointing many sick people with oil and healing.

14 And king Herod heard, for his name became manifest, and he was saying: John the baptizer was raised from the dead, and for this reason the powers work in him.

15 Others were saying: He is Elijah. And others were saying: He is a prophet, or as one of the prophets.

16 But Herod heard and said: John, whom I beheaded, this is he; he was raised from the dead.

17 For Herod himself sent and seized John and bound him in the prison because of Herodias, the wife of Philip his brother, because he married her.

18 For John was saying to Herod: It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife.

19 And Herodias held a grudge against him and wished to kill him, and could not.

20 For Herod feared John, knowing him as a righteous and holy man, and was protecting him, and hearing him, he was doing many things and was hearing him gladly.

21 And an opportune day came, when Herod on his birthday was making a supper for his great men and the commanders of thousands and the first men of Galilee,

22 and the daughter of Herodias herself entered and danced and pleased Herod and those reclining with him; the king said to the girl: Ask me whatever you wish, and I shall give it to you.

23 And he swore to her: Whatever you ask me, I shall give you, until half my kingdom.

24 And she went out and said to her mother: What shall I ask? And she said: The head of John the Baptist.

25 And immediately entering with haste to the king, she asked, saying: I wish that you give me at once on a platter the head of John the Baptist.

26 And the king became exceedingly sorrowful, but because of the oaths and those reclining with him, he was unwilling to refuse her.

27 And immediately the king sent an executioner and commanded his head to be brought.

28 And he went away and beheaded him in the prison, and brought his head on a platter and gave it to the girl, and the girl gave it to her mother.

29 And his disciples heard and came and took his corpse and placed it in the tomb.

30 And the apostles gather to Jesus and reported to him everything, both whatever they did and whatever they taught.

31 And he said to them: Come, you yourselves, privately into a deserted place, and rest a little. For those coming and those going were many, and they did not even have opportunity to eat.

32 And they went away into a deserted place by the boat privately.

33 And the crowds saw them going, and many recognized him, and on foot from all the cities they ran together there and went ahead of them and came together to him.

34 And coming out, Jesus saw a great crowd and had compassion on them, because they were like sheep not having a shepherd, and began to teach them many things.

35 And when the hour had already grown late, his disciples approached him and say: The place is deserted, and the hour is already late.

36 Dismiss them so that they may go into the surrounding fields and villages and buy loaves for themselves, for they have nothing to eat.

37 And he answered and said to them: You give them something to eat. And they say to him: Shall we go and buy two hundred denarii of loaves and give them to eat?

38 And he says to them: How many loaves do you have? Go and see. And knowing, they say: Five, and two fish.

39 And he commanded them to make all recline, dining group by dining group, upon the green grass.

40 And they reclined, row by row, by hundreds and by fifties.

41 And taking the five loaves and the two fish, he looked up into the heaven and blessed and broke the loaves, and was giving them to his disciples so that they might set them before them; and the two fish he divided to all.

42 And all ate and were filled.

43 And they took up twelve baskets full of fragments, and from the fish.

44 And those who ate the loaves were about five thousand men.

45 And immediately he compelled his disciples to enter into the boat and go ahead to the other side toward Bethsaida, until he himself should dismiss the crowd.

46 And taking leave of them, he went away into the mountain to pray.

47 And when evening came, the boat was in the midst of the sea, and he alone upon the earth.

48 And he saw them tormented in rowing, for the wind was contrary to them; and about the fourth watch of the night he comes to them, walking upon the sea, and wished to pass by them.

49 But they, seeing him walking upon the sea, thought it was an apparition, and cried out.

50 For all saw him and were troubled, and immediately he spoke with them and says to them: Take courage; I am; do not fear.

51 And he went up to them into the boat, and the wind ceased; and they were exceedingly beyond measure astonished in themselves and marveling.

52 For they did not understand concerning the loaves, for their heart was hardened.

53 And crossing over, they came upon the land of Gennesaret and moored.

54 And when they went out of the boat, immediately recognizing him,

55 they ran around that whole surrounding region and began to carry around on pallets those who were ill, wherever they heard that he is there.

56 And wherever he entered into villages or cities or fields, they were placing the sick in the marketplaces and begging him that they might touch even the fringe of his garment; and as many as touched him were being saved.

Chapter 7

1 And the Pharisees and some of the scribes, coming from Jerusalem, gather to him.

2 And seeing some of his disciples eating loaves with common hands, that is, unwashed, they found fault.

3 For the Pharisees and all the Jews, unless they wash their hands with a fist, do not eat, holding the tradition of the elders.

4 And from the marketplace, unless they wash themselves, they do not eat; and there are many other things which they received to hold: washings of cups and pitchers and copper vessels and beds.

5 Then the Pharisees and the scribes question him: Why do your disciples not walk according to the tradition of the elders, but eat the bread with unwashed hands?

6 And he answered and said to them: Isaiah prophesied well concerning you hypocrites, as it is written: This people honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me.

7 And in vain they worship me, teaching teachings, commandments of men.

8 For leaving the commandment of God, you hold the tradition of men, washings of pitchers and cups, and many other such similar things you do.

9 And he was saying to them: Well do you reject the commandment of God so that you may keep your tradition.

10 For Moses said: Honor your father and your mother; and: He who speaks evil of father or mother, let him die by death.

11 But you say: If a man says to his father or mother: Corban, which is a gift, whatever you might benefit from me,

12 and you no longer allow him to do anything for his father or his mother,

13 making the word of God void by your tradition which you handed down; and many such similar things you do.

14 And calling the whole crowd to him, he was saying to them: Hear me, all, and understand.

15 There is nothing from outside the man entering into him which can defile him, but the things coming out from him, those are the things defiling the man.

16 If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear.

17 And when he entered into a house from the crowd, his disciples were questioning him concerning the parable.

18 And he says to them: Are you also so without understanding? Do you not perceive that everything from outside entering into the man cannot defile him, 19 because it does not enter into his heart, but into the belly, and goes out into the latrine, cleansing all the foods?

20 And he was saying: What comes out of the man, that defiles the man.

21 For from within, out of the heart of men, the evil reasonings come out, adulteries, fornications, murders,

22 thefts, greed, wickednesses, deceit, licentiousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, arrogance, foolishness.

23 All these evil things come out from within and defile the man.

24 And rising from there, he went away into the border regions of Tyre and Sidon, and entering into the house, he wished no one to know, and could not remain hidden.

25 For a woman heard concerning him, whose little daughter had an unclean spirit, and came and fell at his feet.

26 And the woman was a Greek, a Syrophoenician by race, and was asking him to cast the demon out of her daughter.

27 But Jesus said to her: Allow the children first to be filled, for it is not good to take the children's bread and cast it to the little dogs.

28 And she answered and says to him: Yes, Lord, for even the little dogs under the table eat from the crumbs of the children.

29 And he said to her: Because of this word, go; the demon has come out of your daughter.

30 And going away into her house, she found the demon gone out and the daughter lying upon the bed.

31 And again going out from the borders of Tyre and Sidon, he came toward the sea of Galilee through the midst of the borders of the Decapolis.

32 And they bring him a deaf man with difficulty speaking, and beg him to lay his hand upon him.

33 And taking him away from the crowd privately, he put his fingers into his ears and spat and touched his tongue.

34 And looking up into the heaven, he sighed and says to him: Ephphatha, which is: Be opened.

35 And immediately his ears were opened, and the bond of his tongue was loosed, and he was speaking correctly.

36 And he charged them to tell no one; but as much as he charged them, they were proclaiming more abundantly.

37 And they were exceedingly beyond measure astonished, saying: He has done all things well; he makes both the deaf hear and the speechless speak.

Chapter 8

1 In those days, there being a very great crowd and having nothing to eat, Jesus called his disciples to him and says to them:

2 I have compassion on the crowd, because already they remain with me three days and have nothing to eat.

3 And if I dismiss them fasting into their house, they shall faint on the road, for some of them have come from afar.

4 And his disciples answered him: From where shall anyone be able to fill these with loaves here in a deserted place?

5 And he was questioning them: How many loaves do you have? And they said: Seven.

6 And he commanded the crowd to recline upon the earth, and taking the seven loaves, he gave thanks and broke them and was giving them to his disciples so that they might set them forth, and they set them before the crowd.

7 And they had a few little fish, and blessing, he said to set those forth also.

8 And they ate and were filled, and took up surpluses of fragments, seven large baskets.

9 And those who ate were about four thousand, and he dismissed them.

10 And immediately entering into the boat with his disciples, he came into the regions of Dalmanutha.

11 And the Pharisees came out and began to debate with him, seeking from him a sign from the heaven, testing him.

12 And sighing deeply in his spirit, he says: Why does this generation seek a sign? Amen, I say to you: If a sign shall be given to this generation!

13 And leaving them, he entered again into the boat and went away to the other side.

14 And they forgot to take loaves, and except for one loaf they had none with themselves in the boat.

15 And he was charging them, saying: See, beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of Herod.

16 And they were reasoning with one another, saying: Because we have no loaves.

17 And Jesus knew and says to them: Why do you reason because you have no loaves? Do you not yet perceive nor understand? Do you still have your heart hardened?

18 Having eyes, do you not see? And having ears, do you not hear? And do you not remember,

19 when I broke the five loaves for the five thousand, how many baskets full of fragments you took up? They say to him: Twelve.

20 And when the seven for the four thousand, how many large basketfuls of fragments did you take up? And they said: Seven.

21 And he was saying to them: How do you not understand?

22 And he comes into Bethsaida, and they bring him a blind man and beg him to touch him.

23 And taking hold of the blind man's hand, he brought him outside the village, and spitting into his eyes and laying his hands upon him, he was questioning him whether he sees anything.

24 And looking up, he was saying: I see the men, because I behold them like trees walking.

25 Then again he laid his hands upon his eyes and made him look up, and he was restored and looked clearly upon all.

26 And he sent him into his house, saying: Neither enter into the village nor tell anyone in the village.

27 And Jesus and his disciples went out into the villages of Caesarea Philippi, and on the road he was questioning his disciples, saying to them: Who do men say that I am?

28 And they answered: John the Baptist; and others Elijah; and others one of the prophets.

29 And he says to them: But you, who do you say that I am? And Peter answered and says to him: You are the Christ.

30 And he rebuked them so that they should tell no one concerning him.

31 And he began to teach them that the Son of man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise.

32 And he was speaking the word openly. And Peter took him aside and began to rebuke him.

33 But he turned and saw his disciples and rebuked Peter, saying: Go behind me, Satan, because you do not mind the things of God, but the things of men.

34 And calling the crowd to him with his disciples, he said to them: Whoever wishes to come behind me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me.

35 For whoever wishes to save his soul shall lose it, but whoever loses his soul because of me and the good news, this one shall save it.

36 For what shall it profit a man if he gains the whole world and suffers the loss of his soul?

37 Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

38 For whoever is ashamed of me and my words in this adulterous and sinful generation, the Son of man also shall be ashamed of him when he comes in the glory of his Father with the holy angels.

Chapter 9

1 And he was saying to them: Amen, I say to you that there are some of those standing here who shall certainly not taste death until they see the kingdom of God having come in power.

2 And after six days Jesus takes Peter and James and John with him, and brings them up into a high mountain privately, alone, and he was transfigured before them.

3 And his garments became shining, exceedingly white as snow, such as a fuller upon the earth cannot whiten.

4 And Elijah with Moses appeared to them, and they were conversing with Jesus.

5 And Peter answered and says to Jesus: Rabbi, it is good for us to be here, and let us make three tents, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah.

6 For he did not know what to speak, for they were terrified.

7 And a cloud came, overshadowing them, and a voice came from the cloud, saying: This is my beloved Son; hear him.

8 And suddenly looking around, they no longer saw anyone, but Jesus alone with themselves.

9 And as they descended from the mountain, he charged them to recount to no one what they saw, except when the Son of man rises from the dead.

10 And they held the word to themselves, debating what rising from the dead is.

11 And they were questioning him, saying: Why do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?

12 And he answered and said to them: Elijah indeed comes first and restores all things; and how is it written concerning the Son of man, that he should suffer many things and be treated as nothing?

13 But I say to you that Elijah also has come, and they did to him whatever they wished, as it is written concerning him.

14 And coming to the disciples, he saw a great crowd around them and scribes debating with them.

15 And immediately the whole crowd, seeing him, was greatly amazed, and running to him, they were greeting him.

16 And he questioned the scribes: What do you debate with them?

17 And one from the crowd answered and said: Teacher, I brought my son to you, having a speechless spirit.

18 And wherever it seizes him, it throws him down, and he foams and grinds his teeth and withers; and I told your disciples to cast it out, and they were not strong enough.

19 And he answered him and says: O unbelieving generation, until when shall I be with you? Until when shall I bear with you? Bring him to me.

20 And they brought him to him; and seeing him, immediately the spirit convulsed him, and falling upon the earth, he was rolling, foaming.

21 And he questioned his father: How much time is it since this has happened to him? And he said: From childhood.

22 And often it cast him both into fire and into waters to destroy him; but if you are able to do anything, help us, having compassion on us.

23 And Jesus said to him: If you are able to believe; all things are possible for the one who believes.

24 And immediately the father of the child cried out with tears and was saying: I believe, Lord; help my unbelief.

25 And Jesus, seeing that a crowd runs together, rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it: Speechless and deaf spirit, I command you, come out of him and no longer enter into him.

26 And crying out and convulsing him much, it came out, and he became like a dead man, so that many said: He died.

27 But Jesus took hold of him by the hand and raised him, and he rose.

28 And when he entered into a house, his disciples were questioning him privately: Why were we not able to cast it out?

29 And he said to them: This kind can come out by nothing except by prayer and fasting.

30 And going out from there, they were passing through Galilee, and he did not wish anyone to know.

31 For he was teaching his disciples and was saying to them: The Son of man is handed over into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, and being killed, on the third day he shall rise.

32 But they did not understand the saying and feared to question him.

33 And he came into Capernaum, and being in the house, he was questioning them: What were you reasoning among yourselves on the road?

34 But they were silent, for they discussed with one another on the road who was greater.

35 And sitting down, he called the twelve and says to them: If anyone wishes to be first, he shall be last of all and servant of all.

36 And taking a child, he stood it in their midst, and embracing it, he said to them:

37 Whoever receives one of such children in my name receives me; and whoever receives me does not receive me, but the one who sent me.

38 And John answered him, saying: Teacher, we saw someone casting out demons in your name, who does not follow us, and we hindered him because he does not follow us.

39 But Jesus said: Do not hinder him, for there is no one who shall perform a mighty work in my name and shall be able quickly to speak evil of me.

40 For he who is not against you is for you.

41 For whoever gives you a cup of water to drink in my name because you are Christ's, amen, I say to you: He shall certainly not lose his reward.

42 And whoever makes one of the little ones who believe in me stumble, it is better for him rather if a millstone lies around his neck and he has been cast into the sea.

43 And if your hand makes you stumble, cut it off; it is good for you to enter into life maimed, rather than having the two hands to go away into Gehenna, into the unquenchable fire,

44 where their worm does not die and the fire is not quenched.

45 And if your foot makes you stumble, cut it off; it is good for you to enter into life lame, rather than having the two feet to be cast into Gehenna, into the unquenchable fire,

46 where their worm does not die and the fire is not quenched.

47 And if your eye makes you stumble, cast it out; it is good for you to enter into the kingdom of God one-eyed, rather than having two eyes to be cast into the Gehenna of fire,

48 where their worm does not die and the fire is not quenched.

49 For everyone shall be salted with fire, and every sacrifice shall be salted with salt.

50 The salt is good; but if the salt becomes saltless, with what shall you season it? Have salt in yourselves, and be at peace with one another.

Chapter 10

1 And rising from there, he comes into the borders of Judea through the region beyond the Jordan, and crowds come together to him again, and as he was accustomed, again he was teaching them.

2 And the Pharisees approached and questioned him whether it is lawful for a man to dismiss a wife, testing him.

3 And he answered and said to them: What did Moses command you?

4 And they said: Moses permitted to write a document of divorce and dismiss her.

5 And Jesus answered and said to them: In view of your hardness of heart he wrote this commandment for you.

6 But from the beginning of creation God made them male and female.

7 Because of this a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife,

8 and the two shall be into one flesh; so that they are no longer two, but one flesh.

9 What, therefore, God joined together, let man not separate.

10 And in the house his disciples again questioned him concerning the same thing.

11 And he says to them: Whoever dismisses his wife and marries another commits adultery against her.

12 And if a woman dismisses her husband and is married to another, she commits adultery.

13 And they were bringing children to him so that he might touch them, but the disciples were rebuking those bringing them.

14 And Jesus, seeing, was indignant and said to them: Allow the children to come to me, and do not hinder them, for of such is the kingdom of God.

15 Amen, I say to you: Whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a child shall certainly not enter into it.

16 And embracing them, laying his hands upon them, he was blessing them.

17 And as he went out onto a road, one ran to him and knelt to him and was questioning him: Good teacher, what shall I do so that I may inherit eternal life?

18 And Jesus said to him: Why do you call me good? No one is good except one, God.

19 You know the commandments: Do not commit adultery; do not murder; do not steal; do not testify falsely; do not defraud; honor your father and mother.

20 And he answered and said to him: Teacher, all these I have kept from my youth.

21 And Jesus looked at him and loved him and said to him: One thing is lacking to you; go, sell whatever you have and give to the poor, and you shall have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me, taking up the cross.

22 But he grew gloomy at the word and went away grieving, for he had many possessions.

23 And Jesus looked around and says to his disciples: How with difficulty shall those having wealth enter into the kingdom of God!

24 And the disciples were amazed at his words. And Jesus again answered and says to them: Children, how difficult it is for those who have trusted in wealth to enter into the kingdom of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to enter through the hole of the needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

26 And they were exceedingly astonished, saying among themselves: And who can be saved?

27 And looking at them, Jesus says: With men it is impossible, but not with God, for all things are possible with God.

28 And Peter began to say to him: Behold, we left everything and followed you.

29 And Jesus answered and said: Amen, I say to you: There is no one who left house or brothers or sisters or father or mother or wife or children or fields because of me and the good news,

30 unless he receives a hundredfold now in this time, houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and fields, with persecutions, and in the coming age eternal life.

31 But many first shall be last, and the last first.

32 And they were on the road going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus was going before them, and they were amazed, and following, they were fearing; and again taking the twelve with him, he began to tell them the things about to happen to him:

33 Behold, we go up to Jerusalem, and the Son of man shall be handed over to the chief priests and the scribes, and they shall condemn him to death and hand him over to the gentiles,

34 and they shall mock him and scourge him and spit upon him and kill him, and on the third day he shall rise.

35 And James and John, the sons of Zebedee, approach him, saying: Teacher, we wish that you do for us whatever we ask.

36 And he said to them: What do you wish me to do for you?

37 And they said to him: Give us that we may sit, one at your right and one at your left, in your glory.

38 And Jesus said to them: You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup which I drink, and to be baptized with the baptism with which I am baptized?

39 And they said to him: We are able. And Jesus said to them: The cup which I drink indeed you shall drink, and with the baptism with which I am baptized you shall be baptized.

40 But to sit at my right and at my left is not mine to give, but to those for whom it has been prepared.

41 And hearing, the ten began to be indignant concerning James and John.

42 And Jesus called them to him and says to them: You know that those considered to rule the nations lord over them, and their great men exercise authority over them.

43 But it shall not be so among you; rather, whoever wishes to become great among you shall be your servant.

44 And whoever wishes to become first of you shall be slave of all.

45 For even the Son of man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his soul as a ransom for many.

46 And they come into Jericho; and as he went out from Jericho, and his disciples and a considerable crowd, the son of Timaeus, Bartimaeus the blind man, was sitting beside the road begging.

47 And hearing that it is Jesus the Nazarene, he began to cry out and say: Son of David, Jesus, have mercy on me.

48 And many were rebuking him so that he should be silent; but he was crying out much more: Son of David, have mercy on me.

49 And Jesus stood and said that he should be called; and they call the blind man, saying to him: Take courage; rise, he calls you.

50 And casting away his garment, he rose and came to Jesus.

51 And Jesus answered and says to him: What do you wish me to do for you? And the blind man said to him: Rabboni, that I may see again.

52 And Jesus said to him: Go; your faith has saved you. And immediately he saw again and was following Jesus on the road.

Chapter 11

1 And when they draw near to Jerusalem, to Bethphage and Bethany, toward the mountain of Olives, he sends two of his disciples,

2 and says to them: Go into the village opposite you, and immediately entering into it, you shall find a colt bound, upon which no man has sat; loose it and bring it.

3 And if anyone says to you: Why do you do this? Say: Its Lord has need of it, and immediately he shall send it here.

4 And they went away and found the colt bound at the door outside upon the street, and they loose it.

5 And some of those standing there were saying to them: What do you do, loosing the colt?

6 And they told them as Jesus commanded, and they allowed them.

7 And they brought the colt to Jesus and cast their garments upon it, and he sat upon it.

8 And many spread their garments into the road, and others were cutting leafy branches from the trees and spreading them into the road.

9 And those going before and those following were crying out, saying: Hosanna! Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord!

10 Blessed is the coming kingdom in the name of the Lord, of our father David! Hosanna in the highest!

11 And Jesus entered into Jerusalem and into the temple, and looking around at everything, the hour being already late, he went out into Bethany with the twelve.

12 And on the next day, when they went out from Bethany, he was hungry.

13 And seeing a fig tree from afar having leaves, he came, if perhaps he would find anything on it, and coming to it, found nothing except leaves, for it was not a season of figs.

14 And Jesus answered and said to it: May no one any longer eat fruit from you forever. And his disciples were hearing.

15 And they come into Jerusalem, and Jesus entered into the temple and began to cast out those selling and buying in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those selling the doves.

16 And he was not allowing anyone to carry a vessel through the temple.

17 And he was teaching, saying to them: Is it not written that my house shall be called a house of prayer for all the nations? But you made it a cave of robbers.

18 And the scribes and the chief priests heard, and were seeking how they would destroy him, for they feared him, because the whole crowd was astonished at his teaching.

19 And when it became late, he was going out of the city.

20 And in the morning, passing by, they saw the fig tree withered from the roots.

21 And Peter remembered and says to him: Rabbi, see, the fig tree which you cursed has withered.

22 And Jesus answered and says to them: Have faith in God.

23 For amen, I say to you that whoever says to this mountain: Be lifted and cast into the sea, and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that what he says happens, he shall have whatever he says.

24 For this reason I say to you: All things, whatever you ask praying, believe that you receive, and they shall be yours.

25 And whenever you stand praying, forgive if you have anything against anyone, so that your Father who is in the heavens also may forgive you your trespasses.

26 But if you do not forgive, neither shall your Father who is in the heavens forgive your trespasses.

27 And they come again into Jerusalem, and while he walks in the temple, the chief priests and the scribes and the elders come to him,

28 and say to him: By what authority do you do these things? And who gave you this authority so that you do these things?

29 And Jesus answered and said to them: I also shall question you with one word, and answer me, and I shall tell you by what authority I do these things.

30 Was the baptism of John from heaven or from men? Answer me.

31 And they were reasoning among themselves, saying: If we say: From heaven, he shall say: Why, then, did you not believe him?

32 But if we say: From men; they feared the people, for all held John, that he truly was a prophet.

33 And answering, they say to Jesus: We do not know. And Jesus answered and says to them: Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things.

Chapter 12

1 And he began to speak to them in parables: A man planted a vineyard and put a fence around it and dug a winepress vat and built a tower, and leased it to farmers and went abroad.

2 And he sent a slave to the farmers in the season, so that from the farmers he might receive from the fruit of the vineyard.

3 But they took him and beat him and sent him away empty.

4 And again he sent another slave to them, and that one they stoned and wounded in the head and sent away dishonored.

5 And again he sent another, and that one they killed, and many others, beating some and killing others.

6 Therefore, still having one son, his beloved, he sent him also to them last, saying: They shall respect my son.

7 But those farmers said among themselves: This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 And taking him, they killed him and cast him outside the vineyard.

9 What, therefore, shall the lord of the vineyard do? He shall come and destroy the farmers and give the vineyard to others.

10 Have you not even read this Scripture: The stone which the builders rejected, this became the head of the corner;

11 this came from the Lord, and it is marvelous in our eyes?

12 And they were seeking to seize him, and feared the crowd, for they knew that he spoke the parable against them; and leaving him, they went away.

13 And they send to him some of the Pharisees and of the Herodians, so that they might catch him in a word.

14 And they came and say to him: Teacher, we know that you are true and care concerning no one, for you do not look upon the face of men, but in truth teach the way of God. Is it lawful to give tax to Caesar or not?

15 Shall we give or not give? But knowing their hypocrisy, he said to them: Why do you test me? Bring me a denarius so that I may see.

16 And they brought it, and he says to them: Whose is this image and the inscription? And they said to him: Caesar's.

17 And Jesus answered and said to them: Repay the things of Caesar to Caesar, and the things of God to God. And they marveled at him.

18 And Sadducees come to him, who say there is no resurrection, and questioned him, saying:

19 Teacher, Moses wrote to us that if anyone's brother dies and leaves a wife and leaves no children, his brother should take his wife and raise up seed for his brother.

20 There were seven brothers, and the first took a wife, and dying, left no seed.

21 And the second took her and died, and neither did he leave seed, and the third likewise.

22 And the seven took her and left no seed; last of all the woman also died.

23 In the resurrection, therefore, when they rise, whose wife of them shall she be? For the seven had her as wife.

24 And Jesus answered and said to them: Is it not because of this that you wander, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God?

25 For when they rise from the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels who are in the heavens.

26 But concerning the dead, that they are raised, have you not read in the book of Moses, at the bush, how God spoke to him, saying: I am the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob?

27 He is not God of the dead, but God of the living; therefore you wander greatly.

28 And one of the scribes approached and heard them debating, and knowing that he answered them well, questioned him: Which is the first commandment of all?

29 And Jesus answered him: The first of all the commandments: Hear, Israel; the Lord our God is one Lord.

30 And you shall love the Lord your God from your whole heart and from your whole soul and from your whole mind and from your whole strength. This is the first commandment.

31 And a second like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself. There is no other commandment greater than these.

32 And the scribe said to him: Well, teacher, in truth you said that God is one, and there is no other except him.

33 And to love him from the whole heart and from the whole understanding and from the whole soul and from the whole strength, and to love the neighbor as oneself, is more than all the whole burnt offerings and the sacrifices.

34 And Jesus, seeing that he answered intelligently, said to him: You are not far from the kingdom of God. And no one any longer dared to question him.

35 And Jesus answered and was saying, teaching in the temple: How do the scribes say that the Christ is David's son?

36 For David himself said in the Holy Spirit: The Lord said to my Lord: Sit at my right until I place your enemies as a footstool of your feet.

37 Therefore David himself calls him Lord, and from where is he his son? And the great crowd was hearing him gladly.

38 And he was saying to them in his teaching: Beware of the scribes, who wish to walk in robes, and greetings in the marketplaces,

39 and first seats in the synagogues and first reclining places at the suppers,

40 who devour the houses of the widows, and with a pretext pray long; these shall receive greater judgment.

41 And Jesus sat opposite the treasury and was watching how the crowd casts copper into the treasury, and many rich men were casting much.

42 And one poor widow came and cast two lepta, which is a quadrans.

43 And calling his disciples to him, he says to them: Amen, I say to you that this poor widow has cast more than all those who cast into the treasury.

44 For all cast from what abounds to them, but she from her lack cast everything she had, her whole livelihood.

Chapter 13

1 And as he went out from the temple, one of his disciples says to him: Teacher, see, what manner of stones and what manner of buildings!

2 And Jesus answered and said to him: Do you see these great buildings? There shall certainly not be left a stone upon a stone which shall certainly not be demolished.

3 And while he sat on the mountain of Olives opposite the temple, Peter and James and John and Andrew were questioning him privately:

4 Tell us, when shall these things be, and what is the sign when all these things are about to be completed?

5 And Jesus answered them and began to say: See that no one leads you astray.

6 For many shall come in my name, saying: I am, and shall lead many astray.

7 And when you hear wars and reports of wars, do not be alarmed, for it must happen, but the end is not yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom, and there shall be earthquakes in places, and there shall be famines and disturbances; these are beginnings of birth pains.

9 But you, beware for yourselves, for they shall hand you over to councils, and in synagogues you shall be beaten, and before governors and kings you shall stand because of me, as a testimony to them.

10 And the good news must first be proclaimed to all the nations.

11 And when they lead you, handing you over, do not be anxious beforehand what to speak, nor rehearse, but whatever is given you in that hour, speak this; for it is not you who speak, but the Holy Spirit.

12 And brother shall hand brother over to death, and father a child, and children shall rise against parents and put them to death.

13 And you shall be hated by all because of my name; but he who endures until the end, this one shall be saved.

14 And when you see the abomination of desolation, spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing where it ought not, let the reader perceive; then let those in Judea flee into the mountains.

15 And let the one upon the roof not descend into the house, nor enter to take anything out of his house.

16 And let the one who is in the field not turn back to take his garment.

17 And woe to those having in the womb and those nursing in those days!

18 And pray that your flight may not happen in winter.

19 For those days shall be affliction, such as has not happened from the beginning of creation which God created until now, and shall certainly not happen.

20 And unless the Lord shortened the days, no flesh would be saved; but because of the chosen whom he chose, he shortened the days.

21 And then if anyone says to you: Behold, here is the Christ, or: Behold, there, do not believe.

22 For false christs and false prophets shall rise and shall give signs and wonders to lead astray, if possible, even the chosen.

23 But you, beware; behold, I have told you everything beforehand.

24 But in those days, after that affliction, the sun shall be darkened and the moon shall not give its light,

25 and the stars of the heaven shall be falling out, and the powers in the heavens shall be shaken.

26 And then they shall see the Son of man coming in clouds with much power and glory.

27 And then he shall send his angels and gather his chosen together from the four winds, from the extremity of earth until the extremity of heaven.

28 And learn the parable from the fig tree: When its branch already becomes tender and puts forth the leaves, you know that summer is near.

29 So also you, when you see these things happening, know that it is near, at the doors.

30 Amen, I say to you that this generation shall certainly not pass until all these things happen.

31 The heaven and the earth shall pass away, but my words shall certainly not pass away.

32 But concerning that day and the hour no one knows, not even the angels who are in heaven, nor the Son, except the Father.

33 Beware, stay awake and pray, for you do not know when the time is.

34 As a man abroad, leaving his house and giving his slaves the authority and to each his work, and commanding the doorkeeper to keep watch.

35 Therefore keep watch, for you do not know when the lord of the house comes, late or at midnight or at rooster-crowing or early,

36 lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping.

37 And what I say to you I say to all: Keep watch.

Chapter 14

1 And the Passover and the unleavened bread were after two days, and the chief priests and the scribes were seeking how they might seize him by deceit and kill him.

2 But they were saying: Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar of the people.

3 And while he was in Bethany in the house of Simon the leper, reclining, a woman came having an alabaster vessel of very costly ointment of genuine nard, and breaking the alabaster vessel, she poured it down upon his head.

4 And some were indignant among themselves and saying: Why has this waste of the ointment happened?

5 For this could have been sold for above three hundred denarii and given to the poor. And they were sternly scolding her.

6 But Jesus said: Leave her; why do you give her troubles? She has worked a good work toward me.

7 For you always have the poor with yourselves, and whenever you wish, you can do them good; but you do not always have me.

8 What she had, she did; she anticipated anointing my body for the burial.

9 Amen, I say to you: Wherever this good news is proclaimed into the whole world, what she did also shall be spoken of as a memorial of her.

10 And Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went away to the chief priests to hand him over to them.

11 And hearing, they rejoiced and promised to give him silver; and he was seeking how he might opportunely hand him over.

12 And on the first day of the unleavened bread, when they were sacrificing the Passover, his disciples say to him: Where do you wish us to go and prepare so that you may eat the Passover?

13 And he sends two of his disciples and says to them: Go into the city, and a man carrying a pitcher of water shall meet you; follow him.

14 And wherever he enters, tell the master of the house: The teacher says: Where is the lodging where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?

15 And he shall show you a great upper room, furnished, ready; there prepare for us.

16 And his disciples went out and came into the city and found as he told them, and prepared the Passover.

17 And when evening came, he comes with the twelve.

18 And while they reclined and ate, Jesus said: Amen, I say to you that one of you shall hand me over, the one eating with me.

19 And they began to be grieved and to say to him one by one: Surely not I? And another: Surely not I?

20 And he answered and said to them: One of the twelve, the one dipping with me into the dish.

21 The Son of man indeed goes as it is written concerning him, but woe to that man through whom the Son of man is handed over! It was good for him if that man had not been born.

22 And while they ate, Jesus took bread and blessed and broke it and gave it to them, and said: Take, eat; this is my body.

23 And taking the cup, he gave thanks and gave it to them, and all drank from it.

24 And he said to them: This is my blood, that of the new covenant, poured out concerning many.

25 Amen, I say to you that I shall certainly no longer drink from the produce of the vine until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God.

26 And having sung a hymn, they went out to the mountain of Olives.

27 And Jesus says to them: All shall be made to stumble at me in this night, because it is written: I shall strike the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered.

28 But after I am raised, I shall go before you into Galilee.

29 And Peter said to him: Even if all shall be made to stumble, yet not I.

30 And Jesus says to him: Amen, I say to you that today in this night, before a rooster calls twice, you shall deny me three times.

31 But he was saying more exceedingly: If I must die together with you, I shall certainly not deny you. And likewise all also were saying.

32 And they come into a place whose name is Gethsemane, and he says to his disciples: Sit here until I pray.

33 And he takes Peter and James and John with himself, and began to be greatly troubled and distressed.

34 And he says to them: My soul is exceedingly sorrowful until death; remain here and keep watch.

35 And going forward a little, he fell upon the earth and was praying that, if it is possible, the hour might pass from him.

36 And he was saying: Abba, Father, all things are possible for you; carry this cup away from me; but not what I wish, but what you.

37 And he comes and finds them sleeping, and says to Peter: Simon, do you sleep? Were you not strong enough to keep watch one hour?

38 Keep watch and pray so that you may not enter into temptation; the spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh weak.

39 And again going away, he prayed, saying the same word.

40 And returning, he found them sleeping again, for their eyes were weighed down, and they did not know what to answer him.

41 And he comes the third time and says to them: Sleep the rest and take your rest; it is enough, the hour came; behold, the Son of man is handed over into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise, let us go; behold, the one handing me over has drawn near.

43 And immediately, while he was still speaking, Judas arrives, being one of the twelve, and with him a great crowd with swords and clubs from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders.

44 And the one handing him over had given them an agreed sign, saying: Whomever I kiss, he is the one; seize him and lead him away securely.

45 And coming, immediately approaching him, he says: Rabbi, Rabbi; and kissed him fervently.

46 And they laid their hands upon him and seized him.

47 And a certain one of those standing by drew the sword and struck the slave of the high priest and took off his ear.

48 And Jesus answered and said to them: As against a robber you came out with swords and clubs to arrest me.

49 Daily I was with you in the temple, teaching, and you did not seize me; but so that the Scriptures might be fulfilled.

50 And leaving him, all fled.

51 And a certain young man was following him, clothed in a linen cloth upon his naked body, and the young men seize him.

52 But he left the linen cloth and fled naked from them.

53 And they led Jesus away to the high priest, and all the chief priests and the elders and the scribes come together to him.

54 And Peter followed him from afar until inside into the courtyard of the high priest, and was sitting together with the attendants and warming himself by the light.

55 And the chief priests and the whole council were seeking testimony against Jesus to put him to death, and were not finding it.

56 For many were testifying falsely against him, and the testimonies were not equal.

57 And some stood up and were testifying falsely against him, saying:

58 We heard him saying: I shall demolish this sanctuary made by hands, and through three days I shall build another not made by hands.

59 And not even so was their testimony equal.

60 And the high priest stood up into the midst and questioned Jesus, saying: Do you answer nothing? What do these testify against you?

61 But he was silent and answered nothing. Again the high priest was questioning him and says to him: Are you the Christ, the Son of the Blessed One?

62 And Jesus said: I am, and you shall see the Son of man sitting at the right of the Power and coming with the clouds of the heaven.

63 And the high priest tore his tunics and says: What further need do we have of witnesses?

64 You heard the blasphemy; what does it appear to you? And all condemned him to be liable to death.

65 And some began to spit upon him and cover his face and strike him with fists and say to him: Prophesy; and the attendants were striking him with slaps.

66 And while Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the servant girls of the high priest comes,

67 and seeing Peter warming himself, she looked at him and says: You also were with Jesus the Nazarene.

68 But he denied, saying: I do not know nor understand what you say. And he went outside into the forecourt, and a rooster called.

69 And the servant girl saw him again and began to say to those standing by: This man is one of them.

70 But he was denying again. And after a little while, again those standing by were saying to Peter: Truly you are one of them, for you are also a Galilean, and your speech resembles theirs.

71 But he began to curse and swear: I do not know this man of whom you speak.

72 And a rooster called a second time, and Peter remembered the saying which Jesus said to him: Before a rooster calls twice, you shall deny me three times; and thinking upon it, he was weeping.

Chapter 15

1 And immediately in the morning the chief priests took counsel with the elders and scribes and the whole council, and binding Jesus, carried him away and handed him over to Pilate.

2 And Pilate questioned him: Are you the king of the Jews? And he answered and said to him: You say it.

3 And the chief priests were accusing him of many things.

4 And Pilate again questioned him, saying: Do you answer nothing? See how many things they testify against you.

5 But Jesus no longer answered anything, so that Pilate marveled.

6 And at a feast he was releasing to them one prisoner whom they asked for.

7 And the one called Barabbas was bound with the fellow insurgents, who in the insurrection had committed murder.

8 And the crowd cried aloud and began to ask as he always did for them.

9 And Pilate answered them, saying: Do you wish me to release to you the king of the Jews?

10 For he knew that because of envy the chief priests had handed him over.

11 But the chief priests stirred up the crowd so that he should rather release Barabbas to them.

12 And Pilate answered and again said to them: What, therefore, do you wish me to do with the one you call king of the Jews?

13 And they again cried out: Crucify him.

14 And Pilate was saying to them: For what evil did he do? But they cried out more abundantly: Crucify him.

15 And Pilate, wishing to do what was sufficient for the crowd, released Barabbas to them, and scourged Jesus and handed him over to be crucified.

16 And the soldiers led him away inside the courtyard, which is the praetorium, and they call together the whole cohort.

17 And they clothe him in purple and put around him a crown of thorns which they wove,

18 and began to greet him: Greetings, king of the Jews.

19 And they were striking his head with a reed and spitting upon him, and bending their knees, were worshiping him.

20 And when they mocked him, they stripped the purple from him and clothed him in his own garments, and lead him out to crucify him.

21 And they compel a certain passerby, Simon a Cyrenian, coming from a field, the father of Alexander and Rufus, to take up his cross.

22 And they bring him to a place, Golgotha, which is translated: Place of a Skull.

23 And they were giving him wine mixed with myrrh to drink, but he did not take it.

24 And crucifying him, they were dividing his garments, casting a lot upon them, who should take what.

25 And it was the third hour, and they crucified him.

26 And the inscription of his accusation was inscribed: The king of the Jews.

27 And with him they crucify two robbers, one at his right and one at his left.

28 And the Scripture was fulfilled which says: And he was reckoned with the lawless.

29 And those passing by were blaspheming him, moving their heads and saying: Ah! You who demolish the sanctuary and build it in three days, 30 save yourself and descend from the cross.

31 And likewise also the chief priests, mocking with one another with the scribes, were saying: He saved others; he cannot save himself.

32 Let the Christ, the king of Israel, descend now from the cross so that we may see and believe. And those crucified together with him were reproaching him.

33 And when the sixth hour came, darkness came upon the whole earth until the ninth hour.

34 And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a great voice, saying: Eloi, Eloi, lamma sabachthani? Which is translated: My God, my God, for what did you forsake me?

35 And some of those standing by heard and were saying: Behold, he calls Elijah.

36 And one ran and filled a sponge with vinegar and put it on a reed and was giving him to drink, saying: Leave it; let us see whether Elijah comes to take him down.

37 And Jesus uttered a great voice and breathed out.

38 And the veil of the sanctuary was torn into two from above until below.

39 And the centurion standing opposite him, seeing that crying out so he breathed out, said: Truly this man was God's Son.

40 And there were also women watching from afar, among whom was also Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of James the little and Joses, and Salome,

41 who also, when he was in Galilee, were following him and serving him, and many others who came up with him into Jerusalem.

42 And evening having already come, since it was Preparation, which is the day before the Sabbath,

43 Joseph from Arimathea came, an honorable councilor, who himself also was awaiting the kingdom of God; taking courage, he entered to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.

44 And Pilate marveled whether he has already died, and calling the centurion to him, questioned him whether he died some time ago.

45 And knowing from the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph.

46 And buying a linen cloth and taking him down, he wrapped him in the linen cloth and laid him in a tomb which had been hewn from rock, and rolled a stone against the door of the tomb.

47 And Mary Magdalene and Mary of Joses were watching where he is laid.

Chapter 16

1 And when the Sabbath had passed, Mary Magdalene and Mary of James and Salome bought spices so that they might come and anoint him.

2 And very early on the first day of the week they come to the tomb, the sun having risen.

3 And they were saying among themselves: Who shall roll away the stone for us from the door of the tomb?

4 And looking up, they see that the stone has been rolled away, for it was exceedingly great.

5 And entering into the tomb, they saw a young man sitting on the right, clothed in a white robe, and were greatly amazed.

6 And he says to them: Do not be greatly amazed; you seek Jesus the Nazarene, the one crucified; he was raised, he is not here; see the place where they laid him.

7 But go, tell his disciples and Peter that he goes before you into Galilee; there you shall see him, as he told you.

8 And going out quickly, they fled from the tomb, and trembling and astonishment held them, and they said nothing to anyone, for they feared.

9 And rising early on the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, from whom he had cast out seven demons.

10 She went and reported to those who had been with him, mourning and weeping.

11 And they, hearing that he lives and was seen by her, disbelieved.

12 And after these things he was manifested in another form to two of them walking, going into a field.

13 And they went away and reported to the rest; neither did they believe those.

14 Afterward he was manifested to the eleven themselves as they reclined, and reproached their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they did not believe those who saw him raised.

15 And he said to them: Go into the whole world and proclaim the good news to all the creation.

16 He who believes and is baptized shall be saved, but he who disbelieves shall be condemned.

17 And these signs shall accompany those who believe: In my name they shall cast out demons; they shall speak with new tongues;

18 they shall take up serpents, and even if they drink anything deadly, it shall certainly not harm them; they shall lay hands upon the sick, and they shall be well.

19 Therefore the Lord indeed, after speaking to them, was taken up into the heaven and sat at the right of God.

20 And they went out and proclaimed everywhere, the Lord working together and confirming the word through the accompanying signs. Amen.

Luke

Chapter 1

1 Since indeed many undertook to arrange a narrative concerning the matters fulfilled among us,

2 as those who from the beginning became eyewitnesses and attendants of the word handed down to us,

3 it seemed good to me also, having followed everything accurately from the beginning, to write to you in order, most excellent Theophilus,

4 so that you may recognize the certainty concerning the words in which you were instructed.

5 In the days of Herod king of Judea there was a certain priest named Zechariah, of the division of Abijah, and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name Elizabeth.

6 And both were righteous before God, walking blameless in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord.

7 And they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and both were advanced in their days.

8 And it happened, while he served as priest in the order of his division before God,

9 according to the custom of the priesthood, he obtained by lot to burn incense, entering into the sanctuary of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people was praying outside at the hour of the incense.

11 And an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing at the right of the altar of incense.

12 And Zechariah was troubled, seeing, and fear fell upon him.

13 But the angel said to him: Do not fear, Zechariah, because your petition was heard, and your wife Elizabeth shall bear you a son, and you shall call his name John.

14 And you shall have joy and exultation, and many shall rejoice at his birth.

15 For he shall be great before the Lord, and shall certainly not drink wine and strong drink, and shall be filled with the Holy Spirit even from his mother's womb.

16 And he shall turn many of the sons of Israel to the Lord their God.

17 And he shall go before him in the spirit and power of Elijah, to turn hearts of fathers to children, and the disobedient in the understanding of the righteous, to prepare for the Lord a people made ready.

18 And Zechariah said to the angel: By what shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife advanced in her days.

19 And the angel answered and said to him: I am Gabriel, who stands before God, and I was sent to speak to you and announce these good things to you.

20 And behold, you shall be silent and unable to speak until the day these things happen, because you did not believe my words, which shall be fulfilled in their time.

21 And the people were awaiting Zechariah, and were marveling at his delaying in the sanctuary.

22 But going out, he could not speak to them, and they recognized that he has seen a vision in the sanctuary; and he was making signs to them and remained mute.

23 And it happened, when the days of his ministry were fulfilled, he went away into his house.

24 And after these days Elizabeth his wife conceived, and was hiding herself five months, saying:

25 Thus the Lord has done for me in days in which he looked upon me to take away my reproach among men.

26 And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent by God into a city of Galilee named Nazareth,

27 to a virgin betrothed to a man named Joseph, of the house of David, and the virgin's name was Mariam.

28 And the angel entered to her and said: Rejoice, you who have been graced; the Lord is with you; blessed are you among women.

29 And seeing, she was greatly troubled at his word, and was reasoning what manner of greeting this might be.

30 And the angel said to her: Do not fear, Mariam, for you found grace with God.

31 And behold, you shall conceive in the womb and bear a son, and shall call his name Jesus.

32 He shall be great and shall be called Son of the Most High, and the Lord God shall give him the throne of David his father, 33 and he shall reign over the house of Jacob into the ages, and of his kingdom there shall be no end.

34 And Mariam said to the angel: How shall this be, since I do not know a man?

35 And the angel answered and said to her: The Holy Spirit shall come upon you, and power of the Most High shall overshadow you; therefore also the holy thing being born shall be called Son of God.

36 And behold, Elizabeth your relative, she also has conceived a son in her old age, and this is the sixth month for her who is called barren.

37 Because no word shall be impossible with God.

38 And Mariam said: Behold, the slave woman of the Lord; may it happen to me according to your saying. And the angel went away from her.

39 And Mariam rose in these days and went into the hill country with haste, into a city of Judah,

40 and entered into the house of Zechariah and greeted Elizabeth.

41 And it happened, when Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary, the infant leaped in her womb, and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit,

42 and cried aloud with a great voice and said: Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb.

43 And from where is this for me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For behold, when the voice of your greeting came into my ears, the infant in my womb leaped in exultation.

45 And blessed is she who believed, because there shall be a fulfillment of the things spoken to her from the Lord.

46 And Mariam said: My soul magnifies the Lord,

47 and my spirit exulted in God my Savior,

48 because he looked upon the lowliness of his slave woman; for behold, from now all generations shall call me blessed,

49 because the Mighty One did great things for me, and holy is his name,

50 and his mercy is into generations of generations to those fearing him.

51 He made strength with his arm; he scattered the arrogant in the thought of their heart.

52 He took rulers down from thrones and exalted the lowly.

53 He filled the hungry with good things and sent the rich away empty.

54 He helped Israel his servant, to remember mercy,

55 as he spoke to our fathers, to Abraham and to his seed forever.

56 And Mariam remained with her about three months, and returned into her house.

57 And for Elizabeth the time was fulfilled for her to give birth, and she bore a son.

58 And her neighbors and relatives heard that the Lord magnified his mercy with her, and were rejoicing with her.

59 And it happened on the eighth day, they came to circumcise the child, and were calling it by the name of its father, Zechariah.

60 And his mother answered and said: No, but he shall be called John.

61 And they said to her: There is no one among your relatives who is called by this name.

62 And they were making signs to his father, what he might wish him to be called.

63 And asking for a little tablet, he wrote, saying: John is his name. And all marveled.

64 And immediately his mouth was opened, and his tongue, and he was speaking, blessing God.

65 And fear came upon all those dwelling around them, and in the whole hill country of Judea all these sayings were being discussed.

66 And all who heard put them in their heart, saying: What, then, shall this child be? And the hand of the Lord was with him.

67 And Zechariah his father was filled with the Holy Spirit and prophesied, saying:

68 Blessed is the Lord God of Israel, because he visited and made redemption for his people,

69 and raised a horn of salvation for us in the house of David his servant,

70 as he spoke through the mouth of his holy prophets from of old,

71 salvation from our enemies and from the hand of all who hate us,

72 to do mercy with our fathers and to remember his holy covenant,

73 the oath which he swore to Abraham our father,

74 to give us, rescued from the hand of our enemies, to serve him without fear,

75 in holiness and righteousness before him all the days of our life.

76 And you, child, shall be called prophet of the Most High, for you shall go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways,

77 to give knowledge of salvation to his people in forgiveness of their sins,

78 because of the inward mercy of our God, in which the dawn from on high visited us,

79 to shine upon those sitting in darkness and shadow of death, to direct our feet into a way of peace.

80 And the child was growing and becoming strong in spirit, and was in the deserts until the day of his manifestation to Israel.

Chapter 2

1 And it happened in those days, a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that the whole inhabited world be registered.

2 This registration first happened while Quirinius governed Syria.

3 And all were going to be registered, each into his own city.

4 And Joseph also went up from Galilee, from the city Nazareth, into Judea, into David's city which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and family of David,

5 to be registered with Mariam, the wife betrothed to him, who was pregnant.

6 And it happened, while they were there, the days were fulfilled for her to give birth.

7 And she bore her firstborn son and swaddled him and laid him in the manger, because there was no place for them in the lodging.

8 And there were shepherds in the same region staying in the fields and keeping watches of the night over their flock.

9 And behold, an angel of the Lord stood by them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they feared a great fear.

10 And the angel said to them: Do not fear, for behold, I announce to you great joy which shall be for all the people,

11 because a Savior was born for you today, who is Christ the Lord, in David's city.

12 And this is the sign for you: You shall find an infant swaddled, lying in the manger.

13 And suddenly with the angel there was a multitude of a heavenly army, praising God and saying:

14 Glory to God in the highest, and upon earth peace, goodwill among men.

15 And it happened, when the angels went away from them into the heaven, the men, the shepherds, said to one another: Let us indeed pass through until Bethlehem and see this saying which has happened, which the Lord made known to us.

16 And they came hastening and found both Mariam and Joseph, and the infant lying in the manger.

17 And seeing, they made known concerning the saying spoken to them concerning this child.

18 And all who heard marveled concerning the things spoken to them by the shepherds.

19 But Mariam was keeping all these sayings, bringing them together in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God over everything which they heard and saw, as it was spoken to them.

21 And when eight days were fulfilled for circumcising the child, his name also was called Jesus, the name called by the angel before he was conceived in the womb.

22 And when the days of their cleansing were fulfilled according to the law of Moses, they brought him up into Jerusalem to present him to the Lord,

23 as it is written in the law of the Lord: Every male opening a womb shall be called holy to the Lord,

24 and to give a sacrifice according to what is said in the law of the Lord: A pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons.

25 And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem named Simeon, and this man was righteous and devout, awaiting the consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him.

26 And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit not to see death before he should see the Christ of the Lord.

27 And he came in the Spirit into the temple, and when the parents brought in the child Jesus to do concerning him according to the custom of the law,

28 he also received him into his arms and blessed God and said:

29 Now you release your slave, Master, according to your saying, in peace,

30 because my eyes saw your salvation,

31 which you prepared before the face of all the peoples,

32 a light for revelation of nations and glory of your people Israel.

33 And Joseph and his mother were marveling at the things spoken concerning him.

34 And Simeon blessed them and said to Mariam his mother: Behold, this one is appointed for falling and rising of many in Israel, and for a sign spoken against,

35 and a sword shall pass through your own soul also, so that reasonings from many hearts may be revealed.

36 And there was Anna a prophetess, daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher; she was advanced in many days, having lived with a husband seven years from her virginity,

37 and she was a widow of about eighty-four years, who did not depart from the temple, serving with fastings and petitions night and day.

38 And she, standing by in that very hour, was giving thanks to the Lord and speaking concerning him to all those awaiting redemption in Jerusalem.

39 And when they finished everything according to the law of the Lord, they returned into Galilee, into their city Nazareth.

40 And the child was growing and becoming strong in spirit, being filled with wisdom, and grace of God was upon him.

41 And his parents were going yearly into Jerusalem at the feast of the Passover.

42 And when he became twelve years old, they went up into Jerusalem according to the custom of the feast,

43 and having completed the days, as they returned, the boy Jesus remained in Jerusalem, and Joseph and his mother did not know.

44 And supposing him to be in the company, they came a day's journey and were searching for him among the relatives and acquaintances.

45 And not finding him, they returned into Jerusalem, seeking him.

46 And it happened after three days, they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, both hearing them and questioning them.

47 And all hearing him were astonished at his understanding and answers.

48 And seeing him, they were amazed, and his mother said to him: Child, why did you do so to us? Behold, your father and I were seeking you in pain.

49 And he said to them: Why is it that you were seeking me? Did you not know that I must be in the things of my Father?

50 And they did not understand the saying which he spoke to them.

51 And he descended with them and came into Nazareth and was subject to them; and his mother was keeping all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Jesus was advancing in wisdom and age and grace with God and men.

Chapter 3

1 And in the fifteenth year of the rule of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate governing Judea, and Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, and Philip his brother being tetrarch of the region of Iturea and Trachonitis, and Lysanias being tetrarch of Abilene,

2 under high priests Annas and Caiaphas, a word of God came upon John the son of Zechariah in the desert.

3 And he came into the whole surrounding region of the Jordan, proclaiming a baptism of repentance for forgiveness of sins,

4 as it is written in the book of words of Isaiah the prophet, saying: A voice of one crying in the desert: Prepare the way of the Lord; make his paths straight.

5 Every ravine shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be humbled, and the crooked things shall become straight, and the rough ways smooth ways,

6 and all flesh shall see the salvation of God.

7 Therefore he was saying to the crowds going out to be baptized by him: Offspring of vipers, who showed you to flee from the coming wrath?

8 Therefore produce fruits worthy of repentance, and do not begin to say among yourselves: We have Abraham as father; for I say to you that God can raise children for Abraham from these stones.

9 And already the axe also lies at the root of the trees; therefore every tree not producing good fruit is cut down and cast into fire.

10 And the crowds were questioning him, saying: What, therefore, shall we do?

11 And he answered and says to them: He who has two tunics, let him share with the one not having, and he who has foods, let him do likewise.

12 And tax collectors also came to be baptized and said to him: Teacher, what shall we do?

13 And he said to them: Collect nothing more than what has been directed for you.

14 And soldiers also were questioning him, saying: And we, what shall we do? And he said to them: Extort no one nor accuse falsely, and be content with your wages.

15 And while the people awaited, and all were reasoning in their hearts concerning John, whether he might be the Christ,

16 John answered all, saying: I indeed baptize you with water, but the one stronger than I comes, whose strap of his sandals I am not sufficient to loose; he shall baptize you in the Holy Spirit and fire,

17 whose winnowing shovel is in his hand, and he shall thoroughly cleanse his threshing floor and gather the wheat into his storehouse, but the chaff he shall burn up with unquenchable fire.

18 Therefore, exhorting with many other things also, he was announcing good news to the people.

19 But Herod the tetrarch, being reproved by him concerning Herodias, the wife of Philip his brother, and concerning all the evil things which Herod did,

20 added this also to all, and shut John in the prison.

21 And it happened, when all the people were baptized, and Jesus was baptized and praying, the heaven was opened,

22 and the Holy Spirit descended in bodily form like a dove upon him, and a voice came from heaven, saying: You are my beloved Son; in you I was well pleased.

23 And Jesus himself was about thirty years old, beginning, being, as was supposed, son of Joseph, of Heli,

24 of Matthat, of Levi, of Melchi, of Janna, of Joseph,

25 of Mattathias, of Amos, of Nahum, of Esli, of Naggai,

26 of Maath, of Mattathias, of Semei, of Joseph, of Judah,

27 of Joanna, of Rhesa, of Zerubbabel, of Salathiel, of Neri,

28 of Melchi, of Addi, of Cosam, of Elmodam, of Er,

29 of Joses, of Eliezer, of Joreim, of Matthat, of Levi,

30 of Simeon, of Judah, of Joseph, of Jonan, of Eliakim,

31 of Melea, of Mainan, of Mattatha, of Nathan, of David,

32 of Jesse, of Obed, of Boaz, of Salmon, of Naasson,

33 of Aminadab, of Aram, of Esrom, of Phares, of Judah,

34 of Jacob, of Isaac, of Abraham, of Thara, of Nachor,

35 of Saruch, of Ragau, of Phalek, of Eber, of Sala,

36 of Cainan, of Arphaxad, of Shem, of Noah, of Lamech,

37 of Mathusala, of Enoch, of Jared, of Maleleel, of Cainan,

38 of Enos, of Seth, of Adam, of God.

Chapter 4

1 And Jesus, full of the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was being led in the Spirit into the desert,

2 forty days being tempted by the devil; and he ate nothing in those days, and when they were completed, afterward he was hungry.

3 And the devil said to him: If you are God's Son, tell this stone to become bread.

4 And Jesus answered him, saying: It is written that man shall not live upon bread alone, but upon every word of God.

5 And the devil brought him up into a high mountain and showed him all the kingdoms of the inhabited world in a moment of time.

6 And the devil said to him: I shall give you all this authority and their glory, because it has been handed over to me, and I give it to whomever I wish.

7 Therefore, if you worship before me, everything shall be yours.

8 And Jesus answered him and said: Go behind me, Satan, for it is written: You shall worship the Lord your God, and him alone you shall serve.

9 And he led him into Jerusalem and stood him upon the pinnacle of the temple and said to him: If you are God's Son, cast yourself down from here,

10 for it is written that he shall command his angels concerning you to guard you,

11 and that upon hands they shall take you up, lest you strike your foot against a stone.

12 And Jesus answered and said to him: It is said: You shall not test the Lord your God.

13 And completing every temptation, the devil departed from him until a time.

14 And Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit into Galilee, and a report concerning him went out throughout the whole surrounding region.

15 And he was teaching in their synagogues, being glorified by all.

16 And he came into Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and entered according to his custom on the Sabbath day into the synagogue, and rose to read.

17 And a book of Isaiah the prophet was handed to him, and unrolling the book, he found the place where it was written:

18 The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he anointed me to announce good news to the poor; he has sent me to heal those broken in heart, to proclaim release to captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to send those crushed away in release,

19 to proclaim an acceptable year of the Lord.

20 And rolling the book and giving it back to the attendant, he sat down, and the eyes of all in the synagogue were gazing at him.

21 And he began to say to them: Today this Scripture has been fulfilled in your ears.

22 And all were testifying to him and marveling at the words of grace coming out of his mouth, and were saying: Is this not Joseph's son?

23 And he said to them: Certainly you shall say this parable to me: Physician, heal yourself; whatever we heard happened in Capernaum, do also here in your homeland.

24 And he said: Amen, I say to you that no prophet is acceptable in his homeland.

25 But in truth I say to you: Many widows were in Israel in Elijah's days, when the heaven was shut for three years and six months, when a great famine came upon the whole earth,

26 and Elijah was sent to none of them except to Sarepta of Sidon, to a widow woman.

27 And many lepers were in Israel under Elisha the prophet, and none of them was cleansed except Naaman the Syrian.

28 And all in the synagogue were filled with rage, hearing these things,

29 and rising, cast him outside the city and led him until the brow of the mountain upon which their city had been built, to throw him down the precipice.

30 But he passed through their midst and was going away.

31 And he descended into Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and was teaching them on the Sabbath.

32 And they were astonished at his teaching, because his word was with authority.

33 And in the synagogue was a man having a spirit of an unclean demon, and he cried out with a great voice,

34 saying: Ah! What is between us and you, Jesus the Nazarene? Did you come to destroy us? I know you, who you are: the Holy One of God.

35 And Jesus rebuked him, saying: Be silenced and come out of him. And the demon threw him into the midst and came out from him, harming him nothing.

36 And amazement came upon all, and they were speaking with one another, saying: What is this word, that with authority and power he commands the unclean spirits, and they come out?

37 And a report concerning him was going out into every place of the surrounding region.

38 And rising from the synagogue, he entered into Simon's house; and Simon's mother-in-law was held by a great fever, and they asked him concerning her.

39 And standing over her, he rebuked the fever, and it left her; and immediately rising, she was serving them.

40 And as the sun set, all who had people sick with various diseases brought them to him; and laying his hands upon each one of them, he healed them.

41 And demons also were coming out from many, crying and saying: You are the Christ, the Son of God. And rebuking, he did not allow them to speak, because they knew him to be the Christ.

42 And when day came, he went out and went into a deserted place; and the crowds were seeking him and came to him and were holding him back from going away from them.

43 But he said to them: I must announce the kingdom of God to the other cities also, because for this I have been sent.

44 And he was proclaiming in the synagogues of Galilee.

Chapter 5

1 And it happened, while the crowd pressed upon him to hear the word of God, he was standing beside the lake of Gennesaret,

2 and saw two boats standing beside the lake, but the fishermen had gone out of them and were washing the nets.

3 And entering into one of the boats, which was Simon's, he asked him to put out a little from the earth; and sitting down, he was teaching the crowds from the boat.

4 And when he ceased speaking, he said to Simon: Put out into the deep, and lower your nets for a catch.

5 And Simon answered and said to him: Master, laboring through the whole night, we took nothing; but upon your saying I shall lower the net.

6 And doing this, they enclosed a great multitude of fish, and their net was tearing.

7 And they signaled to the partners in the other boat to come and help them; and they came and filled both boats, so that they were sinking.

8 And Simon Peter, seeing, fell at Jesus' knees, saying: Go out from me, because I am a sinful man, Lord.

9 For amazement encompassed him and all those with him at the catch of fish which they took,

10 and likewise James and John, sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon: Do not fear; from now you shall be catching men alive.

11 And bringing the boats to the earth, they left everything and followed him.

12 And it happened while he was in one of the cities, behold, a man full of leprosy; and seeing Jesus, he fell upon his face and petitioned him, saying: Lord, if you wish, you can cleanse me.

13 And stretching out his hand, he touched him, saying: I wish; be cleansed. And immediately the leprosy went away from him.

14 And he commanded him to tell no one, but: Go, show yourself to the priest, and offer concerning your cleansing as Moses commanded, as a testimony to them.

15 But the word concerning him was spreading more, and many crowds were gathering to hear and to be healed by him from their illnesses.

16 But he was withdrawing in the deserts and praying.

17 And it happened on one of the days, he was teaching, and Pharisees and teachers of the law were sitting, who had come from every village of Galilee and Judea and Jerusalem; and power of the Lord was there to heal them.

18 And behold, men carrying upon a bed a man who was paralyzed, and they were seeking to bring him in and place him before him.

19 And not finding by what way to bring him in because of the crowd, they went up upon the roof and through the tiles let him down with the little bed into the midst before Jesus.

20 And seeing their faith, he said to him: Man, your sins have been forgiven you.

21 And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying: Who is this who speaks blasphemies? Who can forgive sins except God alone?

22 And Jesus recognized their reasonings and answered and said to them: What do you reason in your hearts?

23 Which is easier, to say: Your sins have been forgiven you, or to say: Rise and walk?

24 But so that you may know that the Son of man has authority upon the earth to forgive sins, he said to the paralyzed man: I say to you: Rise, and taking up your little bed, go into your house.

25 And immediately rising before them, he took up what he lay upon and went into his house, glorifying God.

26 And astonishment took all, and they were glorifying God and were filled with fear, saying: We saw extraordinary things today.

27 And after these things he went out and beheld a tax collector named Levi sitting at the tax office, and said to him: Follow me.

28 And leaving everything, he rose and followed him.

29 And Levi made a great reception for him in his house, and there was a great crowd of tax collectors and others who were reclining with them.

30 And their scribes and the Pharisees were grumbling to his disciples, saying: Why do you eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners?

31 And Jesus answered and said to them: Those healthy have no need of a physician, but those ill.

32 I have not come to call righteous men, but sinners to repentance.

33 And they said to him: Why do John's disciples fast often and make petitions, and likewise those of the Pharisees, but yours eat and drink?

34 And he said to them: Can you make the sons of the bridal chamber fast while the bridegroom is with them?

35 But days shall come, and when the bridegroom is taken away from them, then they shall fast in those days.

36 And he also was telling them a parable: No one puts a patch of a new garment upon an old garment; otherwise he both tears the new, and the patch from the new does not agree with the old.

37 And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; otherwise the new wine shall burst the wineskins, and it shall be poured out, and the wineskins shall perish.

38 But new wine must be put into fresh wineskins, and both are preserved.

39 And no one who drinks old immediately wishes new, for he says: The old is better.

Chapter 6

1 And it happened on a second-first Sabbath, he passed through the grainfields, and his disciples were plucking the ears of grain and eating, rubbing them with their hands.

2 And some of the Pharisees said to them: Why do you do what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath?

3 And Jesus answered them and said: Have you not even read this which David did when he was hungry, he and those with him,

4 how he entered into the house of God and took the loaves of the presentation and ate, and also gave to those with him, which it is not lawful to eat except for the priests alone?

5 And he was saying to them that the Son of man is Lord also of the Sabbath.

6 And it happened also on another Sabbath, he entered into the synagogue and taught, and there was a man there, and his right hand was withered.

7 And the scribes and the Pharisees were watching him, whether he would heal on the Sabbath, so that they might find an accusation against him.

8 But he knew their reasonings and said to the man having the withered hand: Rise and stand in the midst. And rising, he stood.

9 Therefore Jesus said to them: I shall question you: What is lawful on the Sabbath, to do good or to do evil, to save a soul or to destroy?

10 And looking around at them all, he said to the man: Stretch out your hand. And he did so, and his hand was restored healthy as the other.

11 But they were filled with madness and were discussing with one another what they might do to Jesus.

12 And it happened in these days, he went out into the mountain to pray, and was spending the night in prayer to God.

13 And when day came, he called his disciples to him, and chose twelve from them, whom he also named apostles:

14 Simon, whom he also named Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew,

15 Matthew and Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon called Zealot,

16 Judas of James, and Judas Iscariot, who also became a betrayer.

17 And descending with them, he stood upon a level place, and a crowd of his disciples and a great multitude of the people from all Judea and Jerusalem and the coast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear him and be healed from their diseases,

18 and those troubled by unclean spirits, and they were being healed.

19 And the whole crowd was seeking to touch him, because power was coming out from him and healing all.

20 And he lifted his eyes toward his disciples and was saying: Blessed are the poor, because yours is the kingdom of God.

21 Blessed are those hungry now, because you shall be filled. Blessed are those weeping now, because you shall laugh.

22 Blessed are you when men hate you, and when they separate you and reproach and cast out your name as evil because of the Son of man.

23 Rejoice in that day and leap, for behold, your reward is great in the heaven; for according to these things their fathers were doing to the prophets.

24 Nevertheless, woe to you rich, because you have your consolation in full.

25 Woe to you who have been filled, because you shall hunger. Woe to you laughing now, because you shall mourn and weep.

26 Woe to you when all men speak well of you, for according to these things their fathers were doing to the false prophets.

27 But I say to you who hear: Love your enemies; do well to those who hate you;

28 bless those who curse you, and pray for those who mistreat you.

29 To the one striking you upon the cheek, offer the other also; and from the one taking your garment, do not withhold the tunic also.

30 And give to everyone asking you, and from the one taking your things, do not demand them back.

31 And as you wish men to do to you, you also do to them likewise.

32 And if you love those loving you, what grace is yours? For even sinners love those loving them.

33 And if you do good to those doing good to you, what grace is yours? For even sinners do the same.

34 And if you lend to those from whom you hope to receive back, what grace is yours? For even sinners lend to sinners to receive back equal things.

35 Nevertheless, love your enemies and do good and lend, despairing of nothing; and your reward shall be great, and you shall be sons of the Most High, because he is kind to the ungrateful and evil.

36 Therefore become compassionate, as your Father also is compassionate.

37 And do not judge, and you shall certainly not be judged; do not condemn, and you shall certainly not be condemned; release, and you shall be released.

38 Give, and it shall be given to you; a good measure, pressed down and shaken and overflowing, they shall give into your bosom; for with the same measure with which you measure, it shall be measured back to you.

39 And he told them a parable: Can a blind man guide a blind man? Shall not both fall into a pit?

40 A disciple is not above his teacher, but everyone fully prepared shall be as his teacher.

41 And why do you see the speck in your brother's eye, but do not consider the beam in your own eye?

42 Or how can you say to your brother: Brother, allow me to cast out the speck in your eye, yourself not seeing the beam in your eye? Hypocrite, first cast out the beam from your eye, and then you shall see clearly to cast out the speck in your brother's eye.

43 For there is no good tree producing rotten fruit, nor a rotten tree producing good fruit.

44 For each tree is known from its own fruit; for they do not gather figs from thorns, nor harvest a grape from a bramble.

45 The good man brings forth the good from the good treasure of his heart, and the evil man brings forth the evil from the evil treasure of his heart; for his mouth speaks from the abundance of the heart.

46 And why do you call me: Lord, Lord, and do not do what I say?

47 Everyone coming to me and hearing my words and doing them, I shall show you whom he is like.

48 He is like a man building a house, who dug and deepened and placed a foundation upon the rock; and when a flood came, the river broke against that house and was not strong enough to shake it, for it had been founded upon the rock.

49 But the one hearing and not doing is like a man who built a house upon the earth without a foundation, against which the river broke, and immediately it fell, and the collapse of that house became great.

Chapter 7

1 And when he fulfilled all his sayings in the hearing of the people, he entered into Capernaum.

2 And a certain centurion's slave, who was precious to him, was ill and about to die.

3 And hearing concerning Jesus, he sent elders of the Jews to him, asking him to come and save his slave.

4 And arriving at Jesus, they were begging him earnestly, saying: He is worthy for whom you shall grant this,

5 for he loves our nation, and he himself built the synagogue for us.

6 And Jesus was going with them; and already, when he was not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to him, saying to him: Lord, do not trouble yourself, for I am not sufficient that you enter under my roof.

7 Therefore neither did I deem myself worthy to come to you, but speak with a word, and my servant shall be healed.

8 For I also am a man placed under authority, having soldiers under myself, and I say to this one: Go, and he goes; and to another: Come, and he comes; and to my slave: Do this, and he does.

9 And Jesus heard these things and marveled at him, and turning to the crowd following him, said: I say to you, not even in Israel did I find such faith.

10 And those sent returned into the house and found the sick slave healthy.

11 And it happened on the next day, he was going into a city called Nain, and many of his disciples and a great crowd were going with him.

12 And when he drew near to the gate of the city, behold, a dead man was being carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow; and a considerable crowd of the city was with her.

13 And the Lord saw her and had compassion on her and said to her: Do not weep.

14 And approaching, he touched the bier, and those carrying stood still; and he said: Young man, I say to you, rise.

15 And the dead man sat up and began to speak, and he gave him to his mother.

16 And fear took all, and they were glorifying God, saying: A great prophet has been raised among us; and: God visited his people.

17 And this word concerning him went out in the whole of Judea and in the whole surrounding region.

18 And his disciples reported to John concerning all these things.

19 And John called two of his disciples to him and sent to Jesus, saying: Are you the one coming, or do we await another?

20 And the men arrived at him and said: John the Baptist has sent us to you, saying: Are you the one coming, or do we await another?

21 And in that very hour he healed many from diseases and afflictions and evil spirits, and granted many blind people to see.

22 And Jesus answered and said to them: Go and report to John what you saw and heard: that blind people see again, lame people walk, lepers are cleansed, deaf people hear, dead people are raised, poor people receive good news.

23 And blessed is whoever is not made to stumble at me.

24 And when John's messengers went away, he began to say to the crowds concerning John: What have you gone out into the desert to behold? A reed shaken by wind?

25 But what have you gone out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Behold, those living in glorious clothing and luxury are in the royal palaces.

26 But what have you gone out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet.

27 This is he concerning whom it is written: Behold, I send my messenger before your face, who shall prepare your way before you.

28 For I say to you: Among those born of women there is no prophet greater than John the Baptist, but the lesser in the kingdom of God is greater than he.

29 And all the people hearing, and the tax collectors, justified God, being baptized with John's baptism.

30 But the Pharisees and the lawyers rejected the counsel of God for themselves, not being baptized by him.

31 And the Lord said: To what, therefore, shall I liken the men of this generation, and what are they like?

32 They are like children sitting in a marketplace and calling to one another and saying: We played the flute for you and you did not dance; we lamented for you and you did not weep.

33 For John the Baptist has come neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and you say: He has a demon.

34 The Son of man has come eating and drinking, and you say: Behold, a gluttonous man and wine-drinker, a friend of tax collectors and sinners.

35 And wisdom was justified by all her children.

36 And one of the Pharisees was asking him to eat with him; and entering into the Pharisee's house, he reclined.

37 And behold, a woman in the city who was a sinner, recognizing that he reclines in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster vessel of ointment,

38 and standing behind at his feet, weeping, began to wet his feet with her tears, and was wiping them with the hairs of her head and kissing his feet fervently and anointing with the ointment.

39 And the Pharisee who invited him saw and said in himself, saying: If this man were a prophet, he would know who and what manner of woman touches him, that she is a sinner.

40 And Jesus answered and said to him: Simon, I have something to tell you. And he says: Teacher, speak.

41 A certain lender had two debtors; the one owed five hundred denarii, and the other fifty.

42 And as they had nothing to repay, he freely forgave both; therefore tell me, which of them shall love him more?

43 And Simon answered and said: I suppose the one to whom he forgave more. And he said to him: You judged correctly.

44 And turning to the woman, he said to Simon: Do you see this woman? I entered into your house; you gave no water for my feet, but she wet my feet with tears and wiped them with the hairs of her head.

45 You gave me no kiss, but she, from when I entered, did not cease kissing my feet fervently.

46 You did not anoint my head with oil, but she anointed my feet with ointment.

47 For which reason I say to you: Her many sins have been forgiven, because she loved much; but he to whom little is forgiven loves little.

48 And he said to her: Your sins have been forgiven.

49 And those reclining with him began to say among themselves: Who is this who even forgives sins?

50 And he said to the woman: Your faith has saved you; go into peace.

Chapter 8

1 And it happened afterward, he was traveling through city and village, proclaiming and announcing the kingdom of God, and the twelve with him,

2 and certain women who had been healed from evil spirits and illnesses: Mary called Magdalene, from whom seven demons had gone out,

3 and Joanna, wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna and many others, who were serving him from their possessions.

4 And a great crowd was gathering, and those from each city were coming to him; he spoke through a parable:

5 The sower went out to sow his seed, and as he sowed, some fell beside the road and was trampled, and the birds of the heaven devoured it.

6 And other fell upon the rock, and growing, withered because it had no moisture.

7 And other fell in the midst of the thorns, and the thorns grew together and choked it.

8 And other fell upon the good earth, and growing, produced fruit a hundredfold. Saying these things, he was calling: He who has ears to hear, let him hear.

9 And his disciples were questioning him, saying what this parable might be.

10 And he said: To you it has been given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest in parables, so that seeing they may not see, and hearing may not understand.

11 And this is the parable: The seed is the word of God.

12 And those beside the road are those hearing; then the devil comes and takes the word from their heart, so that they may not believe and be saved.

13 And those upon the rock, who, when they hear, receive the word with joy, and these have no root, who believe for a time and in a time of temptation depart.

14 And what fell into the thorns, these are those who heard, and going along are choked by cares and wealth and pleasures of life, and do not bring fruit to completion.

15 And what is in the good earth, these are those who, hearing the word in a beautiful and good heart, hold it and bear fruit in endurance.

16 And no one lighting a lamp covers it with a vessel or puts it beneath a bed, but sets it upon a lampstand, so that those entering may see the light.

17 For there is nothing hidden which shall not become manifest, nor concealed which shall not be known and come into the open.

18 Therefore see how you hear; for whoever has, to him it shall be given, and whoever does not have, even what he seems to have shall be taken from him.

19 And his mother and brothers arrived at him, and could not meet him because of the crowd.

20 And it was reported to him, saying: Your mother and brothers stand outside, wishing to see you.

21 And he answered and said to them: My mother and my brothers are these who hear the word of God and do it.

22 And it happened on one of the days, he entered into a boat, and his disciples, and said to them: Let us pass through to the other side of the lake. And they put out.

23 And while they sailed, he fell asleep, and a windstorm descended into the lake, and they were being filled and were in danger.

24 And approaching, they woke him, saying: Master, Master, we perish. And rising, he rebuked the wind and the surge of the water, and they ceased, and a calm came.

25 And he said to them: Where is your faith? And fearing, they marveled, saying to one another: Who, then, is this, that he commands even the winds and the water, and they obey him?

26 And they sailed down into the region of the Gadarenes, which is opposite Galilee.

27 And when he went out upon the earth, a certain man from the city met him, who had demons for considerable times and was not putting on a garment and was not remaining in a house, but in the tombs.

28 And seeing Jesus and crying out, he fell before him and said with a great voice: What is between me and you, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I petition you, do not torture me.

29 For he was commanding the unclean spirit to come out from the man; for it had seized him many times, and he was bound with chains and shackles, being guarded; and tearing the bonds, he was being driven by the demon into the deserts.

30 And Jesus questioned him, saying: What is your name? And he said: Legion, because many demons entered into him.

31 And he was begging him not to command them to go away into the abyss.

32 And there was a herd of many pigs feeding in the mountain, and they were begging him to permit them to enter into those; and he permitted them.

33 And the demons came out from the man and entered into the pigs, and the herd rushed down the precipice into the lake and was drowned.

34 And those feeding saw what had happened and fled, and went and reported into the city and into the fields.

35 And they went out to see what has happened, and came to Jesus and found the man from whom the demons had gone out sitting clothed and in his right mind at Jesus' feet, and they feared.

36 And those who saw also reported to them how the demon-possessed man was saved.

37 And the whole multitude of the surrounding region of the Gadarenes asked him to go away from them, because they were held by great fear; and he entered into the boat and returned.

38 And the man from whom the demons had gone out was petitioning him to be with him; but Jesus dismissed him, saying:

39 Return into your house and recount how many things God did for you. And he went away, proclaiming throughout the whole city how many things Jesus did for him.

40 And it happened, when Jesus returned, the crowd received him, for all were awaiting him.

41 And behold, a man came named Jairus, and he was a ruler of the synagogue; and falling at Jesus' feet, he was begging him to enter into his house,

42 because he had an only daughter of about twelve years, and she was dying. And as he went, the crowds were choking him together.

43 And a woman being in a flow of blood for twelve years, who had spent her whole livelihood upon physicians, could not be healed by anyone,

44 approached from behind and touched the fringe of his garment, and immediately the flow of her blood stopped.

45 And Jesus said: Who touched me? And while all denied, Peter and those with him said: Master, the crowds hold you and press you, and you say: Who touched me?

46 But Jesus said: Someone touched me, for I knew power going out from me.

47 And the woman, seeing that she was not hidden, came trembling and fell before him and reported to him before all the people for what cause she touched him, and how she was healed immediately.

48 And he said to her: Take courage, daughter; your faith has saved you; go into peace.

49 While he was still speaking, someone comes from the synagogue ruler, saying to him: Your daughter has died; do not trouble the teacher.

50 But Jesus heard and answered him, saying: Do not fear; only believe, and she shall be saved.

51 And entering into the house, he allowed no one to enter except Peter and James and John, and the girl's father and mother.

52 And all were weeping and mourning her, but he said: Do not weep; she did not die, but sleeps.

53 And they were laughing at him, knowing that she died.

54 But he cast all outside and took hold of her hand and called, saying: Girl, rise.

55 And her spirit returned, and she rose immediately; and he directed that something be given her to eat.

56 And her parents were astonished, but he commanded them to tell no one what has happened.

Chapter 9

1 And calling his twelve disciples together, he gave them power and authority over all the demons, and to heal diseases.

2 And he sent them to proclaim the kingdom of God and heal the sick.

3 And he said to them: Take nothing for the road, neither staffs nor bag nor bread nor silver, nor have two tunics each.

4 And into whatever house you enter, remain there and go out from there.

5 And as many as do not receive you, going out from that city, shake off even the dust from your feet as a testimony against them.

6 And going out, they were passing through the villages, announcing good news and healing everywhere.

7 And Herod the tetrarch heard all the things happening by him, and was perplexed because some said that John has been raised from the dead,

8 and some that Elijah appeared, and others that one prophet of the ancients rose.

9 And Herod said: John I beheaded; but who is this concerning whom I hear such things? And he was seeking to see him.

10 And the apostles returned and recounted to him whatever they did; and taking them with him, he withdrew privately into a deserted place of a city called Bethsaida.

11 But the crowds knew and followed him; and receiving them, he was speaking to them concerning the kingdom of God and healing those having need of healing.

12 And the day began to decline, and the twelve approached and said to him: Dismiss the crowd so that they may go into the surrounding villages and fields and lodge and find provisions, because here we are in a deserted place.

13 And he said to them: You give them something to eat. And they said: We have no more than five loaves and two fish, unless we go and buy foods for all this people.

14 For they were about five thousand men. And he said to his disciples: Make them recline in reclining groups of fifty each.

15 And they did so and made all recline.

16 And taking the five loaves and the two fish, he looked up into the heaven and blessed them and broke them, and was giving to the disciples to set before the crowd.

17 And all ate and were filled, and what remained of fragments for them was taken up, twelve baskets.

18 And it happened while he was praying alone, the disciples were with him, and he questioned them, saying: Who do the crowds say that I am?

19 And they answered and said: John the Baptist; and others Elijah; and others that a certain prophet of the ancients rose.

20 And he said to them: But you, who do you say that I am? And Peter answered and said: The Christ of God.

21 And rebuking them, he commanded to tell no one this,

22 saying that the Son of man must suffer many things and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and on the third day be raised.

23 And he was saying to all: If anyone wishes to come behind me, let him deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me.

24 For whoever wishes to save his soul shall lose it, but whoever loses his soul because of me, this one shall save it.

25 For what does a man profit, gaining the whole world but destroying himself or suffering loss?

26 For whoever is ashamed of me and my words, of this one the Son of man shall be ashamed when he comes in his glory and that of the Father and of the holy angels.

27 But I say to you truly: There are some standing here who shall certainly not taste death until they see the kingdom of God.

28 And it happened about eight days after these words, he took Peter and John and James with him and went up into the mountain to pray.

29 And it happened while he prayed, the appearance of his face was different, and his clothing white, flashing.

30 And behold, two men were conversing with him, who were Moses and Elijah,

31 who appeared in glory and were speaking of his departure which he was about to fulfill in Jerusalem.

32 But Peter and those with him were weighed down with sleep; and staying awake, they saw his glory and the two men standing with him.

33 And it happened as they were parting from him, Peter said to Jesus: Master, it is good for us to be here, and let us make three tents, one for you and one for Moses and one for Elijah, not knowing what he says.

34 And while he said these things, a cloud came and overshadowed them; and they feared as those entered into the cloud.

35 And a voice came from the cloud, saying: This is my beloved Son; hear him.

36 And when the voice came, Jesus was found alone; and they were silent and reported to no one in those days anything of what they have seen.

37 And it happened on the next day, when they descended from the mountain, a great crowd met him.

38 And behold, a man from the crowd cried aloud, saying: Teacher, I petition you, look upon my son, because he is my only child.

39 And behold, a spirit takes him, and suddenly he cries, and it convulses him with foam, and scarcely withdraws from him, crushing him.

40 And I petitioned your disciples to cast it out, and they could not.

41 And Jesus answered and said: O unbelieving and perverted generation, until when shall I be with you and bear with you? Bring your son here.

42 And while he still approached, the demon threw him down and convulsed him; but Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit and healed the boy and gave him back to his father.

43 And all were astonished at the majesty of God. And while all marveled at everything which Jesus did, he said to his disciples:

44 You, put these words into your ears, for the Son of man is about to be handed over into the hands of men.

45 But they did not understand this saying, and it was concealed from them so that they might not perceive it, and they feared to ask him concerning this saying.

46 And a reasoning entered among them, who might be greater of them.

47 But Jesus, seeing the reasoning of their heart, took a child and stood it beside himself,

48 and said to them: Whoever receives this child in my name receives me, and whoever receives me receives the one who sent me; for he who is lesser among all of you, this one shall be great.

49 And John answered and said: Master, we saw someone casting out the demons in your name, and we hindered him because he does not follow with us.

50 And Jesus said to him: Do not hinder, for he who is not against us is for us.

51 And it happened as the days of his taking up were being fulfilled, he set his face to go into Jerusalem,

52 and sent messengers before his face; and they went and entered into a village of Samaritans, to prepare for him.

53 And they did not receive him, because his face was going into Jerusalem.

54 And his disciples James and John saw and said: Lord, do you wish us to say that fire descend from the heaven and consume them, as Elijah also did?

55 But turning, he rebuked them and said: You do not know of what manner of spirit you are.

56 For the Son of man did not come to destroy men's souls, but to save. And they went into another village.

57 And it happened as they went on the road, someone said to him: I shall follow you wherever you go, Lord.

58 And Jesus said to him: The foxes have dens and the birds of the heaven dwelling places, but the Son of man has nowhere to lay his head.

59 And he said to another: Follow me. But he said: Lord, permit me first to go and bury my father.

60 And Jesus said to him: Leave the dead to bury their own dead, but you go and announce the kingdom of God.

61 And another also said: I shall follow you, Lord, but first permit me to take leave of those in my house.

62 And Jesus said to him: No one putting his hand upon a plow and looking backward is fit for the kingdom of God.

Chapter 10

1 And after these things the Lord appointed another seventy also and sent them two by two before his face into every city and place where he himself was about to come.

2 Therefore he was saying to them: The harvest indeed is great, but the workers few; therefore petition the Lord of the harvest to send out workers into his harvest.

3 Go; behold, I send you as lambs in the midst of wolves.

4 Do not carry a purse, nor bag, nor sandals, and greet no one along the road.

5 And into whatever house you enter, first say: Peace to this house.

6 And if a son of peace is there, your peace shall rest upon him; otherwise it shall return upon you.

7 And remain in the same house, eating and drinking the things from them, for the worker is worthy of his wage; do not move from house to house.

8 And into whatever city you enter and they receive you, eat the things set before you,

9 and heal the sick in it and say to them: The kingdom of God has drawn near upon you.

10 But into whatever city you enter and they do not receive you, go out into its streets and say:

11 Even the dust from your city which clung to us we wipe off for you; nevertheless know this, that the kingdom of God has drawn near upon you.

12 And I say to you that it shall be more bearable for Sodom in that day than for that city.

13 Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! Because if the mighty works which happened in you had happened in Tyre and Sidon, long ago they would have repented, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.

14 Nevertheless, it shall be more bearable for Tyre and Sidon in the judgment than for you.

15 And you, Capernaum, exalted until the heaven, shall be brought down until Hades.

16 He who hears you hears me, and he who rejects you rejects me, and he who rejects me rejects the one who sent me.

17 And the seventy returned with joy, saying: Lord, even the demons are subject to us in your name.

18 And he said to them: I was beholding Satan falling like lightning from the heaven.

19 Behold, I give you authority to tread upon serpents and scorpions and upon all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall certainly harm you.

20 Nevertheless, do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you, but rejoice rather that your names were written in the heavens.

21 In that very hour Jesus exulted in the spirit and said: I acknowledge you, Father, Lord of the heaven and the earth, because you hid these things from wise and understanding men and revealed them to infants; yes, Father, because so it became goodwill before you.

22 And turning to the disciples, he said: All things were handed over to me by my Father, and no one knows who the Son is except the Father, and who the Father is except the Son and whomever the Son wishes to reveal him to.

23 And turning to the disciples privately, he said: Blessed are the eyes seeing what you see.

24 For I say to you that many prophets and kings wished to see what you see and did not see, and to hear what you hear and did not hear.

25 And behold, a certain lawyer rose, testing him and saying: Teacher, doing what shall I inherit eternal life?

26 And he said to him: What is written in the law? How do you read?

27 And he answered and said: You shall love the Lord your God from your whole heart and from your whole soul and from your whole strength and from your whole mind, and your neighbor as yourself.

28 And he said to him: You answered correctly; do this and you shall live.

29 But wishing to justify himself, he said to Jesus: And who is my neighbor?

30 And Jesus took it up and said: A certain man was descending from Jerusalem into Jericho and fell among robbers, who stripped him and inflicted blows and went away, leaving him half dead.

31 And by coincidence a certain priest was descending on that road, and seeing him, passed by opposite.

32 And likewise also a Levite, coming to the place and seeing, passed by opposite.

33 But a certain Samaritan traveling came upon him, and seeing him, had compassion,

34 and approached and bound his wounds, pouring oil and wine; and mounting him upon his own beast, brought him into an inn and cared for him.

35 And on the next day, going out, he took out two denarii and gave them to the innkeeper and said to him: Care for him, and whatever you spend additionally, I shall repay you when I return.

36 Which, therefore, of these three seems to you to have become neighbor of the one who fell among the robbers?

37 And he said: The one who did mercy with him. Therefore Jesus said to him: Go, and you do likewise.

38 And it happened as they went, he entered into a certain village; and a certain woman named Martha received him into her house.

39 And she had a sister called Mary, who also sat at Jesus' feet and was hearing his word.

40 But Martha was distracted about much service; and standing by, she said: Lord, do you not care that my sister left me alone to serve? Therefore tell her to help me.

41 And Jesus answered and said to her: Martha, Martha, you are anxious and troubled about many things, 42 but there is need of one; and Mary chose the good portion, which shall not be taken away from her.

Chapter 11

1 And it happened while he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his disciples said to him: Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.

2 And he said to them: When you pray, say: Our Father who is in the heavens, let your name be sanctified; let your kingdom come; let your will happen, as in heaven, also upon the earth.

3 Give us our daily bread day by day,

4 and forgive us our sins, for we ourselves also forgive everyone owing us; and do not bring us into temptation, but rescue us from the evil one.

5 And he said to them: Who of you shall have a friend and go to him at midnight and say to him: Friend, lend me three loaves,

6 because a friend of mine arrived at me from a journey, and I have nothing to set before him;

7 and that one answering from within says: Do not give me troubles; already the door has been shut, and my children are with me in the bed; I cannot rise and give you?

8 I say to you: Even if he shall not rise and give him because he is his friend, yet because of his shamelessness he shall rise and give him as many as he needs.

9 And I say to you: Ask, and it shall be given to you; seek, and you shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you.

10 For everyone asking receives, and the one seeking finds, and to the one knocking it shall be opened.

11 And which father of you shall the son ask for bread, and he shall give him a stone? Or even a fish, and he shall give him a serpent instead of a fish?

12 Or even if he asks for an egg, shall he give him a scorpion?

13 Therefore, if you, being evil, know to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall the Father from heaven give the Holy Spirit to those asking him?

14 And he was casting out a demon, and it was mute; and it happened when the demon came out, the mute man spoke, and the crowds marveled.

15 But some of them said: By Beelzebul, ruler of the demons, he casts out the demons.

16 And others, testing, were seeking from him a sign from heaven.

17 But he knew their thoughts and said to them: Every kingdom divided against itself is desolated, and house falls upon house.

18 And if Satan also was divided against himself, how shall his kingdom stand? Because you say I cast out the demons by Beelzebul.

19 And if I cast out the demons by Beelzebul, by whom do your sons cast them out? For this reason they shall be your judges.

20 But if I cast out the demons by God's finger, then the kingdom of God has reached you.

21 When the strong man, fully armed, guards his own courtyard, his possessions are in peace.

22 But when one stronger than he comes upon him and conquers him, he takes away his full armor upon which he had trusted and distributes his spoils.

23 He who is not with me is against me, and he who does not gather with me scatters.

24 When the unclean spirit comes out from the man, it passes through waterless places seeking rest, and not finding, says: I shall return into my house from where I came out.

25 And coming, it finds it swept and adorned.

26 Then it goes and takes with it seven other spirits more evil than itself, and entering, they dwell there, and the last things of that man become worse than the first.

27 And it happened while he said these things, a certain woman lifted a voice from the crowd and said to him: Blessed is the womb which carried you and the breasts which you nursed.

28 But he said: Indeed rather, blessed are those hearing the word of God and keeping it.

29 And while the crowds gathered thickly, he began to say: This generation is evil; it seeks a sign, and a sign shall not be given it except the sign of Jonah the prophet.

30 For as Jonah became a sign to the Ninevites, so also shall the Son of man be to this generation.

31 The queen of the south shall be raised in the judgment with the men of this generation and shall condemn them, because she came from the ends of the earth to hear Solomon's wisdom; and behold, more than Solomon is here.

32 Men of Nineveh shall rise in the judgment with this generation and shall condemn it, because they repented at Jonah's proclamation; and behold, more than Jonah is here.

33 And no one lighting a lamp places it in a hidden place nor under the bushel, but upon the lampstand, so that those entering may see the light.

34 The lamp of the body is the eye; therefore when your eye is single, your whole body also is bright; but when it is evil, your body also is dark.

35 Therefore watch lest the light in you is darkness.

36 Therefore, if your whole body is bright, not having any dark part, it shall be wholly bright, as when the lamp lights you with its brightness.

37 And while he spoke, a certain Pharisee was asking him to dine with him; and entering, he reclined.

38 And the Pharisee saw and marveled that he did not first wash before the meal.

39 And the Lord said to him: Now you Pharisees cleanse the outside of the cup and the platter, but your inside is full of plunder and wickedness.

40 Fools, did not the one making the outside make the inside also?

41 Nevertheless, give the things within as alms, and behold, everything is clean for you.

42 But woe to you Pharisees, because you tithe the mint and the rue and every garden plant, and pass by judgment and the love of God; these you ought to have done, and not leave those.

43 Woe to you Pharisees, because you love the first seat in the synagogues and the greetings in the marketplaces.

44 Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites, because you are like the unmarked tombs, and the men walking above do not know.

45 And one of the lawyers answered and says to him: Teacher, saying these things, you insult us also.

46 And he said: Woe to you lawyers also, because you load men with burdens hard to bear, and you yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers.

47 Woe to you, because you build the monuments of the prophets, but your fathers killed them.

48 Therefore you testify and approve the works of your fathers, because they indeed killed them, but you build their monuments.

49 For this reason the wisdom of God also said: I shall send to them prophets and apostles, and some of them they shall kill and persecute,

50 so that the blood of all the prophets, poured out from the foundation of the world, may be demanded from this generation,

51 from Abel's blood until the blood of Zechariah, who perished between the altar and the house; yes, I say to you, it shall be demanded from this generation.

52 Woe to you lawyers, because you took away the key of knowledge; you yourselves did not enter, and you hindered those entering.

53 And while he said these things to them, the scribes and the Pharisees began to hold fiercely against him and question him about more things,

54 lying in wait for him and seeking to catch something out of his mouth so that they might accuse him.

Chapter 12

1 Meanwhile, when the myriads of the crowd gathered together, so that they trampled one another, he began to say first to his disciples: Beware for yourselves of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

2 And there is nothing covered which shall not be revealed, and hidden which shall not be known.

3 Therefore whatever you said in the darkness shall be heard in the light, and what you spoke to the ear in the inner rooms shall be proclaimed upon the roofs.

4 And I say to you my friends: Do not fear those killing the body and after these things having nothing further to do.

5 But I shall show you whom to fear: Fear the one who after killing has authority to cast into Gehenna; yes, I say to you, fear this one.

6 Are not five sparrows sold for two assaria? And one of them is not forgotten before God.

7 But even all the hairs of your head have been numbered; therefore do not fear, you surpass many sparrows.

8 And I say to you: Everyone who acknowledges me before men, the Son of man also shall acknowledge him before the angels of God.

9 But the one denying me before men shall be denied before the angels of God.

10 And everyone who shall speak a word against the Son of man, it shall be forgiven him, but to the one blaspheming against the Holy Spirit it shall not be forgiven.

11 And when they bring you before the synagogues and the rulers and the authorities, do not be anxious how or what to answer in defense, or what to say,

12 for the Holy Spirit shall teach you in that very hour what must be said.

13 And someone from the crowd said to him: Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me.

14 But he said to him: Man, who appointed me judge or divider over you?

15 And he said to them: See and guard yourselves from greed, because a man's life is not in his abundance from his possessions.

16 And he told them a parable, saying: The land of a certain rich man bore plentifully,

17 and he was reasoning in himself, saying: What shall I do, because I have nowhere to gather my fruits?

18 And he said: I shall do this: I shall take down my storehouses and build greater ones, and gather there all my produce and my goods.

19 And I shall say to my soul: Soul, you have many goods laid up for many years; rest, eat, drink, rejoice.

20 But God said to him: Fool, in this night they demand your soul from you; and what you prepared, whose shall it be?

21 So is the one storing treasure for himself and not being rich toward God.

22 And he said to his disciples: For this reason I say to you: Do not be anxious for your soul, what to eat, nor for the body, what to put on.

23 The soul is more than food, and the body than the garment.

24 Consider the ravens, that they neither sow nor harvest, which have neither storeroom nor storehouse, and God feeds them; how much more do you surpass the birds!

25 And which of you, being anxious, can add one cubit to his stature?

26 Therefore, if you cannot do even the least, why are you anxious concerning the rest?

27 Consider the lilies, how they grow; they neither labor nor spin; but I say to you, not even Solomon in all his glory was clothed as one of these.

28 But if God so clothes the grass in the field, being today and tomorrow cast into an oven, how much more you, you of little faith!

29 And you, do not seek what to eat or what to drink, and do not be unsettled.

30 For the nations of the world seek all these things, but your Father knows that you need these.

31 Nevertheless, seek the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added to you.

32 Do not fear, little flock, because your Father was well pleased to give you the kingdom.

33 Sell your possessions and give alms; make for yourselves purses not growing old, unfailing treasure in the heavens, where a thief does not draw near nor a moth destroy.

34 For where your treasure is, there your heart also shall be.

35 Let your waists be girded and the lamps burning,

36 and you like men awaiting their own lord, when he returns from the wedding feast, so that when he comes and knocks, they may immediately open to him.

37 Blessed are those slaves whom the lord, coming, shall find keeping watch; amen, I say to you that he shall gird himself and make them recline, and come and serve them.

38 And if he comes in the second watch, and comes in the third watch, and finds so, blessed are those slaves.

39 And know this, that if the master of the house had known at what hour the thief comes, he would have kept watch and would not have allowed his house to be dug through.

40 Therefore you also become ready, because at an hour you do not think, the Son of man comes.

41 And Peter said to him: Lord, do you say this parable to us, or also to all?

42 And the Lord said: Who, then, is the faithful and prudent steward whom the lord shall appoint over his household to give the grain ration in season?

43 Blessed is that slave whom his lord, coming, shall find doing so.

44 Truly I say to you that he shall appoint him over all his possessions.

45 But if that slave says in his heart: My lord delays coming, and begins to beat the male servants and the female servants, and to eat and drink and be drunk,

46 the lord of that slave shall come on a day which he does not expect and at an hour which he does not know, and shall cut him in two and place his portion with the unbelievers.

47 And that slave who knew his own lord's will and did not prepare nor do according to his will shall be beaten with many blows.

48 But the one not knowing, but doing things worthy of blows, shall be beaten with few; and from everyone to whom much was given, much shall be sought, and from the one to whom they entrusted much, they shall ask more.

49 I came to cast fire into the earth, and what do I wish if it was already kindled!

50 But I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how I am held until it is completed!

51 Do you think that I came to give peace on the earth? No, I say to you, but rather division.

52 For from now five in one house shall be divided, three against two and two against three.

53 Father shall be divided against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.

54 And he also was saying to the crowds: When you see the cloud rising from the west, immediately you say: A rainstorm comes, and it happens so.

55 And when a south wind blows, you say that there shall be scorching heat, and it happens.

56 Hypocrites, you know to examine the face of the earth and the heaven, but how do you not examine this time?

57 And why do you not also judge what is just from yourselves?

58 For as you go with your adversary before a ruler, on the road give effort to be released from him, lest he drag you to the judge, and the judge hand you over to the officer, and the officer cast you into prison.

59 I say to you: You shall certainly not come out from there until you repay even the last lepton.

Chapter 13

1 And some were present at that very time, reporting to him concerning the Galileans whose blood Pilate mixed with their sacrifices.

2 And Jesus answered and said to them: Do you think that these Galileans became sinners beyond all the Galileans because they have suffered such things?

3 No, I say to you, but unless you repent, you shall all likewise perish.

4 Or those eighteen upon whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them, do you think that these became debtors beyond all men dwelling in Jerusalem?

5 No, I say to you, but unless you repent, you shall all similarly perish.

6 And he was telling this parable: Someone had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and came seeking fruit on it and did not find.

7 And he said to the vine dresser: Behold, three years I come seeking fruit on this fig tree and do not find; cut it down; why does it also render the earth idle?

8 And he answered and says to him: Lord, leave it this year also, until I dig around it and put manure,

9 and if it produces fruit; but otherwise, in the future you shall cut it down.

10 And he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath.

11 And behold, there was a woman having a spirit of illness eighteen years, and she was bent together and unable to straighten up completely.

12 And Jesus saw her and called her and said to her: Woman, you have been released from your illness.

13 And he laid his hands upon her, and immediately she was straightened and was glorifying God.

14 But the synagogue ruler answered, indignant because Jesus healed on the Sabbath, and was saying to the crowd: There are six days in which one must work; therefore come and be healed in these, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Therefore the Lord answered him and said: Hypocrite, does not each of you on the Sabbath loose his ox or donkey from the manger and lead it away and give it to drink?

16 But this woman, being Abraham's daughter, whom Satan bound, behold, eighteen years, ought she not to be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And while he said these things, all those opposing him were being put to shame, and the whole crowd was rejoicing over all the glorious things happening by him.

18 And he was saying: What is the kingdom of God like, and to what shall I liken it?

19 It is like a grain of mustard which a man took and cast into his own garden, and it grew and became a great tree, and the birds of the heaven dwelt in its branches.

20 And again he said: To what shall I liken the kingdom of God?

21 It is like leaven which a woman took and hid in three sata of flour, until the whole was leavened.

22 And he was passing through cities and villages, teaching and making a journey into Jerusalem.

23 And someone said to him: Lord, are those being saved few? And he said to them:

24 Struggle to enter through the narrow gate, because many, I say to you, shall seek to enter and shall not be strong enough.

25 From when the master of the house rises and shuts the door, and you begin to stand outside and knock at the door, saying: Lord, Lord, open to us, he shall answer and say to you: I do not know you, from where you are.

26 Then you shall begin to say: We ate and drank before you, and you taught in our streets.

27 And he shall say: I say to you, I do not know you, from where you are; depart from me, all workers of unrighteousness.

28 There shall be the weeping and the grinding of teeth, when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, but yourselves being cast outside.

29 And they shall come from east and west and from north and south, and shall recline in the kingdom of God.

30 And behold, there are last who shall be first, and there are first who shall be last.

31 In that very day some Pharisees approached, saying to him: Go out and depart from here, because Herod wishes to kill you.

32 And he said to them: Go and tell this fox: Behold, I cast out demons and complete healings today and tomorrow, and on the third I am completed.

33 Nevertheless I must go today and tomorrow and the following day, because it is not possible for a prophet to perish outside Jerusalem.

34 Jerusalem, Jerusalem, who kills the prophets and stones those sent to her, how often I wished to gather your children together in the manner that a hen gathers her own brood under the wings, and you were unwilling!

35 Behold, your house is left to you deserted; and amen, I say to you that you shall certainly not see me until it comes when you say: Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord.

Chapter 14

1 And it happened when he came into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees on a Sabbath to eat bread, they were watching him.

2 And behold, a certain man with dropsy was before him.

3 And Jesus answered and said to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying: Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?

4 But they were quiet; and taking hold of him, he healed him and released him.

5 And answering them, he said: Whose donkey or ox of you shall fall into a well, and he shall not immediately pull it up on the Sabbath day?

6 And they were not strong enough to answer him concerning these things.

7 And he was telling a parable to those invited, observing how they chose the first reclining places, saying to them:

8 When you are invited by someone to a wedding feast, do not recline in the first reclining place, lest someone more honored than you has been invited by him,

9 and the one inviting you and him comes and shall say to you: Give this one a place; and then you shall begin with shame to occupy the last place.

10 But when you are invited, go and recline in the last place, so that when the one inviting you comes, he may say to you: Friend, come up higher; then you shall have glory before those reclining with you.

11 Because everyone exalting himself shall be humbled, and the one humbling himself shall be exalted.

12 And he also was saying to the one inviting him: When you make a meal or supper, do not call your friends nor your brothers nor your relatives nor rich neighbors, lest they also invite you back and a repayment come to you.

13 But when you make a reception, invite poor, crippled, lame, blind people,

14 and you shall be blessed, because they have nothing to repay you, for it shall be repaid you in the resurrection of the righteous.

15 And one of those reclining with him heard these things and said to him: Blessed is whoever shall eat bread in the kingdom of God.

16 And he said to him: A certain man made a great supper and invited many,

17 and sent his slave at the hour of the supper to tell those invited: Come, because everything is already ready.

18 And all began from one accord to excuse themselves; the first said to him: I bought a field and have necessity to go out and see it; I ask you, hold me excused.

19 And another said: I bought five pairs of oxen and go to examine them; I ask you, hold me excused.

20 And another said: I married a wife, and for this reason I cannot come.

21 And that slave arrived and reported these things to his lord; then the master of the house became angry and said to his slave: Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring here the poor and crippled and lame and blind.

22 And the slave said: Lord, it has happened as you commanded, and there is still room.

23 And the lord said to the slave: Go out into the roads and fences and compel them to enter, so that my house may be filled.

24 For I say to you that none of those men invited shall taste my supper.

25 And many crowds were going with him, and turning, he said to them:

26 If anyone comes to me and does not hate his own father and mother and wife and children and brothers and sisters, and further even his own soul, he cannot be my disciple.

27 And whoever does not carry his cross and come behind me cannot be my disciple.

28 For which of you, wishing to build a tower, does not first sit and calculate the expense, whether he has the things for completion,

29 lest when he has placed a foundation and is not strong enough to finish, all who behold begin to mock him,

30 saying: This man began to build and was not strong enough to finish?

31 Or what king, going to meet another king in war, does not first sit and take counsel whether he is able with ten thousand to meet the one coming against him with twenty thousand?

32 Otherwise, while he is still far off, he sends an embassy and asks the things for peace.

33 So therefore everyone of you who does not take leave of all his own possessions cannot be my disciple.

34 The salt is good, but if the salt becomes tasteless, with what shall it be seasoned?

35 It is fit neither for earth nor for manure; they cast it outside. He who has ears to hear, let him hear.

Chapter 15

1 And all the tax collectors and sinners were drawing near to him to hear him.

2 And the Pharisees and scribes were grumbling, saying: This man receives sinners and eats with them.

3 And he told them this parable, saying:

4 What man of you, having a hundred sheep and losing one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the desert and go after the lost one until he finds it?

5 And finding, he places it upon his own shoulders, rejoicing.

6 And coming into the house, he calls together the friends and neighbors, saying to them: Rejoice with me, because I found my sheep which was lost.

7 I say to you that so there shall be joy in the heaven over one sinner repenting, rather than over ninety-nine righteous men who have no need of repentance.

8 Or what woman having ten drachmas, if she loses one drachma, does not light a lamp and sweep the house and seek diligently until she finds?

9 And finding, she calls together the female friends and neighbors, saying: Rejoice with me, because I found the drachma which I lost.

10 So, I say to you, joy happens before the angels of God over one sinner repenting.

11 And he said: A certain man had two sons,

12 and the younger of them said to the father: Father, give me the portion of the property falling to me. And he divided the livelihood for them.

13 And after not many days, the younger son gathered everything and went abroad into a distant region, and there scattered his property, living wastefully.

14 And when he spent everything, a strong famine came throughout that region, and he began to lack.

15 And going, he joined himself to one of the citizens of that region, and he sent him into his fields to feed pigs.

16 And he was desiring to fill his belly from the pods which the pigs ate, and no one was giving to him.

17 And coming to himself, he said: How many hired men of my father abound in loaves, but I perish with famine!

18 I shall rise and go to my father and say to him: Father, I sinned against the heaven and before you,

19 and I am no longer worthy to be called your son; make me as one of your hired men.

20 And rising, he came to his own father; but while he was still far off, his father saw him and had compassion, and ran and fell upon his neck and kissed him fervently.

21 And the son said to him: Father, I sinned against the heaven and before you, and I am no longer worthy to be called your son.

22 But the father said to his slaves: Bring out the first robe and clothe him, and give a ring onto his hand and sandals onto his feet,

23 and bring the fattened calf and slaughter it, and let us eat and rejoice,

24 because this son of mine was dead and lived again, and was lost and was found. And they began to rejoice.

25 And his elder son was in a field, and as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing,

26 and calling one of his servants, he was inquiring what these things might be.

27 And he said to him: Your brother has come, and your father slaughtered the fattened calf, because he received him back healthy.

28 But he became angry and was unwilling to enter; therefore his father went out and was begging him.

29 But he answered and said to the father: Behold, so many years I slave for you, and never passed by your commandment, and you never gave me a young goat so that I might rejoice with my friends.

30 But when this son of yours came, who devoured your livelihood with prostitutes, you slaughtered the fattened calf for him.

31 And he said to him: Child, you are always with me, and all my things are yours.

32 But it was necessary to rejoice and be glad, because this brother of yours was dead and lived again, and was lost and was found.

Chapter 16

1 And he was also saying to his disciples, A certain man was rich, who had a steward, and this man was accused before him of scattering his possessions.

2 And having called him, he said to him, What is this I hear about you? Give the account of your stewardship, for you will no longer be able to act as steward.

3 And the steward said within himself, What shall I do, because my master is taking the stewardship away from me? I am not strong enough to dig; I am ashamed to beg.

4 I know what I shall do, so that when I am removed from the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.

5 And having summoned each one of his master's debtors, he was saying to the first, How much do you owe my master?

6 And he said, A hundred baths of oil. And he said to him, Take your document, and having sat down, quickly write fifty.

7 Then he said to another, And how much do you owe? And he said, A hundred cors of wheat. And he says to him, Take your document and write eighty.

8 And the master praised the steward of unrighteousness because he had acted prudently, because the sons of this age are more prudent toward their own generation than the sons of the light.

9 And I say to you, Make friends for yourselves from the mammon of unrighteousness, so that when you fail, they may receive you into the eternal tents.

10 The one faithful in the least is faithful also in much, and the one unrighteous in the least is unrighteous also in much.

11 If therefore you did not become faithful in unrighteous mammon, who will entrust the true thing to you?

12 And if you did not become faithful in what belongs to another, who will give you what is yours?

13 No household servant can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will hold to one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.

14 And the Pharisees, being lovers of money, were also hearing all these things, and were sneering at him.

15 And he said to them, You are those who justify yourselves before people, but God knows your hearts, because what is exalted among people is an abomination before God.

16 The law and the prophets were until John. From then the kingdom of God is proclaimed as good news, and everyone forces his way into it.

17 But it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for one stroke of the law to fall.

18 Everyone who dismisses his wife and marries another commits adultery, and everyone who marries a woman dismissed from a husband commits adultery.

19 And a certain man was rich, and was dressing in purple and fine linen, rejoicing splendidly every day.

20 And there was a certain poor man named Lazarus, who had been laid at his gateway, covered with sores,

21 and desiring to be filled from the crumbs falling from the rich man's table. But even the dogs, coming, were licking his sores.

22 And it happened that the poor man died and was carried away by the angels into Abraham's bosom. And the rich man also died and was buried.

23 And in Hades, having lifted up his eyes, being in torments, he sees Abraham from far away and Lazarus in his bosom.

24 And having called out, he said, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus so that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, because I am in anguish in this flame.

25 But Abraham said, Child, remember that you received your good things in your life, and Lazarus likewise the bad things. But now he is comforted, and you are in anguish.

26 And besides all these things, between us and you a great chasm has been fixed, so that those wishing to cross from here to you cannot, nor may those from there cross over to us.

27 And he said, I ask you therefore, father, that you send him to my father's house,

28 for I have five brothers, so that he may testify solemnly to them, so that they too may not come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham says to him, They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them.

30 And he said, No, father Abraham, but if someone from the dead goes to them, they will repent.

31 But he said to him, If they do not hear Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded if someone rises from the dead.

Chapter 17

1 And he said to the disciples, It is impossible for stumbling blocks not to come, but woe to him through whom they come.

2 It is better for him if a donkey millstone is placed around his neck and he is thrown into the sea than that he cause one of these little ones to stumble.

3 Pay attention to yourselves. And if your brother sins against you, rebuke him; and if he repents, forgive him.

4 And if he sins against you seven times in the day, and seven times in the day turns back to you, saying, I repent, you shall forgive him.

5 And the apostles said to the Lord, Add faith to us.

6 And the Lord said, If you had faith as a mustard seed, you would say to this mulberry tree, Be uprooted and be planted in the sea, and it would obey you.

7 And which of you, having a slave plowing or tending a flock, will say to him when he has come in from the field, Immediately come over and recline?

8 But will he not say to him, Prepare what I shall dine on, and having girded yourself, serve me until I eat and drink, and after these things you shall eat and drink?

9 Does he have gratitude to that slave because he did the things commanded him? I do not think so.

10 Thus also you, when you have done all the things commanded you, say, We are useless slaves, because we have done what we owed to do.

11 And it happened as he was going to Jerusalem that he was passing through the midst of Samaria and Galilee.

12 And as he was entering a certain village, ten leprous men met him, who stood far away.

13 And they raised their voice, saying, Jesus, Master, have mercy on us.

14 And having seen them, he said to them, Go and show yourselves to the priests. And it happened that as they were going, they were cleansed.

15 And one of them, having seen that he was healed, returned, glorifying God with a loud voice.

16 And he fell on his face at his feet, giving thanks to him. And he was a Samaritan.

17 And answering, Jesus said, Were not the ten cleansed? But where are the nine?

18 Were none found who returned to give glory to God except this foreigner?

19 And he said to him, Rise and go; your faith has saved you.

20 And having been asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God comes, he answered them and said, The kingdom of God does not come with observation.

21 Nor will they say, Look, here, or, Look, there; for look, the kingdom of God is within you.

22 And he said to the disciples, Days will come when you will desire to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it.

23 And they will say to you, Look, here, or, Look, there. Do not go away, nor pursue.

24 For just as the lightning, flashing from one place under heaven, shines to another under heaven, so also will the Son of Man be in his day.

25 But first he must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation.

26 And just as it happened in the days of Noah, so also will it be in the days of the Son of Man.

27 They were eating, drinking, marrying, being given in marriage, until the day Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all.

28 Likewise also, as it happened in the days of Lot, they were eating, drinking, buying, selling, planting, building.

29 But on the day Lot went out from Sodom, it rained fire and sulfur from heaven and destroyed them all.

30 It will be according to these things on the day the Son of Man is revealed.

31 On that day, whoever will be on the housetop, and his goods in the house, let him not go down to take them; and the one in the field, likewise let him not turn back to the things behind.

32 Remember Lot's wife.

33 Whoever seeks to save his life will lose it, and whoever loses it will preserve it alive.

34 I say to you, On this night two will be on one bed; the one will be taken along, and the other will be left.

35 Two women will be grinding together; one will be taken along, and the other will be left.

36

37 And answering, they say to him, Where, Lord? And he said to them, Where the body is, there the eagles will be gathered.

Chapter 18

1 And he was also telling them a parable about the necessity of always praying and not losing heart,

2 saying, A certain judge was in a certain city, not fearing God and not respecting a person.

3 And a widow was in that city, and was coming to him, saying, Give me justice against my adversary.

4 And he was unwilling for a time. But after these things he said within himself, Even though I do not fear God and do not respect a person,

5 yet because this widow causes me trouble, I will give her justice, so that by coming continually she may not strike me under the eye.

6 And the Lord said, Hear what the judge of unrighteousness says.

7 And will God not give justice to his chosen ones, who cry to him day and night, and be patient over them?

8 I say to you that he will give them justice quickly. Nevertheless, when the Son of Man comes, will he find faith on the earth?

9 And he also told this parable to certain people who trusted in themselves that they were righteous and despised the rest:

10 Two men went up into the temple to pray, the one a Pharisee and the other a tax collector.

11 The Pharisee, having stood, was praying these things to himself, God, I thank you that I am not as the rest of people, rapacious, unrighteous, adulterers, or even as this tax collector.

12 I fast twice in the week; I give a tenth of all that I acquire.

13 And the tax collector, standing far away, was unwilling even to lift his eyes to heaven, but was striking his chest, saying, God, be propitious to me, the sinner.

14 I say to you, This man went down to his house justified rather than that man, because everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the one who humbles himself will be exalted.

15 And they were also bringing the infants to him so that he might touch them. But having seen it, the disciples rebuked them.

16 But Jesus, having called them to him, said, Allow the children to come to me, and do not hinder them, for of such is the kingdom of God.

17 Amen, I say to you, Whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a child will certainly not enter into it.

18 And a certain ruler asked him, saying, Good teacher, having done what shall I inherit eternal life?

19 And Jesus said to him, Why do you call me good? No one is good except one, God.

20 You know the commandments: Do not commit adultery; do not murder; do not steal; do not bear false witness; honor your father and your mother.

21 And he said, All these things I have kept from my youth.

22 And having heard these things, Jesus said to him, One thing still is lacking to you. Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow me.

23 But having heard these things, he became deeply sorrowful, for he was exceedingly rich.

24 And Jesus, having seen him become deeply sorrowful, said, How difficultly those having wealth will enter into the kingdom of God!

25 For it is easier for a camel to enter through a needle's hole than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

26 And those who heard said, And who can be saved?

27 And he said, The things impossible with people are possible with God.

28 And Peter said, Look, we left everything and followed you.

29 And he said to them, Amen, I say to you that there is no one who left a house or parents or brothers or a wife or children for the sake of the kingdom of God,

30 who will not certainly receive many times more in this time, and in the coming age eternal life.

31 And having taken the twelve along, he said to them, Look, we are going up to Jerusalem, and all the things written through the prophets concerning the Son of Man will be completed.

32 For he will be handed over to the nations, and will be mocked and insulted and spat upon.

33 And having scourged him, they will kill him, and on the third day he will rise.

34 And they understood none of these things, and this saying was hidden from them, and they did not know the things being said.

35 And it happened as he was drawing near to Jericho that a certain blind man was sitting beside the road, begging.

36 And having heard a crowd passing through, he was asking what this might be.

37 And they reported to him that Jesus the Nazarene was passing by.

38 And he cried out, saying, Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me.

39 And those going ahead were rebuking him so that he would be silent, but he was crying out much more, Son of David, have mercy on me.

40 And having stood still, Jesus commanded him to be brought to him. And when he had drawn near, he asked him,

41 saying, What do you wish me to do for you? And he said, Lord, that I may see again.

42 And Jesus said to him, See again; your faith has saved you.

43 And immediately he saw again, and was following him, glorifying God; and all the people, having seen it, gave praise to God.

Chapter 19

1 And having entered, he was passing through Jericho.

2 And look, a man called by the name Zacchaeus, and he was a chief tax collector, and he was rich.

3 And he was seeking to see Jesus, who he is, and could not because of the crowd, because he was small in stature.

4 And having run ahead, he climbed up onto a sycamore tree so that he might see him, because he was about to pass through that way.

5 And when he came to the place, Jesus, having looked up, saw him and said to him, Zacchaeus, hurry and come down, for today I must stay in your house.

6 And having hurried, he came down and received him joyfully.

7 And having seen it, all were murmuring, saying that he went in to lodge with a sinful man.

8 But Zacchaeus, having stood, said to the Lord, Look, half of my possessions, Lord, I give to the poor, and if I extorted anything from anyone, I repay fourfold.

9 And Jesus said to him, Today salvation has come to this house, because he too is a son of Abraham.

10 For the Son of Man came to seek and to save what was lost.

11 And while they were hearing these things, he added and told a parable, because he was near Jerusalem and they supposed that the kingdom of God was about to appear immediately.

12 He said therefore, A certain man of noble birth went into a distant country to receive a kingdom for himself and to return.

13 And having called ten slaves of his, he gave them ten minas and said to them, Do business until I come.

14 But his citizens hated him, and sent a delegation after him, saying, We do not wish this man to reign over us.

15 And it happened when he returned, having received the kingdom, that he said that these slaves to whom he gave the silver should be called to him, so that he might know what each had gained by business.

16 And the first came, saying, Master, your mina gained ten minas.

17 And he said to him, Well done, good slave. Because you became faithful in the least, have authority over ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Master, your mina made five minas.

19 And he said also to this one, And you, be over five cities.

20 And another came, saying, Master, look, your mina, which I had laid away in a handkerchief.

21 For I feared you because you are a severe man. You take up what you did not lay down, and reap what you did not sow.

22 And he says to him, From your mouth I will judge you, wicked slave. You knew that I am a severe man, taking up what I did not lay down and reaping what I did not sow.

23 And why did you not give my silver to the bank, and I, having come, would have collected it with interest?

24 And he said to those standing by, Take the mina from him and give it to the one having the ten minas.

25 And they said to him, Master, he has ten minas.

26 For I say to you that to everyone having, it will be given, but from the one not having, even what he has will be taken from him.

27 Nevertheless, those enemies of mine who did not wish me to reign over them, bring here and slaughter before me.

28 And having said these things, he was going ahead, going up to Jerusalem.

29 And it happened when he drew near to Bethphage and Bethany, toward the mountain called Olives, that he sent two of his disciples,

30 saying, Go into the village opposite, in which, entering, you will find a colt tied, on which no person ever sat. Having untied it, bring it.

31 And if anyone asks you, Why do you untie it? thus you shall say to him, The Lord has need of it.

32 And those sent, having gone away, found it just as he said to them.

33 And as they were untying the colt, its owners said to them, Why do you untie the colt?

34 And they said, The Lord has need of it.

35 And they brought it to Jesus, and having thrown their own garments upon the colt, they mounted Jesus on it.

36 And as he was going, they were spreading their garments in the road.

37 And as he was already drawing near to the descent of the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began rejoicing to praise God with a loud voice concerning all the mighty works they had seen,

38 saying, Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the Lord. Peace in heaven, and glory in the highest.

39 And some of the Pharisees from the crowd said to him, Teacher, rebuke your disciples.

40 And answering, he said to them, I say to you that if these are silent, the stones will cry out.

41 And when he drew near, having seen the city, he wept over it,

42 saying, If you too had known, even in this your day, the things for your peace! But now they were hidden from your eyes.

43 Because days will come upon you, and your enemies will throw a rampart around you, and will surround you and hem you in from every side,

44 and will dash you to the ground, and your children within you, and will not leave in you a stone upon a stone, because you did not know the time of your visitation.

45 And having entered into the temple, he began to cast out those selling in it and buying,

46 saying to them, It is written, My house is a house of prayer, but you made it a cave of robbers.

47 And he was teaching daily in the temple. But the chief priests and the scribes were seeking to destroy him, and the foremost of the people.

48 And they were not finding what they might do, for all the people were hanging upon him, listening.

Chapter 20

1 And it happened on one of those days, as he was teaching the people in the temple and proclaiming good news, that the chief priests and the scribes came upon him with the elders.

2 And they spoke to him, saying, Tell us by what authority you do these things, or who is the one who gave you this authority?

3 And answering, he said to them, I too will ask you one matter, and tell me:

4 Was the baptism of John from heaven or from people?

5 And they reasoned together among themselves, saying, If we say, From heaven, he will say, Why then did you not believe him?

6 But if we say, From people, all the people will stone us to death, for they are persuaded that John is a prophet.

7 And they answered that they did not know from where.

8 And Jesus said to them, Neither do I tell you by what authority I do these things.

9 And he began to tell this parable to the people: A certain man planted a vineyard, and leased it to farmers, and went abroad for a considerable time.

10 And at the season he sent a slave to the farmers so that they might give him from the fruit of the vineyard, but the farmers, having beaten him, sent him away empty.

11 And he proceeded to send another slave, but they, having beaten and dishonored that one also, sent him away empty.

12 And he proceeded to send a third, but they, having wounded this one also, cast him out.

13 And the master of the vineyard said, What shall I do? I will send my beloved son; perhaps, having seen him, they will respect him.

14 But having seen him, the farmers were reasoning among themselves, saying, This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, so that the inheritance may become ours.

15 And having cast him outside the vineyard, they killed him. What therefore will the master of the vineyard do to them?

16 He will come and destroy these farmers and give the vineyard to others. And having heard, they said, May it not happen.

17 But having looked at them, he said, What therefore is this that is written: The stone which the builders rejected, this became the head of the corner?

18 Everyone who falls upon that stone will be shattered, but upon whomever it falls, it will crush him.

19 And the chief priests and the scribes sought to lay hands on him in that very hour, and feared the people, for they knew that he told this parable against them.

20 And having watched closely, they sent spies pretending themselves to be righteous, so that they might seize upon his word, to hand him over to the rule and the authority of the governor.

21 And they asked him, saying, Teacher, we know that you speak and teach rightly, and do not show partiality, but teach the way of God in truth.

22 Is it lawful for us to give tribute to Caesar or not?

23 But having perceived their craftiness, he said to them, Why do you test me?

24 Show me a denarius. Whose image and inscription does it have? And answering, they said, Caesar's.

25 And he said to them, Therefore give back the things of Caesar to Caesar, and the things of God to God.

26 And they were not able to seize upon his saying before the people, and having marveled at his answer, they were silent.

27 And some of the Sadducees, those disputing that there is a resurrection, having approached, asked him,

28 saying, Teacher, Moses wrote to us, If anyone's brother dies having a wife, and he dies childless, that his brother should take the wife and raise up seed for his brother.

29 There were therefore seven brothers, and the first, having taken a wife, died childless.

30 And the second took the wife, and he died childless.

31 And the third took her, and likewise also the seven did not leave children and died.

32 And later than all, the woman also died.

33 In the resurrection, therefore, of which of them does she become the wife? For the seven had her as wife.

34 And answering, Jesus said to them, The sons of this age marry and are given in marriage.

35 But those counted worthy to attain that age and the resurrection from the dead neither marry nor are given in marriage.

36 For neither can they die any longer, for they are equal to angels and are sons of God, being sons of the resurrection.

37 But that the dead are raised, even Moses disclosed at the bush, when he calls the Lord the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob.

38 And he is not God of the dead, but of the living, for all live to him.

39 And answering, some of the scribes said, Teacher, you spoke well.

40 And they no longer dared to ask him anything.

41 And he said to them, How do they say that the Christ is David's son?

42 And David himself says in the book of Psalms, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right, 43 until I place your enemies as a footstool for your feet.

44 David therefore calls him Lord, and how is he his son?

45 And while all the people were hearing, he said to his disciples,

46 Beware of the scribes who wish to walk in robes, and love greetings in the marketplaces, and first seats in the synagogues, and first places at dinners,

47 who devour the houses of widows and as a pretext pray at length. These will receive greater judgment.

Chapter 21

1 And having looked up, he saw the rich putting their gifts into the treasury.

2 And he also saw a certain needy widow putting two lepta there.

3 And he said, Truly I say to you that this poor widow put in more than all.

4 For all these put into the gifts of God from what abounded to them, but she, from her lack, put in all the livelihood she had.

5 And as some were speaking about the temple, that it was adorned with beautiful stones and dedicated offerings, he said,

6 These things which you behold, days will come in which a stone will not be left upon a stone that will not be torn down.

7 And they asked him, saying, Teacher, when therefore will these things be, and what is the sign when these things are about to happen?

8 And he said, See that you are not led astray, for many will come in my name, saying, I am, and, The time has drawn near. Do not therefore go after them.

9 And when you hear of wars and disorders, do not be terrified, for these things must happen first, but the end is not immediately.

10 Then he was saying to them, Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.

11 And there will be great earthquakes in various places, and famines and plagues, and there will be terrors and great signs from heaven.

12 But before all these things they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, handing you over to synagogues and prisons, being led before kings and governors for the sake of my name.

13 And it will turn out for you as a testimony.

14 Settle therefore in your hearts not to rehearse beforehand how to defend yourselves.

15 For I will give you a mouth and wisdom which all those opposing you will not be able to contradict or resist.

16 And you will be handed over even by parents and brothers and relatives and friends, and they will put some of you to death.

17 And you will be hated by all because of my name.

18 And a hair from your head will certainly not perish.

19 In your endurance acquire your lives.

20 And when you see Jerusalem being encircled by armies, then know that her desolation has drawn near.

21 Then let those in Judea flee into the mountains, and let those in her midst depart, and let those in the countryside not enter into her.

22 Because these are days of vengeance, for all the things written to be fulfilled.

23 But woe to those having a child in the womb and to those nursing in those days, for there will be great distress upon the land and wrath among this people.

24 And they will fall by the mouth of the sword, and will be taken captive into all the nations, and Jerusalem will be trampled by nations until the times of nations are fulfilled.

25 And there will be signs in sun and moon and stars, and upon the earth distress of nations in perplexity, the sea and the surge resounding,

26 people fainting from fear and expectation of the things coming upon the inhabited world, for the powers of the heavens will be shaken.

27 And then they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and much glory.

28 And when these things begin to happen, straighten up and lift up your heads, because your redemption draws near.

29 And he told them a parable: See the fig tree and all the trees.

30 When they already put forth growth, seeing it, you know from yourselves that summer is already near.

31 Thus also you, when you see these things happening, know that the kingdom of God is near.

32 Amen, I say to you that this generation will certainly not pass away until all things happen.

33 Heaven and earth will pass away, but my words will certainly not pass away.

34 But pay attention to yourselves, lest your hearts be weighed down in dissipation and drunkenness and cares of life, and that day come upon you suddenly.

35 For as a snare it will come upon all those sitting upon the face of all the earth.

36 Stay awake therefore at every time, pleading that you may be counted worthy to escape all these things about to happen and to stand before the Son of Man.

37 And during the days he was teaching in the temple, but during the nights, going out, he was lodging on the mountain called Olives.

38 And all the people were coming early in the morning to him in the temple to hear him.

Chapter 22

1 And the feast of Unleavened Bread, called Passover, was drawing near.

2 And the chief priests and the scribes were seeking how they might kill him, for they feared the people.

3 And Satan entered into Judas, surnamed Iscariot, being of the number of the twelve.

4 And having gone away, he spoke together with the chief priests and the captains about how he might hand him over to them.

5 And they rejoiced, and agreed to give him silver.

6 And he consented, and was seeking an opportunity to hand him over to them apart from a crowd.

7 And the day of Unleavened Bread came, on which the Passover had to be sacrificed.

8 And he sent Peter and John, saying, Go and prepare the Passover for us, so that we may eat.

9 And they said to him, Where do you wish us to prepare?

10 And he said to them, Look, when you have entered into the city, a man carrying a jar of water will meet you. Follow him into the house where he enters.

11 And you shall say to the master of the house, The Teacher says to you, Where is the lodging room where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?

12 And he will show you a large upper room furnished; prepare there.

13 And having gone away, they found it just as he had said to them, and prepared the Passover.

14 And when the hour came, he reclined, and the twelve apostles with him.

15 And he said to them, With desire I desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer.

16 For I say to you that I will certainly no longer eat of it until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God.

17 And having received a cup, having given thanks, he said, Take this and divide it among yourselves.

18 For I say to you that I will certainly not drink from the produce of the vine until the kingdom of God comes.

19 And having taken bread, having given thanks, he broke it and gave it to them, saying, This is my body, which is given for you. Do this for my remembrance.

20 Likewise also the cup after dining, saying, This cup is the new covenant in my blood, which is poured out for you.

21 Nevertheless, look, the hand of the one handing me over is with me upon the table.

22 And the Son of Man indeed goes according to what has been determined; nevertheless, woe to that man through whom he is handed over.

23 And they began to discuss among themselves who then it might be of them who was about to do this.

24 And a contention also arose among them as to which of them is considered to be greater.

25 And he said to them, The kings of the nations lord it over them, and those exercising authority over them are called benefactors.

26 But you shall not be thus; rather, let the greater among you become as the younger, and the one leading as the one serving.

27 For who is greater, the one reclining or the one serving? Is it not the one reclining? But I am in your midst as the one serving.

28 And you are those who have remained with me in my trials.

29 And I appoint to you a kingdom, just as my Father appointed to me,

30 so that you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

31 And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, look, Satan demanded you all, to sift you as wheat.

32 But I pleaded concerning you, so that your faith may not fail; and you, when you have turned back, strengthen your brothers.

33 And he said to him, Lord, with you I am ready to go both into prison and into death.

34 And he said, I say to you, Peter, a rooster will certainly not call today before you deny three times that you know me.

35 And he said to them, When I sent you without purse and bag and sandals, did you lack anything? And they said, Nothing.

36 He said therefore to them, But now let the one having a purse take it, likewise also a bag; and let the one not having sell his garment and buy a sword.

37 For I say to you that this thing written must still be completed in me: And he was reckoned with lawless ones. For also the things concerning me have an end.

38 And they said, Lord, look, here are two swords. And he said to them, It is enough.

39 And having gone out, he went according to his custom to the Mount of Olives, and his disciples also followed him.

40 And having come to the place, he said to them, Pray not to enter into temptation.

41 And he withdrew from them about a stone's throw, and having placed his knees down, was praying,

42 saying, Father, if you will, to take this cup away from me; nevertheless, let not my will, but yours, happen.

43 And an angel from heaven appeared to him, strengthening him.

44 And having come into agony, he was praying more earnestly; and his sweat became as clots of blood coming down upon the ground.

45 And having risen from prayer, having come to the disciples, he found them sleeping from sorrow.

46 And he said to them, Why do you sleep? Rise and pray, so that you may not enter into temptation.

47 And while he was still speaking, look, a crowd, and the one called Judas, one of the twelve, was going before them, and drew near to Jesus to kiss him.

48 But Jesus said to him, Judas, do you hand over the Son of Man with a kiss?

49 And those around him, having seen what would happen, said to him, Lord, shall we strike with a sword?

50 And a certain one of them struck the slave of the high priest, and took off his right ear.

51 But answering, Jesus said, Allow it as far as this. And having touched his ear, he healed him.

52 And Jesus said to the chief priests and captains of the temple and elders who had come against him, Did you come out as against a robber, with swords and clubs?

53 When I was with you daily in the temple, you did not stretch out your hands against me. But this is your hour, and the authority of darkness.

54 And having seized him, they led him and brought him into the house of the high priest. But Peter was following far away.

55 And when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the courtyard and had sat down together, Peter was sitting in their midst.

56 And a certain servant girl, having seen him sitting toward the light and having looked intently at him, said, This man also was with him.

57 But he denied him, saying, Woman, I do not know him.

58 And after a little while, another, having seen him, said, You too are of them. But Peter said, Man, I am not.

59 And about one hour having elapsed, a certain other was insisting, saying, In truth, this man too was with him, for he is also a Galilean.

60 But Peter said, Man, I do not know what you say. And immediately, while he was still speaking, the rooster called.

61 And having turned, the Lord looked at Peter, and Peter was reminded of the word of the Lord, how he said to him, Before a rooster calls, you will deny me three times.

62 And having gone outside, Peter wept bitterly.

63 And the men holding Jesus were mocking him, beating him.

64 And having covered him, they were striking his face, and asking him, saying, Prophesy: Who is the one who struck you?

65 And blaspheming, they were saying many other things against him.

66 And when day came, the eldership of the people was gathered, both chief priests and scribes, and they brought him up into their council, saying,

67 If you are the Christ, tell us. But he said to them, If I tell you, you will certainly not believe.

68 And if I also ask, you will certainly not answer me or release me.

69 From now the Son of Man will be sitting at the right of the power of God.

70 And all said, Are you therefore the Son of God? And he said to them, You say that I am.

71 And they said, What further need do we have of testimony? For we ourselves heard from his mouth.

Chapter 23

1 And the whole multitude of them, having risen, led him before Pilate.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We found this man perverting the nation and forbidding tribute to be given to Caesar, saying that he himself is Christ, a king.

3 And Pilate asked him, saying, Are you the King of the Jews? And answering him, he said, You say it.

4 And Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowds, I find no fault in this man.

5 But they were insisting, saying that he stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Judea, having begun from Galilee as far as here.

6 And Pilate, having heard Galilee, asked if the man is a Galilean.

7 And having learned that he is of Herod's authority, he sent him up to Herod, who himself was also in Jerusalem in these days.

8 And Herod, having seen Jesus, rejoiced greatly, for he had been wishing for a considerable time to see him, because of hearing many things about him; and he was hoping to see some sign done by him.

9 And he was questioning him with many words, but he answered him nothing.

10 And the chief priests and the scribes stood, vehemently accusing him.

11 And Herod, having despised him with his troops and having mocked him, having clothed him in a splendid garment, sent him up to Pilate.

12 And both Pilate and Herod became friends with each other on that very day, for previously they had been in enmity toward each other.

13 And Pilate, having called together the chief priests and the rulers and the people,

14 said to them, You brought this man to me as one turning the people away, and look, I, having examined him before you, found in this man no fault of the things you accuse him of.

15 But neither did Herod, for I sent you up to him, and look, nothing worthy of death has been done by him.

16 Having therefore chastised him, I will release him.

17 And he had a necessity to release one to them at the feast.

18 And they cried out with the whole multitude, saying, Take this man away, but release Barabbas to us,

19 who had been thrown into prison because of a certain uprising that happened in the city and murder.

20 Again therefore Pilate addressed them, wishing to release Jesus.

21 But they were shouting, saying, Crucify, crucify him.

22 And a third time he said to them, For what evil did this man do? I found no fault deserving death in him. Having therefore chastised him, I will release him.

23 But they were pressing with loud voices, demanding that he be crucified, and their voices and those of the chief priests were prevailing.

24 And Pilate decided that their demand should happen.

25 And he released to them the one who had been thrown into the prison because of uprising and murder, whom they were demanding, but Jesus he handed over to their will.

26 And as they led him away, having seized a certain Simon of Cyrene, coming from the countryside, they laid the cross upon him to carry behind Jesus.

27 And a great multitude of the people was following him, and of women, who were also beating themselves and lamenting him.

28 But Jesus, having turned to them, said, Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep over me, but weep over yourselves and over your children.

29 Because look, days are coming in which they will say, Blessed are the barren, and wombs that did not bear, and breasts that did not nurse.

30 Then they will begin to say to the mountains, Fall upon us, and to the hills, Cover us.

31 Because if they do these things in the moist wood, what may happen in the dry?

32 And two others also, criminals, were being led with him to be killed.

33 And when they came to the place called Skull, there they crucified him and the criminals, one on the right and one on the left.

34 But Jesus was saying, Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they do. And dividing his garments, they cast a lot.

35 And the people stood beholding, and the rulers also were sneering with them, saying, He saved others; let him save himself, if this is the Christ, the chosen one of God.

36 And the soldiers also were mocking him, approaching and offering him vinegar,

37 and saying, If you are the King of the Jews, save yourself.

38 And there was also an inscription written over him in Greek and Roman and Hebrew letters: This is the King of the Jews.

39 And one of the criminals who had been hung was blaspheming him, saying, If you are the Christ, save yourself and us.

40 But answering, the other was rebuking him, saying, Do you not even fear God, because you are in the same judgment?

41 And we indeed justly, for we receive things worthy of what we did, but this man did nothing improper.

42 And he was saying to Jesus, Remember me, Lord, when you come in your kingdom.

43 And Jesus said to him, Amen, I say to you, Today you will be with me in Paradise.

44 And it was about the sixth hour, and darkness came upon all the earth until the ninth hour.

45 And the sun was darkened, and the veil of the sanctuary was torn in the middle.

46 And having called with a loud voice, Jesus said, Father, into your hands I will entrust my spirit. And having said these things, he breathed out.

47 And the centurion, having seen what happened, glorified God, saying, Indeed this man was righteous.

48 And all the crowds who had come together to this spectacle, beholding the things that happened, were returning, striking their own chests.

49 And all his acquaintances stood far away, and women who had followed him from Galilee, seeing these things.

50 And look, a man named Joseph, being a council member, a good and righteous man,

51 this man had not consented to their counsel and action, from Arimathea, a city of the Jews, who himself also was awaiting the kingdom of God.

52 This man, having approached Pilate, asked for the body of Jesus.

53 And having taken it down, he wrapped it in linen and placed it in a rock-hewn tomb, where no one had yet been laid.

54 And it was the day of Preparation, and the Sabbath was dawning.

55 And women also who had come with him from Galilee, having followed after, beheld the tomb and how his body was placed.

56 And having returned, they prepared spices and ointments, and on the Sabbath indeed they rested according to the commandment.

Chapter 24

1 And on the first day of the week, at deep dawn, they came to the tomb, bringing the spices they prepared, and some others with them.

2 And they found the stone rolled away from the tomb.

3 And having entered, they did not find the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 And it happened as they were greatly perplexed about this that look, two men stood by them in flashing garments.

5 And as they became fearful and bowed their face to the ground, they said to them, Why do you seek the living one among the dead?

6 He is not here, but was raised. Remember how he spoke to you while still being in Galilee,

7 saying that the Son of Man must be handed over into the hands of sinful people and be crucified, and on the third day rise.

8 And they remembered his sayings.

9 And having returned from the tomb, they reported all these things to the eleven and to all the rest.

10 And they were Mary Magdalene and Joanna and Mary of James and the rest with them, who were telling these things to the apostles.

11 And their sayings appeared before them as nonsense, and they were disbelieving them.

12 But Peter, having risen, ran to the tomb, and having stooped to look, sees the linen cloths lying alone; and he went away to himself, marveling at what had happened.

13 And look, two of them were going on that very day to a village sixty stadia distant from Jerusalem, whose name was Emmaus.

14 And they were conversing with each other about all these things that had happened.

15 And it happened as they were conversing and discussing that Jesus himself, having drawn near, was going with them.

16 But their eyes were held from recognizing him.

17 And he said to them, What are these words which you exchange with each other while walking, and you are gloomy?

18 And answering, the one whose name was Cleopas said to him, Do you alone sojourn in Jerusalem and not know the things that happened in it in these days?

19 And he said to them, What things? And they said to him, The things concerning Jesus the Nazarene, who became a man, a prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people,

20 and how the chief priests and our rulers handed him over to a judgment of death and crucified him.

21 But we were hoping that he is the one about to redeem Israel. But indeed, with all these things, today brings this third day since these things happened.

22 But also some women from among us astonished us, having been at the tomb early,

23 and not having found his body, they came, saying also that they had seen a vision of angels who say that he lives.

24 And some of those with us went away to the tomb and found it thus, just as the women also said, but they did not see him.

25 And he said to them, O foolish and slow in heart to believe all that the prophets spoke!

26 Did not the Christ have to suffer these things and enter into his glory?

27 And having begun from Moses and from all the prophets, he was interpreting to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himself.

28 And they drew near to the village where they were going, and he was acting as though going farther.

29 And they urged him strongly, saying, Stay with us, because it is toward evening and the day has declined. And he entered to stay with them.

30 And it happened when he reclined with them that having taken the bread, he blessed, and having broken it, was giving it to them.

31 And their eyes were opened, and they recognized him, and he became invisible from them.

32 And they said to each other, Was not our heart burning within us as he was speaking to us on the road, and as he was opening the Scriptures to us?

33 And having risen in that very hour, they returned to Jerusalem and found the eleven and those with them gathered,

34 saying that the Lord was truly raised and appeared to Simon.

35 And they were relating the things on the road, and how he was known to them in the breaking of the bread.

36 And as they were speaking these things, Jesus himself stood in their midst and says to them, Peace to you.

37 But having been terrified and having become fearful, they supposed they were beholding a spirit.

38 And he said to them, Why are you troubled, and why do reasonings rise in your hearts?

39 See my hands and my feet, that I myself am he. Feel me and see, because a spirit does not have flesh and bones as you behold me having.

40 And having said this, he showed them his hands and feet.

41 And while they were still disbelieving from joy and marveling, he said to them, Do you have anything edible here?

42 And they gave him a portion of broiled fish and some from a honeycomb.

43 And having taken it, he ate before them.

44 And he said to them, These are the words which I spoke to you while still being with you, that all the things written in the law of Moses and prophets and Psalms concerning me must be fulfilled.

45 Then he opened their mind to understand the Scriptures.

46 And he said to them that thus it is written, and thus the Christ had to suffer and rise from the dead on the third day,

47 and repentance and forgiveness of sins to be proclaimed in his name to all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem.

48 And you are witnesses of these things.

49 And look, I send the promise of my Father upon you. But you, remain in the city of Jerusalem until you are clothed with power from on high.

50 And he led them out as far as Bethany, and having lifted his hands, blessed them.

51 And it happened as he was blessing them that he parted from them and was carried up into heaven.

52 And they, having worshiped him, returned to Jerusalem with great joy.

53 And they were continually in the temple, praising and blessing God. Amen.

John

Chapter 1

1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.

2 He was in the beginning with God.

3 All things came into being through him, and apart from him not even one thing came into being that has come into being.

4 In him was life, and the life was the light of people.

5 And the light shines in the darkness, and the darkness did not grasp it.

6 There came a man sent from God; his name was John.

7 He came for testimony, so that he might testify concerning the light, so that all might believe through him.

8 He was not the light, but came so that he might testify concerning the light.

9 He was the true light, which illuminates every person coming into the world.

10 He was in the world, and the world came into being through him, and the world did not know him.

11 He came to his own things, and his own people did not receive him.

12 But as many as received him, he gave them authority to become children of God, to those believing in his name,

13 who were born not from bloods, nor from the will of flesh, nor from the will of a man, but from God.

14 And the Word became flesh and dwelt in a tent among us, and we beheld his glory, glory as of an only-begotten one from the Father, full of grace and truth.

15 John testifies concerning him and has cried out, saying, This was the one of whom I said, The one coming after me has come to be before me, because he was before me.

16 And from his fullness we all received, and grace in place of grace.

17 Because the law was given through Moses; grace and truth came through Jesus Christ.

18 No one has ever seen God; the only-begotten Son, who is in the bosom of the Father, he explained him.

19 And this is the testimony of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem so that they might ask him, Who are you?

20 And he confessed and did not deny, and confessed that I am not the Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Are you Elijah? And he says, I am not. Are you the Prophet? And he answered, No.

22 They said therefore to him, Who are you, so that we may give an answer to those who sent us? What do you say concerning yourself?

23 He said, I am a voice of one crying in the wilderness, Make straight the way of the Lord, just as Isaiah the prophet said.

24 And those sent were from the Pharisees.

25 And they asked him and said to him, Why then do you baptize, if you are not the Christ, nor Elijah, nor the Prophet?

26 John answered them, saying, I baptize in water, but in your midst stands one whom you do not know.

27 He is the one coming after me, who has come to be before me, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to untie.

28 These things happened in Bethabara beyond the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

29 On the next day John sees Jesus coming to him and says, See, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world.

30 This is he concerning whom I said, After me comes a man who has come to be before me, because he was before me.

31 And I did not know him, but so that he might be manifested to Israel, for this I came baptizing in water.

32 And John testified, saying, I have beheld the Spirit descending as a dove from heaven, and it remained upon him.

33 And I did not know him, but the one who sent me to baptize in water, he said to me, Upon whomever you see the Spirit descending and remaining upon him, this is the one baptizing in the Holy Spirit.

34 And I have seen and have testified that this is the Son of God.

35 On the next day John again stood, and two of his disciples.

36 And having looked at Jesus walking, he says, See, the Lamb of God.

37 And the two disciples heard him speaking and followed Jesus.

38 But Jesus, having turned and having beheld them following, says to them, What do you seek? And they said to him, Rabbi, which translated is said, Teacher, where do you stay?

39 He says to them, Come and see. They came and saw where he stays, and stayed with him that day; and it was about the tenth hour.

40 Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, was one of the two who heard from John and followed him.

41 This man first finds his own brother Simon and says to him, We have found the Messiah, which translated is the Christ.

42 And he brought him to Jesus. And Jesus, having looked at him, said, You are Simon, the son of Jonah; you will be called Cephas, which is translated Peter.

43 On the next day Jesus wished to go out into Galilee, and finds Philip and says to him, Follow me.

44 And Philip was from Bethsaida, from the city of Andrew and Peter.

45 Philip finds Nathanael and says to him, We have found the one of whom Moses wrote in the law, and the prophets: Jesus, the son of Joseph, from Nazareth.

46 And Nathanael said to him, Can anything good be from Nazareth? Philip says to him, Come and see.

47 Jesus saw Nathanael coming to him and says concerning him, See, truly an Israelite in whom there is no deceit.

48 Nathanael says to him, From where do you know me? Jesus answered and said to him, Before Philip called you, being under the fig tree, I saw you.

49 Nathanael answered and says to him, Rabbi, you are the Son of God; you are the King of Israel.

50 Jesus answered and said to him, Because I said to you, I saw you beneath the fig tree, do you believe? You will see greater things than these.

51 And he says to him, Amen, amen, I say to you, From now you will see heaven opened, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man.

Chapter 2

1 And on the third day a wedding took place in Cana of Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there.

2 And Jesus also was invited, and his disciples, to the wedding.

3 And when wine was lacking, the mother of Jesus says to him, They have no wine.

4 Jesus says to her, What is there to me and to you, woman? My hour has not yet come.

5 His mother says to the servants, Whatever he says to you, do.

6 And six stone water jars were lying there, according to the purification of the Jews, holding two or three measures each.

7 Jesus says to them, Fill the water jars with water. And they filled them to the top.

8 And he says to them, Draw now and carry to the master of the feast. And they carried it.

9 And when the master of the feast tasted the water that had become wine, and did not know from where it is, but the servants who had drawn the water knew, the master of the feast calls the bridegroom,

10 and says to him, Every person sets out the good wine first, and when they have become drunk, then the inferior. You have kept the good wine until now.

11 Jesus did this beginning of the signs in Cana of Galilee, and manifested his glory, and his disciples believed in him.

12 After this he went down to Capernaum, he and his mother and his brothers and his disciples, and they stayed there not many days.

13 And the Passover of the Jews was near, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

14 And he found in the temple those selling oxen and sheep and doves, and the money changers sitting.

15 And having made a whip from cords, he cast all out of the temple, both the sheep and the oxen, and poured out the coins of the money changers and overturned the tables.

16 And he said to those selling the doves, Take these things away from here; do not make my Father's house a house of trade.

17 And his disciples remembered that it is written, The zeal of your house devoured me.

18 The Jews therefore answered and said to him, What sign do you show us, because you do these things?

19 Jesus answered and said to them, Destroy this sanctuary, and in three days I will raise it.

20 The Jews therefore said, In forty-six years this sanctuary was built, and will you raise it in three days?

21 But he was speaking concerning the sanctuary of his body.

22 When therefore he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he was saying this to them, and believed the Scripture and the word which Jesus said.

23 And when he was in Jerusalem at the Passover, at the feast, many believed in his name, beholding his signs which he was doing.

24 But Jesus himself was not entrusting himself to them, because he knew all,

25 and because he had no need that anyone testify concerning the person, for he himself knew what was in the person.

Chapter 3

1 And there was a man from the Pharisees, Nicodemus his name, a ruler of the Jews.

2 This man came to Jesus by night and said to him, Rabbi, we know that you have come from God as a teacher, for no one can do these signs which you do unless God is with him.

3 Jesus answered and said to him, Amen, amen, I say to you, Unless someone is born from above, he cannot see the kingdom of God.

4 Nicodemus says to him, How can a person be born, being old? He cannot enter a second time into his mother's womb and be born, can he?

5 Jesus answered, Amen, amen, I say to you, Unless someone is born from water and Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6 What has been born from the flesh is flesh, and what has been born from the Spirit is spirit.

7 Do not marvel that I said to you, You must be born from above.

8 The spirit blows where it wishes, and you hear its voice, but do not know from where it comes and where it goes. Thus is everyone who has been born from the Spirit.

9 Nicodemus answered and said to him, How can these things happen?

10 Jesus answered and said to him, Are you the teacher of Israel, and do not know these things?

11 Amen, amen, I say to you that what we know we speak, and what we have seen we testify, and you do not receive our testimony.

12 If I told you the earthly things and you do not believe, how will you believe if I tell you the heavenly things?

13 And no one has ascended into heaven except the one who descended from heaven, the Son of Man, who is in heaven.

14 And just as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, thus the Son of Man must be lifted up, 15 so that everyone believing in him may not perish, but have eternal life.

16 For thus God loved the world, so that he gave his only-begotten Son, so that everyone believing in him may not perish, but have eternal life.

17 For God did not send his Son into the world so that he might judge the world, but so that the world might be saved through him.

18 The one believing in him is not judged, but the one not believing has already been judged, because he has not believed in the name of the only-begotten Son of God.

19 And this is the judgment, that the light has come into the world, and people loved the darkness rather than the light, for their works were wicked.

20 For everyone practicing base things hates the light and does not come to the light, so that his works may not be exposed.

21 But the one doing the truth comes to the light, so that his works may be manifested, that they have been worked in God.

22 After these things Jesus and his disciples came into the land of Judea, and there he was spending time with them and baptizing.

23 And John also was baptizing in Aenon near Salim, because there were many waters there, and they were coming and being baptized.

24 For John had not yet been thrown into the prison.

25 There arose therefore a dispute from John's disciples with Jews concerning purification.

26 And they came to John and said to him, Rabbi, the one who was with you beyond the Jordan, to whom you have testified, see, this man baptizes, and all come to him.

27 John answered and said, A person can receive nothing unless it has been given to him from heaven.

28 You yourselves testify to me that I said, I am not the Christ, but that I have been sent before him.

29 The one having the bride is the bridegroom, but the friend of the bridegroom, who stands and hears him, rejoices with joy because of the bridegroom's voice. This joy of mine therefore has been fulfilled.

30 He must increase, but I must decrease.

31 The one coming from above is above all. The one being from the earth is from the earth and speaks from the earth. The one coming from heaven is above all.

32 And what he has seen and heard, this he testifies, and no one receives his testimony.

33 The one who received his testimony sealed that God is true.

34 For the one whom God sent speaks the sayings of God, for God does not give the Spirit by measure.

35 The Father loves the Son and has given all things in his hand.

36 The one believing in the Son has eternal life, but the one disobeying the Son will not see life, but the wrath of God remains upon him.

Chapter 4

1 When therefore the Lord knew that the Pharisees heard that Jesus makes and baptizes more disciples than John,

2 although Jesus himself was not baptizing, but his disciples,

3 he left Judea and went away again into Galilee.

4 And he had to pass through Samaria.

5 He comes therefore into a city of Samaria called Sychar, near the field which Jacob gave to Joseph his son.

6 And Jacob's spring was there. Jesus therefore, having become wearied from the journey, was sitting thus at the spring. It was about the sixth hour.

7 A woman from Samaria comes to draw water. Jesus says to her, Give me to drink.

8 For his disciples had gone away into the city so that they might buy food.

9 The Samaritan woman therefore says to him, How do you, being a Jew, ask to drink from me, being a Samaritan woman? For Jews do not associate with Samaritans.

10 Jesus answered and said to her, If you knew the gift of God, and who is the one saying to you, Give me to drink, you would have asked him, and he would have given you living water.

11 The woman says to him, Sir, you do not even have a drawing vessel, and the well is deep. From where therefore do you have the living water?

12 You are not greater than our father Jacob, who gave us the well and drank from it himself, and his sons and his livestock, are you?

13 Jesus answered and said to her, Everyone drinking from this water will thirst again.

14 But whoever drinks from the water which I will give him will certainly not thirst forever, but the water which I will give him will become in him a spring of water leaping into eternal life.

15 The woman says to him, Sir, give me this water, so that I may not thirst nor come here to draw.

16 Jesus says to her, Go, call your husband, and come here.

17 The woman answered and said, I have no husband. Jesus says to her, You said well, I have no husband.

18 For you had five husbands, and the one you now have is not your husband. This you have spoken truly.

19 The woman says to him, Sir, I behold that you are a prophet.

20 Our fathers worshiped on this mountain, and you say that in Jerusalem is the place where one must worship.

21 Jesus says to her, Woman, believe me that an hour comes when neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you worship the Father.

22 You worship what you do not know; we worship what we know, because salvation is from the Jews.

23 But an hour comes, and now is, when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth, for the Father also seeks such as those worshiping him.

24 God is spirit, and those worshiping him must worship in spirit and truth.

25 The woman says to him, I know that Messiah comes, the one called Christ. When he comes, he will announce all things to us.

26 Jesus says to her, I am, the one speaking to you.

27 And upon this his disciples came, and marveled that he was speaking with a woman. Nevertheless no one said, What do you seek? or, Why do you speak with her?

28 The woman therefore left her water jar and went away into the city, and says to the people,

29 Come, see a man who told me all things that I did. Could this be the Christ?

30 They therefore went out from the city and were coming to him.

31 And in the meantime the disciples were asking him, saying, Rabbi, eat.

32 But he said to them, I have food to eat which you do not know.

33 The disciples therefore were saying to each other, Did anyone bring him something to eat?

34 Jesus says to them, My food is that I may do the will of the one who sent me and complete his work.

35 Do you not say that there are still four months, and the harvest comes? Look, I say to you, Lift up your eyes and behold the fields, because they are already white for harvest.

36 And the one reaping receives wages and gathers fruit into eternal life, so that both the one sowing and the one reaping may rejoice together.

37 For in this the saying is true, that one is the one sowing and another the one reaping.

38 I sent you to reap what you have not labored for. Others have labored, and you have entered into their labor.

39 And from that city many of the Samaritans believed in him because of the word of the woman testifying that he told me all things that I did.

40 When therefore the Samaritans came to him, they were asking him to stay with them, and he stayed there two days.

41 And many more believed because of his word.

42 And they were saying to the woman, We no longer believe because of your speech, for we ourselves have heard and know that this is truly the Savior of the world, the Christ.

43 And after the two days he went out from there and went away into Galilee.

44 For Jesus himself testified that a prophet has no honor in his own homeland.

45 When therefore he came into Galilee, the Galileans received him, having seen all the things he did in Jerusalem at the feast, for they also came to the feast.

46 Jesus therefore came again into Cana of Galilee, where he made the water wine. And there was a certain royal official whose son was sick in Capernaum.

47 This man, having heard that Jesus has come from Judea into Galilee, went away to him and was asking him to come down and heal his son, for he was about to die.

48 Jesus therefore said to him, Unless you see signs and wonders, you will certainly not believe.

49 The royal official says to him, Sir, come down before my child dies.

50 Jesus says to him, Go; your son lives. And the man believed the word which Jesus said to him, and was going.

51 And as he was already going down, his slaves met him and reported, saying that your boy lives.

52 He therefore inquired from them the hour in which he became better, and they said to him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.

53 The father therefore knew that it was in that hour in which Jesus said to him, Your son lives, and he himself believed, and his whole house.

54 This again Jesus did as a second sign, having come from Judea into Galilee.

Chapter 5

1 After these things there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

2 And in Jerusalem at the Sheep Gate there is a pool, called in Hebrew Bethesda, having five porticoes.

3 In these lay a great multitude of the sick, blind, lame, withered, awaiting the movement of the water.

4 For an angel at a season was descending in the pool and troubling the water. Therefore the first who stepped in after the troubling of the water became healthy, with whatever disease he was held.

5 And a certain man was there, having thirty-eight years in sickness.

6 Jesus, having seen him lying and having known that he already has much time, says to him, Do you wish to become healthy?

7 The sick man answered him, Sir, I have no person to put me into the pool when the water is troubled; but while I am coming, another goes down before me.

8 Jesus says to him, Rise, take up your pallet, and walk.

9 And immediately the man became healthy, and took up his pallet and was walking. And it was Sabbath on that day.

10 The Jews therefore were saying to the one healed, It is Sabbath; it is not lawful for you to take up the pallet.

11 He answered them, The one who made me healthy, he said to me, Take up your pallet and walk.

12 They therefore asked him, Who is the man who said to you, Take up your pallet and walk?

13 But the one healed did not know who he is, for Jesus slipped away, a crowd being in the place.

14 After these things Jesus finds him in the temple and said to him, See, you have become healthy. Sin no longer, so that something worse may not happen to you.

15 The man went away and announced to the Jews that Jesus is the one who made him healthy.

16 And because of this the Jews were persecuting Jesus and seeking to kill him, because he was doing these things on Sabbath.

17 But Jesus answered them, My Father works until now, and I work.

18 Because of this therefore the Jews were seeking still more to kill him, because he was not only breaking the Sabbath, but also calling God his own Father, making himself equal to God.

19 Jesus therefore answered and said to them, Amen, amen, I say to you, The Son can do nothing from himself unless he sees the Father doing something, for whatever he does, these things the Son also does likewise.

20 For the Father loves the Son and shows him all things which he himself does, and will show him greater works than these, so that you may marvel.

21 For just as the Father raises the dead and makes them alive, thus also the Son makes alive those whom he wishes.

22 For neither does the Father judge anyone, but has given all judgment to the Son,

23 so that all may honor the Son just as they honor the Father. The one not honoring the Son does not honor the Father who sent him.

24 Amen, amen, I say to you that the one hearing my word and believing the one who sent me has eternal life, and does not come into judgment, but has passed from death into life.

25 Amen, amen, I say to you that an hour comes, and now is, when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God, and those who heard will live.

26 For just as the Father has life in himself, thus he also gave to the Son to have life in himself.

27 And he also gave him authority to execute judgment, because he is Son of Man.

28 Do not marvel at this, because an hour comes in which all those in the tombs will hear his voice,

29 and will go out, those who did the good things into a resurrection of life, but those who practiced the base things into a resurrection of judgment.

30 I can do nothing from myself. Just as I hear, I judge, and my judgment is righteous, because I do not seek my own will, but the will of the Father who sent me.

31 If I testify concerning myself, my testimony is not true.

32 There is another who testifies concerning me, and I know that the testimony which he testifies concerning me is true.

33 You have sent to John, and he has testified to the truth.

34 But I do not receive testimony from a person; rather, I say these things so that you may be saved.

35 He was the lamp burning and shining, but you wished to exult for an hour in his light.

36 But I have testimony greater than John's, for the works which the Father gave me so that I may complete them, the very works which I do, testify concerning me that the Father has sent me.

37 And the Father who sent me has himself testified concerning me. You have neither ever heard his voice nor seen his form.

38 And you do not have his word remaining in you, because the one whom he sent, this one you do not believe.

39 Search the Scriptures, because you suppose you have eternal life in them, and they are those testifying concerning me.

40 And you do not wish to come to me so that you may have life.

41 I do not receive glory from people.

42 But I have known you, that you do not have the love of God in yourselves.

43 I have come in the name of my Father, and you do not receive me. If another comes in his own name, you will receive that one.

44 How can you believe, receiving glory from each other, and you do not seek the glory from the only God?

45 Do not suppose that I will accuse you before the Father. There is one accusing you, Moses, in whom you have hoped.

46 For if you believed Moses, you would believe me, for he wrote concerning me.

47 But if you do not believe his writings, how will you believe my sayings?

Chapter 6

1 After these things Jesus went away beyond the sea of Galilee, of Tiberias.

2 And a great crowd was following him, because they were seeing his signs which he was doing upon the sick.

3 And Jesus went up into the mountain, and there was sitting with his disciples.

4 And the Passover, the feast of the Jews, was near.

5 Jesus therefore, having lifted his eyes and having beheld that a great crowd comes to him, says to Philip, From where shall we buy breads so that these may eat?

6 And he was saying this testing him, for he himself knew what he was about to do.

7 Philip answered him, Breads of two hundred denarii are not enough for them, so that each of them may receive a little.

8 One of his disciples, Andrew, the brother of Simon Peter, says to him,

9 There is one little boy here who has five barley breads and two small fish, but what are these for so many?

10 And Jesus said, Make the people recline. And there was much grass in the place. The men therefore reclined, about five thousand in number.

11 And Jesus took the breads, and having given thanks, distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to those reclining; likewise also from the small fish, as much as they wished.

12 And when they were filled, he says to his disciples, Gather the fragments that remained over, so that nothing may perish.

13 They therefore gathered and filled twelve baskets with fragments from the five barley breads, which remained over to those who had eaten.

14 The people therefore, having seen the sign which Jesus did, were saying that this is truly the Prophet coming into the world.

15 Jesus therefore, having known that they are about to come and seize him so that they may make him king, withdrew again into the mountain, himself alone.

16 And when evening came, his disciples went down to the sea,

17 and having entered into the boat, were coming beyond the sea to Capernaum. And darkness had already come, and Jesus had not come to them.

18 And the sea was being stirred up, a great wind blowing.

19 Having therefore rowed about twenty-five or thirty stadia, they behold Jesus walking upon the sea and coming near the boat, and they were afraid.

20 But he says to them, I am; do not fear.

21 They therefore wished to receive him into the boat, and immediately the boat came to the land to which they were going.

22 On the next day the crowd standing beyond the sea, having seen that no other little boat was there except that one into which his disciples entered, and that Jesus did not enter together with his disciples into the little boat, but his disciples alone went away,

23 but other little boats came from Tiberias near the place where they ate the bread after the Lord had given thanks,

24 when therefore the crowd saw that Jesus is not there, nor his disciples, they themselves also entered into the boats and came to Capernaum, seeking Jesus.

25 And having found him beyond the sea, they said to him, Rabbi, when have you come here?

26 Jesus answered them and said, Amen, amen, I say to you, You seek me not because you saw signs, but because you ate from the breads and were filled.

27 Work not for the food that perishes, but for the food that remains into eternal life, which the Son of Man will give you, for him the Father, God, sealed.

28 They therefore said to him, What do we do so that we may work the works of God?

29 Jesus answered and said to them, This is the work of God, that you believe in the one whom he sent.

30 They therefore said to him, What sign therefore do you do, so that we may see and believe you? What do you work?

31 Our fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, just as it is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat.

32 Jesus therefore said to them, Amen, amen, I say to you, Moses has not given you the bread from heaven, but my Father gives you the true bread from heaven.

33 For the bread of God is the one descending from heaven and giving life to the world.

34 They therefore said to him, Lord, always give us this bread.

35 And Jesus said to them, I am the bread of life. The one coming to me will certainly not hunger, and the one believing in me will certainly never thirst.

36 But I said to you that you have both seen me and do not believe.

37 Everything which the Father gives me will come to me, and the one coming to me I will certainly not cast outside.

38 Because I have descended from heaven not so that I may do my own will, but the will of the one who sent me.

39 And this is the will of the Father who sent me, that of everything which he has given me I may lose nothing, but raise it on the last day.

40 And this is the will of the one who sent me, that everyone beholding the Son and believing in him may have eternal life, and I will raise him on the last day.

41 The Jews therefore were murmuring concerning him, because he said, I am the bread that descended from heaven.

42 And they were saying, Is this not Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How therefore does this man say, I have descended from heaven?

43 Jesus therefore answered and said to them, Do not murmur with each other.

44 No one can come to me unless the Father who sent me draws him, and I will raise him on the last day.

45 It is written in the prophets, And all will be taught by God. Everyone therefore who heard from the Father and learned comes to me.

46 Not that anyone has seen the Father except the one being from God; he has seen the Father.

47 Amen, amen, I say to you, The one believing in me has eternal life.

48 I am the bread of life.

49 Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness and died.

50 This is the bread descending from heaven, so that someone may eat from it and not die.

51 I am the living bread that descended from heaven. If anyone eats from this bread, he will live forever. And also the bread which I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.

52 The Jews therefore were fighting with each other, saying, How can this man give us his flesh to eat?

53 Jesus therefore said to them, Amen, amen, I say to you, Unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink his blood, you do not have life in yourselves.

54 The one chewing my flesh and drinking my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him on the last day.

55 For my flesh truly is food, and my blood truly is drink.

56 The one chewing my flesh and drinking my blood remains in me, and I in him.

57 Just as the living Father sent me, and I live because of the Father, also the one chewing me, that one too will live because of me.

58 This is the bread that descended from heaven, not as your fathers ate the manna and died. The one chewing this bread will live forever.

59 He said these things in a synagogue, teaching in Capernaum.

60 Many therefore of his disciples, having heard, said, This word is hard; who can hear it?

61 But Jesus, knowing in himself that his disciples murmur concerning this, said to them, Does this cause you to stumble?

62 If therefore you behold the Son of Man ascending where he was before?

63 The Spirit is the one making alive; the flesh benefits nothing. The sayings which I speak to you are spirit and are life.

64 But there are some of you who do not believe. For Jesus knew from the beginning who are those not believing, and who is the one who will hand him over.

65 And he was saying, Because of this I have said to you that no one can come to me unless it has been given to him from my Father.

66 From this many of his disciples went away backward, and were no longer walking with him.

67 Jesus therefore said to the twelve, You too do not wish to go away, do you?

68 Simon Peter therefore answered him, Lord, to whom shall we go away? You have sayings of eternal life.

69 And we have believed and have known that you are the Christ, the Son of the living God.

70 Jesus answered them, Did I not choose you, the twelve? And one of you is a devil.

71 And he was speaking of Judas Iscariot of Simon, for this man was about to hand him over, being one of the twelve.

Chapter 7

1 And after these things Jesus was walking in Galilee, for he did not wish to walk in Judea, because the Jews were seeking to kill him.

2 And the feast of the Jews, the Tent-pitching, was near.

3 His brothers therefore said to him, Depart from here and go into Judea, so that your disciples also may behold your works which you do.

4 For no one does anything in secret and himself seeks to be in openness. If you do these things, manifest yourself to the world.

5 For not even his brothers were believing in him.

6 Jesus therefore says to them, My time is not yet present, but your time is always ready.

7 The world cannot hate you, but hates me, because I testify concerning it that its works are wicked.

8 You go up to this feast; I do not yet go up to this feast, because my time has not yet been fulfilled.

9 And having said these things to them, he remained in Galilee.

10 But when his brothers went up, then he himself also went up to the feast, not openly, but as in secret.

11 The Jews therefore were seeking him at the feast, and were saying, Where is he?

12 And there was much murmuring concerning him among the crowds. Some were saying that he is good, but others were saying, No, but he leads the crowd astray.

13 Nevertheless no one was speaking openly concerning him because of the fear of the Jews.

14 And when the feast was already at its middle, Jesus went up into the temple and was teaching.

15 And the Jews were marveling, saying, How does this man know letters, not having learned?

16 Jesus answered them and said, My teaching is not mine, but of the one who sent me.

17 If anyone wishes to do his will, he will know concerning the teaching, whether it is from God or I speak from myself.

18 The one speaking from himself seeks his own glory, but the one seeking the glory of the one who sent him, this one is true, and there is no unrighteousness in him.

19 Has Moses not given you the law? And none of you does the law. Why do you seek to kill me?

20 The crowd answered and said, You have a demon. Who seeks to kill you?

21 Jesus answered and said to them, I did one work, and you all marvel.

22 Because of this Moses has given you circumcision, not that it is from Moses, but from the fathers, and on Sabbath you circumcise a person.

23 If a person receives circumcision on Sabbath so that the law of Moses may not be broken, are you angry with me because I made a whole person healthy on Sabbath?

24 Do not judge according to appearance, but judge the righteous judgment.

25 Some of the Jerusalemites therefore were saying, Is this not the one whom they seek to kill?

26 And see, he speaks openly, and they say nothing to him. Could the rulers truly have known that this is truly the Christ?

27 But we know this man, from where he is; but when the Christ comes, no one knows from where he is.

28 Jesus therefore cried out in the temple, teaching and saying, You both know me and know from where I am. And I have not come from myself, but the one who sent me is true, whom you do not know.

29 But I know him, because I am from him, and he sent me.

30 They therefore were seeking to seize him, and no one laid a hand upon him, because his hour had not yet come.

31 But many from the crowd believed in him, and were saying, When the Christ comes, will he do more signs than these which this man did?

32 The Pharisees heard the crowd murmuring these things concerning him, and the Pharisees and the chief priests sent officers so that they might seize him.

33 Jesus therefore said to them, I am with you still a little time, and go to the one who sent me.

34 You will seek me and will not find, and where I am you cannot come.

35 The Jews therefore said among themselves, Where is this man about to go, that we will not find him? Is he about to go into the dispersion of the Greeks and teach the Greeks?

36 What is this word which he said, You will seek me and will not find, and where I am you cannot come?

37 And on the last day, the great one of the feast, Jesus stood and cried out, saying, If anyone thirsts, let him come to me and drink.

38 The one believing in me, just as the Scripture said, rivers of living water will flow from his belly.

39 And he said this concerning the Spirit, which those believing in him were about to receive, for there was not yet Holy Spirit, because Jesus was not yet glorified.

40 Many therefore from the crowd, having heard the word, were saying, This is truly the Prophet.

41 Others were saying, This is the Christ. But others were saying, Does the Christ come from Galilee?

42 Did not the Scripture say that the Christ comes from the seed of David and from Bethlehem, the village where David was?

43 A division therefore arose in the crowd because of him.

44 And some of them wished to seize him, but no one laid hands upon him.

45 The officers therefore came to the chief priests and Pharisees, and those said to them, Why did you not bring him?

46 The officers answered, Never did a person speak thus, as this person.

47 The Pharisees therefore answered them, Have you too been led astray?

48 Has anyone from the rulers believed in him, or from the Pharisees?

49 But this crowd, not knowing the law, they are accursed.

50 Nicodemus says to them, the one who came to him by night, being one of them,

51 Does our law judge the person unless it first hears from him and knows what he does?

52 They answered and said to him, Are you too from Galilee? Search and see that a prophet has not arisen from Galilee.

53 And each went to his house.

Chapter 8

1 But Jesus went to the Mount of Olives.

2 And at dawn he came again into the temple, and all the people were coming to him, and having sat down, he was teaching them.

3 And the scribes and the Pharisees bring to him a woman caught in adultery, and having stood her in the midst,

4 they say to him, Teacher, this woman was caught in the very act of committing adultery.

5 And in the law Moses commanded us that such women be stoned. What therefore do you say?

6 And they were saying this testing him, so that they might have something to accuse him of. But Jesus, having bent down, was writing with his finger into the ground.

7 And as they persisted in asking him, having straightened up, he said to them, Let the sinless one of you first throw the stone at her.

8 And again having bent down, he was writing into the ground.

9 But having heard, and being convicted by conscience, they were going out one by one, having begun from the elders to the last, and Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.

10 And Jesus, having straightened up and having beheld no one except the woman, said to her, Woman, where are those accusers of yours? Did no one condemn you?

11 And she said, No one, Lord. And Jesus said to her, Neither do I condemn you. Go, and sin no longer.

12 Jesus therefore spoke to them again, saying, I am the light of the world. The one following me will certainly not walk in the darkness, but will have the light of life.

13 The Pharisees therefore said to him, You testify concerning yourself; your testimony is not true.

14 Jesus answered and said to them, Even if I testify concerning myself, my testimony is true, because I know from where I came and where I go. But you do not know from where I come and where I go.

15 You judge according to the flesh; I judge no one.

16 And even if I judge, my judgment is true, because I am not alone, but I and the Father who sent me.

17 And in your law also it is written that the testimony of two people is true.

18 I am the one testifying concerning myself, and the Father who sent me testifies concerning me.

19 They therefore were saying to him, Where is your Father? Jesus answered, You know neither me nor my Father. If you knew me, you would also know my Father.

20 Jesus spoke these sayings in the treasury, teaching in the temple, and no one seized him, because his hour had not yet come.

21 Jesus therefore said again to them, I go away, and you will seek me and die in your sin. Where I go, you cannot come.

22 The Jews therefore were saying, Will he kill himself, because he says, Where I go, you cannot come?

23 And he said to them, You are from the things below; I am from the things above. You are from this world; I am not from this world.

24 I therefore said to you that you will die in your sins, for unless you believe that I am, you will die in your sins.

25 They therefore were saying to him, Who are you? And Jesus said to them, From the beginning, what I also speak to you.

26 I have many things to speak and judge concerning you, but the one who sent me is true, and what I heard from him, these things I say to the world.

27 They did not know that he was speaking to them of the Father.

28 Jesus therefore said to them, When you lift up the Son of Man, then you will know that I am, and I do nothing from myself, but just as my Father taught me, these things I speak.

29 And the one who sent me is with me; the Father did not leave me alone, because I always do the things pleasing to him.

30 As he was speaking these things, many believed in him.

31 Jesus therefore was saying to the Jews who had believed him, If you remain in my word, you are truly my disciples,

32 and you will know the truth, and the truth will free you.

33 They answered him, We are Abraham's seed, and have never been enslaved to anyone. How do you say that you will become free?

34 Jesus answered them, Amen, amen, I say to you that everyone doing sin is a slave of sin.

35 And the slave does not remain in the house forever; the son remains forever.

36 If therefore the Son frees you, you will be truly free.

37 I know that you are Abraham's seed, but you seek to kill me, because my word finds no room in you.

38 I speak what I have seen with my Father, and you therefore do what you have seen with your father.

39 They answered and said to him, Our father is Abraham. Jesus says to them, If you were Abraham's children, you would do Abraham's works.

40 But now you seek to kill me, a man who has spoken to you the truth which I heard from God. Abraham did not do this.

41 You do the works of your father. They therefore said to him, We have not been born from fornication; we have one Father, God.

42 Jesus therefore said to them, If God were your Father, you would love me, for I went out from God and have come; for neither have I come from myself, but he sent me.

43 Why do you not know my speech? Because you cannot hear my word.

44 You are from your father the devil, and you wish to do the desires of your father. He was a murderer from the beginning and has not stood in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaks the lie, he speaks from his own things, because he is a liar and its father.

45 But because I say the truth, you do not believe me.

46 Who of you convicts me concerning sin? But if I say truth, why do you not believe me?

47 The one being from God hears the sayings of God. Because of this you do not hear, because you are not from God.

48 The Jews therefore answered and said to him, Do we not say well that you are a Samaritan and have a demon?

49 Jesus answered, I do not have a demon, but honor my Father, and you dishonor me.

50 But I do not seek my glory; there is one seeking and judging.

51 Amen, amen, I say to you, If anyone keeps my word, he will certainly not behold death forever.

52 The Jews therefore said to him, Now we have known that you have a demon. Abraham died, and the prophets, and you say, If anyone keeps my word, he will certainly not taste death forever.

53 You are not greater than our father Abraham, who died, are you? And the prophets died. Whom do you make yourself?

54 Jesus answered, If I glorify myself, my glory is nothing. It is my Father who glorifies me, of whom you say that he is your God.

55 And you have not known him, but I know him. And if I say that I do not know him, I will be like you, a liar. But I know him and keep his word.

56 Abraham your father exulted so that he might see my day, and he saw and rejoiced.

57 The Jews therefore said to him, You do not yet have fifty years, and have you seen Abraham?

58 Jesus said to them, Amen, amen, I say to you, Before Abraham came into being, I am.

59 They therefore took up stones so that they might throw them at him. But Jesus was hidden and went out of the temple, having passed through their midst, and was passing by thus.

Chapter 9

1 And passing by, he saw a person blind from birth.

2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, so that he was born blind?

3 Jesus answered, Neither this man sinned nor his parents, but so that the works of God might be manifested in him.

4 I must work the works of the one who sent me while it is day. Night comes, when no one can work.

5 When I am in the world, I am light of the world.

6 Having said these things, he spat on the ground and made clay from the spittle, and smeared the clay upon the eyes of the blind man.

7 And he said to him, Go, wash in the pool of Siloam, which is translated Sent. He therefore went away and washed, and came seeing.

8 The neighbors therefore, and those beholding him before, that he was blind, were saying, Is this not the one sitting and begging?

9 Others were saying that this is he, but others that he is like him. He was saying, I am he.

10 They therefore were saying to him, How were your eyes opened?

11 He answered and said, A man called Jesus made clay and smeared my eyes, and said to me, Go to the pool of Siloam and wash. And having gone away and washed, I received sight.

12 They therefore said to him, Where is he? He says, I do not know.

13 They bring him to the Pharisees, the one formerly blind.

14 And it was Sabbath when Jesus made the clay and opened his eyes.

15 Again therefore the Pharisees also were asking him how he received sight. And he said to them, He placed clay upon my eyes, and I washed, and I see.

16 Some of the Pharisees therefore were saying, This man is not from God, because he does not keep the Sabbath. Others were saying, How can a sinful man do such signs? And there was division among them.

17 They say to the blind man again, What do you say concerning him, because he opened your eyes? And he said that he is a prophet.

18 The Jews therefore did not believe concerning him that he was blind and received sight, until they called his parents, of the one who received sight,

19 and asked them, saying, Is this your son, whom you say was born blind? How therefore does he now see?

20 His parents answered them and said, We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind.

21 But how he now sees we do not know, or who opened his eyes we do not know. He has age; ask him. He will speak concerning himself.

22 His parents said these things because they feared the Jews, for the Jews had already agreed that if anyone confessed him as Christ, he should become expelled from the synagogue.

23 Because of this his parents said, He has age; ask him.

24 They therefore called a second time the man who was blind, and said to him, Give glory to God. We know that this man is sinful.

25 He therefore answered and said, If he is sinful, I do not know. One thing I know, that being blind, now I see.

26 And they said to him again, What did he do to you? How did he open your eyes?

27 He answered them, I told you already, and you did not hear. Why do you wish to hear again? You too do not wish to become his disciples, do you?

28 They therefore reviled him and said, You are that man's disciple, but we are Moses' disciples.

29 We know that God has spoken to Moses, but this man, we do not know from where he is.

30 The man answered and said to them, For in this is the marvelous thing, that you do not know from where he is, and he opened my eyes.

31 And we know that God does not hear sinners, but if anyone is God-revering and does his will, he hears this one.

32 From the age it was not heard that anyone opened the eyes of one born blind.

33 If this man were not from God, he could do nothing.

34 They answered and said to him, You were born wholly in sins, and do you teach us? And they cast him outside.

35 Jesus heard that they cast him outside, and having found him, said to him, Do you believe in the Son of God?

36 He answered and said, Who is he, Lord, so that I may believe in him?

37 And Jesus said to him, You have both seen him, and the one speaking with you is he.

38 And he said, I believe, Lord, and worshiped him.

39 And Jesus said, For judgment I came into this world, so that those not seeing may see, and those seeing may become blind.

40 And those of the Pharisees being with him heard these things and said to him, We too are not blind, are we?

41 Jesus said to them, If you were blind, you would not have sin. But now you say that we see; therefore your sin remains.

Chapter 10

1 Amen, amen, I say to you, The one not entering through the door into the enclosure of the sheep, but climbing up from elsewhere, that one is a thief and a robber.

2 But the one entering through the door is shepherd of the sheep.

3 To him the doorkeeper opens, and the sheep hear his voice, and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out.

4 And when he brings out his own sheep, he goes before them, and the sheep follow him, because they know his voice.

5 But they will certainly not follow a stranger, but will flee from him, because they do not know the voice of strangers.

6 Jesus said this figure to them, but they did not know what the things were which he was speaking to them.

7 Jesus therefore said again to them, Amen, amen, I say to you that I am the door of the sheep.

8 All who came before me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them.

9 I am the door. If anyone enters through me, he will be saved, and will enter and go out and find pasture.

10 The thief does not come except so that he may steal and slaughter and destroy. I came so that they may have life, and have abundance.

11 I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep.

12 But the hired man, and not being a shepherd, whose sheep are not his own, beholds the wolf coming and leaves the sheep and flees, and the wolf seizes them and scatters the sheep.

13 And the hired man flees because he is a hired man, and he does not care concerning the sheep.

14 I am the good shepherd, and know my own, and am known by my own,

15 just as the Father knows me, and I know the Father; and I lay down my life for the sheep.

16 And I have other sheep which are not from this enclosure. Those also I must bring, and they will hear my voice, and there will be one flock, one shepherd.

17 Because of this the Father loves me, because I lay down my life so that I may take it again.

18 No one takes it from me, but I lay it down from myself. I have authority to lay it down, and I have authority to take it again. This commandment I received from my Father.

19 A division therefore arose again among the Jews because of these words.

20 And many of them were saying, He has a demon and is mad. Why do you hear him?

21 Others were saying, These sayings are not of one demon-possessed. A demon cannot open blind people's eyes, can it?

22 And the Dedication took place in Jerusalem, and it was winter.

23 And Jesus was walking in the temple, in Solomon's portico.

24 The Jews therefore surrounded him and were saying to him, Until when do you keep our soul in suspense? If you are the Christ, tell us openly.

25 Jesus answered them, I told you, and you do not believe. The works which I do in my Father's name, these testify concerning me.

26 But you do not believe, for you are not from my sheep, just as I said to you.

27 My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me.

28 And I give them eternal life, and they will certainly not perish forever, and no one will snatch them from my hand.

29 My Father, who has given to me, is greater than all, and no one can snatch from my Father's hand.

30 I and the Father are one.

31 The Jews therefore took up stones again so that they might stone him.

32 Jesus answered them, I showed you many good works from my Father. For which work of them do you stone me?

33 The Jews answered him, saying, We do not stone you concerning a good work, but concerning blasphemy, and because you, being a man, make yourself God.

34 Jesus answered them, Is it not written in your law, I said, You are gods?

35 If he called those gods to whom the word of God came, and the Scripture cannot be broken,

36 do you say to the one whom the Father sanctified and sent into the world, You blaspheme, because I said, I am Son of God?

37 If I do not do the works of my Father, do not believe me.

38 But if I do, even if you do not believe me, believe the works, so that you may know and believe that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 They therefore were seeking again to seize him, and he went out from their hand.

40 And he went away again beyond the Jordan, to the place where John was first baptizing, and remained there.

41 And many came to him, and were saying that John indeed did no sign, but all things which John said concerning this man were true.

42 And many believed in him there.

Chapter 11

1 And a certain man was sick, Lazarus from Bethany, from the village of Mary and Martha her sister.

2 And Mary was the one who anointed the Lord with ointment and wiped his feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick.

3 The sisters therefore sent to him, saying, Lord, see, the one whom you love is sick.

4 And Jesus, having heard, said, This sickness is not toward death, but for the glory of God, so that the Son of God may be glorified through it.

5 And Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus.

6 When therefore he heard that he is sick, then indeed he stayed two days in the place where he was.

7 Then after this he says to the disciples, Let us go into Judea again.

8 The disciples say to him, Rabbi, just now the Jews were seeking to stone you, and do you go there again?

9 Jesus answered, Are there not twelve hours of the day? If anyone walks in the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world.

10 But if anyone walks in the night, he stumbles, because the light is not in him.

11 He said these things, and after this says to them, Lazarus our friend has fallen asleep, but I go so that I may awaken him.

12 His disciples therefore said, Lord, if he has fallen asleep, he will be saved.

13 But Jesus had spoken concerning his death, while they supposed that he speaks concerning the resting of sleep.

14 Then therefore Jesus said to them openly, Lazarus died.

15 And I rejoice because of you, so that you may believe, that I was not there. But let us go to him.

16 Thomas therefore, the one called Twin, said to the fellow disciples, Let us also go, so that we may die with him.

17 Having therefore come, Jesus found him already having four days in the tomb.

18 And Bethany was near Jerusalem, about fifteen stadia away.

19 And many of the Jews had come to those around Martha and Mary, so that they might console them concerning their brother.

20 Martha therefore, when she heard that Jesus comes, met him, but Mary was sitting in the house.

21 Martha therefore said to Jesus, Lord, if you were here, my brother would not have died.

22 But even now I know that whatever you ask God, God will give you.

23 Jesus says to her, Your brother will rise.

24 Martha says to him, I know that he will rise in the resurrection on the last day.

25 Jesus said to her, I am the resurrection and the life. The one believing in me, even if he dies, will live.

26 And everyone living and believing in me will certainly not die forever. Do you believe this?

27 She says to him, Yes, Lord, I have believed that you are the Christ, the Son of God, the one coming into the world.

28 And having said these things, she went away and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Teacher is present and calls you.

29 When she heard, she rises quickly and comes to him.

30 And Jesus had not yet come into the village, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Jews therefore who were with her in the house and consoling her, having seen Mary, that she rose quickly and went out, followed her, saying that she goes to the tomb so that she may weep there.

32 Mary therefore, when she came where Jesus was, having seen him, fell at his feet, saying to him, Lord, if you were here, my brother would not have died.

33 Jesus therefore, when he saw her weeping, and the Jews who came with her weeping, was indignant in spirit and troubled himself,

34 and said, Where have you placed him? They say to him, Lord, come and see.

35 Jesus shed tears.

36 The Jews therefore were saying, See how he loved him.

37 But some of them said, Could not this man who opened the eyes of the blind man have done so that this man too might not die?

38 Jesus therefore, again being indignant within himself, comes to the tomb. And it was a cave, and a stone lay upon it.

39 Jesus says, Take away the stone. Martha, the sister of the one who has died, says to him, Lord, he already smells, for he is four days dead.

40 Jesus says to her, Did I not say to you that if you believe, you will see the glory of God?

41 They therefore took away the stone where the one who had died was lying. And Jesus lifted his eyes upward and said, Father, I thank you that you heard me.

42 And I knew that you always hear me, but because of the crowd standing around I said it, so that they may believe that you sent me.

43 And having said these things, he cried out with a loud voice, Lazarus, come outside.

44 And the one who had died came out, bound as to feet and hands with bands, and his face had been bound around with a handkerchief. Jesus says to them, Unbind him and allow him to go.

45 Many therefore of the Jews who came to Mary and beheld what Jesus did believed in him.

46 But some of them went away to the Pharisees and told them what Jesus did.

47 The chief priests and the Pharisees therefore gathered a council, and were saying, What do we do, because this man does many signs?

48 If we allow him thus, all will believe in him, and the Romans will come and take away both our place and nation.

49 But a certain one of them, Caiaphas, being high priest that year, said to them, You know nothing,

50 nor do you consider that it benefits us that one man die for the people, and not the whole nation perish.

51 And he did not say this from himself, but being high priest that year, prophesied that Jesus was about to die for the nation,

52 and not for the nation only, but so that he might also gather into one the children of God who had been scattered.

53 From that day therefore they took counsel so that they might kill him.

54 Jesus therefore was no longer walking openly among the Jews, but went away from there into the country near the wilderness, into a city called Ephraim, and there was spending time with his disciples.

55 And the Passover of the Jews was near, and many went up to Jerusalem from the country before the Passover, so that they might purify themselves.

56 They therefore were seeking Jesus, and were saying with each other, standing in the temple, What do you think, that he will certainly not come to the feast?

57 And both the chief priests and the Pharisees had given a commandment that if anyone knows where he is, he should disclose it, so that they might seize him.

Chapter 12

1 Jesus therefore, six days before the Passover, came into Bethany, where Lazarus was, the one who had died, whom he raised from the dead.

2 They therefore made him a dinner there, and Martha was serving, and Lazarus was one of those reclining together with him.

3 Mary therefore, having taken a pound of ointment of genuine nard, very costly, anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped his feet with her hair. And the house was filled from the smell of the ointment.

4 One of his disciples therefore says, Judas Iscariot of Simon, the one about to hand him over,

5 Why was this ointment not sold for three hundred denarii and given to the poor?

6 And he said this not because he cared concerning the poor, but because he was a thief, and had the money box, and was carrying off the things put in.

7 Jesus therefore said, Allow her; she has kept it for the day of my burial.

8 For you always have the poor with yourselves, but you do not always have me.

9 A great crowd from the Jews therefore knew that he is there, and they came not because of Jesus only, but so that they might also see Lazarus, whom he raised from the dead.

10 But the chief priests took counsel so that they might kill Lazarus also,

11 because many of the Jews were going away because of him and believing in Jesus.

12 On the next day a great crowd that came to the feast, having heard that Jesus comes into Jerusalem,

13 took the branches of the palms and went out to meet him, and were crying out, Hosanna! Blessed is the one coming in the name of the Lord, the King of Israel.

14 And Jesus, having found a little donkey, sat upon it, just as it is written,

15 Do not fear, daughter of Zion; look, your King comes, sitting upon a donkey's colt.

16 But his disciples did not know these things at first; but when Jesus was glorified, then they remembered that these things had been written concerning him, and they did these things to him.

17 The crowd therefore that was with him when he called Lazarus from the tomb and raised him from the dead was testifying.

18 Because of this also the crowd met him, because it heard that he had done this sign.

19 The Pharisees therefore said among themselves, You behold that you benefit nothing. See, the world went away after him.

20 And there were some Greeks from those going up so that they might worship at the feast.

21 These therefore approached Philip, the one from Bethsaida of Galilee, and were asking him, saying, Sir, we wish to see Jesus.

22 Philip comes and tells Andrew, and again Andrew and Philip tell Jesus.

23 And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour has come so that the Son of Man may be glorified.

24 Amen, amen, I say to you, Unless the grain of wheat, having fallen into the earth, dies, it remains alone; but if it dies, it bears much fruit.

25 The one loving his life will lose it, and the one hating his life in this world will guard it into eternal life.

26 If anyone serves me, let him follow me, and where I am, there my servant also will be. And if anyone serves me, the Father will honor him.

27 Now my soul has been troubled, and what shall I say? Father, save me from this hour? But because of this I came into this hour.

28 Father, glorify your name. A voice therefore came from heaven, I both glorified it and will glorify it again.

29 The crowd therefore standing and having heard was saying that thunder had happened. Others were saying, An angel has spoken to him.

30 Jesus answered and said, This voice has come not because of me, but because of you.

31 Now is judgment of this world; now the ruler of this world will be cast outside.

32 And I, if I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all to myself.

33 And he was saying this signifying by what death he was about to die.

34 The crowd answered him, We heard from the law that the Christ remains forever, and how do you say that the Son of Man must be lifted up? Who is this Son of Man?

35 Jesus therefore said to them, The light is with you still a little time. Walk while you have the light, so that darkness may not overtake you; and the one walking in the darkness does not know where he goes.

36 While you have the light, believe in the light, so that you may become sons of light. Jesus spoke these things, and having gone away, was hidden from them.

37 But though he had done so many signs before them, they were not believing in him,

38 so that the word of Isaiah the prophet might be fulfilled which he said, Lord, who believed our report? And to whom was the arm of the Lord revealed?

39 Because of this they could not believe, because Isaiah said again,

40 He has blinded their eyes and has hardened their heart, so that they may not see with the eyes and understand with the heart and turn back, and I may heal them.

41 Isaiah said these things when he saw his glory and spoke concerning him.

42 Nevertheless, however, many even from the rulers believed in him, but because of the Pharisees they were not confessing, so that they might not become expelled from the synagogue.

43 For they loved the glory of people rather than the glory of God.

44 And Jesus cried out and said, The one believing in me does not believe in me, but in the one who sent me.

45 And the one beholding me beholds the one who sent me.

46 I have come as light into the world, so that everyone believing in me may not remain in the darkness.

47 And if anyone hears my sayings and does not believe, I do not judge him, for I did not come so that I might judge the world, but so that I might save the world.

48 The one rejecting me and not receiving my sayings has the one judging him. The word which I spoke, that will judge him on the last day.

49 Because I did not speak from myself, but the Father who sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say and what I should speak.

50 And I know that his commandment is eternal life. The things therefore which I speak, just as the Father has said to me, thus I speak.

Chapter 13

1 And before the feast of the Passover, Jesus, knowing that his hour has come so that he may pass from this world to the Father, having loved his own who were in the world, loved them to the end.

2 And dinner having taken place, the devil having already put into the heart of Judas Iscariot of Simon that he should hand him over,

3 Jesus, knowing that the Father has given all things to him into his hands, and that he went out from God and goes to God,

4 rises from the dinner and lays down the garments, and having taken a towel, girded himself.

5 Then he puts water into the basin and began to wash the feet of the disciples and wipe them with the towel with which he was girded.

6 He comes therefore to Simon Peter, and he says to him, Lord, do you wash my feet?

7 Jesus answered and said to him, What I do you do not know now, but you will know after these things.

8 Peter says to him, You will certainly not wash my feet forever. Jesus answered him, Unless I wash you, you have no part with me.

9 Simon Peter says to him, Lord, not my feet only, but also the hands and the head.

10 Jesus says to him, The one who has bathed has no need except to wash the feet, but is wholly clean. And you are clean, but not all.

11 For he knew the one handing him over; because of this he said, You are not all clean.

12 When therefore he washed their feet and took his garments, having reclined again, he said to them, Do you know what I have done to you?

13 You call me the Teacher and the Lord, and you say well, for I am.

14 If therefore I, the Lord and the Teacher, washed your feet, you also owe to wash each other's feet.

15 For I gave you an example, so that just as I did to you, you also may do.

16 Amen, amen, I say to you, A slave is not greater than his master, nor a messenger greater than the one who sent him.

17 If you know these things, you are blessed if you do them.

18 I do not speak concerning all of you; I know whom I chose. But so that the Scripture may be fulfilled, The one chewing the bread with me lifted his heel against me.

19 From now I tell you before it happens, so that when it happens, you may believe that I am.

20 Amen, amen, I say to you, The one receiving whomever I may send receives me, and the one receiving me receives the one who sent me.

21 Having said these things, Jesus was troubled in spirit, and testified and said, Amen, amen, I say to you that one of you will hand me over.

22 The disciples therefore were looking at each other, being perplexed concerning whom he speaks.

23 And one of his disciples was reclining in the bosom of Jesus, whom Jesus loved.

24 Simon Peter therefore motions to this one to inquire who it might be concerning whom he speaks.

25 And he, having leaned upon the chest of Jesus, says to him, Lord, who is it?

26 Jesus answers, It is he to whom I, having dipped the morsel, will give it. And having dipped the morsel, he gives it to Judas Iscariot of Simon.

27 And after the morsel, then Satan entered into him. Jesus therefore says to him, What you do, do more quickly.

28 But no one of those reclining knew for what he said this to him.

29 For some were supposing, since Judas had the money box, that Jesus says to him, Buy the things of which we have need for the feast, or that he should give something to the poor.

30 Having therefore received the morsel, he immediately went out. And it was night.

31 When he went out, Jesus says, Now the Son of Man was glorified, and God was glorified in him.

32 If God was glorified in him, God also will glorify him in himself, and will glorify him immediately.

33 Little children, I am with you still a little while. You will seek me, and just as I said to the Jews, Where I go you cannot come, also to you I say it now.

34 I give you a new commandment, that you love each other, just as I loved you, that you also love each other.

35 In this all will know that you are my disciples, if you have love among each other.

36 Simon Peter says to him, Lord, where do you go? Jesus answered him, Where I go, you cannot follow me now, but later you will follow me.

37 Peter says to him, Lord, why can I not follow you now? I will lay down my life for you.

38 Jesus answered him, Will you lay down your life for me? Amen, amen, I say to you, A rooster will certainly not call until you deny me three times.

Chapter 14

1 Let not your heart be troubled. Believe in God, and believe in me.

2 In my Father's house are many dwelling places. But if not, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.

3 And if I go and prepare a place for you, I come again and will receive you to myself, so that where I am, you also may be.

4 And where I go you know, and the way you know.

5 Thomas says to him, Lord, we do not know where you go, and how can we know the way?

6 Jesus says to him, I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me.

7 If you had known me, you would also have known my Father. And from now you know him and have seen him.

8 Philip says to him, Lord, show us the Father, and it suffices for us.

9 Jesus says to him, I am with you so much time, and have you not known me, Philip? The one who has seen me has seen the Father, and how do you say, Show us the Father?

10 Do you not believe that I am in the Father and the Father is in me? The sayings which I speak to you I do not speak from myself, but the Father remaining in me, he does the works.

11 Believe me that I am in the Father and the Father in me; but if not, believe me because of the works themselves.

12 Amen, amen, I say to you, The one believing in me, that one too will do the works which I do, and will do greater things than these, because I go to my Father.

13 And whatever you ask in my name, this I will do, so that the Father may be glorified in the Son.

14 If you ask anything in my name, I will do it.

15 If you love me, keep my commandments.

16 And I will ask the Father, and he will give you another Advocate, so that he may remain with you forever,

17 the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it does not behold him nor know him. But you know him, because he remains with you and will be in you.

18 I will not leave you orphans; I come to you.

19 Still a little while, and the world no longer beholds me, but you behold me. Because I live, you also will live.

20 On that day you will know that I am in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

21 The one having my commandments and keeping them, he is the one loving me. And the one loving me will be loved by my Father, and I will love him and manifest myself to him.

22 Judas, not the Iscariot, says to him, Lord, what has happened, that you are about to manifest yourself to us and not to the world?

23 Jesus answered and said to him, If anyone loves me, he will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make a dwelling place with him.

24 The one not loving me does not keep my words, and the word which you hear is not mine, but of the Father who sent me.

25 I have spoken these things to you, remaining with you.

26 But the Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and remind you of all things which I said to you.

27 I leave peace to you; I give my peace to you. Not just as the world gives do I give to you. Let not your heart be troubled, nor let it be cowardly.

28 You heard that I said to you, I go away and come to you. If you loved me, you would have rejoiced because I said, I go to the Father, because my Father is greater than I.

29 And now I have told you before it happens, so that when it happens, you may believe.

30 I will no longer speak many things with you, for the ruler of this world comes, and has nothing in me.

31 But so that the world may know that I love the Father, and just as the Father commanded me, thus I do. Rise, let us go from here.

Chapter 15

1 I am the true vine, and my Father is the farmer.

2 Every branch in me not bearing fruit, he takes it away, and every one bearing fruit, he cleans it, so that it may bear more fruit.

3 You are already clean because of the word which I have spoken to you.

4 Remain in me, and I in you. Just as the branch cannot bear fruit from itself unless it remains in the vine, thus neither can you unless you remain in me.

5 I am the vine; you the branches. The one remaining in me, and I in him, this one bears much fruit, because apart from me you can do nothing.

6 If anyone does not remain in me, he was cast outside as the branch and was withered, and they gather them and cast into fire, and it is burned.

7 If you remain in me and my sayings remain in you, whatever you wish you will ask, and it will happen for you.

8 In this my Father was glorified, that you bear much fruit, and you will become my disciples.

9 Just as the Father loved me, I also loved you. Remain in my love.

10 If you keep my commandments, you will remain in my love, just as I have kept my Father's commandments and remain in his love.

11 I have spoken these things to you so that my joy may remain in you and your joy may be fulfilled.

12 This is my commandment, that you love each other just as I loved you.

13 No one has greater love than this, that someone lay down his life for his friends.

14 You are my friends if you do whatever I command you.

15 I no longer call you slaves, because the slave does not know what his master does, but I have called you friends, because all things which I heard from my Father I made known to you.

16 You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you, so that you may go and bear fruit and your fruit may remain, so that whatever you ask the Father in my name, he may give you.

17 These things I command you, that you love each other.

18 If the world hates you, know that it has hated me before you.

19 If you were from the world, the world would love its own. But because you are not from the world, but I chose you out of the world, because of this the world hates you.

20 Remember the word which I said to you, A slave is not greater than his master. If they persecuted me, they will also persecute you; if they kept my word, they will also keep yours.

21 But they will do all these things to you because of my name, because they do not know the one who sent me.

22 If I had not come and spoken to them, they would not have sin. But now they have no excuse concerning their sin.

23 The one hating me also hates my Father.

24 If I had not done among them the works which no other has done, they would not have sin. But now they have both seen and hated both me and my Father.

25 But so that the word written in their law may be fulfilled, They hated me without cause.

26 But when the Advocate comes, whom I will send you from the Father, the Spirit of truth who proceeds from the Father, he will testify concerning me.

27 And you also testify, because you are with me from the beginning.

Chapter 16

1 I have spoken these things to you so that you may not be caused to stumble.

2 They will make you expelled from the synagogue. But an hour comes so that everyone who kills you may suppose he offers worship to God.

3 And they will do these things to you because they did not know the Father nor me.

4 But I have spoken these things to you so that when the hour comes, you may remember them, that I told you. And I did not tell you these things from the beginning, because I was with you.

5 But now I go to the one who sent me, and none of you asks me, Where do you go?

6 But because I have spoken these things to you, sorrow has filled your heart.

7 But I say the truth to you, It benefits you that I go away. For unless I go away, the Advocate will not come to you; but if I go, I will send him to you.

8 And having come, he will convict the world concerning sin and concerning righteousness and concerning judgment:

9 concerning sin indeed, because they do not believe in me;

10 and concerning righteousness, because I go to my Father and you no longer behold me;

11 and concerning judgment, because the ruler of this world has been judged.

12 I still have many things to say to you, but you cannot bear them now.

13 But when he comes, the Spirit of truth, he will guide you into all the truth. For he will not speak from himself, but whatever he hears he will speak, and he will announce to you the coming things.

14 He will glorify me, because he will receive from what is mine and announce it to you.

15 All things which the Father has are mine. Because of this I said that he will receive from what is mine and announce it to you.

16 A little while, and you do not behold me, and again a little while, and you will see me, because I go to the Father.

17 Some of his disciples therefore said to each other, What is this which he says to us, A little while, and you do not behold me, and again a little while, and you will see me, and, Because I go to the Father?

18 They therefore were saying, What is this which he says, The little while? We do not know what he speaks.

19 Jesus therefore knew that they wished to ask him, and said to them, Do you inquire with each other concerning this, because I said, A little while, and you do not behold me, and again a little while, and you will see me?

20 Amen, amen, I say to you that you will weep and lament, but the world will rejoice. And you will be grieved, but your sorrow will become joy.

21 The woman, when she gives birth, has sorrow, because her hour came. But when she bears the child, she no longer remembers the affliction because of the joy that a person was born into the world.

22 And you therefore indeed have sorrow now, but I will see you again, and your heart will rejoice, and no one takes your joy from you.

23 And on that day you will ask me nothing. Amen, amen, I say to you that whatever you ask the Father in my name, he will give you.

24 Until now you asked nothing in my name. Ask, and you will receive, so that your joy may be fulfilled.

25 I have spoken these things to you in figures, but an hour comes when I will no longer speak to you in figures, but will announce to you openly concerning the Father.

26 On that day you will ask in my name, and I do not say to you that I will ask the Father concerning you.

27 For the Father himself loves you, because you have loved me and have believed that I went out from God.

28 I went out from the Father and have come into the world. Again I leave the world and go to the Father.

29 His disciples say to him, See, now you speak openly and say no figure.

30 Now we know that you know all things and have no need that anyone ask you. In this we believe that you went out from God.

31 Jesus answered them, Do you believe now?

32 Look, an hour comes, and has now come, so that you may be scattered, each to his own things, and leave me alone. And I am not alone, because the Father is with me.

33 I have spoken these things to you so that in me you may have peace. In the world you have affliction, but take courage; I have conquered the world.

Chapter 17

1 Jesus spoke these things, and lifted his eyes to heaven and said, Father, the hour has come. Glorify your Son, so that your Son also may glorify you,

2 just as you gave him authority over all flesh, so that everything which you have given him, he may give them eternal life.

3 And this is eternal life, that they know you, the only true God, and the one whom you sent, Jesus Christ.

4 I glorified you upon the earth; I completed the work which you have given me so that I may do it.

5 And now you, Father, glorify me with yourself, with the glory which I had with you before the world was.

6 I manifested your name to the people whom you have given me from the world. They were yours, and you have given them to me, and they have kept your word.

7 Now they have known that all things which you have given me are from you.

8 Because the sayings which you have given me I have given them, and they received and truly knew that I went out from you, and believed that you sent me.

9 I ask concerning them. I do not ask concerning the world, but concerning those whom you have given me, because they are yours.

10 And all my things are yours, and your things mine, and I have been glorified in them.

11 And I am no longer in the world, and these are in the world, and I come to you. Holy Father, keep them in your name, those whom you have given me, so that they may be one just as we.

12 When I was with them in the world, I was keeping them in your name. Those whom you have given me I guarded, and none of them perished except the son of destruction, so that the Scripture may be fulfilled.

13 But now I come to you, and speak these things in the world, so that they may have my joy fulfilled in themselves.

14 I have given them your word, and the world hated them because they are not from the world, just as I am not from the world.

15 I do not ask that you take them out of the world, but that you keep them from the evil one.

16 They are not from the world, just as I am not from the world.

17 Sanctify them in your truth; your word is truth.

18 Just as you sent me into the world, I also sent them into the world.

19 And for them I sanctify myself, so that they also may be sanctified in truth.

20 And I ask not concerning these only, but also concerning those who will believe in me through their word,

21 so that all may be one, just as you, Father, in me, and I in you, so that they also may be one in us, so that the world may believe that you sent me.

22 And I have given them the glory which you have given me, so that they may be one just as we are one.

23 I in them, and you in me, so that they may be perfected into one, and so that the world may know that you sent me and loved them just as you loved me.

24 Father, those whom you have given me, I wish that where I am, they too may be with me, so that they may behold my glory which you gave me, because you loved me before the foundation of the world.

25 Righteous Father, even the world did not know you, but I knew you, and these knew that you sent me.

26 And I made known to them your name, and will make it known, so that the love with which you loved me may be in them, and I in them.

Chapter 18

1 Having said these things, Jesus went out with his disciples beyond the winter torrent of Kedron, where there was a garden, into which he entered and his disciples.

2 And Judas also, the one handing him over, knew the place, because Jesus often gathered there with his disciples.

3 Judas therefore, having received the cohort and officers from the chief priests and Pharisees, comes there with lanterns and torches and weapons.

4 Jesus therefore, knowing all things coming upon him, having gone out, said to them, Whom do you seek?

5 They answered him, Jesus the Nazarene. Jesus says to them, I am. And Judas also, the one handing him over, stood with them.

6 When therefore he said to them, I am, they went backward and fell to the ground.

7 Again therefore he asked them, Whom do you seek? And they said, Jesus the Nazarene.

8 Jesus answered, I told you that I am. If therefore you seek me, allow these to go,

9 so that the word which he said might be fulfilled, Those whom you have given me, I lost none of them.

10 Simon Peter therefore, having a sword, drew it and struck the slave of the high priest, and cut off his right ear. And the slave's name was Malchus.

11 Jesus therefore said to Peter, Put your sword into the sheath. The cup which the Father has given me, shall I not drink it?

12 The cohort therefore, and the commander of a thousand and the officers of the Jews, seized Jesus and bound him,

13 and led him away to Annas first, for he was father-in-law of Caiaphas, who was high priest that year.

14 And Caiaphas was the one who advised the Jews that it benefits them that one man perish for the people.

15 And Simon Peter was following Jesus, and the other disciple. And that disciple was known to the high priest, and entered together with Jesus into the courtyard of the high priest.

16 But Peter stood at the door outside. The other disciple therefore, who was known to the high priest, went out and spoke to the doorkeeper, and brought Peter in.

17 The servant girl, the doorkeeper, therefore says to Peter, You too are not from the disciples of this man, are you? He says, I am not.

18 And the slaves and the officers stood, having made a charcoal fire, because it was cold, and were warming themselves. And Peter was with them, standing and warming himself.

19 The high priest therefore asked Jesus concerning his disciples and concerning his teaching.

20 Jesus answered him, I spoke openly to the world. I always taught in the synagogue and in the temple, where the Jews always gather, and in secret I spoke nothing.

21 Why do you question me? Question those who have heard what I spoke to them. See, these know what I said.

22 And as he said these things, one of the officers standing by gave Jesus a slap, saying, Do you answer the high priest thus?

23 Jesus answered him, If I spoke badly, testify concerning the bad; but if well, why do you beat me?

24 Annas sent him bound to Caiaphas the high priest.

25 And Simon Peter was standing and warming himself. They therefore said to him, You too are not from his disciples, are you? He denied and said, I am not.

26 One of the slaves of the high priest says, being a relative of the one whose ear Peter cut off, Did I not see you in the garden with him?

27 Peter therefore denied again, and immediately a rooster called.

28 They therefore lead Jesus from Caiaphas into the praetorium. And it was early morning, and they themselves did not enter into the praetorium, so that they might not be defiled, but so that they might eat the Passover.

29 Pilate therefore went out to them and said, What accusation do you bring against this man?

30 They answered and said to him, If this man were not an evildoer, we would not have handed him over to you.

31 Pilate therefore said to them, You take him, and judge him according to your law. The Jews therefore said to him, It is not lawful for us to kill anyone,

32 so that the word of Jesus might be fulfilled which he said, signifying by what death he was about to die.

33 Pilate therefore entered into the praetorium again and called Jesus, and said to him, Are you the King of the Jews?

34 Jesus answered him, Do you say this from yourself, or did others tell you concerning me?

35 Pilate answered, I am not a Jew, am I? Your nation and the chief priests handed you over to me. What did you do?

36 Jesus answered, My kingdom is not from this world. If my kingdom were from this world, my officers would be fighting so that I might not be handed over to the Jews. But now my kingdom is not from here.

37 Pilate therefore said to him, Therefore are you a king? Jesus answered, You say that I am a king. For this I have been born, and for this I have come into the world, so that I may testify to the truth. Everyone being from the truth hears my voice.

38 Pilate says to him, What is truth? And having said this, he went out again to the Jews and says to them, I find no fault in him.

39 And you have a custom that I release one to you at the Passover. Do you therefore wish that I release to you the King of the Jews?

40 All therefore cried out again, saying, Not this man, but Barabbas. And Barabbas was a robber.

Chapter 19

1 Then therefore Pilate took Jesus and scourged him.

2 And the soldiers, having woven a crown from thorns, placed it upon his head, and clothed him in a purple garment.

3 And they were saying, Hail, King of the Jews, and were giving him slaps.

4 Pilate therefore went outside again and says to them, See, I bring him outside to you, so that you may know that I find no fault in him.

5 Jesus therefore went outside, wearing the thorny crown and the purple garment. And he says to them, See, the man.

6 When therefore the chief priests and the officers saw him, they cried out, saying, Crucify, crucify. Pilate says to them, You take him and crucify, for I do not find fault in him.

7 The Jews answered him, We have a law, and according to our law he owes to die, because he made himself Son of God.

8 When therefore Pilate heard this word, he feared more,

9 and entered into the praetorium again and says to Jesus, From where are you? But Jesus gave him no answer.

10 Pilate therefore says to him, Do you not speak to me? Do you not know that I have authority to crucify you, and have authority to release you?

11 Jesus answered, You would have no authority against me unless it had been given you from above. Because of this the one handing me over to you has greater sin.

12 From this Pilate was seeking to release him, but the Jews were crying out, saying, If you release this man, you are not Caesar's friend. Everyone making himself king speaks against Caesar.

13 Pilate therefore, having heard this word, brought Jesus outside, and sat upon the judgment seat, at a place called Stone-paved, but in Hebrew Gabbatha.

14 And it was Preparation of the Passover, and about the sixth hour. And he says to the Jews, See, your King.

15 But they cried out, Take away, take away, crucify him. Pilate says to them, Shall I crucify your King? The chief priests answered, We have no king except Caesar.

16 Then therefore he handed him over to them so that he might be crucified. And they received Jesus and led him away.

17 And carrying his cross, he went out to the place called Place of a Skull, which is called in Hebrew Golgotha,

18 where they crucified him, and with him two others, on this side and on that side, and Jesus in the middle.

19 And Pilate also wrote a title and placed it upon the cross. And it was written, Jesus the Nazarene, the King of the Jews.

20 Many of the Jews therefore read this title, because the place where Jesus was crucified was near the city, and it was written in Hebrew, Greek, Roman.

21 The chief priests of the Jews therefore were saying to Pilate, Do not write, The King of the Jews, but that he said, I am King of the Jews.

22 Pilate answered, What I have written, I have written.

23 The soldiers therefore, when they crucified Jesus, took his garments and made four parts, to each soldier a part, and the tunic. And the tunic was seamless, woven from the top throughout.

24 They therefore said to each other, Let us not tear it, but cast lots concerning it, whose it will be, so that the Scripture may be fulfilled which says, They divided my garments among themselves, and upon my clothing they cast a lot. The soldiers therefore indeed did these things.

25 And by the cross of Jesus stood his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary of Clopas, and Mary Magdalene.

26 Jesus therefore, having seen the mother and the disciple standing by whom he loved, says to his mother, Woman, look, your son.

27 Then he says to the disciple, Look, your mother. And from that hour the disciple received her into his own things.

28 After this, Jesus, knowing that all things have already been completed, so that the Scripture may be completed, says, I thirst.

29 A vessel therefore lay full of vinegar, and they, having filled a sponge with vinegar and having put it around hyssop, brought it to his mouth.

30 When therefore Jesus received the vinegar, he said, It has been completed. And having bowed the head, he handed over the spirit.

31 The Jews therefore, so that the bodies might not remain upon the cross on the Sabbath, since it was Preparation, for the day of that Sabbath was great, asked Pilate that their legs be broken and they be taken away.

32 The soldiers therefore came and broke the legs of the first and of the other crucified with him.

33 But having come to Jesus, when they saw him already dead, they did not break his legs.

34 But one of the soldiers pierced his side with a spear, and immediately blood and water came out.

35 And the one who has seen has testified, and his testimony is true, and he knows that he says true things, so that you may believe.

36 For these things happened so that the Scripture may be fulfilled, A bone of him will not be broken.

37 And again another Scripture says, They will look upon the one whom they pierced.

38 And after these things Joseph from Arimathea, being a disciple of Jesus, but hidden because of the fear of the Jews, asked Pilate that he might take away the body of Jesus, and Pilate permitted. He therefore came and took away the body of Jesus.

39 And Nicodemus also came, the one who came to Jesus by night at first, carrying a mixture of myrrh and aloe, about a hundred pounds.

40 They therefore took the body of Jesus and bound it in linen cloths with the spices, just as it is a custom for the Jews to bury.

41 And in the place where he was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb, in which no one had yet been placed.

42 There therefore, because of the Preparation of the Jews, because the tomb was near, they placed Jesus.

Chapter 20

1 And on the first day of the week Mary Magdalene comes early, darkness still being, to the tomb, and sees the stone taken away from the tomb.

2 She therefore runs and comes to Simon Peter and to the other disciple whom Jesus loved, and says to them, They took the Lord away from the tomb, and we do not know where they placed him.

3 Peter therefore went out, and the other disciple, and they were coming to the tomb.

4 And the two were running together, and the other disciple ran ahead more quickly than Peter and came first to the tomb.

5 And having stooped to look, he sees the linen cloths lying; nevertheless he did not enter.

6 Simon Peter therefore comes, following him, and entered into the tomb, and beholds the linen cloths lying,

7 and the handkerchief which was upon his head, not lying with the linen cloths, but apart, wrapped up in one place.

8 Then therefore the other disciple also entered, the one who came first to the tomb, and saw and believed.

9 For they did not yet know the Scripture, that he must rise from the dead.

10 The disciples therefore went away again to themselves.

11 But Mary stood at the tomb, weeping outside. As therefore she was weeping, she stooped to look into the tomb,

12 and beholds two angels in white sitting, one toward the head and one toward the feet, where the body of Jesus was lying.

13 And they say to her, Woman, why do you weep? She says to them, Because they took away my Lord, and I do not know where they placed him.

14 And having said these things, she turned backward and beholds Jesus standing, and did not know that it is Jesus.

15 Jesus says to her, Woman, why do you weep? Whom do you seek? She, supposing that he is the gardener, says to him, Sir, if you carried him away, tell me where you placed him, and I will take him away.

16 Jesus says to her, Mary. She, having turned, says to him, Rabbouni, which is said, Teacher.

17 Jesus says to her, Do not touch me, for I have not yet ascended to my Father. But go to my brothers and tell them, I ascend to my Father and your Father, and my God and your God.

18 Mary Magdalene comes, reporting to the disciples that she has seen the Lord, and he said these things to her.

19 Evening therefore being on that day, the first of the week, and the doors having been shut where the disciples were gathered because of the fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in the midst and says to them, Peace to you.

20 And having said this, he showed them his hands and his side. The disciples therefore rejoiced, having seen the Lord.

21 Jesus therefore said to them again, Peace to you. Just as the Father has sent me, I also send you.

22 And having said this, he breathed upon them and says to them, Receive Holy Spirit.

23 If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven them; if you retain those of any, they have been retained.

24 But Thomas, one of the twelve, the one called Twin, was not with them when Jesus came.

25 The other disciples therefore were saying to him, We have seen the Lord. But he said to them, Unless I see in his hands the mark of the nails, and put my finger into the mark of the nails, and put my hand into his side, I will certainly not believe.

26 And after eight days his disciples were inside again, and Thomas with them. Jesus comes, the doors having been shut, and stood in the midst and said, Peace to you.

27 Then he says to Thomas, Bring your finger here and see my hands, and bring your hand and put it into my side, and do not become unbelieving, but believing.

28 And Thomas answered and said to him, My Lord and my God.

29 Jesus says to him, Because you have seen me, Thomas, you have believed. Blessed are those who did not see and believed.

30 Many therefore indeed other signs also Jesus did before his disciples, which are not written in this book.

31 But these have been written so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and so that believing you may have life in his name.

Chapter 21

1 After these things Jesus manifested himself again to the disciples at the sea of Tiberias, and manifested himself thus.

2 Simon Peter and Thomas the one called Twin, and Nathanael from Cana of Galilee, and those of Zebedee, and two others of his disciples were together.

3 Simon Peter says to them, I go to fish. They say to him, We too come with you. They went out and immediately went up into the boat, and on that night caught nothing.

4 And early morning having already come, Jesus stood on the shore; nevertheless the disciples did not know that it is Jesus.

5 Jesus therefore says to them, Children, you do not have any food to eat with bread, do you? They answered him, No.

6 And he said to them, Cast the net into the right parts of the boat, and you will find. They therefore cast, and were no longer strong enough to draw it because of the multitude of the fish.

7 That disciple therefore whom Jesus loved says to Peter, It is the Lord. Simon Peter therefore, having heard that it is the Lord, girded on the outer garment, for he was naked, and cast himself into the sea.

8 And the other disciples came by the little boat, for they were not far from the land, but about two hundred cubits away, dragging the net of the fish.

9 When therefore they stepped off onto the land, they see a charcoal fire lying, and a small fish lying upon it, and bread.

10 Jesus says to them, Bring from the small fish which you caught now.

11 Simon Peter went up and drew the net upon the land, full of large fish, one hundred fifty-three; and though there were so many, the net was not torn.

12 Jesus says to them, Come, breakfast. And none of the disciples dared to question him, Who are you? knowing that it is the Lord.

13 Jesus therefore comes and takes the bread and gives to them, and the small fish likewise.

14 This was already the third time Jesus was manifested to his disciples, having been raised from the dead.

15 When therefore they breakfasted, Jesus says to Simon Peter, Simon of Jonah, do you love me more than these? He says to him, Yes, Lord, you know that I love you. He says to him, Feed my lambs.

16 He says to him again a second time, Simon of Jonah, do you love me? He says to him, Yes, Lord, you know that I love you. He says to him, Shepherd my sheep.

17 He says to him the third time, Simon of Jonah, do you love me? Peter was grieved because he said to him the third time, Do you love me? And he said to him, Lord, you know all things; you know that I love you. Jesus says to him, Feed my sheep.

18 Amen, amen, I say to you, When you were younger, you were girding yourself and walking where you wished. But when you grow old, you will stretch out your hands, and another will gird you and carry you where you do not wish.

19 And he said this signifying by what death he will glorify God. And having said this, he says to him, Follow me.

20 And Peter, having turned back, sees the disciple whom Jesus loved following, who also reclined at the dinner upon his chest and said, Lord, who is the one handing you over?

21 Peter, having seen this man, says to Jesus, Lord, and this man, what?

22 Jesus says to him, If I wish him to remain until I come, what is it to you? You follow me.

23 This word therefore went out among the brothers, that that disciple does not die. And Jesus did not say to him that he does not die, but, If I wish him to remain until I come, what is it to you?

24 This is the disciple testifying concerning these things and having written these things, and we know that his testimony is true.

25 And there are also many other things which Jesus did, which, if they are written one by one, I suppose not even the world itself to contain the books being written. Amen.

The Acts

Chapter 1

1 The first account indeed I made concerning all things, O Theophilus, which Jesus began both to do and to teach,

2 until the day on which, having commanded through Holy Spirit the apostles whom he chose, he was taken up.

3 To them also he presented himself alive after he suffered, with many proofs, appearing to them through forty days and speaking the things concerning the kingdom of God.

4 And assembling together, he commanded them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to await the promise of the Father, which you heard from me.

5 Because John indeed baptized with water, but you will be baptized in Holy Spirit not after many of these days.

6 Those therefore who came together were asking him, saying, Lord, do you at this time restore the kingdom to Israel?

7 And he said to them, It is not yours to know times or seasons which the Father set in his own authority.

8 But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you, and you will be witnesses to me both in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria and as far as the end of the earth.

9 And having said these things, while they were looking, he was lifted up, and a cloud received him from their eyes.

10 And as they were looking intently into heaven while he was going, look, two men stood by them in white clothing,

11 who also said, Men of Galilee, why do you stand looking into heaven? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will come thus, in the manner you beheld him going into heaven.

12 Then they returned to Jerusalem from the mountain called Olivet, which is near Jerusalem, having a Sabbath's journey.

13 And when they entered, they went up into the upper room where they were staying, both Peter and James and John and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartholomew and Matthew, James of Alphaeus and Simon the Zealot and Judas of James.

14 All these were persevering with one accord in prayer and supplication, with women and Mary the mother of Jesus, and with his brothers.

15 And in these days Peter, having risen in the midst of the disciples, said, and the crowd of names together was about a hundred twenty,

16 Men, brothers, this Scripture had to be fulfilled, which the Holy Spirit spoke beforehand through David's mouth concerning Judas, who became a guide to those who seized Jesus.

17 Because he had been numbered with us and obtained the lot of this service.

18 This man therefore indeed acquired a field from the wages of unrighteousness, and having become headlong, burst open in the middle, and all his inward parts were poured out.

19 And it became known to all those dwelling in Jerusalem, so that that field was called in their own dialect Akeldama, that is, Field of Blood.

20 For it is written in the book of Psalms, Let his dwelling become desolate, and let there be no one dwelling in it, and, Let another take his oversight.

21 It is necessary therefore, of the men who came together with us during all the time in which the Lord Jesus entered and went out among us,

22 having begun from John's baptism until the day on which he was taken up from us, that one of these become with us a witness of his resurrection.

23 And they put forward two, Joseph called Barsabas, who was surnamed Justus, and Matthias.

24 And having prayed, they said, You, Lord, knower of the hearts of all, show one of these two whom you chose,

25 to receive the lot of this service and apostleship, from which Judas turned aside to go to his own place.

26 And they gave their lots, and the lot fell upon Matthias, and he was counted together with the eleven apostles.

Chapter 2

1 And when the day of Pentecost was being fulfilled, they were all with one accord together.

2 And suddenly there came from heaven a sound as of a violent breath being borne along, and it filled the whole house where they were sitting.

3 And tongues dividing apart, as of fire, appeared to them, and it sat upon each one of them.

4 And all were filled with Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues, just as the Spirit was giving them to utter.

5 And there were Jews dwelling in Jerusalem, devout men from every nation under heaven.

6 And when this sound occurred, the multitude came together and was confounded, because each one was hearing them speaking in his own dialect.

7 And all were astonished and marveling, saying to each other, Look, are not all these who speak Galileans?

8 And how do we hear, each in our own dialect in which we were born?

9 Parthians and Medes and Elamites, and those dwelling in Mesopotamia, both Judea and Cappadocia, Pontus and Asia,

10 both Phrygia and Pamphylia, Egypt and the parts of Libya toward Cyrene, and visiting Romans, both Jews and proselytes,

11 Cretans and Arabs, we hear them speaking in our tongues the great things of God.

12 And all were astonished and greatly perplexed, saying one to another, What might this wish to be?

13 But others, mocking, were saying that they are filled with sweet wine.

14 But Peter, having stood with the eleven, raised his voice and uttered to them, Jewish men, and all those dwelling in Jerusalem, let this be known to you, and give ear to my sayings.

15 For these are not drunk as you suppose, for it is the third hour of the day.

16 But this is what was said through the prophet Joel:

17 And it will be in the last days, God says, I will pour out from my Spirit upon all flesh, and your sons and your daughters will prophesy, and your young men will see visions, and your elders will dream dreams.

18 And indeed upon my male slaves and upon my female slaves in those days I will pour out from my Spirit, and they will prophesy.

19 And I will give wonders in heaven above and signs upon the earth below, blood and fire and vapor of smoke.

20 The sun will be turned into darkness and the moon into blood before the great and manifest day of the Lord comes.

21 And it will be that everyone who calls upon the name of the Lord will be saved.

22 Israelite men, hear these words: Jesus the Nazarene, a man demonstrated to you by God with mighty works and wonders and signs which God did through him in your midst, just as you yourselves also know,

23 this man, delivered up by the determined counsel and foreknowledge of God, having taken, having fastened through the hands of lawless ones, you killed.

24 Whom God raised, having loosed the birth pains of death, because it was not possible for him to be held by it.

25 For David says concerning him, I was seeing the Lord before me continually, because he is at my right, so that I may not be shaken.

26 Because of this my heart was gladdened and my tongue exulted, and furthermore my flesh also will dwell in hope,

27 because you will not abandon my soul to Hades, nor give your holy one to see corruption.

28 You made known to me ways of life; you will fill me with gladness with your face.

29 Men, brothers, it is permitted to speak to you with openness concerning the patriarch David, that he both died and was buried, and his tomb is among us until this day.

30 Being therefore a prophet, and knowing that God swore to him with an oath to raise the Christ according to flesh from the fruit of his loins to sit upon his throne,

31 having seen beforehand, he spoke concerning the resurrection of the Christ, that his soul was not left to Hades, nor did his flesh see corruption.

32 This Jesus God raised, of whom we all are witnesses.

33 Having therefore been exalted by the right hand of God, and having received the promise of the Holy Spirit from the Father, he poured out this which you now see and hear.

34 For David did not ascend into the heavens, but he himself says, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right, 35 until I place your enemies as a footstool of your feet.

36 Let all the house of Israel therefore know assuredly that God made him both Lord and Christ, this Jesus whom you crucified.

37 And having heard, they were pierced in the heart, and said to Peter and the remaining apostles, What shall we do, men, brothers?

38 And Peter said to them, Repent, and let each of you be baptized upon the name of Jesus Christ for forgiveness of sins, and you will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.

39 For the promise is to you and to your children and to all those far away, as many as the Lord our God calls to himself.

40 And with many other words he was solemnly testifying and exhorting, saying, Be saved from this crooked generation.

41 Those therefore indeed who gladly received his word were baptized, and on that day about three thousand souls were added.

42 And they were persevering in the teaching of the apostles and in fellowship and in the breaking of bread and in prayers.

43 And fear came to every soul, and many wonders and signs were occurring through the apostles.

44 And all those believing were together and had all things common.

45 And they were selling their properties and possessions and dividing them to all, according as anyone had need.

46 And daily persevering with one accord in the temple, and breaking bread house by house, they were partaking of food in exultation and simplicity of heart, 47 praising God and having favor toward all the people. And the Lord was adding daily to the church those being saved.

Chapter 3

1 And Peter and John together were going up into the temple at the hour of prayer, the ninth.

2 And a certain man, being lame from his mother's womb, was being carried, whom they placed daily at the door of the temple called Beautiful, to ask alms from those entering into the temple.

3 Who, having seen Peter and John about to enter into the temple, was asking to receive alms.

4 And Peter, having looked intently at him with John, said, Look at us.

5 And he was attending to them, expecting to receive something from them.

6 But Peter said, Silver and gold do not belong to me, but what I have, this I give you. In the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene, rise and walk.

7 And having seized him by the right hand, he raised him, and immediately his feet and ankles were strengthened.

8 And leaping up, he stood and was walking, and entered with them into the temple, walking and leaping and praising God.

9 And all the people saw him walking and praising God.

10 And they recognized him, that this was the one sitting for alms at the Beautiful Gate of the temple, and they were filled with amazement and astonishment at what had happened to him.

11 And as the healed lame man was holding Peter and John, all the people ran together to them at the portico called Solomon's, greatly amazed.

12 And Peter, having seen, answered the people, Israelite men, why do you marvel at this, or why do you look intently at us as though by our own power or piety we have made him walk?

13 The God of Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, the God of our fathers, glorified his servant Jesus, whom you handed over and denied before Pilate's face, when he had decided to release him.

14 But you denied the Holy and Righteous One, and asked that a man, a murderer, be granted to you.

15 And you killed the author of life, whom God raised from the dead, of whom we are witnesses.

16 And upon faith in his name, his name strengthened this man whom you behold and know, and the faith through him gave him this wholeness before all of you.

17 And now, brothers, I know that you acted according to ignorance, just as also your rulers.

18 But God thus fulfilled the things which he announced beforehand through the mouth of all his prophets, that the Christ should suffer.

19 Repent therefore and turn back, for your sins to be wiped away, so that seasons of refreshing may come from the face of the Lord,

20 and he may send Jesus Christ, who was proclaimed beforehand to you,

21 whom heaven indeed must receive until times of restoration of all things which God spoke through the mouth of all his holy prophets from the age.

22 For Moses indeed said to the fathers that the Lord your God will raise for you a prophet from your brothers as me; you shall hear him according to all things which he may speak to you.

23 And it will be that every soul who does not hear that prophet will be utterly destroyed from the people.

24 And all the prophets also from Samuel and those in succession, as many as spoke, also announced these days beforehand.

25 You are sons of the prophets and of the covenant which God covenanted with our fathers, saying to Abraham, And in your seed all the families of the earth will be blessed.

26 To you first God, having raised his servant Jesus, sent him blessing you in turning each from your wickednesses.

Chapter 4

1 And as they were speaking to the people, the priests and the captain of the temple and the Sadducees came upon them,

2 being greatly troubled because they teach the people and proclaim in Jesus the resurrection from the dead.

3 And they laid hands upon them and put them into custody until the next day, for it was already evening.

4 But many of those who heard the word believed, and the number of the men became about five thousand.

5 And it happened on the next day that their rulers and elders and scribes were gathered

6 in Jerusalem, and Annas the high priest and Caiaphas and John and Alexander, and as many as were from high-priestly kin.

7 And having stood them in the midst, they were inquiring, In what power or in what name did you do this?

8 Then Peter, having been filled with Holy Spirit, said to them, Rulers of the people and elders of Israel,

9 if we are examined today concerning a good deed to a sick person, by what this man has been saved,

10 let it be known to all of you and to all the people of Israel that in the name of Jesus Christ the Nazarene, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead, in him this man stands before you healthy.

11 This is the stone despised by you, the builders, which became the head of the corner.

12 And salvation is in no other, for neither is there another name under heaven given among people in which we must be saved.

13 And beholding the openness of Peter and John, and having perceived that they are unlettered people and ordinary men, they were marveling, and recognizing them, that they were with Jesus.

14 And seeing the man who had been healed standing with them, they had nothing to contradict.

15 And having commanded them to go outside the council, they conferred with each other,

16 saying, What shall we do to these people? For indeed that a known sign has occurred through them is manifest to all those dwelling in Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it.

17 But so that it may not spread further among the people, let us threaten them with a threat no longer to speak upon this name to any person.

18 And having called them, they commanded them not to utter at all nor teach upon the name of Jesus.

19 But Peter and John, answering them, said, Whether it is righteous before God to hear you rather than God, judge.

20 For we cannot but speak the things which we saw and heard.

21 And having threatened further, they released them, finding nothing as to how they might punish them because of the people, because all were glorifying God at what had happened.

22 For the man upon whom this sign of healing had occurred was more than forty years old.

23 And having been released, they came to their own and reported all that the chief priests and the elders said to them.

24 And having heard, they raised a voice to God with one accord and said, Master, you are God, who made heaven and earth and the sea and all things in them,

25 who through the mouth of David your servant said, Why did nations rage, and peoples ponder empty things?

26 The kings of the earth stood forth, and the rulers were gathered together against the Lord and against his Christ.

27 For in truth both Herod and Pontius Pilate were gathered against your holy servant Jesus, whom you anointed, with nations and peoples of Israel, 28 to do all things which your hand and your counsel determined beforehand to happen.

29 And now, Lord, look upon their threats, and give to your slaves to speak your word with all openness,

30 while you stretch out your hand for healing, and signs and wonders happen through the name of your holy servant Jesus.

31 And when they had pleaded, the place in which they were gathered was shaken, and all were filled with Holy Spirit and were speaking the word of God with openness.

32 And of the multitude of those who believed the heart and soul were one, and not even one was saying that anything of his possessions was his own, but all things were common to them.

33 And with great power the apostles were giving the testimony of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and great grace was upon them all.

34 For neither was there anyone needy among them, for as many as were possessors of fields or houses, selling, were bringing the prices of the things sold,

35 and placing them at the feet of the apostles, and it was distributed to each according as anyone had need.

36 And Joses, who was surnamed Barnabas by the apostles, which translated is Son of Exhortation, a Levite, a Cypriot by birth, 37 a field belonging to him, having sold it, brought the money and placed it at the feet of the apostles.

Chapter 5

1 And a certain man, Ananias by name, with Sapphira his wife, sold a property,

2 and kept back from the price, his wife also knowing, and having brought a certain part, placed it at the feet of the apostles.

3 But Peter said, Ananias, why did Satan fill your heart for you to lie to the Holy Spirit and keep back from the price of the field?

4 Remaining, did it not remain yours, and having been sold, was it not in your authority? Why did you put this deed in your heart? You did not lie to people, but to God.

5 And Ananias, hearing these words, having fallen, expired, and great fear came upon all those hearing these things.

6 And the younger men, having risen, wrapped him up, and having carried him out, buried him.

7 And an interval of about three hours passed, and his wife entered, not knowing what had happened.

8 And Peter answered her, Tell me whether you sold the field for so much. And she said, Yes, for so much.

9 But Peter said to her, Why was it agreed by you to test the Spirit of the Lord? Look, the feet of those who buried your husband are at the door, and they will carry you out.

10 And immediately she fell at his feet and expired. And the young men, having entered, found her dead, and having carried her out, buried her beside her husband.

11 And great fear came upon the whole church and upon all those hearing these things.

12 And through the hands of the apostles many signs and wonders were occurring among the people, and all were with one accord in Solomon's portico.

13 But none of the rest dared to join them, but the people were magnifying them.

14 And still more believers were being added to the Lord, multitudes both of men and women,

15 so that they were carrying out the sick into the broad streets and placing them upon beds and pallets, so that as Peter came, even the shadow might overshadow some of them.

16 And the multitude from the surrounding cities also was coming together into Jerusalem, bringing sick people and those troubled by unclean spirits, who were all being healed.

17 But the high priest, having risen, and all those with him, being the sect of the Sadducees, were filled with jealousy,

18 and laid their hands upon the apostles and put them in public custody.

19 But an angel of the Lord through the night opened the doors of the prison, and having led them out, said,

20 Go, and having stood, speak in the temple to the people all the sayings of this life.

21 And having heard, they entered into the temple toward dawn and were teaching. But the high priest and those with him, having come, called together the council and all the eldership of the sons of Israel, and sent to the prison for them to be brought.

22 But the officers, having come, did not find them in the prison, and having returned, reported,

23 saying, We indeed found the prison shut in all security, and the guards standing outside before the doors, but having opened, we found no one inside.

24 And when both the priest and the captain of the temple and the chief priests heard these words, they were greatly perplexed concerning them, what this might become.

25 And someone, having come, reported to them, saying, Look, the men whom you put in the prison are standing in the temple and teaching the people.

26 Then the captain, having gone away with the officers, brought them, not with violence, for they feared the people, lest they be stoned.

27 And having brought them, they stood them in the council, and the high priest asked them,

28 saying, Did we not command you with a command not to teach upon this name? And look, you have filled Jerusalem with your teaching, and wish to bring upon us the blood of this man.

29 But Peter and the apostles, answering, said, It is necessary to obey God rather than people.

30 The God of our fathers raised Jesus, whom you killed, having hung him upon wood.

31 This one God exalted by his right hand as leader and Savior, to give repentance to Israel and forgiveness of sins.

32 And we are his witnesses of these sayings, and also the Holy Spirit, whom God gave to those obeying him.

33 But having heard, they were being cut through, and were taking counsel to kill them.

34 But a certain Pharisee in the council, Gamaliel by name, a teacher of law honored by all the people, having risen, commanded that the apostles be put outside for a little while.

35 And he said to them, Israelite men, pay attention to yourselves concerning these people, what you are about to do.

36 For before these days Theudas rose, saying that he himself was someone, to whom a number of about four hundred men joined themselves, who was killed, and all who were obeying him were dissolved and came to nothing.

37 After this man Judas the Galilean rose in the days of the registration and drew away a considerable people after him; and he perished, and all who were obeying him were scattered.

38 And now I say to you, Stand away from these people and allow them, because if this counsel or this work is from people, it will be destroyed.

39 But if it is from God, you cannot destroy it, lest you even be found fighting against God.

40 And they were persuaded by him, and having called the apostles, having beaten them, commanded them not to speak upon the name of Jesus, and released them.

41 They therefore indeed were going rejoicing from the face of the council, because they were counted worthy to be dishonored for his name.

42 And every day in the temple and house by house, they were not ceasing to teach and proclaim Jesus the Christ as good news.

Chapter 6

1 And in these days, as the disciples were multiplying, there arose a murmuring of the Hellenists against the Hebrews, because their widows were being overlooked in the daily service.

2 And the twelve, having summoned the multitude of the disciples, said, It is not pleasing for us, having left the word of God, to serve tables.

3 Look out therefore, brothers, seven men from you, well attested, full of Holy Spirit and wisdom, whom we will appoint over this need.

4 But we will persevere in prayer and in the service of the word.

5 And the word pleased the whole multitude, and they chose Stephen, a man full of faith and Holy Spirit, and Philip and Prochorus and Nicanor and Timon and Parmenas and Nicolaus, an Antiochene proselyte,

6 whom they stood before the apostles, and having prayed, laid hands upon them.

7 And the word of God was increasing, and the number of the disciples was multiplying greatly in Jerusalem, and a great crowd of the priests were obeying the faith.

8 And Stephen, full of faith and power, was doing great wonders and signs among the people.

9 But some of those from the synagogue called of the Freedmen, and of Cyrenians and Alexandrians and those from Cilicia and Asia, rose, disputing with Stephen.

10 And they were not strong enough to resist the wisdom and the Spirit by which he was speaking.

11 Then they instigated men saying, We have heard him speaking blasphemous sayings against Moses and God.

12 And they stirred up the people and the elders and the scribes, and having come upon him, seized him and brought him into the council.

13 And they set up false witnesses saying, This man does not cease speaking blasphemous sayings against this holy place and the law.

14 For we have heard him saying that this Jesus the Nazarene will destroy this place and change the customs which Moses handed over to us.

15 And all those sitting in the council, having looked intently at him, saw his face as a face of an angel.

Chapter 7

1 And the high priest said, Are these things then thus?

2 And he said, Men, brothers and fathers, hear. The God of glory appeared to our father Abraham while he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Haran,

3 and said to him, Go out from your land and from your kin, and come into a land which I will show you.

4 Then having gone out from the land of Chaldeans, he dwelt in Haran, and from there, after his father died, he moved him into this land in which you now dwell.

5 And he gave him no inheritance in it, not even a foot's step, and promised to give it to him for possession and to his seed after him, when he had no child.

6 And God spoke thus, that his seed will be a sojourner in a foreign land, and they will enslave it and mistreat it four hundred years.

7 And the nation which they serve I will judge, God said, and after these things they will go out and worship me in this place.

8 And he gave him a covenant of circumcision, and thus he begot Isaac and circumcised him on the eighth day, and Isaac Jacob, and Jacob the twelve patriarchs.

9 And the patriarchs, having become jealous of Joseph, sold him into Egypt, and God was with him,

10 and delivered him from all his afflictions, and gave him favor and wisdom before Pharaoh king of Egypt, and appointed him ruler over Egypt and all his house.

11 And famine came upon all the land of Egypt and Canaan, and great affliction, and our fathers were finding no provisions.

12 But Jacob, having heard that there was grain in Egypt, sent out our fathers first.

13 And on the second occasion Joseph was recognized by his brothers, and Joseph's family became manifest to Pharaoh.

14 And Joseph, having sent, called for his father Jacob and all his kin, seventy-five souls.

15 And Jacob went down into Egypt and died, he and our fathers.

16 And they were transferred to Shechem and placed in the tomb which Abraham bought for a price of silver from the sons of Emmor, Emor of Shechem.

17 And just as the time of the promise which God swore to Abraham was drawing near, the people increased and multiplied in Egypt,

18 until another king rose who did not know Joseph.

19 This man, having dealt craftily with our race, mistreated our fathers, making their infants exposed so that they might not be preserved alive.

20 At which time Moses was born, and was beautiful to God, who was reared three months in his father's house.

21 And when he was exposed, Pharaoh's daughter took him up and reared him for herself as a son.

22 And Moses was educated in all wisdom of Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in works.

23 And when a forty-year time was being fulfilled for him, it came upon his heart to visit his brothers, the sons of Israel.

24 And having seen someone being wronged, he defended him and made vengeance for the one being oppressed, having struck the Egyptian.

25 And he was supposing his brothers understood that God through his hand gives them salvation, but they did not understand.

26 And on the following day he appeared to them fighting, and was driving them together into peace, saying, Men, you are brothers. Why do you wrong each other?

27 But the one wronging his neighbor pushed him away, saying, Who appointed you ruler and judge over us?

28 You do not wish to kill me in the manner you killed the Egyptian yesterday, do you?

29 And Moses fled at this word, and became a sojourner in the land of Midian, where he begot two sons.

30 And forty years having been fulfilled, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in the wilderness of Mount Sinai, in a flame of fire of a bush.

31 And Moses, having seen, marveled at the vision, and as he was approaching to observe, a voice of the Lord came to him,

32 I am the God of your fathers, the God of Abraham and the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob. And Moses, having become trembling, did not dare to observe.

33 And the Lord said to him, Untie the sandal of your feet, for the place in which you stand is holy ground.

34 Having seen, I saw the mistreatment of my people in Egypt, and heard their groaning, and descended to deliver them. And now come, I will send you into Egypt.

35 This Moses whom they denied, saying, Who appointed you ruler and judge? this man God sent as ruler and redeemer by the hand of the angel who appeared to him in the bush.

36 This man led them out, having done wonders and signs in the land of Egypt and in the Red Sea and in the wilderness forty years.

37 This is the Moses who said to the sons of Israel, The Lord your God will raise for you a prophet from your brothers as me; you shall hear him.

38 This is the one who was in the assembly in the wilderness with the angel speaking to him on Mount Sinai and our fathers, who received living oracles to give us,

39 to whom our fathers did not wish to become obedient, but pushed him away, and turned in their hearts into Egypt,

40 saying to Aaron, Make us gods who will go before us, for this Moses, who led us out from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has happened to him.

41 And they made a calf in those days, and brought up a sacrifice to the idol, and were rejoicing in the works of their hands.

42 But God turned and handed them over to worship the host of heaven, just as it is written in the book of the prophets, You did not offer me slaughtered animals and sacrifices forty years in the wilderness, house of Israel, did you?

43 And you took up the tent of Moloch and the star of your god Remphan, the forms which you made to worship them, and I will relocate you beyond Babylon.

44 The tent of testimony was among our fathers in the wilderness, just as the one speaking to Moses commanded to make it according to the pattern which he had seen.

45 Which our fathers also, having received in succession, brought in with Joshua in the possession of the nations whom God drove out from the face of our fathers, until the days of David,

46 who found favor before God and asked to find a dwelling for the God of Jacob.

47 But Solomon built him a house.

48 But the Most High does not dwell in sanctuaries made by hands, just as the prophet says,

49 Heaven is my throne, and the earth a footstool of my feet. What kind of house will you build me, the Lord says, or what is the place of my rest?

50 Did not my hand make all these things?

51 Stiff-necked and uncircumcised in heart and ears, you always resist the Holy Spirit; as your fathers, also you.

52 Which of the prophets did your fathers not persecute? And they killed those announcing beforehand concerning the coming of the Righteous One, of whom you have now become betrayers and murderers, 53 you who received the law as ordinances of angels and did not keep it.

54 And hearing these things, they were being cut through in their hearts, and were grinding their teeth against him.

55 But being full of Holy Spirit, having looked intently into heaven, he saw glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right of God,

56 and said, Look, I behold the heavens opened, and the Son of Man standing at the right of God.

57 But having cried out with a loud voice, they closed their ears and rushed upon him with one accord.

58 And having cast him outside the city, they were stoning him, and the witnesses put off their garments at the feet of a young man called Saul.

59 And they were stoning Stephen, calling upon and saying, Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.

60 And having placed his knees down, he cried out with a loud voice, Lord, do not set this sin against them. And having said this, he fell asleep.

Chapter 8

1 And Saul was consenting to his killing. And on that day a great persecution arose against the church in Jerusalem, and all were scattered throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria except the apostles.

2 And devout men carried Stephen to burial and made a great lamentation over him.

3 But Saul was ravaging the church, entering house by house, and dragging men and women, was handing them over into prison.

4 Those therefore indeed who were scattered went through, proclaiming the word as good news.

5 And Philip, having gone down into a city of Samaria, was proclaiming the Christ to them.

6 And the crowds with one accord were attending to the things said by Philip, as they heard and saw the signs which he was doing.

7 For from many of those having unclean spirits they were coming out, crying with a loud voice, and many paralyzed and lame were healed.

8 And great joy came in that city.

9 But a certain man named Simon was previously in the city practicing magic and astonishing the nation of Samaria, saying that he himself was someone great,

10 to whom all were attending, from small to great, saying, This man is the great power of God.

11 And they were attending to him because for a considerable time he had astonished them with the magic arts.

12 But when they believed Philip proclaiming the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ as good news, both men and women were being baptized.

13 And Simon himself also believed, and having been baptized, was persevering with Philip, and beholding signs and great mighty works occurring, was astonished.

14 And the apostles in Jerusalem, having heard that Samaria has received the word of God, sent Peter and John to them,

15 who, having gone down, prayed concerning them, so that they might receive Holy Spirit.

16 For he had not yet fallen upon any of them, but they had only been baptized into the name of the Lord Jesus.

17 Then they were laying hands upon them, and they were receiving Holy Spirit.

18 And Simon, having beheld that the Holy Spirit is given through the laying on of the apostles' hands, offered them money,

19 saying, Give me also this authority, so that whomever I lay hands upon may receive Holy Spirit.

20 But Peter said to him, May your silver with you be for destruction, because you supposed the gift of God to be acquired through money.

21 You have no part nor lot in this matter, for your heart is not straight before God.

22 Repent therefore from this wickedness of yours, and plead with God whether perhaps the intent of your heart will be forgiven you.

23 For I see you being in gall of bitterness and a bond of unrighteousness.

24 But Simon, answering, said, You plead for me to the Lord, so that nothing of what you have said may come upon me.

25 They therefore indeed, having solemnly testified and spoken the word of the Lord, returned to Jerusalem, and proclaimed good news to many villages of the Samaritans.

26 And an angel of the Lord spoke to Philip, saying, Rise and go toward the south upon the road descending from Jerusalem into Gaza. This is deserted.

27 And having risen, he went. And look, an Ethiopian man, a eunuch, an official of Candace the queen of Ethiopians, who was over all her treasury, who had come to Jerusalem to worship,

28 and was returning, and sitting upon his chariot, and was reading the prophet Isaiah.

29 And the Spirit said to Philip, Approach and join yourself to this chariot.

30 And Philip, having run up, heard him reading the prophet Isaiah and said, Do you indeed know what you read?

31 And he said, For how could I, unless someone guides me? And he invited Philip to come up and sit with him.

32 And the passage of the Scripture which he was reading was this: As a sheep he was led to slaughter, and as a lamb voiceless before the one shearing it, thus he does not open his mouth.

33 In his humiliation his judgment was taken away, and who will recount his generation? Because his life is taken away from the earth.

34 And the eunuch, answering Philip, said, I plead with you, concerning whom does the prophet say this, concerning himself or concerning someone else?

35 And Philip, having opened his mouth and having begun from this Scripture, proclaimed Jesus to him as good news.

36 And as they were going along the road, they came upon some water, and the eunuch says, Look, water. What hinders me from being baptized?

37 And Philip said, If you believe from the whole heart, it is lawful. And answering, he said, I believe Jesus Christ to be the Son of God.

38 And he commanded the chariot to stand, and both went down into the water, both Philip and the eunuch, and he baptized him.

39 And when they came up from the water, the Spirit of the Lord snatched Philip away, and the eunuch saw him no longer, for he was going his way rejoicing.

40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and passing through, was proclaiming good news to all the cities until he came to Caesarea.

Chapter 9

1 But Saul, still breathing threat and murder against the disciples of the Lord, having approached the high priest,

2 asked from him letters to Damascus, to the synagogues, so that if he found any being of the Way, both men and women, he might bring them bound into Jerusalem.

3 And as he was going, it happened that he drew near to Damascus, and suddenly a light from heaven flashed around him.

4 And having fallen upon the earth, he heard a voice saying to him, Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me?

5 And he said, Who are you, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom you persecute. It is hard for you to kick against goads.

6 And trembling and astonished, he said, Lord, what do you wish me to do? And the Lord said to him, Rise and enter into the city, and it will be spoken to you what you must do.

7 And the men journeying with him stood speechless, hearing indeed the voice, but beholding no one.

8 And Saul was raised from the earth, and though his eyes were opened, he was seeing no one; and leading him by hand, they brought him into Damascus.

9 And he was three days not seeing, and did not eat nor drink.

10 And there was a certain disciple in Damascus named Ananias, and the Lord said to him in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Look, I am here, Lord.

11 And the Lord said to him, Rise and go to the street called Straight, and seek in the house of Judas a man named Saul, a Tarsian, for look, he prays,

12 and saw in a vision a man named Ananias entering and laying a hand upon him, so that he might receive sight.

13 But Ananias answered, Lord, I have heard from many concerning this man, how many evil things he did to your saints in Jerusalem.

14 And here he has authority from the chief priests to bind all those calling upon your name.

15 But the Lord said to him, Go, because this man is to me a vessel of election, to carry my name before nations and kings and sons of Israel.

16 For I will show him how many things he must suffer for my name.

17 And Ananias went away and entered into the house, and having laid hands upon him, said, Saul, brother, the Lord has sent me, Jesus, who appeared to you on the road by which you were coming, so that you may receive sight and be filled with Holy Spirit.

18 And immediately there fell away from his eyes as scales, and he received sight at once, and having risen, was baptized.

19 And having received food, he was strengthened. And Saul was with the disciples in Damascus some days.

20 And immediately in the synagogues he was proclaiming the Christ, that this is the Son of God.

21 And all those hearing were astonished, and were saying, Is this not the one who devastated in Jerusalem those calling upon this name, and had come here for this, so that he might bring them bound before the chief priests?

22 But Saul was being empowered more, and was confounding the Jews dwelling in Damascus, proving that this is the Christ.

23 And when considerable days were being fulfilled, the Jews took counsel together to kill him.

24 But their plot became known to Saul, and they were watching the gates both day and night, so that they might kill him.

25 But the disciples, having taken him by night, let him down through the wall, having lowered him in a basket.

26 And Saul, having come to Jerusalem, was trying to join himself to the disciples, and all were fearing him, not believing that he is a disciple.

27 But Barnabas, having taken hold of him, brought him to the apostles, and recounted to them how on the road he saw the Lord, and that he spoke to him, and how in Damascus he spoke openly in the name of Jesus.

28 And he was with them, entering and going out in Jerusalem,

29 and speaking openly in the name of the Lord Jesus, and was speaking and disputing with the Hellenists, but they were attempting to kill him.

30 And the brothers, having learned it, brought him down to Caesarea and sent him out to Tarsus.

31 The churches therefore indeed throughout all Judea and Galilee and Samaria had peace, being built up and walking in the fear of the Lord, and were multiplying in the encouragement of the Holy Spirit.

32 And it happened that Peter, passing through all, went down also to the saints dwelling in Lydda.

33 And there he found a certain person named Aeneas, lying upon a pallet for eight years, who was paralyzed.

34 And Peter said to him, Aeneas, Jesus the Christ heals you. Rise and spread a bed for yourself. And immediately he rose.

35 And all those dwelling in Lydda and Sharon saw him, who turned to the Lord.

36 And in Joppa there was a certain female disciple named Tabitha, which interpreted is said Dorcas. She was full of good works and alms which she was doing.

37 And it happened in those days that she became sick and died, and having washed her, they placed her in an upper room.

38 And Lydda being near Joppa, the disciples, having heard that Peter is in it, sent two men to him, exhorting him not to delay to come through as far as them.

39 And Peter, having risen, went with them, whom, having come, they brought up into the upper room. And all the widows stood by him, weeping and showing tunics and garments, as many as Dorcas was making while being with them.

40 But Peter, having cast all outside, having placed his knees down, prayed, and having turned to the body, said, Tabitha, rise. And she opened her eyes, and having seen Peter, sat up.

41 And having given her a hand, he raised her, and having called the saints and the widows, presented her alive.

42 And it became known throughout all Joppa, and many believed upon the Lord.

43 And it happened that he remained considerable days in Joppa with a certain Simon, a tanner.

Chapter 10

1 And there was a certain man in Caesarea named Cornelius, a centurion from the cohort called Italian,

2 pious and fearing God with all his house, and doing many alms for the people and pleading with God continually.

3 He saw clearly in a vision, about the ninth hour of the day, an angel of God entering to him and saying to him, Cornelius.

4 And he, having looked intently at him and having become fearful, said, What is it, Lord? And he said to him, Your prayers and your alms ascended as a memorial before God.

5 And now send men to Joppa, and summon Simon, who is surnamed Peter.

6 This man lodges with a certain Simon, a tanner, whose house is by the sea. He will speak to you what you must do.

7 And when the angel speaking to Cornelius went away, having called two of his household servants and a pious soldier of those attending him,

8 and having explained all things to them, he sent them to Joppa.

9 And on the next day, while they were journeying and drawing near the city, Peter went up upon the housetop to pray about the sixth hour.

10 And he became hungry and wished to taste food, but while they were preparing, a trance fell upon him.

11 And he beholds heaven opened, and a certain vessel descending upon him, as a great sheet bound at four corners and being lowered upon the earth,

12 in which were all the four-footed creatures of the earth, and the wild beasts and the creeping things and the birds of heaven.

13 And a voice came to him, Rise, Peter, slaughter and eat.

14 But Peter said, By no means, Lord, because I never ate anything common or unclean.

15 And a voice again a second time came to him, What God cleansed, do not make common.

16 And this happened three times, and again the vessel was taken up into heaven.

17 And as Peter was greatly perplexed within himself as to what the vision which he saw might be, look, the men sent from Cornelius, having inquired for Simon's house, stood at the gateway,

18 and having called, were inquiring whether Simon surnamed Peter lodges here.

19 And while Peter was considering the vision, the Spirit said to him, Look, three men seek you.

20 But rise, go down and go with them, doubting nothing, because I have sent them.

21 And Peter, having gone down to the men sent from Cornelius to him, said, Look, I am the one whom you seek. What is the reason because of which you are present?

22 And they said, Cornelius, a centurion, a righteous man and fearing God, and attested by the whole nation of the Jews, was divinely instructed by a holy angel to summon you into his house and hear sayings from you.

23 Having therefore called them in, he lodged them. And on the next day Peter went out with them, and some of the brothers from Joppa went with him.

24 And on the next day they entered into Caesarea, and Cornelius was expecting them, having called together his relatives and close friends.

25 And when Peter came to enter, Cornelius, having met him, having fallen at his feet, worshiped.

26 But Peter raised him, saying, Rise; I myself also am a person.

27 And conversing with him, he entered, and finds many gathered.

28 And he said to them, You know how it is unlawful for a Jewish man to join or approach a foreigner, and God showed me to call no person common or unclean.

29 Because of this also I came without objection when summoned. I inquire therefore, For what reason did you summon me?

30 And Cornelius said, From the fourth day until this hour I was fasting, and at the ninth hour praying in my house, and look, a man stood before me in splendid clothing,

31 and says, Cornelius, your prayer was heard, and your alms were remembered before God.

32 Send therefore to Joppa, and call for Simon, who is surnamed Peter. He lodges in the house of Simon a tanner by the sea, who, having come, will speak to you.

33 Immediately therefore I sent to you, and you did well having come. Now therefore we all are present before God to hear all things commanded you by God.

34 And Peter, having opened his mouth, said, In truth I perceive that God is not a respecter of persons, 35 but in every nation the one fearing him and working righteousness is acceptable to him.

36 The word which he sent to the sons of Israel, proclaiming peace as good news through Jesus Christ, he is Lord of all,

37 you know the saying that occurred throughout all Judea, having begun from Galilee after the baptism which John proclaimed:

38 Jesus from Nazareth, how God anointed him with Holy Spirit and power, who went through doing good and healing all those oppressed by the devil, because God was with him.

39 And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the country of the Jews and in Jerusalem, whom they killed, having hung him upon wood.

40 This one God raised on the third day and gave him to become manifest, 41 not to all the people, but to witnesses appointed beforehand by God, to us who ate together and drank together with him after he rose from the dead.

42 And he commanded us to proclaim to the people and testify solemnly that he is the one determined by God as judge of living and dead.

43 To him all the prophets testify, that everyone believing in him receives forgiveness of sins through his name.

44 While Peter was still speaking these sayings, the Holy Spirit fell upon all those hearing the word.

45 And the believers from circumcision, as many as came with Peter, were astonished, because upon the nations also the gift of the Holy Spirit has been poured out.

46 For they were hearing them speaking in tongues and magnifying God. Then Peter answered,

47 Can anyone forbid the water so that these may not be baptized, who received the Holy Spirit just as we also?

48 And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord. Then they asked him to remain some days.

Chapter 11

1 And the apostles and the brothers who were throughout Judea heard that the nations also received the word of God.

2 And when Peter went up to Jerusalem, those from circumcision were disputing with him,

3 saying, You entered to men having uncircumcision and ate with them.

4 But Peter, having begun, was setting it out to them in succession, saying,

5 I was in the city of Joppa praying, and in a trance I saw a vision, a certain vessel descending as a great sheet, being lowered by four corners from heaven, and it came as far as me.

6 Into which, having looked intently, I was observing, and saw the four-footed creatures of the earth and the wild beasts and the creeping things and the birds of heaven.

7 And I heard a voice saying to me, Rise, Peter, slaughter and eat.

8 But I said, By no means, Lord, because anything common or unclean never entered into my mouth.

9 And a voice answered me a second time from heaven, What God cleansed, do not make common.

10 And this happened three times, and all things were drawn up again into heaven.

11 And look, immediately three men stood at the house in which I was, sent from Caesarea to me.

12 And the Spirit said to me to go with them, doubting nothing. And these six brothers also came with me, and we entered into the man's house.

13 And he reported to us how he saw the angel standing in his house and saying to him, Send men to Joppa and summon Simon surnamed Peter,

14 who will speak sayings to you in which you and all your house will be saved.

15 And as I began to speak, the Holy Spirit fell upon them, just as also upon us in the beginning.

16 And I remembered the saying of the Lord, how he was saying, John indeed baptized with water, but you will be baptized in Holy Spirit.

17 If therefore God gave them the equal gift as also to us who believed upon the Lord Jesus Christ, but who was I, able to hinder God?

18 And having heard these things, they became quiet and were glorifying God, saying, Then indeed God gave to the nations also repentance into life.

19 Those therefore indeed scattered from the affliction that arose over Stephen went through as far as Phoenicia and Cyprus and Antioch, speaking the word to no one except Jews only.

20 But some of them were Cypriot and Cyrenian men, who, having entered into Antioch, were speaking to the Hellenists, proclaiming the Lord Jesus as good news.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, and a great number, having believed, turned to the Lord.

22 And the account concerning them was heard in the ears of the church in Jerusalem, and they sent out Barnabas to go through as far as Antioch,

23 who, having come and having seen the grace of God, rejoiced, and was exhorting all to remain with the Lord with purpose of heart.

24 Because he was a good man and full of Holy Spirit and faith, and a considerable crowd was added to the Lord.

25 And Barnabas went out to Tarsus to seek out Saul,

26 and having found him, brought him to Antioch. And it happened that they gathered in the church a whole year and taught a considerable crowd, and that the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch.

27 And in these days prophets came down from Jerusalem to Antioch.

28 And one of them, Agabus by name, having risen, signified through the Spirit that a great famine was about to be upon all the inhabited world, which also happened under Claudius Caesar.

29 And the disciples, according as anyone had means, determined, each of them, to send for service to the brothers dwelling in Judea,

30 which they also did, having sent to the elders through the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

Chapter 12

1 And at that season Herod the king laid hands on some from the church to mistreat them.

2 And he killed James, the brother of John, with a sword.

3 And having seen that it is pleasing to the Jews, he proceeded to seize Peter also. And they were days of Unleavened Bread.

4 Whom, having also seized, he put into prison, having handed him over to four squads of four soldiers to guard him, wishing after the Passover to bring him up to the people.

5 Peter therefore indeed was being kept in the prison, but earnest prayer was being made by the church to God for him.

6 And when Herod was about to bring him forward, on that night Peter was sleeping between two soldiers, bound with two chains, and guards before the door were keeping the prison.

7 And look, an angel of the Lord stood by, and light shone in the dwelling, and having struck Peter's side, raised him, saying, Rise quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands.

8 And the angel said to him, Gird yourself and bind on your sandals. And he did thus. And he says to him, Put on your garment and follow me.

9 And having gone out, he was following him, and did not know that what was happening through the angel is true, but was supposing he sees a vision.

10 And having passed through a first guard and a second, they came to the iron gate leading into the city, which opened of itself to them, and having gone out, they went along one street, and immediately the angel departed from him.

11 And Peter, having come to himself, said, Now I truly know that the Lord sent out his angel and delivered me from Herod's hand and all the expectation of the people of the Jews.

12 And having considered, he came to the house of Mary, the mother of John surnamed Mark, where considerable numbers were gathered and praying.

13 And when Peter knocked at the door of the gateway, a servant girl named Rhoda approached to answer.

14 And having recognized Peter's voice, from joy she did not open the gateway, but having run in, reported that Peter stands before the gateway.

15 But they said to her, You are mad. But she was insisting that it is thus. And they were saying, It is his angel.

16 But Peter was persisting in knocking, and having opened, they saw him and were astonished.

17 And having motioned to them with the hand to be silent, he recounted to them how the Lord led him out of the prison, and said, Report these things to James and the brothers. And having gone out, he went into another place.

18 And when day came, there was no little disturbance among the soldiers as to what then Peter had become.

19 And Herod, having sought him and not having found, having examined the guards, commanded them to be led away. And having gone down from Judea to Caesarea, he was spending time there.

20 And Herod was fighting angrily with Tyrians and Sidonians, but they came to him with one accord, and having persuaded Blastus, the one over the king's bedchamber, were asking peace, because their country was fed from the royal country.

21 And on an appointed day Herod, having clothed himself in royal clothing and having sat upon the judgment seat, was addressing them publicly.

22 And the populace was shouting, A god's voice, and not a person's.

23 And immediately an angel of the Lord struck him, because he did not give the glory to God, and having become eaten by worms, he expired.

24 But the word of God was increasing and multiplying.

25 And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jerusalem, having fulfilled the service, having also taken along John surnamed Mark.

Chapter 13

1 And there were some prophets and teachers in Antioch, in the church there, both Barnabas and Simeon called Niger and Lucius the Cyrenian, and Manaen, a foster companion of Herod the tetrarch, and Saul.

2 And as they were ministering to the Lord and fasting, the Holy Spirit said, Separate for me now both Barnabas and Saul for the work to which I have called them.

3 Then having fasted and prayed and laid hands upon them, they released them.

4 These therefore indeed, having been sent out by the Holy Spirit, went down to Seleucia, and from there sailed away to Cyprus.

5 And having come to Salamis, they were proclaiming the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews, and had John also as an attendant.

6 And having passed through the island as far as Paphos, they found a certain magician, a false prophet, a Jew whose name was Bar-Jesus,

7 who was with the proconsul Sergius Paulus, an understanding man. This man, having summoned Barnabas and Saul, sought to hear the word of God.

8 But Elymas the magician, for thus his name is translated, was resisting them, seeking to turn the proconsul away from the faith.

9 But Saul, who is also Paul, having been filled with Holy Spirit and having looked intently at him,

10 said, O full of all deceit and all villainy, son of the devil, enemy of all righteousness, will you not cease perverting the straight ways of the Lord?

11 And now look, the hand of the Lord is upon you, and you will be blind, not seeing the sun until a season. And immediately mist and darkness fell upon him, and going around, he was seeking people to lead him by hand.

12 Then the proconsul, having seen what happened, believed, being astounded at the teaching of the Lord.

13 And those around Paul, having put out from Paphos, came to Perga of Pamphylia, but John, having departed from them, returned to Jerusalem.

14 But they, having passed through from Perga, came to Antioch of Pisidia, and having entered into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, sat down.

15 And after the reading of the law and the prophets, the rulers of the synagogue sent to them, saying, Men, brothers, if there is in you a word of exhortation to the people, speak.

16 And Paul, having risen and having motioned with the hand, said, Israelite men and those fearing God, hear.

17 The God of this people Israel chose our fathers, and exalted the people in the sojourn in the land of Egypt, and with an uplifted arm led them out from it.

18 And for about a forty-year time he bore their conduct in the wilderness.

19 And having overthrown seven nations in the land of Canaan, he gave their land to them as an inheritance.

20 And after these things, for about four hundred fifty years, he gave judges until Samuel the prophet.

21 And from then they asked for a king, and God gave them Saul, son of Kish, a man from the tribe of Benjamin, forty years.

22 And having removed him, he raised David for them as king, to whom also, having testified, he said, I found David of Jesse, a man according to my heart, who will do all my wills.

23 From this man's seed God, according to promise, raised for Israel a Savior, Jesus,

24 John having proclaimed beforehand, before the face of his entrance, a baptism of repentance to all the people of Israel.

25 And as John was fulfilling the course, he was saying, Whom do you suppose me to be? I am not he. But look, there comes after me one whose sandal of the feet I am not worthy to untie.

26 Men, brothers, sons of the race of Abraham, and those among you fearing God, to you the word of this salvation was sent.

27 For those dwelling in Jerusalem and their rulers, having not known this one and the voices of the prophets read every Sabbath, having judged him, fulfilled them.

28 And having found no cause of death, they asked Pilate that he be killed.

29 And when they completed all things written concerning him, having taken him down from the wood, they placed him into a tomb.

30 But God raised him from the dead,

31 who appeared for many days to those who came up with him from Galilee into Jerusalem, who are his witnesses to the people.

32 And we proclaim to you as good news the promise made to the fathers,

33 that God has fulfilled this to their children, to us, having raised Jesus, as it is also written in the second Psalm, You are my Son; I today have begotten you.

34 And that he raised him from the dead, no longer about to return into corruption, he has spoken thus, I will give you the holy things of David, the faithful things.

35 Because of this also in another he says, You will not give your holy one to see corruption.

36 For David indeed, having served his own generation by the counsel of God, fell asleep and was added to his fathers, and saw corruption.

37 But the one whom God raised did not see corruption.

38 Let it therefore be known to you, men, brothers, that through this one forgiveness of sins is proclaimed to you,

39 and from all things from which you could not be justified in the law of Moses, in this one everyone believing is justified.

40 See therefore that what was said in the prophets does not come upon you:

41 See, despisers, and marvel and vanish, because I work a work in your days, a work which you will certainly not believe if anyone recounts it to you.

42 And as they were going out from the synagogue of the Jews, the nations were asking that these sayings be spoken to them on the intervening Sabbath.

43 And when the synagogue was dismissed, many of the Jews and the worshiping proselytes followed Paul and Barnabas, who, speaking to them, were persuading them to remain in the grace of God.

44 And on the coming Sabbath almost all the city was gathered to hear the word of God.

45 But the Jews, having seen the crowds, were filled with jealousy, and were contradicting the things said by Paul, contradicting and blaspheming.

46 And Paul and Barnabas, having spoken openly, said, It was necessary that the word of God be spoken first to you, but since you push it away and judge yourselves unworthy of eternal life, look, we turn to the nations.

47 For thus the Lord has commanded us, I have placed you as a light of nations, for you to be for salvation as far as the end of the earth.

48 And the nations, hearing, were rejoicing and glorifying the word of the Lord, and as many as had been appointed to eternal life believed.

49 And the word of the Lord was being carried through the whole country.

50 But the Jews incited the worshiping women and the prominent women and the foremost of the city, and stirred up persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and cast them out from their borders.

51 But they, having shaken off the dust of their feet against them, came to Iconium.

52 And the disciples were being filled with joy and Holy Spirit.

Chapter 14

1 And it happened in Iconium that they entered together into the synagogue of the Jews and spoke thus, so that a great multitude both of Jews and Greeks believed.

2 But the disobeying Jews stirred up and embittered the souls of the nations against the brothers.

3 They therefore indeed spent considerable time speaking openly upon the Lord, who was testifying to the word of his grace and giving signs and wonders to occur through their hands.

4 But the multitude of the city was divided, and some were with the Jews, but others with the apostles.

5 And when a rush arose of both nations and Jews with their rulers to abuse and stone them,

6 having perceived it, they fled to the cities of Lycaonia, Lystra and Derbe, and the surrounding region,

7 and there were proclaiming good news.

8 And a certain man in Lystra, powerless in the feet, was sitting, being lame from his mother's womb, who had never walked.

9 This man was hearing Paul speaking, who, having looked intently at him and having seen that he has faith to be saved,

10 said with a loud voice, Rise upright upon your feet. And he was leaping and walking.

11 And the crowds, having seen what Paul did, raised their voice, saying in Lycaonian, The gods, having become like people, came down to us.

12 And they were calling Barnabas Zeus, but Paul Hermes, since he was the one leading the speech.

13 And the priest of Zeus who was before their city, having brought bulls and garlands to the gateways, wished to sacrifice with the crowds.

14 But the apostles Barnabas and Paul, having heard, having torn their garments, leaped into the crowd, crying out,

15 and saying, Men, why do you do these things? We also are people of like passions with you, proclaiming good news to you to turn from these vain things to the living God, who made heaven and earth and the sea and all things in them,

16 who in the generations gone by allowed all the nations to go in their ways.

17 And yet indeed he did not leave himself without witness, doing good, giving us rains from heaven and fruit-bearing seasons, filling our hearts with food and gladness.

18 And saying these things, they scarcely restrained the crowds from sacrificing to them.

19 But Jews came from Antioch and Iconium, and having persuaded the crowds and having stoned Paul, they were dragging him outside the city, supposing him to have died.

20 But when the disciples encircled him, having risen, he entered into the city, and on the next day went out with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And having proclaimed good news to that city and made considerable disciples, they returned to Lystra and Iconium and Antioch,

22 strengthening the souls of the disciples, exhorting them to remain in the faith, and that through many afflictions we must enter into the kingdom of God.

23 And having appointed elders for them church by church, having prayed with fastings, they entrusted them to the Lord in whom they had believed.

24 And having passed through Pisidia, they came to Pamphylia.

25 And having spoken the word in Perga, they went down to Attalia.

26 And from there they sailed away to Antioch, from where they had been handed over to the grace of God for the work which they fulfilled.

27 And having come and having gathered the church, they announced all things which God did with them, and that he opened a door of faith to the nations.

28 And there they were spending no little time with the disciples.

Chapter 15

1 And some, having come down from Judea, were teaching the brothers that unless you are circumcised by the custom of Moses, you cannot be saved.

2 When therefore no little dissension and dispute arose for Paul and Barnabas with them, they appointed Paul and Barnabas and some others of them to go up to the apostles and elders into Jerusalem concerning this question.

3 They therefore indeed, having been sent onward by the church, were passing through Phoenicia and Samaria, recounting the conversion of the nations, and were making great joy for all the brothers.

4 And having come to Jerusalem, they were received by the church and the apostles and the elders, and announced all things which God did with them.

5 But some of those from the sect of the Pharisees who had believed rose up, saying that it is necessary to circumcise them and command them to keep the law of Moses.

6 And the apostles and the elders were gathered to see concerning this matter.

7 And much dispute having occurred, Peter, having risen, said to them, Men, brothers, you know that from ancient days God chose among us that through my mouth the nations should hear the word of the good news and believe.

8 And God, the heart-knower, testified to them, having given them the Holy Spirit just as also to us,

9 and distinguished nothing between both us and them, having cleansed their hearts by faith.

10 Now therefore why do you test God, to lay a yoke upon the neck of the disciples which neither our fathers nor we were strong enough to bear?

11 But through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we believe to be saved, in the manner they also are.

12 And all the multitude became silent and were hearing Barnabas and Paul explaining all the signs and wonders God did among the nations through them.

13 And after they became silent, James answered, saying, Men, brothers, hear me.

14 Simeon explained how God first visited to take from nations a people upon his name.

15 And with this the words of the prophets agree, just as it is written,

16 After these things I will return and rebuild the tent of David which has fallen, and its demolished things I will rebuild, and I will set it upright,

17 so that the remaining ones of people may seek out the Lord, and all the nations upon whom my name has been called upon them, says the Lord who does all these things.

18 All his works are known to God from the age.

19 Because of this I judge not to trouble those from the nations turning to God,

20 but to write to them to abstain from the pollutions of the idols and fornication and what is strangled and blood.

21 For Moses from ancient generations has those proclaiming him city by city, being read in the synagogues every Sabbath.

22 Then it seemed good to the apostles and the elders with the whole church, having chosen men from them, to send to Antioch with Paul and Barnabas Judas surnamed Barsabas and Silas, leading men among the brothers,

23 having written through their hand these things: The apostles and the elders and the brothers, to the brothers from nations throughout Antioch and Syria and Cilicia, greetings.

24 Since we heard that some going out from us troubled you with words, unsettling your souls, saying to be circumcised and keep the law, to whom we gave no instruction,

25 it seemed good to us, having become of one accord, having chosen men, to send to you with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,

26 people who have handed over their lives for the name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

27 We have therefore sent Judas and Silas, themselves also reporting the same things through speech.

28 For it seemed good to the Holy Spirit and to us to lay upon you no further burden except these necessary things:

29 to abstain from things sacrificed to idols and blood and what is strangled and fornication, from which keeping yourselves, you will do well. Be strong.

30 They therefore indeed, having been released, came to Antioch, and having gathered the multitude, delivered the letter.

31 And having read, they rejoiced at the encouragement.

32 And Judas and Silas, themselves also being prophets, exhorted the brothers through much speech and strengthened them.

33 And having spent time, they were released with peace from the brothers to the apostles.

34 But it seemed good to Silas to remain there.

35 But Paul and Barnabas were spending time in Antioch, teaching and proclaiming as good news the word of the Lord, with many others also.

36 And after some days Paul said to Barnabas, Let us now return and visit our brothers in every city in which we proclaimed the word of the Lord, how they are.

37 And Barnabas took counsel to take along John called Mark.

38 But Paul was considering it fitting not to take along this man, who departed from them from Pamphylia and did not go with them into the work.

39 There arose therefore a sharp contention, so that they separated from each other, and Barnabas, having taken Mark, sailed out to Cyprus.

40 But Paul, having chosen Silas, went out, having been entrusted to the grace of God by the brothers.

41 And he was passing through Syria and Cilicia, strengthening the churches.

Chapter 16

1 And he arrived at Derbe and Lystra, and look, a certain disciple was there named Timothy, son of a certain believing Jewish woman, but of a Greek father,

2 who was attested by the brothers in Lystra and Iconium.

3 Paul wished this man to go out with him, and having taken him, circumcised him because of the Jews in those places, for all knew his father, that he was a Greek.

4 And as they were passing through the cities, they were delivering to them to keep the decrees decided by the apostles and elders in Jerusalem.

5 The churches therefore indeed were being strengthened in the faith and abounding in number daily.

6 And having passed through Phrygia and the Galatian country, having been forbidden by the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia,

7 having come toward Mysia, they were trying to go toward Bithynia, and the Spirit did not allow them.

8 And having passed by Mysia, they went down to Troas.

9 And a vision appeared to Paul through the night: a certain Macedonian man was standing, exhorting him and saying, Cross into Macedonia and help us.

10 And when he saw the vision, immediately we sought to go out into Macedonia, concluding that the Lord has called us to proclaim good news to them.

11 Having therefore put out from Troas, we sailed straight to Samothrace, and on the following day to Neapolis,

12 and from there to Philippi, which is a foremost city of the district of Macedonia, a colony. And we were spending some days in this city.

13 And on the Sabbath day we went out outside the city by a river, where a place of prayer was supposed to be, and having sat down, we were speaking to the women who came together.

14 And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple from the city of Thyatira, worshiping God, was hearing, whose heart the Lord opened to attend to the things spoken by Paul.

15 And when she was baptized, and her house, she exhorted us, saying, If you have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, enter into my house and stay. And she urged us strongly.

16 And it happened as we were going to prayer that a certain servant girl having a spirit of Python met us, who was providing much profit to her masters by divining.

17 She, having followed after Paul and us, was crying out, saying, These people are slaves of the Most High God, who proclaim to us a way of salvation.

18 And she was doing this for many days. But Paul, having become greatly troubled and having turned, said to the spirit, I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out from her. And it came out in that very hour.

19 But her masters, having seen that the hope of their profit went out, having seized Paul and Silas, dragged them into the marketplace before the rulers.

20 And having brought them to the magistrates, they said, These people greatly disturb our city, being Jews,

21 and proclaim customs which it is not lawful for us to receive or do, being Romans.

22 And the crowd rose together against them, and the magistrates, having torn off their garments, were commanding them to be beaten with rods.

23 And having laid many blows upon them, they cast them into prison, having commanded the jailer to keep them securely,

24 who, having received such a command, cast them into the inner prison and secured their feet in the wood.

25 And about midnight Paul and Silas, praying, were singing hymns to God, and the prisoners were listening to them.

26 And suddenly a great earthquake occurred, so that the foundations of the prison were shaken, and immediately all the doors were opened, and the bonds of all were loosed.

27 And the jailer, having become awake and having seen the prison doors opened, having drawn a sword, was about to kill himself, supposing the prisoners to have escaped.

28 But Paul called with a loud voice, saying, Do no evil to yourself, for we all are here.

29 And having asked for lights, he leaped in, and having become trembling, fell before Paul and Silas.

30 And having brought them forward outside, he said, Sirs, what must I do so that I may be saved?

31 And they said, Believe upon the Lord Jesus Christ, and you will be saved, you and your house.

32 And they spoke to him the word of the Lord, and to all those in his house.

33 And having taken them in that hour of the night, he washed them from the wounds, and he himself and all his people were baptized immediately.

34 And having brought them up into his house, he set a table before them, and exulted with all the house, having believed God.

35 And when day came, the magistrates sent the rod-bearers, saying, Release those people.

36 And the jailer reported these words to Paul, that the magistrates have sent so that you may be released. Now therefore go out and go in peace.

37 But Paul said to them, Having beaten us publicly, uncondemned people, being Romans, they cast us into prison, and now do they cast us out secretly? No indeed, but let them themselves come and lead us out.

38 And the rod-bearers announced these sayings to the magistrates, and they feared, having heard that they are Romans.

39 And having come, they entreated them, and having led them out, were asking them to go out from the city.

40 And having gone out from the prison, they entered to Lydia, and having seen the brothers, encouraged them and went out.

Chapter 17

1 And having journeyed through Amphipolis and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where the synagogue of the Jews was.

2 And according to Paul's custom, he entered to them, and for three Sabbaths was reasoning with them from the Scriptures,

3 opening and setting forth that the Christ had to suffer and rise from the dead, and that this is the Christ, Jesus whom I proclaim to you.

4 And some of them were persuaded and joined to Paul and Silas, and a great multitude of the worshiping Greeks, and not a few of the foremost women.

5 But the disobeying Jews, having become jealous and having taken some wicked men from the marketplace idlers, and having made a crowd, were disturbing the city, and having come upon Jason's house, were seeking to bring them to the populace.

6 But not having found them, they were dragging Jason and some brothers before the city rulers, crying that these who upset the inhabited world are present here also,

7 whom Jason has received, and all these act against Caesar's decrees, saying that there is another king, Jesus.

8 And they troubled the crowd and the city rulers hearing these things.

9 And having received the security from Jason and the rest, they released them.

10 And the brothers immediately through the night sent out both Paul and Silas to Berea, who, having come, were going into the synagogue of the Jews.

11 And these were nobler than those in Thessalonica, who received the word with all eagerness, daily examining the Scriptures whether these things were thus.

12 Many therefore indeed of them believed, and not a few of the prominent Greek women and men.

13 But when the Jews from Thessalonica knew that in Berea also the word of God was proclaimed by Paul, they came there also, shaking the crowds.

14 And then immediately the brothers sent Paul out to go as toward the sea, but both Silas and Timothy were remaining there.

15 And those conducting Paul brought him as far as Athens, and having received a command to Silas and Timothy that they should come to him as quickly as possible, were going out.

16 And in Athens, while Paul was awaiting them, his spirit was being provoked within him as he beheld the city being full of idols.

17 He therefore indeed was reasoning in the synagogue with the Jews and those worshiping, and in the marketplace every day with those happening to be there.

18 And some of the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers were encountering him, and some were saying, What might this seed-picker wish to say? But others, He seems to be a proclaimer of foreign divinities, because he was proclaiming Jesus and the resurrection to them as good news.

19 And having taken hold of him, they brought him upon the Areopagus, saying, Can we know what is this new teaching spoken by you?

20 For you bring some strange things into our hearing. We wish therefore to know what these things might mean.

21 And all Athenians and the visiting strangers were spending leisure in nothing else than saying something and hearing something newer.

22 And Paul, having stood in the midst of the Areopagus, said, Athenian men, in all things I behold you as more reverent toward divinities.

23 For passing through and observing your objects of worship, I found also an altar on which had been inscribed, To an unknown god. The one therefore whom you worship in ignorance, this one I proclaim to you.

24 God, who made the world and all things in it, this one, being Lord of heaven and earth, does not dwell in sanctuaries made by hands,

25 nor is he served by people's hands as needing anything, himself giving all life and breath in all things.

26 And he made from one blood every nation of people to dwell upon all the face of the earth, having determined seasons appointed beforehand and the boundaries of their dwelling,

27 to seek the Lord, whether perhaps they might feel for him and find him, although indeed he is not far from each one of us.

28 For in him we live and move and are, as also some of the poets among you have said, For we also are his offspring.

29 Being therefore offspring of God, we ought not to suppose the divine to be like gold or silver or stone, an engraving of a person's art and thought.

30 God therefore indeed, having overlooked the times of ignorance, now commands all people everywhere to repent,

31 because he set a day in which he is about to judge the inhabited world in righteousness by a man whom he determined, having provided assurance to all, having raised him from the dead.

32 But having heard a resurrection of dead people, some were mocking, but others said, We will hear you again concerning this.

33 And thus Paul went out from their midst.

34 But some men, having joined themselves to him, believed, among whom also were Dionysius the Areopagite and a woman named Damaris, and others with them.

Chapter 18

1 And after these things Paul, having departed from Athens, came to Corinth.

2 And having found a certain Jew named Aquila, a Pontian by birth, recently come from Italy, and Priscilla his wife, because Claudius had commanded all the Jews to depart from Rome, he approached them.

3 And because he was of the same trade, he was remaining with them and working, for they were tentmakers by trade.

4 And he was reasoning in the synagogue every Sabbath, and persuading Jews and Greeks.

5 And when both Silas and Timothy came down from Macedonia, Paul was constrained in spirit, solemnly testifying to the Jews that Jesus is the Christ.

6 But as they were opposing and blaspheming, having shaken off the garments, he said to them, Your blood upon your head; I am clean. From now I will go to the nations.

7 And having departed from there, he came into the house of someone named Justus, worshiping God, whose house was adjoining the synagogue.

8 And Crispus, the ruler of the synagogue, believed the Lord with all his house, and many of the Corinthians, hearing, were believing and being baptized.

9 And the Lord said through a vision in the night to Paul, Do not fear, but speak and do not become silent,

10 because I am with you, and no one will set upon you to harm you, because I have many people in this city.

11 And he stayed a year and six months, teaching among them the word of God.

12 And while Gallio was proconsul of Achaia, the Jews rose against Paul with one accord and brought him before the judgment seat,

13 saying that this man persuades people to worship God contrary to the law.

14 And when Paul was about to open the mouth, Gallio said to the Jews, If therefore indeed it were some injustice or wicked villainy, O Jews, according to reason I would bear with you.

15 But if it is a question concerning a word and names and the law among you, you yourselves shall see to it, for I do not wish to be a judge of these things.

16 And he drove them away from the judgment seat.

17 But all the Greeks, having seized Sosthenes the ruler of the synagogue, were striking him before the judgment seat, and Gallio cared for none of these things.

18 And Paul, having remained still considerable days, having bid farewell to the brothers, was sailing out to Syria, and with him Priscilla and Aquila, having shorn the head in Cenchreae, for he had a vow.

19 And he arrived at Ephesus and left them there, but he himself, having entered into the synagogue, reasoned with the Jews.

20 And when they asked him to stay a longer time with them, he did not consent,

21 but bade farewell to them, saying, I must by all means keep the coming feast in Jerusalem, but I will return again to you, God willing. And he put out from Ephesus.

22 And having come down to Caesarea, having gone up and greeted the church, he went down to Antioch.

23 And having spent some time, he went out, passing through in succession the Galatian country and Phrygia, strengthening all the disciples.

24 And a certain Jew named Apollos, an Alexandrian by birth, an eloquent man, arrived at Ephesus, being mighty in the Scriptures.

25 This man had been instructed in the way of the Lord, and boiling in spirit, was speaking and teaching accurately the things concerning the Lord, knowing only the baptism of John.

26 And this man began to speak openly in the synagogue, and Aquila and Priscilla, having heard him, took him to themselves and set out to him more accurately the way of God.

27 And when he wished to pass into Achaia, the brothers, having encouraged him, wrote to the disciples to receive him, who, having come, contributed much to those who had believed through grace.

28 For he was vehemently refuting the Jews publicly, showing through the Scriptures that Jesus is the Christ.

Chapter 19

1 And it happened while Apollos was in Corinth that Paul, having passed through the upper parts, came to Ephesus, and having found some disciples,

2 he said to them, Did you receive Holy Spirit, having believed? And they said to him, But we did not even hear whether there is Holy Spirit.

3 And he said to them, Into what therefore were you baptized? And they said, Into John's baptism.

4 And Paul said, John indeed baptized a baptism of repentance, saying to the people that they should believe in the one coming after him, that is, in Christ Jesus.

5 And having heard, they were baptized into the name of the Lord Jesus.

6 And when Paul laid hands upon them, the Holy Spirit came upon them, and they were speaking in tongues and prophesying.

7 And all the men were about twelve.

8 And having entered into the synagogue, he was speaking openly for three months, reasoning and persuading the things concerning the kingdom of God.

9 But when some were being hardened and disobeying, speaking evil of the Way before the multitude, having departed from them, he separated the disciples, reasoning daily in the school of a certain Tyrannus.

10 And this happened for two years, so that all those dwelling in Asia heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks.

11 And God was doing no ordinary mighty works through Paul's hands,

12 so that even handkerchiefs or aprons from his skin were being carried to the sick, and the diseases were departing from them, and the wicked spirits were going out from them.

13 But some of the itinerant Jewish exorcists attempted to name upon those having the wicked spirits the name of the Lord Jesus, saying, We adjure you by Jesus whom Paul proclaims.

14 And there were certain seven sons of Sceva, a Jewish chief priest, doing this.

15 But the wicked spirit, answering, said, Jesus I know, and Paul I am acquainted with, but who are you?

16 And the man in whom the wicked spirit was, having leaped upon them and having mastered them, prevailed against them, so that they fled out from that house naked and wounded.

17 And this became known to all, both Jews and Greeks dwelling in Ephesus, and fear fell upon them all, and the name of the Lord Jesus was being magnified.

18 And many of those who had believed were coming, confessing and announcing their deeds.

19 And considerable numbers of those who practiced the magic arts, having brought the books together, were burning them before all, and they counted together their prices and found fifty thousand of silver.

20 Thus the word of the Lord was increasing mightily and prevailing.

21 And when these things were fulfilled, Paul set in the spirit, having passed through Macedonia and Achaia, to go to Jerusalem, saying that after I have come there, I must also see Rome.

22 And having sent to Macedonia two of those serving him, Timothy and Erastus, he himself stayed a time in Asia.

23 And at that season there arose no little disturbance concerning the Way.

24 For a certain man named Demetrius, a silversmith, making silver sanctuaries of Artemis, was providing no little profit to the craftsmen,

25 whom, having gathered together, and the workers about such things, he said, Men, you know that our prosperity is from this work.

26 And you behold and hear that not only of Ephesus, but of almost all Asia, this Paul, having persuaded, turned aside a considerable crowd, saying that those made through hands are not gods.

27 And not only does this trade of ours risk coming into disrepute, but also the temple of the great goddess Artemis being reckoned as nothing, and her majesty also about to be taken down, whom all Asia and the inhabited world worship.

28 And having heard and having become full of anger, they were crying out, saying, Great is Artemis of the Ephesians.

29 And the whole city was filled with confusion, and they rushed with one accord into the theater, having seized Gaius and Aristarchus, Macedonians, fellow travelers of Paul.

30 And when Paul wished to enter to the populace, the disciples were not allowing him.

31 And some also of the Asiarchs, being his friends, having sent to him, were exhorting him not to give himself into the theater.

32 Some therefore indeed were crying one thing, others another, for the assembly was confused, and most did not know for what reason they had come together.

33 And from the crowd they brought forward Alexander, the Jews having put him forward, and Alexander, having motioned with the hand, wished to defend himself to the populace.

34 But when they recognized that he is a Jew, one voice came from all, for about two hours crying, Great is Artemis of the Ephesians.

35 And the secretary, having quieted the crowd, says, Ephesian men, for who is a person who does not know that the city of the Ephesians is temple-keeper of the great goddess Artemis and of the thing fallen from Zeus?

36 These things therefore being indisputable, it is necessary that you be quieted and do nothing rash.

37 For you brought these men, neither temple-robbers nor blaspheming your goddess.

38 If therefore indeed Demetrius and the craftsmen with him have a matter against anyone, court days are being held and there are proconsuls; let them accuse each other.

39 But if you seek anything concerning other matters, it will be resolved in the lawful assembly.

40 For we also risk being accused of uprising concerning today, no cause existing concerning which we will be able to give an account of this gathering.

41 And having said these things, he dismissed the assembly.

Chapter 20

1 And after the uproar ceased, Paul, having summoned the disciples and having greeted them, went out to go to Macedonia.

2 And having passed through those parts and having exhorted them with much speech, he came to Greece.

3 And having spent three months, when a plot was made against him by the Jews as he was about to put out to Syria, he resolved to return through Macedonia.

4 And Sopater of Berea was accompanying him as far as Asia, and of Thessalonians Aristarchus and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe and Timothy, and Asians Tychicus and Trophimus.

5 These, having gone ahead, were awaiting us in Troas.

6 But we sailed out after the days of Unleavened Bread from Philippi, and came to them into Troas within five days, where we spent seven days.

7 And on the first day of the week, when the disciples were gathered to break bread, Paul was reasoning with them, about to go out on the next day, and was prolonging the speech until midnight.

8 And there were considerable lamps in the upper room where they were gathered.

9 And a certain young man named Eutychus, sitting upon the window, being borne down by deep sleep as Paul was reasoning longer, having been borne down by the sleep, fell down from the third story and was taken up dead.

10 But Paul, having gone down, fell upon him, and having embraced him, said, Do not be disturbed, for his soul is in him.

11 And having gone up and having broken bread and tasted, and having conversed for a considerable time until dawn, thus he went out.

12 And they brought the boy alive, and were comforted not moderately.

13 But we, having gone ahead to the boat, put out to Assos, about to take up Paul from there, for thus he had arranged, himself about to go on foot.

14 And when he met us at Assos, having taken him up, we came to Mitylene.

15 And having sailed away from there, on the following day we arrived opposite Chios, and on the next we approached Samos, and having remained in Trogyllium, on the following day we came to Miletus.

16 For Paul decided to sail past Ephesus, so that he might not come to spend time in Asia, for he was hurrying, if it were possible for him, to be in Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost.

17 And from Miletus, having sent to Ephesus, he summoned the elders of the church.

18 And when they came to him, he said to them, You know from the first day on which I stepped into Asia how I was with you all the time,

19 serving the Lord with all humility and many tears and trials which happened to me in the plots of the Jews,

20 how I withheld nothing of the beneficial things from announcing to you and teaching you publicly and house by house,

21 solemnly testifying to both Jews and Greeks repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.

22 And now look, I, bound in the spirit, go to Jerusalem, not knowing the things that will meet me in it,

23 except that the Holy Spirit city by city solemnly testifies, saying that bonds and afflictions await me.

24 But I make account of none of these things, nor hold my life precious to myself, so as to complete my course with joy and the service which I received from the Lord Jesus, to testify solemnly to the good news of the grace of God.

25 And now look, I know that you all, among whom I went through proclaiming the kingdom of God, will no longer see my face.

26 Because of this I testify to you on today's day that I am clean from the blood of all.

27 For I did not withhold from announcing to you all the counsel of God.

28 Pay attention therefore to yourselves and to all the flock in which the Holy Spirit placed you as overseers, to shepherd the church of God, which he acquired through his own blood.

29 For I know this, that after my departure heavy wolves will enter among you, not sparing the flock.

30 And from you yourselves men will rise, speaking perverted things to draw away the disciples after them.

31 Because of this stay awake, remembering that for three years night and day I did not cease admonishing each one with tears.

32 And now I entrust you, brothers, to God and to the word of his grace, which is able to build up and give you inheritance among all those sanctified.

33 I desired no one's silver or gold or clothing.

34 And you yourselves know that these hands served my needs and those being with me.

35 I showed you all things, that laboring thus it is necessary to help the weak, and remember the words of the Lord Jesus, that he himself said, It is blessed to give rather than receive.

36 And having said these things, having placed his knees down, he prayed with them all.

37 And considerable weeping of all occurred, and having fallen upon Paul's neck, they were kissing him,

38 being pained especially at the word which he had said, that they are no longer about to behold his face. And they were sending him onward to the boat.

Chapter 21

1 And when it happened that we put out, having been torn away from them, having sailed straight, we came to Cos, and on the next day to Rhodes, and from there to Patara.

2 And having found a boat crossing to Phoenicia, having embarked, we put out.

3 And having sighted Cyprus and having left it on the left, we were sailing to Syria and landed at Tyre, for there the boat was unloading the cargo.

4 And having found the disciples, we remained there seven days, who were saying to Paul through the Spirit not to go up to Jerusalem.

5 And when it happened that we completed the days, having gone out, we were going, all sending us onward with wives and children as far as outside the city, and having placed our knees down upon the shore, we prayed.

6 And having greeted each other, we embarked into the boat, but they returned to their own things.

7 And we, having completed the voyage from Tyre, arrived at Ptolemais, and having greeted the brothers, stayed one day with them.

8 And on the next day those around Paul, having gone out, came to Caesarea, and having entered into the house of Philip the evangelist, being of the seven, we stayed with him.

9 And this man had four virgin daughters prophesying.

10 And while we were remaining many days, a certain prophet named Agabus came down from Judea,

11 and having come to us and having taken Paul's belt, and having bound his own hands and feet, said, These things the Holy Spirit says: The man whose belt this is, thus the Jews in Jerusalem will bind and hand over into hands of nations.

12 And when we heard these things, both we and the local people were exhorting him not to go up to Jerusalem.

13 But Paul answered, What do you do, weeping and crushing my heart? For I am ready not only to be bound, but also to die in Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus.

14 And when he was not being persuaded, we became quiet, having said, Let the will of the Lord happen.

15 And after these days, having packed up, we were going up to Jerusalem.

16 And some of the disciples from Caesarea also went with us, bringing us to one with whom we might lodge, a certain Mnason, a Cypriot, an early disciple.

17 And when we came to Jerusalem, the brothers gladly received us.

18 And on the following day Paul was going in with us to James, and all the elders came.

19 And having greeted them, he was explaining one by one each of the things which God did among the nations through his service.

20 And having heard, they were glorifying the Lord, and said to him, You behold, brother, how many tens of thousands there are of Jews who have believed, and all are zealots of the law.

21 But they were informed concerning you that you teach apostasy from Moses to all the Jews throughout the nations, saying that they should not circumcise the children nor walk in the customs.

22 What therefore is it? A multitude must by all means come together, for they will hear that you have come.

23 Do therefore this which we say to you. We have four men having a vow upon themselves.

24 Having taken these, purify yourself with them and spend on them, so that they may shave the head, and all may know that the things of which they have been informed concerning you are nothing, but you yourself also walk in order, keeping the law.

25 But concerning the nations who have believed, we wrote, having judged that they keep nothing of this sort, except to guard themselves from both the thing sacrificed to idols and blood and what is strangled and fornication.

26 Then Paul, having taken the men, on the following day, having been purified with them, was entering into the temple, announcing the fulfillment of the days of purification, until the offering was offered for each one of them.

27 And when the seven days were about to be completed, the Jews from Asia, having beheld him in the temple, were confounding all the crowd and laid hands upon him,

28 crying, Israelite men, help! This is the person teaching all everywhere against the people and the law and this place, and furthermore he also brought Greeks into the temple and has made this holy place common.

29 For they had previously seen Trophimus the Ephesian in the city with him, whom they were supposing Paul brought into the temple.

30 And the whole city was stirred, and a running together of the people occurred, and having seized Paul, they were dragging him outside the temple, and immediately the doors were shut.

31 And while they were seeking to kill him, a report went up to the commander of a thousand of the cohort that all Jerusalem has been confounded,

32 who, immediately having taken soldiers and centurions, ran down upon them, but they, having seen the commander of a thousand and the soldiers, ceased striking Paul.

33 Then the commander of a thousand, having drawn near, seized him and commanded him to be bound with two chains, and was inquiring who he might be and what he has done.

34 But some were crying one thing, others another, in the crowd, and not being able to know the certainty because of the uproar, he commanded him to be led into the barracks.

35 And when he came upon the steps, it happened that he was carried by the soldiers because of the violence of the crowd.

36 For the multitude of the people was following, crying, Take him away.

37 And Paul, about to be brought into the barracks, says to the commander of a thousand, Is it lawful for me to say something to you? And he said, Do you know Greek?

38 Are you not then the Egyptian who before these days caused an uprising and led out into the wilderness the four thousand men of the dagger-men?

39 But Paul said, I indeed am a Jewish person, a Tarsian of Cilicia, a citizen of no insignificant city. And I plead with you, permit me to speak to the people.

40 And when he permitted, Paul, standing upon the steps, motioned with the hand to the people, and when much silence came, he addressed them in the Hebrew dialect, saying,

Chapter 22

1 Men, brothers and fathers, hear my defense to you now.

2 And having heard that he was addressing them in the Hebrew dialect, they provided more quiet. And he says,

3 I indeed am a Jewish man, born in Tarsus of Cilicia, but reared in this city at the feet of Gamaliel, educated according to exactness of the ancestral law, being a zealot of God, just as you all are today,

4 who persecuted this Way as far as death, binding and handing over into prisons both men and women,

5 as also the high priest testifies to me, and all the eldership, from whom also, having received letters to the brothers, I was going to Damascus to bring those there also bound into Jerusalem so that they might be punished.

6 And it happened to me, going and drawing near Damascus about midday, that suddenly a considerable light from heaven flashed around me.

7 And I fell to the ground and heard a voice saying to me, Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me?

8 And I answered, Who are you, Lord? And he said to me, I am Jesus the Nazarene whom you persecute.

9 And those being with me indeed beheld the light and became fearful, but did not hear the voice of the one speaking to me.

10 And I said, What shall I do, Lord? And the Lord said to me, Rise and go to Damascus, and there it will be spoken to you concerning all things appointed for you to do.

11 And as I was not seeing because of the glory of that light, being led by hand by those being with me, I came to Damascus.

12 And a certain Ananias, a man pious according to the law, attested by all the Jews dwelling there,

13 having come to me and having stood by, said to me, Saul, brother, receive sight. And I in that very hour received sight toward him.

14 And he said, The God of our fathers appointed you beforehand to know his will and see the Righteous One and hear a voice from his mouth, 15 because you will be a witness to him before all people of the things which you have seen and heard.

16 And now why do you delay? Rise, be baptized and wash away your sins, having called upon the name of the Lord.

17 And it happened to me, having returned to Jerusalem and while I was praying in the temple, that I came into a trance,

18 and saw him saying to me, Hurry and go out quickly from Jerusalem, because they will not receive your testimony concerning me.

19 And I said, Lord, they themselves know that I was imprisoning and beating in the synagogues those believing upon you.

20 And when the blood of Stephen your witness was being poured out, I myself also was standing by and consenting to his killing, and guarding the garments of those killing him.

21 And he said to me, Go, because I will send you out far away to nations.

22 And they were hearing him until this word, and raised their voice, saying, Take such a man away from the earth, for it was not fitting for him to live.

23 And as they were crying out and throwing the garments and casting dust into the air,

24 the commander of a thousand commanded him to be led into the barracks, having said that he be examined with scourges, so that he might know for what reason they were shouting thus against him.

25 And as he stretched him out with the straps, Paul said to the centurion standing by, Is it lawful for you to scourge a Roman person, and uncondemned?

26 And the centurion, having heard, having approached, reported to the commander of a thousand, saying, See what you are about to do, for this person is a Roman.

27 And the commander of a thousand, having approached, said to him, Tell me whether you are a Roman. And he said, Yes.

28 And the commander of a thousand answered, I acquired this citizenship for much money. But Paul said, But I have even been born to it.

29 Immediately therefore those about to examine him departed from him, and the commander of a thousand also feared, having learned that he is a Roman and that he had bound him.

30 And on the next day, wishing to know the certainty as to why he is accused by the Jews, he loosed him from the bonds, and commanded the chief priests and all their council to come, and having brought Paul down, stood him before them.

Chapter 23

1 And Paul, having looked intently at the council, said, Men, brothers, I have conducted myself for God with all good conscience until this day.

2 But the high priest Ananias commanded those standing by him to strike his mouth.

3 Then Paul said to him, God is about to strike you, whitewashed wall. And do you sit judging me according to the law, and breaking the law command me to be struck?

4 And those standing by said, Do you revile God's high priest?

5 And Paul said, I did not know, brothers, that he is high priest, for it is written, You shall not speak badly of a ruler of your people.

6 And Paul, having known that the one part is of Sadducees and the other of Pharisees, cried in the council, Men, brothers, I am a Pharisee, a son of a Pharisee. Concerning hope and resurrection of the dead I am judged.

7 And when he spoke this, dissension arose of the Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the multitude was divided.

8 For Sadducees indeed say there is no resurrection, nor angel nor spirit, but Pharisees confess both.

9 And a great outcry arose, and the scribes of the part of the Pharisees, having risen, were fighting fiercely, saying, We find no evil in this person, but if a spirit spoke to him, or an angel, let us not fight against God.

10 And much dissension having arisen, the commander of a thousand, having feared lest Paul be torn apart by them, commanded the troops to go down and snatch him from their midst and bring him into the barracks.

11 And on the following night the Lord, having stood by him, said, Take courage, Paul, for as you testified solemnly to the things concerning me in Jerusalem, thus you must also testify in Rome.

12 And when day came, some of the Jews, having made a gathering, put themselves under a curse, saying neither to eat nor drink until they kill Paul.

13 And those having made this conspiracy were more than forty,

14 who, having approached the chief priests and the elders, said, With a curse we put ourselves under a curse to taste nothing until we kill Paul.

15 Now therefore you with the council make it known to the commander of a thousand that he should bring him down to you tomorrow, as though you are about to determine more accurately the things concerning him, but we are ready to kill him before he draws near.

16 But the son of Paul's sister, having heard the ambush, having come and entered into the barracks, reported to Paul.

17 And Paul, having summoned one of the centurions, said, Bring this young man to the commander of a thousand, for he has something to report to him.

18 He therefore indeed, having taken him, brought him to the commander of a thousand and says, The prisoner Paul, having summoned me, asked to bring this young man to you, having something to speak to you.

19 And the commander of a thousand, having taken hold of his hand and having withdrawn privately, was inquiring, What is it which you have to report to me?

20 And he said that the Jews agreed to ask you that tomorrow you bring Paul down into the council, as though they are about to inquire something more accurately concerning him.

21 You therefore do not be persuaded by them, for more than forty men from them lie in ambush for him, who put themselves under a curse neither to eat nor drink until they kill him, and now they are ready, awaiting the promise from you.

22 The commander of a thousand therefore indeed released the young man, having commanded him to tell no one that you made these things known to me.

23 And having summoned a certain two of the centurions, he said, Prepare two hundred soldiers so that they may go as far as Caesarea, and seventy horsemen and two hundred spearmen, from the third hour of the night,

24 and provide beasts, so that having mounted Paul, they may bring him safely to Felix the governor,

25 having written a letter containing this form:

26 Claudius Lysias, to the most excellent governor Felix, greetings.

27 This man, having been seized by the Jews and about to be killed by them, having come upon them with the troops, I delivered him, having learned that he is a Roman.

28 And wishing to know the cause for which they were accusing him, I brought him down into their council,

29 whom I found accused concerning questions of their law, but having no charge worthy of death or bonds.

30 And when it was disclosed to me that a plot against the man was about to be made by the Jews, immediately I sent to you, having commanded his accusers also to say the things against him before you. Be strong.

31 The soldiers therefore indeed, according to what had been commanded them, having taken Paul, brought him through the night to Antipatris.

32 And on the next day, having allowed the horsemen to go with him, they returned to the barracks,

33 who, having entered into Caesarea and delivered the letter to the governor, presented Paul also to him.

34 And the governor, having read and having asked from what province he is, and having learned that he is from Cilicia,

35 said, I will hear you thoroughly when your accusers also come. And he commanded him to be guarded in Herod's praetorium.

Chapter 24

1 And after five days the high priest Ananias came down with the elders and a certain orator Tertullus, who made a complaint to the governor against Paul.

2 And when he was called, Tertullus began to accuse, saying,

3 Obtaining much peace through you, and improvements occurring for this nation through your foresight, in every way and everywhere we receive it, most excellent Felix, with all thanksgiving.

4 But so that I may not hinder you further, I entreat you to hear us briefly in your fairness.

5 For having found this man a plague, and stirring dissension among all the Jews throughout the inhabited world, and a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes,

6 who also attempted to profane the temple, whom we also seized and wished to judge according to our law,

7 but Lysias the commander of a thousand, having come, with much violence led him away from our hands,

8 having commanded his accusers to come before you, from whom you yourself, having examined, will be able to learn concerning all these things of which we accuse him.

9 And the Jews also agreed, asserting that these things are thus.

10 And Paul answered, when the governor motioned to him to speak, Knowing that you have been a judge for this nation for many years, I defend the things concerning myself more cheerfully,

11 you being able to know that it is not more than twelve days for me since I went up to worship in Jerusalem.

12 And neither in the temple did they find me reasoning with anyone or making a gathering of a crowd, nor in the synagogues nor throughout the city,

13 nor can they present me concerning the things of which they now accuse me.

14 But I confess this to you, that according to the Way which they call a sect, thus I worship the ancestral God, believing all the things according to the law and written in the prophets,

15 having hope toward God, which these themselves also await, that there is about to be a resurrection of the dead, both righteous and unrighteous.

16 And in this I myself practice to have a conscience without offense toward God and people continually.

17 And after many years I came to make alms to my nation and offerings,

18 in which they found me purified in the temple, not with a crowd nor with uproar, but some Jews from Asia,

19 who ought to be present before you and accuse, if they should have anything against me.

20 Or let these themselves say whether they found any injustice in me when I stood before the council,

21 except concerning this one utterance which I cried out, standing among them, that concerning resurrection of the dead I am judged today by you.

22 But Felix, having heard these things, deferred them, knowing more accurately the things concerning the Way, having said, When Lysias the commander of a thousand comes down, I will determine the things concerning you,

23 and having commanded the centurion that Paul be kept and have relaxation, and to forbid none of his own people to serve or approach him.

24 And after some days Felix, having come with Drusilla his wife, being Jewish, summoned Paul and heard him concerning faith in Christ.

25 And as he was reasoning concerning righteousness and self-control and the judgment about to be, Felix, having become fearful, answered, For the present, go, and having obtained a season, I will call for you.

26 At the same time also hoping that money would be given him by Paul, so that he might release him, because of this also, summoning him more frequently, he was conversing with him.

27 And two years having been fulfilled, Felix received a successor, Porcius Festus, and wishing to lay up favors with the Jews, Felix left Paul bound.

Chapter 25

1 Festus therefore, having entered upon the province, after three days went up to Jerusalem from Caesarea.

2 And the high priest and the foremost of the Jews made a complaint to him against Paul, and were entreating him,

3 asking a favor against him, that he summon him to Jerusalem, making an ambush to kill him along the road.

4 Festus therefore indeed answered that Paul is kept in Caesarea, and that he himself is about to go out quickly.

5 Those therefore able among you, he says, having gone down together, if there is anything in this man, let them accuse him.

6 And having spent more than ten days among them, having gone down to Caesarea, on the next day, having sat upon the judgment seat, he commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when he came, the Jews who had come down from Jerusalem stood around, bringing many and heavy accusations against Paul, which they were not strong enough to demonstrate,

8 while he was defending himself, that neither against the law of the Jews nor against the temple nor against Caesar did I sin in anything.

9 But Festus, wishing to lay up a favor with the Jews, answering Paul, said, Do you wish, having gone up to Jerusalem, to be judged there concerning these things before me?

10 But Paul said, I am standing before Caesar's judgment seat, where I must be judged. I wronged Jews in nothing, as you also know better.

11 For if indeed I wrong and have done anything worthy of death, I do not refuse to die. But if there is nothing of the things of which these accuse me, no one can grant me to them. I appeal to Caesar.

12 Then Festus, having spoken together with the council, answered, You have appealed to Caesar; to Caesar you will go.

13 And some days having elapsed, Agrippa the king and Bernice arrived at Caesarea to greet Festus.

14 And as they were spending many days there, Festus laid before the king the things concerning Paul, saying, There is a certain man left by Felix as a prisoner,

15 concerning whom, when I came to Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the Jews made a complaint, asking a judgment against him.

16 To whom I answered that it is not a custom for Romans to grant any person to destruction before the accused has the accusers face to face and receives an opportunity of defense concerning the charge.

17 When therefore they came together here, having made no delay, on the next day, having sat upon the judgment seat, I commanded the man to be brought,

18 concerning whom the accusers, having stood, were bringing no accusation of the things which I was supposing,

19 but had some questions against him concerning their own reverence toward divinities and concerning a certain Jesus who had died, whom Paul was asserting to live.

20 And I, being perplexed concerning the inquiry about this, was saying whether he would wish to go to Jerusalem and there be judged concerning these things.

21 But when Paul appealed that he be kept for the determination of the Augustus, I commanded him to be kept until I send him to Caesar.

22 And Agrippa said to Festus, I myself also would wish to hear the person. And he says, Tomorrow you will hear him.

23 On the next day therefore, when Agrippa and Bernice came with much display and entered into the hearing hall with both the commanders of thousands and the prominent men of the city, and when Festus commanded, Paul was brought.

24 And Festus says, King Agrippa and all the men present with us, you behold this man, concerning whom all the multitude of the Jews petitioned me both in Jerusalem and here, shouting that he must no longer live.

25 But I, having perceived that he has done nothing worthy of death, and this man himself also having appealed to the Augustus, decided to send him.

26 Concerning whom I have nothing certain to write to the lord, because of which I brought him forward before you, and especially before you, King Agrippa, so that when the examination has occurred, I may have something to write.

27 For it seems unreasonable to me, sending a prisoner, not also to signify the accusations against him.

Chapter 26

1 And Agrippa said to Paul, You are permitted to speak for yourself. Then Paul was defending himself, having stretched out the hand.

2 Concerning all things of which I am accused by Jews, King Agrippa, I consider myself blessed, being about to defend myself before you today,

3 especially you being a knower of all the customs and questions among Jews, because of which I plead with you to hear me patiently.

4 My manner of life therefore indeed from youth, which occurred from the beginning among my nation in Jerusalem, all the Jews know,

5 knowing me beforehand from the start, if they wish to testify, that according to the most exact sect of our religion I lived a Pharisee.

6 And now upon hope of the promise made to the fathers by God I stand being judged,

7 to which our twelve-tribe people, worshiping in earnestness night and day, hopes to attain. Concerning which hope I am accused, King Agrippa, by the Jews.

8 Why is it judged incredible among you if God raises the dead?

9 I therefore indeed supposed to myself that I must do many opposing things against the name of Jesus the Nazarene,

10 which I also did in Jerusalem, and I shut up many of the saints in prisons, having received authority from the chief priests, and when they were being killed, I cast a vote.

11 And throughout all the synagogues, often punishing them, I was compelling them to blaspheme, and being exceedingly mad against them, was persecuting as far as even the outside cities.

12 In which things also, going to Damascus with authority and commission from the chief priests,

13 at midday along the road I saw, king, a light from heaven beyond the brightness of the sun, shining around me and those going with me.

14 And when we all fell down to the earth, I heard a voice speaking to me and saying in the Hebrew dialect, Saul, Saul, why do you persecute me? It is hard for you to kick against goads.

15 And I said, Who are you, Lord? And he said, I am Jesus whom you persecute.

16 But rise and stand upon your feet, for I appeared to you for this, to appoint you an attendant and witness both of the things which you saw and of the things in which I will appear to you,

17 delivering you from the people and the nations, to whom I now send you,

18 to open their eyes, for them to turn from darkness into light and from the authority of Satan to God, for them to receive forgiveness of sins and a lot among those sanctified by faith in me.

19 Because of which, King Agrippa, I did not become disobedient to the heavenly vision,

20 but to those in Damascus first, and Jerusalem, and into all the country of Judea, and to the nations, announcing to repent and turn to God, doing works worthy of repentance.

21 Because of these things the Jews, having seized me in the temple, were trying to kill me.

22 Having therefore obtained assistance from God, until this day I stand, testifying to both small and great, saying nothing outside the things which both the prophets and Moses spoke as about to happen,

23 whether the Christ is subject to suffering, whether first from resurrection of the dead he is about to proclaim light to the people and to the nations.

24 And while he was defending these things, Festus said with a loud voice, You are mad, Paul; the many writings turn you into madness.

25 But he says, I am not mad, most excellent Festus, but utter sayings of truth and soundness of mind.

26 For the king knows concerning these things, to whom also I speak openly, for I am persuaded that none of these things escapes him, for this has not been done in a corner.

27 Do you believe the prophets, King Agrippa? I know that you believe.

28 But Agrippa said to Paul, In a little you persuade me to become a Christian.

29 And Paul said, I would pray to God, both in a little and in much, that not only you, but also all those hearing me today become such as I also am, except these bonds.

30 And when he said these things, the king rose, and the governor, and Bernice and those sitting with them.

31 And having withdrawn, they were speaking to each other, saying that this person does nothing worthy of death or bonds.

32 And Agrippa said to Festus, This person could have been released if he had not appealed to Caesar.

Chapter 27

1 And when it was decided that we sail away into Italy, they were handing over both Paul and some other prisoners to a centurion named Julius, of the Augustan cohort.

2 And having embarked in an Adramyttian boat, about to sail to the places throughout Asia, we put out, Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica, being with us.

3 And on the next day we landed at Sidon, and Julius, having treated Paul humanely, permitted him to go to friends and obtain care.

4 And having put out from there, we sailed under the lee of Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.

5 And having sailed through the open sea along Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came down to Myra of Lycia.

6 And there the centurion, having found an Alexandrian boat sailing to Italy, put us into it.

7 And sailing slowly for considerable days and having scarcely come along Cnidus, the wind not allowing us forward, we sailed under the lee of Crete along Salmone.

8 And scarcely sailing along it, we came into a certain place called Fair Havens, near which was the city Lasaea.

9 And considerable time having elapsed, and the voyage being already dangerous because the fast also had already passed, Paul was advising,

10 saying to them, Men, I behold that the voyage is about to be with violence and much loss, not only of the cargo and the boat, but also of our lives.

11 But the centurion was being persuaded by the pilot and the shipowner rather than by the things said by Paul.

12 And the harbor being unsuitable for wintering, most took counsel to put out from there also, if somehow they might be able, having arrived at Phoenix, to winter, a harbor of Crete looking toward southwest and toward northwest.

13 And a south wind having blown gently, having supposed they had secured the purpose, having weighed anchor, they were sailing close along Crete.

14 But after not much time a typhonic wind called Euroclydon struck down from it.

15 And the boat having been seized and not being able to face the wind, having yielded, we were being carried along.

16 And having run under the lee of a certain little island called Clauda, we were scarcely strong enough to gain control of the small boat,

17 which, having raised, they were using helps, undergirding the boat, and fearing lest they fall into the Syrtis, having lowered the gear, thus they were being carried along.

18 And as we were being severely storm-tossed, on the next day they were making a jettison,

19 and on the third day with our own hands we threw the equipment of the boat.

20 And neither sun nor stars appearing for many days, and no little storm pressing, henceforth all hope of our being saved was being taken away.

21 And much abstinence from food existing, then Paul, having stood in their midst, said, You indeed ought, O men, having obeyed me, not to have put out from Crete, and to have avoided this violence and loss.

22 And now I advise you to be cheerful, for there will be no loss of life from you, except of the boat.

23 For there stood by me this night an angel of God, whose I am, whom I also worship,

24 saying, Do not fear, Paul; you must stand before Caesar, and look, God has granted you all those sailing with you.

25 Because of this be cheerful, men, for I believe God that it will be thus, in the manner it has been spoken to me.

26 But we must fall upon a certain island.

27 And when the fourteenth night came, as we were being driven about in the Adriatic, about the middle of the night the sailors were supposing that some land was approaching them.

28 And having sounded, they found twenty fathoms, and having gone a little farther and having sounded again, they found fifteen fathoms.

29 And fearing lest somehow they fall upon rough places, having thrown four anchors from the stern, they were praying for day to come.

30 And as the sailors were seeking to flee from the boat and had lowered the small boat into the sea under a pretext as though about to stretch out anchors from the bow,

31 Paul said to the centurion and the soldiers, Unless these remain in the boat, you cannot be saved.

32 Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the small boat and allowed it to fall away.

33 And until day was about to come, Paul was exhorting all to partake of food, saying, Today, the fourteenth day, expecting, you continue without food, having taken nothing.

34 Because of this I exhort you to take food, for this is for your salvation, for a hair from the head of none of you will fall.

35 And having said these things and having taken bread, he gave thanks to God before all, and having broken it, began to eat.

36 And all, having become cheerful, themselves also took food.

37 And we were in the boat, all the souls, two hundred seventy-six.

38 And having been satisfied with food, they were lightening the boat, casting out the wheat into the sea.

39 And when day came, they were not recognizing the land, but were observing a certain bay having a shore, into which they took counsel, if they could, to drive the boat.

40 And having taken off the anchors, they were leaving them in the sea, at the same time having loosed the lashings of the rudders, and having raised the foresail to the blowing wind, were making toward the shore.

41 But having fallen upon a place between two seas, they grounded the ship, and the bow, having stuck fast, remained unshaken, but the stern was being broken up by the violence of the waves.

42 And the soldiers' counsel was to kill the prisoners, lest anyone, having swum out, escape.

43 But the centurion, wishing to save Paul, hindered them from the purpose, and commanded those able to swim, having thrown themselves out first, to go out upon the land,

44 and the rest, some upon boards, but others upon some of the things from the boat. And thus it happened that all were brought safely upon the land.

Chapter 28

1 And having been brought safely, then they learned that the island is called Melite.

2 And the barbarians were providing no ordinary humanity to us, for having kindled a fire, they received us all because of the rain that had come and because of the cold.

3 And when Paul gathered a multitude of sticks and placed them upon the fire, a viper, having come out from the heat, fastened upon his hand.

4 And when the barbarians saw the beast hanging from his hand, they were saying to each other, By all means this person is a murderer, whom, having been brought safely from the sea, Justice did not allow to live.

5 He therefore indeed, having shaken off the beast into the fire, suffered no evil.

6 But they were expecting that he was about to swell or fall down suddenly dead. And when they were expecting for a long time and beholding nothing improper occurring to him, having changed, they were saying that he is a god.

7 And around that place there were properties belonging to the foremost of the island, named Publius, who, having received us, lodged us kindly three days.

8 And it happened that the father of Publius was lying down, held by fevers and dysentery, to whom Paul, having entered and having prayed, having laid hands upon him, healed him.

9 When therefore this happened, the rest also having sicknesses on the island were approaching and being healed,

10 who also honored us with many honors, and when we were putting out, supplied the things for the need.

11 And after three months we put out in an Alexandrian boat that had wintered on the island, with the Dioscuri as its sign.

12 And having landed at Syracuse, we remained three days,

13 from where, having gone around, we arrived at Rhegium, and after one day, a south wind having arisen, on the second day we came to Puteoli,

14 where, having found brothers, we were invited to remain with them seven days, and thus we came to Rome.

15 And from there the brothers, having heard the things concerning us, came out to meet us as far as Appius Forum and Three Taverns, whom Paul, having seen and having given thanks to God, took courage.

16 And when we came to Rome, the centurion handed the prisoners over to the commander of the camp, but Paul was permitted to remain by himself with the soldier guarding him.

17 And it happened after three days that Paul called together the foremost of the Jews, and when they came together, he was saying to them, Men, brothers, I, having done nothing contrary to the people or the ancestral customs, was handed over as a prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans,

18 who, having examined me, wished to release me, because no cause of death existed in me.

19 But when the Jews were contradicting, I was compelled to appeal to Caesar, not as having anything to accuse my nation of.

20 Because of this reason therefore I called for you to see and speak with you, for because of the hope of Israel I wear this chain.

21 And they said to him, We neither received letters concerning you from Judea, nor did any of the brothers, having come, report or speak anything wicked concerning you.

22 But we consider it fitting to hear from you the things which you think, for concerning this sect indeed it is known to us that everywhere it is spoken against.

23 And having appointed a day for him, more came to him into the lodging, to whom he was setting it out, solemnly testifying to the kingdom of God and persuading them of the things concerning Jesus from both the law of Moses and the prophets, from morning until evening.

24 And some were being persuaded by the things said, but others were disbelieving.

25 And being in disagreement with each other, they were departing, Paul having said one saying, that the Holy Spirit spoke well through Isaiah the prophet to our fathers,

26 saying, Go to this people and say, With hearing you will hear and certainly not understand, and looking you will look and certainly not see.

27 For the heart of this people was thickened, and with the ears they heard heavily, and they closed their eyes, lest they see with the eyes and hear with the ears and understand with the heart and turn back, and I may heal them.

28 Let it therefore be known to you that the salvation of God was sent to the nations; they also will hear.

29 And when he said these things, the Jews went away, having much dispute among themselves.

30 And Paul remained a whole two years in his own rented dwelling, and was receiving all those entering to him,

31 proclaiming the kingdom of God and teaching the things concerning the Lord Jesus Christ with all openness, unhindered.

Romans

Chapter 1

1 Paul, a slave of Jesus Christ, a called apostle, set apart for God's gospel,

2 which he promised beforehand through his prophets in holy writings,

3 concerning his Son, who came from David's seed according to flesh,

4 who was designated Son of God in power according to the spirit of holiness by resurrection of the dead, Jesus Christ our Lord,

5 through whom we received grace and apostleship for obedience of faith among all the nations for his name,

6 among whom you too are called of Jesus Christ,

7 to all who are in Rome, beloved of God, called saints: grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

8 First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for all of you, because your faith is proclaimed in the whole world.

9 For God is my witness, whom I serve in my spirit in the gospel of his Son, how unceasingly I make mention of you,

10 always in my prayers asking whether somehow at last I will be granted a successful journey in God's will to come to you.

11 For I long to see you, that I may share some spiritual gift with you for you to be strengthened, 12 that is, to be encouraged together among you through one another's faith, both yours and mine.

13 But I do not want you to be ignorant, brothers, that I often intended to come to you, and was prevented until now, that I might have some fruit among you too, as among the other nations.

14 I am a debtor both to Greeks and to barbarians, both to the wise and to the senseless.

15 Thus, for my part, I am eager to proclaim the gospel also to you who are in Rome.

16 For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is God's power for salvation to everyone who believes, to the Jew first and also to the Greek.

17 For in it God's righteousness is revealed from faith to faith, as it is written, “But the righteous one will live by faith.”

18 For God's wrath is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of people who suppress the truth in unrighteousness,

19 because what is known of God is manifest among them, for God manifested it to them.

20 For his invisible things, both his eternal power and divinity, are clearly seen from the creation of the world, understood through the things made, so that they are without excuse,

21 because, having known God, they did not glorify him as God or give thanks, but became futile in their reasonings, and their uncomprehending heart was darkened.

22 Claiming to be wise, they became fools,

23 and exchanged the glory of the incorruptible God for a likeness of an image of corruptible man and birds and four-footed animals and reptiles.

24 Therefore God also handed them over, in the desires of their hearts, to impurity, for their bodies to be dishonored among themselves,

25 who exchanged God's truth for the lie, and revered and served the creation rather than the Creator, who is blessed forever. Amen.

26 For this reason God handed them over to passions of dishonor. For even their females exchanged natural use for that contrary to nature,

27 and likewise the males too, leaving the natural use of the female, burned in their desire toward one another, males with males performing the indecency and receiving in themselves the recompense of their error that was due.

28 And as they did not approve of retaining God in knowledge, God handed them over to a disapproved mind, to do things that are not fitting,

29 filled with all unrighteousness, sexual immorality, wickedness, greed, malice; full of envy, murder, strife, deceit, ill will; whisperers,

30 backbiters, God-haters, insolent, arrogant, boastful, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents,

31 uncomprehending, covenant-breaking, without natural affection, implacable, merciless,

32 who, knowing God's righteous decree that those who practice such things are worthy of death, not only do them but also approve of those who practice them.

Chapter 2

1 Therefore you are without excuse, O man, everyone who judges; for in what you judge the other, you condemn yourself, for you who judge practice the same things.

2 But we know that God's judgment is according to truth against those who practice such things.

3 And do you reckon this, O man, you who judge those who practice such things and do them yourself, that you will escape God's judgment?

4 Or do you despise the riches of his kindness and forbearance and patience, not knowing that God's kindness leads you to repentance?

5 But according to your hardness and unrepentant heart, you store up wrath for yourself on the day of wrath and revelation of God's righteous judgment,

6 who will repay each according to his works:

7 to those who through endurance in good work seek glory and honor and incorruptibility, eternal life;

8 but to those of selfish ambition, who disobey the truth but obey unrighteousness, fury and wrath.

9 Affliction and distress upon every soul of man who works evil, of the Jew first and also of the Greek,

10 but glory and honor and peace to everyone who works good, to the Jew first and also to the Greek.

11 For there is no partiality with God.

12 For as many as sinned without law will also perish without law, and as many as sinned in law will be judged through law.

13 For the hearers of the law are not righteous before God, but the doers of the law will be justified.

14 For whenever nations that do not have law do by nature the things of the law, these, not having law, are a law to themselves,

15 who demonstrate the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience bearing witness together, and their thoughts among one another accusing or even defending,

16 on the day when God judges people's hidden things, according to my gospel, through Jesus Christ.

17 Look, you are named a Jew, and rest upon the law and boast in God,

18 and know the will and approve the things that differ, being instructed from the law,

19 and are convinced that you yourself are a guide of the blind, a light of those in darkness,

20 an instructor of the foolish, a teacher of infants, having the form of knowledge and truth in the law.

21 You, then, who teach another, do you not teach yourself? You who preach not to steal, do you steal?

22 You who say not to commit adultery, do you commit adultery? You who abhor idols, do you rob temples?

23 You who boast in law, do you dishonor God through transgression of the law?

24 For “God's name is blasphemed among the nations because of you,” as it is written.

25 For circumcision indeed benefits if you practice law; but if you are a transgressor of law, your circumcision has become uncircumcision.

26 Therefore, if the uncircumcision keeps the righteous decrees of the law, will not his uncircumcision be reckoned as circumcision?

27 And the uncircumcision by nature, fulfilling the law, will judge you who, through letter and circumcision, are a transgressor of law.

28 For the one outwardly is not a Jew, nor is the outward circumcision in flesh circumcision,

29 but the one inwardly is a Jew, and circumcision is of the heart, in spirit, not letter, whose praise is not from people but from God.

Chapter 3

1 What, then, is the advantage of the Jew, or what is the benefit of circumcision?

2 Much in every way. For first, they were entrusted with God's oracles.

3 For what if some were unfaithful? Will their unfaithfulness nullify God's faithfulness?

4 May it never be! But let God be true, and every man a liar, as it is written, “So that you may be justified in your words and prevail when you are judged.”

5 But if our unrighteousness demonstrates God's righteousness, what will we say? Is God unrighteous who brings wrath? I speak in human terms.

6 May it never be! Otherwise, how will God judge the world?

7 For if God's truth abounded through my lie to his glory, why am I also still judged as a sinner?

8 And why not, as we are slandered and as some claim we say, “Let us do evil things so that good things may come”? Their judgment is just.

9 What, then? Do we have an advantage? Not at all. For we previously charged both Jews and Greeks with all being under sin,

10 as it is written, “There is no righteous one, not even one;

11 there is no one who understands; there is no one who seeks out God.

12 All turned aside; together they became useless. There is no one who does kindness; there is not even one.

13 Their throat is an opened grave; with their tongues they were deceitful; venom of asps is under their lips,

14 whose mouth is full of curse and bitterness.

15 Their feet are swift to shed blood;

16 devastation and misery are in their ways,

17 and a way of peace they did not know.

18 There is no fear of God before their eyes.”

19 But we know that whatever the law says, it speaks to those in the law, so that every mouth may be stopped and the whole world become accountable to God,

20 because from works of law no flesh will be justified before him; for through law comes knowledge of sin.

21 But now, apart from law, God's righteousness has been manifested, witnessed by the law and the prophets,

22 and God's righteousness through faith of Jesus Christ to all and upon all who believe, for there is no distinction.

23 For all sinned and fall short of God's glory,

24 being justified freely by his grace through the redemption in Christ Jesus,

25 whom God set forth as a propitiatory offering through faith in his blood, for a demonstration of his righteousness because of the passing over of sins previously committed,

26 in God's forbearance, for a demonstration of his righteousness at the present time, so that he may be righteous and justify the one of faith of Jesus.

27 Where, then, is boasting? It was excluded. Through what law? Of works? No, but through a law of faith.

28 We reckon, therefore, that a man is justified by faith apart from works of law.

29 Or is God of Jews only? Is he not also of nations? Yes, of nations also,

30 since God is one, who will justify circumcision from faith and uncircumcision through faith.

31 Do we, then, nullify law through faith? May it never be! Rather, we establish law.

Chapter 4

1 What, then, will we say Abraham our father has found according to flesh?

2 For if Abraham was justified from works, he has a boast, but not before God.

3 For what does the Scripture say? “And Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him as righteousness.”

4 But to the one who works, the wage is not reckoned according to grace but according to debt.

5 But to the one who does not work but believes in the one who justifies the ungodly, his faith is reckoned as righteousness,

6 just as David also speaks of the blessedness of the man to whom God reckons righteousness apart from works:

7 “Blessed are those whose lawless deeds were forgiven and whose sins were covered over.

8 Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will certainly not reckon sin.”

9 Is this blessedness, then, upon the circumcision, or also upon the uncircumcision? For we say that faith was reckoned to Abraham as righteousness.

10 How, then, was it reckoned? While he was in circumcision, or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision, but in uncircumcision.

11 And he received a sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith in uncircumcision, so that he might be father of all who believe through uncircumcision, for righteousness to be reckoned to them too,

12 and father of circumcision to those not of circumcision only, but also to those who walk in the footsteps of the faith of our father Abraham in uncircumcision.

13 For the promise to Abraham or to his seed, that he should be heir of the world, was not through law but through righteousness of faith.

14 For if those of law are heirs, faith has been emptied and the promise nullified.

15 For the law works wrath; for where there is no law, neither is there transgression.

16 For this reason it is from faith, so that it may be according to grace, for the promise to be firm to all the seed, not to that of the law only but also to that of Abraham's faith, who is father of us all,

17 as it is written, “I have made you father of many nations,” before God whom he believed, who gives life to the dead and calls things that are not as things that are,

18 who beyond hope believed upon hope, so that he might become father of many nations, according to what was said, “So will your seed be.”

19 And not becoming weak in faith, he did not consider his own body already dead, being about a hundred years old, and the deadness of Sarah's womb.

20 But concerning God's promise he did not waver in unbelief, but was empowered in faith, giving glory to God,

21 and being fully convinced that what he has promised he is also able to do.

22 Therefore it was also reckoned to him as righteousness.

23 But it was not written for him alone that it was reckoned to him,

24 but also for us, to whom it is to be reckoned, who believe in the one who raised Jesus our Lord from the dead,

25 who was handed over because of our trespasses and was raised because of our justification.

Chapter 5

1 Therefore, having been justified from faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ,

2 through whom we have also obtained access by faith into this grace in which we stand, and we boast upon hope of God's glory.

3 And not only this, but we also boast in afflictions, knowing that affliction works endurance,

4 and endurance proven character, and proven character hope.

5 And hope does not put to shame, because God's love has been poured out in our hearts through the Holy Spirit who was given to us.

6 For while we were still weak, Christ died at the appointed time for the ungodly.

7 For scarcely will someone die for a righteous one; for perhaps someone even dares to die for the good one.

8 But God demonstrates his own love toward us, in that while we were still sinners, Christ died for us.

9 Much more, then, having now been justified in his blood, we will be saved through him from wrath.

10 For if, being enemies, we were reconciled to God through the death of his Son, much more, having been reconciled, we will be saved in his life.

11 And not only this, but also boasting in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom we now received reconciliation.

12 For this reason, just as through one man sin entered the world, and through sin death, and thus death passed to all people, because all sinned—

13 for until law, sin was in the world, but sin is not charged when there is no law.

14 Nevertheless, death reigned from Adam until Moses, even over those who did not sin in the likeness of Adam's transgression, who is a pattern of the coming one.

15 But the gracious gift is not as the trespass. For if by the trespass of the one the many died, much more God's grace and the gift in the grace of the one man Jesus Christ abounded to the many.

16 And the gift is not as through one who sinned; for the judgment is from one to condemnation, but the gracious gift is from many trespasses to a righteous verdict.

17 For if by the trespass of the one death reigned through the one, much more those who receive the abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness will reign in life through the one, Jesus Christ.

18 So then, as through one trespass to all people to condemnation, so also through one righteous act to all people to justification of life.

19 For just as through the disobedience of the one man the many were constituted sinners, so also through the obedience of the one the many will be constituted righteous.

20 But law entered alongside, so that the trespass might increase; but where sin increased, grace abounded beyond measure,

21 so that just as sin reigned in death, so also grace might reign through righteousness to eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Chapter 6

1 What, then, will we say? Will we continue in sin so that grace may increase?

2 May it never be! We who died to sin, how will we still live in it?

3 Or do you not know that as many of us as were baptized into Christ Jesus were baptized into his death?

4 Therefore we were buried together with him through baptism into death, so that just as Christ was raised from the dead through the Father's glory, so we too might walk in newness of life.

5 For if we have become united with the likeness of his death, we will also be of his resurrection,

6 knowing this, that our old man was crucified together with him, so that the body of sin might be rendered powerless, for us no longer to be slaves to sin.

7 For the one who died has been justified from sin.

8 But if we died with Christ, we believe that we will also live with him,

9 knowing that Christ, raised from the dead, no longer dies; death no longer rules over him.

10 For the death he died, he died to sin once for all; but the life he lives, he lives to God.

11 Thus you too reckon yourselves to be dead to sin, but living to God in Christ Jesus our Lord.

12 Therefore do not let sin reign in your mortal body, to obey it in its desires,

13 nor present your members to sin as weapons of unrighteousness, but present yourselves to God as living from the dead, and your members to God as weapons of righteousness.

14 For sin will not rule over you, for you are not under law but under grace.

15 What, then? Will we sin because we are not under law but under grace? May it never be!

16 Do you not know that to whom you present yourselves as slaves for obedience, you are slaves to whom you obey, either of sin to death or of obedience to righteousness?

17 But thanks to God that you were slaves of sin, but obeyed from the heart the pattern of teaching to which you were handed over,

18 and having been freed from sin, you were enslaved to righteousness.

19 I speak in human terms because of the weakness of your flesh. For just as you presented your members as slaves to impurity and to lawlessness unto lawlessness, so now present your members as slaves to righteousness unto sanctification.

20 For when you were slaves of sin, you were free with respect to righteousness.

21 What fruit, then, did you have then in the things of which you are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.

22 But now, having been freed from sin and enslaved to God, you have your fruit unto sanctification, and the end, eternal life.

23 For the wages of sin are death, but God's gracious gift is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Chapter 7

1 Or do you not know, brothers—for I speak to those who know law—that the law rules over a man for as long a time as he lives?

2 For the married woman is bound by law to the living husband; but if the husband dies, she has been released from the law of the husband.

3 So then, while the husband lives, she will be called an adulteress if she becomes another man's; but if the husband dies, she is free from the law, so that she is not an adulteress when she becomes another man's.

4 So, my brothers, you too were put to death to the law through the body of Christ, for you to become another's, his who was raised from the dead, so that we might bear fruit to God.

5 For when we were in the flesh, the passions of sins, which were through the law, were at work in our members to bear fruit to death.

6 But now we have been released from the law, having died in that in which we were held, so that we serve as slaves in newness of spirit and not in oldness of letter.

7 What, then, will we say? Is the law sin? May it never be! But I did not know sin except through law; for I would not have known desire either unless the law said, “You shall not desire.”

8 But sin, taking an opportunity through the commandment, worked every desire in me. For apart from law, sin is dead.

9 But I was once living apart from law; but when the commandment came, sin came to life again, and I died.

10 And the commandment that was unto life was found for me to be unto death.

11 For sin, taking an opportunity through the commandment, deceived me and through it killed me.

12 So the law is holy, and the commandment holy and righteous and good.

13 Did the good, then, become death to me? May it never be! But sin, so that it might appear as sin, working death for me through the good, so that through the commandment sin might become exceedingly sinful.

14 For we know that the law is spiritual, but I am fleshly, sold under sin.

15 For what I work I do not understand; for I do not practice what I want, but what I hate, this I do.

16 But if what I do not want, this I do, I agree with the law that it is good.

17 But now it is no longer I who work it, but the sin dwelling in me.

18 For I know that good does not dwell in me, that is, in my flesh; for willing is present with me, but working the good I do not find.

19 For I do not do the good I want, but the evil I do not want, this I practice.

20 But if what I do not want, this I do, it is no longer I who work it, but the sin dwelling in me.

21 I find, then, the law that, for me who wants to do the good, evil is present with me.

22 For I delight together with God's law according to the inner man,

23 but I see another law in my members, waging war against the law of my mind and taking me captive to the law of sin that is in my members.

24 Wretched man that I am! Who will rescue me from the body of this death?

25 I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then I myself, with the mind, serve as a slave to God's law, but with the flesh to sin's law.

Chapter 8

1 There is therefore now no condemnation for those in Christ Jesus who walk not according to flesh but according to spirit.

2 For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus freed me from the law of sin and death.

3 For what was impossible for the law, in that it was weak through the flesh, God, sending his own Son in the likeness of flesh of sin and concerning sin, condemned sin in the flesh,

4 so that the righteous requirement of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not according to flesh but according to spirit.

5 For those who are according to flesh mind the things of the flesh, but those according to spirit the things of the Spirit.

6 For the mind of the flesh is death, but the mind of the Spirit is life and peace,

7 because the mind of the flesh is hostility toward God, for it does not submit to God's law, for neither can it.

8 And those who are in flesh cannot please God.

9 But you are not in flesh but in spirit, if indeed God's Spirit dwells in you. But if someone does not have Christ's Spirit, this one is not his.

10 But if Christ is in you, the body is dead because of sin, but the spirit is life because of righteousness.

11 But if the Spirit of the one who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, the one who raised Christ from the dead will also give life to your mortal bodies because of his Spirit dwelling in you.

12 So then, brothers, we are debtors, not to the flesh to live according to flesh.

13 For if you live according to flesh, you are about to die; but if by spirit you put to death the practices of the body, you will live.

14 For as many as are led by God's Spirit, these are sons of God.

15 For you did not receive a spirit of slavery again unto fear, but you received a spirit of adoption as sons, in which we cry, “Abba, Father.”

16 The Spirit himself bears witness together with our spirit that we are children of God.

17 And if children, also heirs: heirs of God and fellow heirs of Christ, if indeed we suffer together so that we may also be glorified together.

18 For I reckon that the sufferings of the present time are not worthy in comparison with the coming glory to be revealed to us.

19 For the eager expectation of creation awaits the revelation of the sons of God.

20 For creation was subjected to futility, not willingly, but because of the one who subjected it, upon hope

21 that creation itself too will be freed from the slavery of corruption into the freedom of the glory of God's children.

22 For we know that all creation groans together and suffers birth pains together until now.

23 And not only this, but we ourselves too, having the firstfruits of the Spirit, also groan within ourselves, awaiting adoption as sons, the redemption of our body.

24 For in hope we were saved; but hope that is seen is not hope, for what someone sees, why does he also hope for it?

25 But if we hope for what we do not see, we await it through endurance.

26 And likewise the Spirit also helps with our weaknesses; for we do not know what to pray as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with unutterable groanings.

27 And the one who searches the hearts knows what the mind of the Spirit is, because he intercedes for saints according to God.

28 And we know that all things work together for good for those who love God, for those who are called according to purpose,

29 because those whom he foreknew he also predestined to be conformed to the image of his Son, so that he might be firstborn among many brothers.

30 And those whom he predestined, these he also called; and those whom he called, these he also justified; and those whom he justified, these he also glorified.

31 What, then, will we say to these things? If God is for us, who is against us?

32 He who indeed did not spare his own Son but handed him over for us all, how will he not also with him freely give us all things?

33 Who will bring a charge against God's chosen ones? God is the one who justifies.

34 Who is the one who condemns? Christ is the one who died, and rather also was raised, who also is at God's right hand, who also intercedes for us.

35 Who will separate us from Christ's love? Affliction or distress or persecution or famine or nakedness or danger or sword?

36 As it is written, “For your sake we are put to death all the day; we were reckoned as sheep for slaughter.”

37 But in all these things we more than conquer through the one who loved us.

38 For I am convinced that neither death nor life nor angels nor rulers nor powers nor present things nor coming things,

39 nor height nor depth nor any other creation will be able to separate us from God's love in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Chapter 9

1 I speak truth in Christ, I do not lie, my conscience bearing witness together with me in the Holy Spirit,

2 that I have great grief and unceasing pain in my heart.

3 For I could wish that I myself were accursed away from Christ for my brothers, my kinsmen according to flesh,

4 who are Israelites, whose are the adoption as sons and the glory and the covenants and the giving of the law and the service and the promises,

5 whose are the fathers, and from whom is Christ according to flesh, who is over all, God blessed forever. Amen.

6 But it is not as though God's word has fallen away. For not all those from Israel are Israel,

7 nor, because they are Abraham's seed, are they all children, but “In Isaac seed will be called for you.”

8 That is, the children of the flesh are not the children of God, but the children of the promise are reckoned as seed.

9 For this is the word of promise: “At this time I will come, and Sarah will have a son.”

10 And not only this, but also Rebecca, having conceived by one, Isaac our father—

11 for before they had been born or done anything good or evil, so that God's purpose according to choice might remain, not from works but from the one who calls—

12 it was said to her, “The greater will serve as a slave to the lesser,”

13 as it is written, “Jacob I loved, but Esau I hated.”

14 What, then, will we say? Is there unrighteousness with God? May it never be!

15 For he says to Moses, “I will have mercy on whomever I have mercy, and I will have compassion on whomever I have compassion.”

16 So then it is not of the one who wills, nor of the one who runs, but of God who has mercy.

17 For the Scripture says to Pharaoh, “For this very thing I raised you up, that I might demonstrate my power in you, and that my name might be proclaimed in all the earth.”

18 So then he has mercy on whom he wills, and he hardens whom he wills.

19 You will say to me, then, “Why does he still find fault? For who has resisted his will?”

20 Indeed, O man, who are you who answers back to God? Will the thing formed say to the one who formed it, “Why did you make me thus?”

21 Or does the potter not have authority over the clay, to make from the same lump one vessel for honor and another for dishonor?

22 But if God, willing to demonstrate wrath and make known his power, bore with much patience vessels of wrath fitted for destruction,

23 and so that he might make known the riches of his glory upon vessels of mercy, which he prepared beforehand for glory,

24 whom he also called, us, not only from Jews but also from nations?

25 As he also says in Hosea, “I will call the one not my people my people, and the one not beloved beloved.

26 And it will be in the place where it was said to them, ‘You are not my people,’ there they will be called sons of the living God.”

27 And Isaiah cries out concerning Israel, “If the number of Israel's sons is as the sand of the sea, the remnant will be saved.

28 For he completes and cuts short a word in righteousness, because the Lord will make a shortened word upon the earth.”

29 And as Isaiah has said beforehand, “Unless the Lord Sabaoth had left us seed, we would have become as Sodom and would have been made like Gomorrah.”

30 What, then, will we say? That nations that did not pursue righteousness attained righteousness, and righteousness from faith,

31 but Israel, pursuing a law of righteousness, did not reach a law of righteousness.

32 Why? Because not from faith, but as from works of law. For they stumbled against the stone of stumbling,

33 as it is written, “Look, I place in Zion a stone of stumbling and a rock of offense, and everyone who believes upon him will not be put to shame.”

Chapter 10

1 Brothers, the good pleasure of my heart and my petition to God for Israel are for salvation.

2 For I bear witness to them that they have zeal for God, but not according to knowledge.

3 For, not knowing God's righteousness and seeking to establish their own righteousness, they did not submit to God's righteousness.

4 For Christ is the end of law unto righteousness for everyone who believes.

5 For Moses writes the righteousness from the law, that “The man who does them will live in them.”

6 But the righteousness from faith speaks thus: “Do not say in your heart, ‘Who will ascend into heaven?’” That is, to bring Christ down.

7 Or, “‘Who will descend into the abyss?’” That is, to bring Christ up from the dead.

8 But what does it say? “The word is near you, in your mouth and in your heart.” That is, the word of faith which we preach,

9 that if you confess with your mouth Jesus as Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved.

10 For with the heart one believes unto righteousness, and with the mouth one confesses unto salvation.

11 For the Scripture says, “Everyone who believes upon him will not be put to shame.”

12 For there is no distinction between Jew and Greek, for the same Lord of all is rich toward all who call upon him.

13 For “Everyone who calls upon the Lord's name will be saved.”

14 How, then, will they call upon one in whom they did not believe? And how will they believe one whom they did not hear? And how will they hear without one who preaches?

15 And how will they preach unless they are sent? As it is written, “How beautiful are the feet of those who proclaim peace, of those who proclaim good things.”

16 But not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, “Lord, who believed our report?”

17 So faith is from hearing, and hearing through God's word.

18 But I say, did they not hear? Indeed, “Their sound went out into all the earth, and their words to the ends of the inhabited world.”

19 But I say, did Israel not know? First Moses says, “I will provoke you to jealousy over a non-nation; over an uncomprehending nation I will provoke you to anger.”

20 And Isaiah is very bold and says, “I was found by those who did not seek me; I became manifest to those who did not ask for me.”

21 But to Israel he says, “All the day I stretched out my hands to a disobedient and contradicting people.”

Chapter 11

1 I say, then, did God reject his people? May it never be! For I too am an Israelite, from Abraham's seed, of Benjamin's tribe.

2 God did not reject his people whom he foreknew. Or do you not know what the Scripture says in Elijah, how he appeals to God against Israel, saying,

3 “Lord, they killed your prophets and tore down your altars, and I alone was left, and they seek my life”?

4 But what does the divine response say to him? “I left for myself seven thousand men who did not bend a knee to Baal.”

5 Thus, then, also at the present time a remnant has come to be according to a choice of grace.

6 But if by grace, no longer from works, otherwise grace no longer becomes grace. But if from works, it is no longer grace, otherwise work is no longer work.

7 What, then? What Israel seeks, this it did not obtain, but the chosen obtained it, and the rest were hardened,

8 as it is written, “God gave them a spirit of stupor, eyes not to see and ears not to hear, until this very day.”

9 And David says, “Let their table become a snare and a trap and an offense and a recompense to them.

10 Let their eyes be darkened so as not to see, and bend their back continually.”

11 I say, then, did they stumble so that they might fall? May it never be! But by their trespass salvation is for the nations, to provoke them to jealousy.

12 But if their trespass is riches of the world, and their loss riches of nations, how much more their fullness!

13 For I speak to you, the nations. Insofar as I am an apostle of nations, I glorify my ministry, 14 if somehow I may provoke my flesh to jealousy and save some of them.

15 For if their rejection is reconciliation of the world, what is the acceptance except life from the dead?

16 And if the firstfruits are holy, so is the lump; and if the root is holy, so are the branches.

17 But if some of the branches were broken off, and you, being a wild olive, were grafted in among them and became a fellow sharer of the root and richness of the olive,

18 do not boast against the branches. But if you boast against them, you do not carry the root, but the root you.

19 You will say, then, “The branches were broken off so that I might be grafted in.”

20 Well, they were broken off through unbelief, but you stand by faith. Do not be high-minded, but fear.

21 For if God did not spare the branches according to nature, beware lest he not spare you either.

22 See, then, God's kindness and severity: severity upon those who fell, but kindness upon you, if you remain in the kindness; otherwise you too will be cut off.

23 And they too, if they do not remain in unbelief, will be grafted in; for God is able to graft them in again.

24 For if you were cut off from the olive wild by nature and were grafted contrary to nature into a cultivated olive, how much more will these, who are according to nature, be grafted into their own olive!

25 For I do not want you to be ignorant, brothers, of this mystery, so that you may not be wise in your own estimation, that a hardening in part has come to Israel until the fullness of the nations enters,

26 and thus all Israel will be saved, as it is written, “The rescuer will come from Zion, and will turn away ungodliness from Jacob.

27 And this is the covenant from me for them, when I take away their sins.”

28 According to the gospel, enemies for your sake, but according to the choice, beloved because of the fathers.

29 For God's gracious gifts and calling are without regret.

30 For just as you too once disobeyed God, but now received mercy through their disobedience,

31 so these too now disobeyed, so that through the mercy to you they too might receive mercy.

32 For God shut up all in disobedience so that he might have mercy on all.

33 O depth of riches and wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable his judgments and untraceable his ways!

34 For who knew the Lord's mind? Or who became his counselor?

35 Or who gave to him beforehand, and it will be repaid to him?

36 Because from him and through him and to him are all things. To him the glory forever. Amen.

Chapter 12

1 Therefore I urge you, brothers, through God's compassions, to present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy, pleasing to God, your rational service.

2 And do not be conformed to this age, but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, for you to discern what God's will is, the good and pleasing and perfect.

3 For through the grace given to me I say to everyone among you not to think more highly than he ought to think, but to think so as to think soundly, to each as God apportioned a measure of faith.

4 For just as in one body we have many members, but all the members do not have the same function,

5 so we, the many, are one body in Christ, and individually members of one another.

6 And having gracious gifts differing according to the grace given to us, whether prophecy, according to the proportion of faith,

7 or ministry, in ministry; or the one who teaches, in teaching;

8 or the one who encourages, in encouragement; the one who shares, in simplicity; the one who leads, in diligence; the one who shows mercy, in cheerfulness.

9 Love without hypocrisy; abhorring the evil, clinging to the good;

10 in brotherly love, affectionately devoted to one another; in honor, taking the lead toward one another;

11 in diligence, not sluggish; boiling in spirit; serving the time;

12 rejoicing in hope; enduring in affliction; persevering in prayer;

13 sharing in the needs of the saints; pursuing hospitality.

14 Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse.

15 Rejoice with those who rejoice, and weep with those who weep.

16 Thinking the same toward one another; not thinking high things, but being carried along with the lowly. Do not become wise in your own estimation.

17 Repaying no one evil for evil; taking forethought for good things before all people;

18 if possible, as far as it depends on you, being at peace with all people.

19 Not avenging yourselves, beloved, but give place to wrath; for it is written, “Vengeance is mine; I will repay, says the Lord.”

20 Therefore, if your enemy is hungry, feed him; if he is thirsty, give him drink; for doing this you will heap coals of fire upon his head.

21 Do not be conquered by evil, but conquer evil with good.

Chapter 13

1 Let every soul submit to the higher authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and the authorities that exist have been appointed by God.

2 So the one who opposes the authority has resisted God's ordinance, and those who have resisted will receive judgment for themselves.

3 For rulers are not a fear to good works but to evil ones. And do you want not to fear the authority? Do the good, and you will have praise from it.

4 For it is God's minister to you for good. But if you do the evil, fear; for it does not bear the sword in vain, for it is God's minister, an avenger unto wrath upon the one who practices evil.

5 Therefore it is necessary to submit, not only because of wrath but also because of conscience.

6 For because of this you also pay taxes; for they are God's public servants, persevering in this very thing.

7 Therefore repay all their dues: to the one due tax, tax; to the one due toll, toll; to the one due fear, fear; to the one due honor, honor.

8 Owe no one anything except to love one another, for the one who loves the other has fulfilled law.

9 For “You shall not commit adultery, you shall not murder, you shall not steal, you shall not bear false witness, you shall not desire,” and if there is any other commandment, it is summed up in this word, in “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”

10 Love does not work evil to the neighbor; therefore love is the fulfillment of law.

11 And this, knowing the time, that it is already the hour for us to be raised from sleep; for now our salvation is nearer than when we believed.

12 The night advanced, and the day has drawn near. Therefore let us put off the works of darkness and put on the weapons of light.

13 Let us walk decently, as in day, not in revelries and drunkenness, not in sexual beds and licentious acts, not in strife and jealousy.

14 But put on the Lord Jesus Christ, and do not make provision for the flesh unto desires.

Chapter 14

1 But receive the one who is weak in faith, not for disputes over reasonings.

2 One believes he may eat all things, but the weak one eats vegetables.

3 Let the one who eats not despise the one who does not eat, and let the one who does not eat not judge the one who eats, for God received him.

4 Who are you who judges another's household servant? To his own lord he stands or falls. And he will be made to stand, for God is able to make him stand.

5 One judges a day above a day, but another judges every day. Let each be fully convinced in his own mind.

6 The one who regards the day regards it to the Lord, and the one who does not regard the day does not regard it to the Lord. The one who eats eats to the Lord, for he gives thanks to God; and the one who does not eat does not eat to the Lord and gives thanks to God.

7 For none of us lives to himself, and none dies to himself.

8 For if we live, we live to the Lord, and if we die, we die to the Lord. Therefore, whether we live or whether we die, we are the Lord's.

9 For to this end Christ both died and rose and lived again, so that he might rule over both dead and living.

10 But why do you judge your brother? Or why do you also despise your brother? For we will all stand before Christ's judgment seat.

11 For it is written, “I live, says the Lord, that to me every knee will bend, and every tongue will confess to God.”

12 So then each of us will give an account concerning himself to God.

13 Therefore let us no longer judge one another, but rather judge this: not to place a stumbling block or an offense for the brother.

14 I know and am convinced in the Lord Jesus that nothing is common through itself, except that to the one who reckons something to be common, to that one it is common.

15 But if your brother is grieved because of food, you no longer walk according to love. Do not destroy with your food that one for whom Christ died.

16 Therefore do not let your good be blasphemed.

17 For God's kingdom is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit.

18 For the one who in these things serves as a slave to Christ is pleasing to God and approved by people.

19 So then let us pursue the things of peace and the things of building up one another.

20 Do not tear down God's work for the sake of food. All things indeed are clean, but it is evil for the man who eats through a stumbling block.

21 It is good not to eat meat or drink wine or anything by which your brother stumbles or is offended or is weakened.

22 Do you have faith? Have it to yourself before God. Blessed is the one who does not judge himself in what he approves.

23 But the one who doubts, if he eats, has been condemned, because it is not from faith; and everything that is not from faith is sin.

Chapter 15

1 But we who are strong ought to carry the weaknesses of those who are not strong, and not please ourselves.

2 For let each of us please the neighbor for good, toward building up.

3 For Christ too did not please himself, but as it is written, “The reproaches of those who reproach you fell upon me.”

4 For whatever was written beforehand was written beforehand for our teaching, so that through endurance and through the encouragement of the writings we might have hope.

5 And may the God of endurance and encouragement grant you to think the same among one another according to Christ Jesus,

6 so that with one accord, with one mouth, you may glorify the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ.

7 Therefore receive one another, just as Christ also received us, unto God's glory.

8 And I say that Jesus Christ has become a minister of circumcision for God's truth, to confirm the promises of the fathers,

9 and for the nations to glorify God for mercy, as it is written, “For this reason I will confess to you among nations and sing to your name.”

10 And again he says, “Rejoice, nations, with his people.”

11 And again, “Praise the Lord, all the nations, and praise him, all the peoples.”

12 And again Isaiah says, “There will be the root of Jesse, and the one who rises to rule nations; upon him nations will hope.”

13 And may the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, for you to abound in hope in the power of the Holy Spirit.

14 And I myself too am convinced concerning you, my brothers, that you yourselves too are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another.

15 But I wrote to you more boldly in part, brothers, as reminding you again, because of the grace given to me by God,

16 for me to be a public minister of Jesus Christ to the nations, performing priestly service for God's gospel, so that the offering of the nations might become acceptable, sanctified in the Holy Spirit.

17 Therefore I have boasting in Christ Jesus in the things toward God.

18 For I will not dare to speak of anything that Christ did not work through me for obedience of nations, in word and deed,

19 in power of signs and wonders, in power of God's Spirit, so that from Jerusalem and around as far as Illyricum I have fulfilled Christ's gospel,

20 and thus aspiring to proclaim the gospel where Christ had not been named, so that I might not build upon another's foundation,

21 but as it is written, “Those to whom it was not announced concerning him will see, and those who have not heard will understand.”

22 Therefore I was also hindered many times from coming to you.

23 But now, no longer having a place in these regions, and having a longing to come to you for many years,

24 whenever I travel to Spain, I will come to you. For I hope, passing through, to see you and to be sent on there by you, if first I am in part filled with you.

25 But now I travel to Jerusalem, ministering to the saints.

26 For Macedonia and Achaia were pleased to make a contribution for the poor among the saints in Jerusalem.

27 For they were pleased, and they are their debtors. For if the nations shared in their spiritual things, they ought also to serve them in fleshly things.

28 Therefore, having completed this and sealed this fruit to them, I will go away through you to Spain.

29 And I know that when I come to you, I will come in the fullness of the blessing of Christ's gospel.

30 And I urge you, brothers, through our Lord Jesus Christ and through the love of the Spirit, to strive together with me in prayers for me to God,

31 so that I may be rescued from those who disobey in Judea, and so that my ministry to Jerusalem may become acceptable to the saints,

32 so that I may come to you in joy through God's will and find rest together with you.

33 And the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

Chapter 16

1 And I commend to you Phoebe our sister, who is a minister of the church in Cenchreae,

2 so that you may receive her in the Lord worthily of the saints, and stand by her in whatever matter she may need you; for she herself also became a patron of many and of me myself.

3 Greet Priscilla and Aquila, my fellow workers in Christ Jesus,

4 who laid down their own neck for my life, to whom not only I give thanks, but also all the churches of the nations,

5 and the church in their house. Greet Epaenetus my beloved, who is the firstfruits of Achaia unto Christ.

6 Greet Mariam, who labored much for us.

7 Greet Andronicus and Junia, my kinsmen and fellow captives, who are notable among the apostles, who also have been in Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias, my beloved in the Lord.

9 Greet Urbanus, our fellow worker in Christ, and Stachys my beloved.

10 Greet Apelles, the approved one in Christ. Greet those of Aristobulus.

11 Greet Herodion my kinsman. Greet those of Narcissus who are in the Lord.

12 Greet Tryphaena and Tryphosa, who labor in the Lord. Greet Persis the beloved, who labored much in the Lord.

13 Greet Rufus, the chosen one in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Hermes, and the brothers with them.

15 Greet Philologus and Julia, Nereus and his sister, and Olympas, and all the saints with them.

16 Greet one another with a holy kiss. The churches of Christ greet you.

17 And I urge you, brothers, to watch those who make divisions and offenses contrary to the teaching you learned, and turn away from them.

18 For such people do not serve as slaves to our Lord Jesus Christ, but to their own belly, and through smooth speech and flattering speech deceive the hearts of the innocent.

19 For your obedience reached all. Therefore I rejoice over you, but I want you to be wise toward good and unmixed toward evil.

20 And the God of peace will crush Satan under your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

21 Timothy my fellow worker greets you, and Lucius and Jason and Sosipater, my kinsmen.

22 I, Tertius, who wrote the letter, greet you in the Lord.

23 Gaius, my host and that of the whole church, greets you. Erastus, the city's steward, greets you, and Quartus the brother.

24 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

25 And to the one who is able to strengthen you according to my gospel and the proclamation of Jesus Christ, according to revelation of a mystery kept silent in eternal times,

26 but now manifested, and through prophetic writings, according to the command of the eternal God, made known to all the nations for obedience of faith,

27 to the only wise God, through Jesus Christ, to whom be the glory forever. Amen.

1 Corinthians

Chapter 1

1 Paul, a called apostle of Jesus Christ through God's will, and Sosthenes the brother,

2 to God's church in Corinth, sanctified in Christ Jesus, called saints, with all who call upon the name of our Lord Jesus Christ in every place, both theirs and ours:

3 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 I thank my God always concerning you for God's grace given to you in Christ Jesus,

5 that in everything you were enriched in him, in every word and all knowledge,

6 just as Christ's testimony was confirmed among you,

7 so that you lack no gracious gift, awaiting the revelation of our Lord Jesus Christ,

8 who will also confirm you until the end, unaccused on the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 God is faithful, through whom you were called into fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord.

10 But I urge you, brothers, through the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that you all say the same thing and that there be no divisions among you, but that you be fitted together in the same mind and the same judgment.

11 For it was made clear to me concerning you, my brothers, by those of Chloe, that there are quarrels among you.

12 And I mean this: each of you says, “I am Paul's,” “I am Apollos's,” “I am Cephas's,” “I am Christ's.”

13 Has Christ been divided? Was Paul crucified for you? Or were you baptized into Paul's name?

14 I thank God that I baptized none of you except Crispus and Gaius,

15 so that no one may say that I baptized into my own name.

16 And I also baptized Stephanas's household; beyond that I do not know whether I baptized anyone else.

17 For Christ did not send me to baptize but to proclaim the gospel, not in wisdom of speech, so that Christ's cross might not be emptied.

18 For the word of the cross is foolishness to those perishing, but to us being saved it is God's power.

19 For it is written, “I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and reject the understanding of the understanding.”

20 Where is the wise one? Where is the scribe? Where is the debater of this age? Did God not make the wisdom of this world foolish?

21 For since, in God's wisdom, the world did not know God through wisdom, God was pleased through the foolishness of the proclamation to save those who believe.

22 Since Jews also ask for a sign, and Greeks seek wisdom,

23 but we preach Christ crucified, an offense to Jews and foolishness to Greeks,

24 but to the called themselves, both Jews and Greeks, Christ, God's power and God's wisdom.

25 Because God's foolish thing is wiser than people, and God's weak thing is stronger than people.

26 For see your calling, brothers, that not many are wise according to flesh, not many powerful, not many wellborn.

27 But God chose the foolish things of the world to shame the wise, and God chose the weak things of the world to shame the strong things,

28 and God chose the lowborn things of the world and the despised things and the things that are not, to nullify the things that are,

29 so that no flesh may boast before him.

30 But from him you are in Christ Jesus, who became for us wisdom from God, and righteousness and sanctification and redemption,

31 so that, as it is written, “Let the one who boasts boast in the Lord.”

Chapter 2

1 And I, coming to you, brothers, did not come with superiority of speech or wisdom, proclaiming God's testimony to you.

2 For I decided not to know anything among you except Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 And I was with you in weakness and fear and much trembling.

4 And my speech and my proclamation were not in persuasive words of human wisdom, but in demonstration of spirit and power,

5 so that your faith might not be in people's wisdom but in God's power.

6 But we speak wisdom among the mature, yet wisdom not of this age nor of the rulers of this age who are being nullified,

7 but we speak God's wisdom in a mystery, the hidden wisdom which God predestined before the ages for our glory,

8 which none of the rulers of this age has known; for if they had known, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

9 But as it is written, “Things an eye did not see and an ear did not hear and that did not rise upon a man's heart, things God prepared for those who love him.”

10 But God revealed them to us through his Spirit; for the Spirit searches everything, even God's depths.

11 For who among people knows a man's things except the man's spirit within him? Thus also no one knows God's things except God's Spirit.

12 But we received not the world's spirit but the Spirit from God, so that we may know the things freely given us by God,

13 which we also speak, not in words taught by human wisdom but in those taught by the Holy Spirit, comparing spiritual things with spiritual things.

14 But a natural man does not receive the things of God's Spirit, for they are foolishness to him, and he cannot know them, because they are examined spiritually.

15 But the spiritual one examines everything, but he himself is examined by no one.

16 For who knew the Lord's mind, who will instruct him? But we have Christ's mind.

Chapter 3

1 And I, brothers, could not speak to you as spiritual people, but as fleshly people, as infants in Christ.

2 I gave you milk to drink and not food, for you were not yet able; but neither are you able even now,

3 for you are still fleshly. For where there are jealousy and strife and divisions among you, are you not fleshly and walking according to man?

4 For whenever someone says, “I am Paul's,” and another, “I am Apollos's,” are you not fleshly?

5 Who, then, is Paul, and who is Apollos, but ministers through whom you believed, and to each as the Lord gave?

6 I planted, Apollos watered, but God gave growth.

7 So neither the one who plants is anything nor the one who waters, but God who gives growth.

8 And the one who plants and the one who waters are one, but each will receive his own wage according to his own labor.

9 For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's cultivated field, God's building.

10 According to God's grace given to me, as a wise master builder I have laid a foundation, but another builds upon it. But let each watch how he builds upon it.

11 For no one can lay another foundation besides the one laid, which is Jesus Christ.

12 But if someone builds upon this foundation gold, silver, precious stones, wood, grass, straw,

13 each one's work will become manifest, for the day will make it clear, because it is revealed in fire, and the fire will test what sort each one's work is.

14 If someone's work which he built upon it remains, he will receive a wage.

15 If someone's work is burned up, he will suffer loss; but he himself will be saved, yet thus as through fire.

16 Do you not know that you are God's temple and God's Spirit dwells in you?

17 If someone destroys God's temple, God will destroy this one; for God's temple is holy, which you are.

18 Let no one deceive himself. If someone among you thinks he is wise in this age, let him become foolish so that he may become wise.

19 For this world's wisdom is foolishness with God. For it is written, “The one who catches the wise in their cunning,”

20 and again, “The Lord knows the reasonings of the wise, that they are futile.”

21 So let no one boast in people, for everything is yours,

22 whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas or world or life or death or present things or coming things; everything is yours,

23 and you are Christ's, and Christ is God's.

Chapter 4

1 Thus let a man reckon us as servants of Christ and stewards of God's mysteries.

2 And furthermore it is sought among stewards that one be found faithful.

3 But to me it is a very small thing that I should be examined by you or by a human day; but neither do I examine myself.

4 For I am conscious of nothing against myself, but I have not been justified by this; and the one who examines me is the Lord.

5 So judge nothing before the time, until the Lord comes, who will both illuminate the hidden things of darkness and manifest the counsels of hearts; and then each one's praise will come from God.

6 And these things, brothers, I transferred in form to myself and Apollos because of you, so that in us you may learn not to think beyond what is written, so that you may not be puffed up, one for the one against the other.

7 For who distinguishes you? And what do you have that you did not receive? And if you also received it, why do you boast as though not having received?

8 Already you are filled, already you became rich, apart from us you reigned; and indeed I wish you had reigned, so that we too might reign with you.

9 For I think God displayed us apostles last, as sentenced to death, because we became a spectacle to the world and to angels and to people.

10 We are fools because of Christ, but you prudent in Christ; we weak, but you strong; you honored, but we dishonored.

11 Until this present hour we both hunger and thirst and are poorly clothed and are struck and are without a settled home,

12 and labor, working with our own hands. Reviled, we bless; persecuted, we bear it;

13 slandered, we encourage. We became as the world's refuse, everyone's scrapings, until now.

14 I write these things not to shame you, but admonish you as my beloved children.

15 For even if you have ten thousand tutors in Christ, yet not many fathers; for in Christ Jesus through the gospel I begot you.

16 Therefore I urge you, become imitators of me.

17 For this reason I sent you Timothy, who is my beloved child and faithful in the Lord, who will remind you of my ways in Christ, just as I teach everywhere in every church.

18 But some were puffed up as though I were not coming to you.

19 But I will come to you quickly, if the Lord wills, and know not the speech of those puffed up, but the power.

20 For God's kingdom is not in speech but in power.

21 What do you want? Should I come to you with a rod, or in love and a spirit of gentleness?

Chapter 5

1 Sexual immorality is actually reported among you, and such sexual immorality as is not even named among the nations, that someone has his father's wife.

2 And you are puffed up, and did not rather mourn, so that the one who did this deed might be removed from your midst.

3 For I, though absent in body but present in spirit, have already judged, as present, the one who performed this thus,

4 in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, when you and my spirit are assembled, with the power of our Lord Jesus Christ,

5 to hand such a one over to Satan for destruction of the flesh, so that the spirit may be saved on the day of the Lord Jesus.

6 Your boasting is not good. Do you not know that a little leaven leavens the whole lump?

7 Therefore clean out the old leaven, so that you may be a new lump, as you are unleavened. For Christ our Passover was also sacrificed for us.

8 So let us keep the feast, not with old leaven nor with leaven of malice and wickedness, but with unleavened things of sincerity and truth.

9 I wrote to you in the letter not to mix together with sexually immoral people,

10 and not altogether with the sexually immoral of this world or the greedy or robbers or idolaters, since then you would have to go out of the world.

11 But now I wrote to you not to mix together if someone named a brother is sexually immoral or greedy or an idolater or a reviler or a drunkard or a robber, not even to eat with such a one.

12 For what is it to me to judge those outside also? Do you not judge those inside?

13 But God judges those outside. And remove the evil one from among yourselves.

Chapter 6

1 Does someone among you, having a matter against the other, dare to be judged before the unrighteous and not before the saints?

2 Do you not know that the saints will judge the world? And if the world is judged by you, are you unworthy of the smallest tribunals?

3 Do you not know that we will judge angels, let alone matters of life?

4 Therefore, if you have tribunals concerning matters of life, do you seat those despised in the church?

5 I say this to your shame. Is there thus no wise one among you, not even one, who will be able to decide between his brother?

6 But brother goes to judgment with brother, and this before unbelievers.

7 Therefore there is already altogether a defeat among you, that you have judgments with yourselves. Why not rather be wronged? Why not rather be defrauded?

8 But you wrong and defraud, and that brothers.

9 Or do you not know that the unrighteous will not inherit God's kingdom? Do not be deceived: neither sexually immoral people nor idolaters nor adulterers nor effeminate men nor men who bed males,

10 nor thieves nor greedy people nor drunkards nor revilers nor robbers will inherit God's kingdom.

11 And some of you were these things; but you washed yourselves, but you were sanctified, but you were justified in the name of the Lord Jesus and in the Spirit of our God.

12 Everything is permitted to me, but not everything benefits. Everything is permitted to me, but I will not be brought under authority by anything.

13 Foods for the belly, and the belly for foods, but God will nullify both it and them. But the body is not for sexual immorality but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God both raised the Lord and will raise us through his power.

15 Do you not know that your bodies are Christ's members? Therefore, taking Christ's members, will I make them a prostitute's members? May it never be!

16 Or do you not know that the one who joins himself to the prostitute is one body? For, he says, “The two will be one flesh.”

17 But the one who joins himself to the Lord is one spirit.

18 Flee sexual immorality. Every sin that a man does is outside the body, but the sexually immoral one sins against his own body.

19 Or do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, whom you have from God, and you are not your own?

20 For you were bought at a price. Therefore glorify God in your body and in your spirit, which are God's.

Chapter 7

1 And concerning what you wrote to me: it is good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 But because of sexual immoralities, let each have his own wife, and let each woman have her own husband.

3 Let the husband repay the wife the goodwill owed, and likewise also the wife the husband.

4 The wife does not have authority over her own body, but the husband; and likewise the husband also does not have authority over his own body, but the wife.

5 Do not deprive one another, except perhaps by agreement for a time, so that you may devote yourselves to fasting and prayer, and come together again, so that Satan may not tempt you because of your lack of self-control.

6 But I say this by concession, not by command.

7 For I want all people to be as myself also; but each has his own gracious gift from God, one thus, another thus.

8 And I say to the unmarried and the widows, it is good for them if they remain as I also am.

9 But if they do not exercise self-control, let them marry; for it is better to marry than to burn.

10 But to the married I command, not I but the Lord, that a wife not separate from a husband, 11 but if she does separate, let her remain unmarried or be reconciled to the husband, and that a husband not leave a wife.

12 But to the rest I say, not the Lord: if some brother has an unbelieving wife and she agrees to dwell with him, let him not leave her.

13 And a woman who has an unbelieving husband, and he agrees to dwell with her, let her not leave him.

14 For the unbelieving husband has been sanctified in the wife, and the unbelieving wife has been sanctified in the husband; otherwise your children are unclean, but now they are holy.

15 But if the unbeliever separates, let him separate. The brother or sister has not been enslaved in such things; but God has called us in peace.

16 For how do you know, wife, whether you will save the husband? Or how do you know, husband, whether you will save the wife?

17 Only, as God apportioned to each, as the Lord has called each, thus let him walk. And thus I direct in all the churches.

18 Was someone called circumcised? Let him not draw the foreskin over. Was someone called in uncircumcision? Let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but keeping God's commandments.

20 Let each remain in the calling in which he was called.

21 Were you called a slave? Do not let it concern you; but if you can also become free, rather make use of it.

22 For the slave called in the Lord is the Lord's freedman; likewise also the free one called is Christ's slave.

23 You were bought at a price; do not become slaves of people.

24 Brothers, let each remain with God in that in which he was called.

25 And concerning virgins, I have no command of the Lord, but give judgment as one who has received mercy from the Lord to be faithful.

26 Therefore I consider this to be good because of the present necessity, that it is good for a man to be thus.

27 Have you been bound to a wife? Do not seek release. Have you been released from a wife? Do not seek a wife.

28 But even if you marry, you did not sin; and if the virgin marries, she did not sin. But such will have affliction in the flesh, and I spare you.

29 But I say this, brothers: the time has been shortened; henceforth, so that even those who have wives may be as not having,

30 and those who weep as not weeping, and those who rejoice as not rejoicing, and those who buy as not possessing,

31 and those who use this world as not using it fully; for the form of this world passes away.

32 But I want you to be without anxiety. The unmarried one is anxious about the Lord's things, how he will please the Lord, 33 but the married one is anxious about the world's things, how he will please the wife.

34 The wife and the virgin are distinguished. The unmarried woman is anxious about the Lord's things, so that she may be holy both in body and in spirit; but the married woman is anxious about the world's things, how she will please the husband.

35 But I say this for your own benefit, not to cast a noose upon you, but for propriety and devoted attendance upon the Lord without distraction.

36 But if someone thinks he behaves indecently toward his virgin, if she is past her prime and it ought to happen thus, let him do what he wants; he does not sin; let them marry.

37 But the one who stands firm in his heart, having no necessity, but has authority concerning his own will, and has judged this in his heart, to keep his own virgin, does well.

38 So also the one who gives in marriage does well, but the one who does not give in marriage does better.

39 A wife is bound by law for as long as her husband lives; but if her husband falls asleep, she is free to be married to whom she wants, only in the Lord.

40 But she is more blessed if she remains thus, according to my judgment; and I think I too have God's Spirit.

Chapter 8

1 And concerning things sacrificed to idols, we know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge puffs up, but love builds up.

2 But if someone thinks he knows something, he has not yet known anything as he ought to know.

3 But if someone loves God, this one has been known by him.

4 Therefore concerning the eating of things sacrificed to idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is no other God except one.

5 For even if there are so-called gods, whether in heaven or upon earth, as there are many gods and many lords,

6 yet for us one God, the Father, from whom are all things and we unto him, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and we through him.

7 But knowledge is not in everyone; and some, with consciousness of the idol until now, eat as a thing sacrificed to an idol, and their conscience, being weak, is defiled.

8 But food does not present us to God; for neither if we eat do we abound, nor if we do not eat do we lack.

9 But watch lest this authority of yours become a stumbling block to the weak.

10 For if someone sees you who have knowledge reclining in an idol's temple, will not his conscience, being weak, be built up to eat things sacrificed to idols?

11 And the weak brother will perish upon your knowledge, for whom Christ died.

12 And thus, sinning against the brothers and striking their weak conscience, you sin against Christ.

13 Therefore, if food offends my brother, I will certainly never eat meat, so that I may not offend my brother.

Chapter 9

1 Am I not an apostle? Am I not free? Have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord? Are you not my work in the Lord?

2 If to others I am not an apostle, yet indeed to you I am; for you are the seal of my apostleship in the Lord.

3 My defense to those who examine me is this:

4 Do we not have authority to eat and drink?

5 Do we not have authority to take along a sister as wife, as also the other apostles and the Lord's brothers and Cephas?

6 Or do only I and Barnabas not have authority not to work?

7 Who ever serves as a soldier at his own wages? Who plants a vineyard and does not eat from its fruit? Or who shepherds a flock and does not eat from the flock's milk?

8 Do I speak these things according to man? Or does not the law also say these things?

9 For in Moses's law it is written, “You shall not muzzle an ox threshing.” Is God concerned about oxen?

10 Or does he speak altogether for us? For it was written for us, that the plower ought to plow upon hope, and the thresher to share in his hope upon hope.

11 If we sowed spiritual things for you, is it a great thing if we reap your fleshly things?

12 If others share in authority over you, do not we more? But we did not use this authority, but bear everything so that we may give no hindrance to Christ's gospel.

13 Do you not know that those who work the sacred things eat from the sacred place, and those who attend the altar share with the altar?

14 Thus the Lord also directed those who proclaim the gospel to live from the gospel.

15 But I used none of these things. And I did not write these things so that it might happen thus for me; for it is better for me to die than for someone to empty my boast.

16 For if I proclaim the gospel, I have no boast; for necessity lies upon me, and woe is mine if I do not proclaim the gospel.

17 For if willingly I practice this, I have a wage; but if unwillingly, I have been entrusted with a stewardship.

18 What, then, is my wage? That, proclaiming the gospel, I may offer Christ's gospel without expense, so as not to use fully my authority in the gospel.

19 For being free from all, I enslaved myself to all so that I may gain the more.

20 And to the Jews I became as a Jew so that I may gain Jews; to those under law as under law so that I may gain those under law;

21 to those without law as without law, not being without law to God but within law to Christ, so that I may gain those without law.

22 To the weak I became as weak so that I may gain the weak. To all I have become all things so that by all means I may save some.

23 And I do this because of the gospel, so that I may become a fellow sharer of it.

24 Do you not know that those running in a stadium all run, but one receives the prize? Run thus so that you may obtain it.

25 And everyone who competes exercises self-control in everything; they, therefore, to receive a corruptible crown, but we an incorruptible.

26 Therefore I run thus, as not uncertainly; I box thus, as not beating air,

27 but I batter my body and enslave it, lest, having preached to others, I myself become disapproved.

Chapter 10

1 But I do not want you to be ignorant, brothers, that our fathers were all under the cloud and all passed through the sea,

2 and all were baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea,

3 and all ate the same spiritual food,

4 and all drank the same spiritual drink; for they drank from a spiritual rock following them, and the rock was Christ.

5 But God was not pleased with most of them, for they were strewn in the wilderness.

6 And these things became patterns for us, so that we may not be desirers of evil things, as those also desired.

7 Nor become idolaters, as some of them, as it is written, “The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose to play.”

8 Nor let us commit sexual immorality, as some of them committed sexual immorality, and twenty-three thousand fell in one day.

9 Nor let us test Christ, as some of them also tested him, and perished by the serpents.

10 Nor grumble, as some of them also grumbled and perished by the destroyer.

11 And all these things happened to them as patterns, and were written for our admonition, to whom the ends of the ages have come.

12 So let the one who thinks he stands watch lest he fall.

13 No temptation has taken you except a human one; but God is faithful, who will not allow you to be tempted beyond what you can bear, but will also make the way out with the temptation, so that you may be able to endure.

14 Therefore, my beloved, flee from idolatry.

15 I speak as to prudent people; judge yourselves what I say.

16 The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not fellowship of Christ's blood? The bread which we break, is it not fellowship of Christ's body?

17 Because there is one bread, we the many are one body; for we all share from the one bread.

18 See Israel according to flesh: are not those who eat the sacrifices sharers of the altar?

19 What, then, do I say? That an idol is anything, or that a thing sacrificed to an idol is anything?

20 But that what the nations sacrifice, they sacrifice to demons and not to God; and I do not want you to become sharers of demons.

21 You cannot drink the Lord's cup and demons' cup; you cannot share in the Lord's table and demons' table.

22 Or do we provoke the Lord to jealousy? Are we stronger than he?

23 Everything is permitted to me, but not everything benefits; everything is permitted to me, but not everything builds up.

24 Let no one seek his own, but each the other's.

25 Eat everything sold in the meat market, examining nothing because of conscience,

26 for “The earth is the Lord's, and its fullness.”

27 And if someone of the unbelievers invites you and you want to go, eat everything set before you, examining nothing because of conscience.

28 But if someone says to you, “This is sacrificed to an idol,” do not eat, because of that one who disclosed it and conscience; for “The earth is the Lord's, and its fullness.”

29 And I mean conscience, not one's own but the other's. For why is my freedom judged by another conscience?

30 But if I partake with thanks, why am I slandered for that for which I give thanks?

31 Therefore, whether you eat or drink or do anything, do everything unto God's glory.

32 Become without offense both to Jews and Greeks and to God's church,

33 just as I too please all in everything, not seeking my own benefit but that of the many, so that they may be saved.

Chapter 11

1 Become imitators of me, just as I also of Christ.

2 And I praise you, brothers, that you remember me in everything and hold the traditions just as I handed them over to you.

3 But I want you to know that Christ is the head of every man, and the man the head of a woman, and God the head of Christ.

4 Every man praying or prophesying with something down over his head shames his head.

5 But every woman praying or prophesying with her head uncovered shames her own head; for it is one and the same with the shaved woman.

6 For if a woman is not covered, let her also be shorn; but if it is shameful for a woman to be shorn or shaved, let her be covered.

7 For a man ought not to cover his head, being God's image and glory; but the woman is man's glory.

8 For man is not from woman, but woman from man;

9 for neither was man created because of the woman, but woman because of the man.

10 For this reason the woman ought to have authority upon her head because of the angels.

11 Nevertheless, neither man apart from woman nor woman apart from man in the Lord.

12 For just as the woman is from the man, so also the man through the woman, but all things from God.

13 Judge among yourselves: is it fitting for a woman to pray to God uncovered?

14 Or does not nature itself teach you that if a man has long hair, it is dishonor to him,

15 but if a woman has long hair, it is glory to her, because the hair has been given to her instead of a covering?

16 But if someone thinks to be contentious, we have no such custom, nor God's churches.

17 But in commanding this I do not praise you, because you assemble not for the better but for the worse.

18 For first, when you assemble in the church, I hear that divisions exist among you, and in some part I believe it.

19 For there must also be factions among you, so that the approved may become manifest among you.

20 Therefore, when you assemble together, it is not to eat the Lord's supper.

21 For each takes his own supper beforehand in eating, and one is hungry, but another is drunk.

22 For do you not have houses for eating and drinking? Or do you despise God's church and shame those who have nothing? What should I say to you? Will I praise you in this? I do not praise you.

23 For I received from the Lord what I also handed over to you, that the Lord Jesus, on the night in which he was handed over, took bread,

24 and having given thanks, broke it and said, “Take, eat; this is my body, broken for you; do this for my remembrance.”

25 Likewise also the cup after supping, saying, “This cup is the new covenant in my blood; do this, as often as you drink, for my remembrance.”

26 For as often as you eat this bread and drink this cup, you proclaim the Lord's death until he comes.

27 So whoever eats this bread or drinks the Lord's cup unworthily will be guilty of the Lord's body and blood.

28 But let a man examine himself, and thus let him eat from the bread and drink from the cup.

29 For the one who eats and drinks unworthily eats and drinks judgment to himself, not discerning the Lord's body.

30 Because of this many among you are weak and sick, and quite a few sleep.

31 For if we discerned ourselves, we would not be judged.

32 But being judged by the Lord, we are disciplined, so that we may not be condemned with the world.

33 So, my brothers, when assembling to eat, wait for one another.

34 But if someone is hungry, let him eat at home, so that you may not assemble unto judgment; and the remaining things I will direct when I come.

Chapter 12

1 And concerning spiritual things, brothers, I do not want you to be ignorant.

2 You know that you were nations, carried away to the voiceless idols however you were led.

3 Therefore I make known to you that no one speaking in God's Spirit says, “Jesus accursed,” and no one can say, “Jesus Lord,” except in the Holy Spirit.

4 And there are varieties of gracious gifts, but the same Spirit,

5 and varieties of ministries, and the same Lord,

6 and varieties of workings, but the same God who works all things in all.

7 And to each is given the manifestation of the Spirit for benefit.

8 For to one through the Spirit is given a word of wisdom, and to another a word of knowledge according to the same Spirit,

9 and to another faith in the same Spirit, and to another gracious gifts of healings in the same Spirit,

10 and to another workings of powers, and to another prophecy, and to another discernings of spirits, and to another kinds of tongues, and to another interpretation of tongues.

11 And all these the one and the same Spirit works, distributing individually to each just as he wills.

12 For just as the body is one and has many members, and all the members of the one body, being many, are one body, so also Christ.

13 For also in one Spirit we all were baptized into one body, whether Jews or Greeks, whether slaves or free, and all were given one Spirit to drink.

14 For also the body is not one member but many.

15 If the foot says, “Because I am not a hand, I am not of the body,” it is not on this account not of the body.

16 And if the ear says, “Because I am not an eye, I am not of the body,” it is not on this account not of the body.

17 If the whole body were an eye, where the hearing? If the whole hearing, where the smelling?

18 But now God placed the members, each one of them, in the body just as he wanted.

19 But if all were one member, where the body?

20 But now many members, yet one body.

21 And the eye cannot say to the hand, “I have no need of you,” or again the head to the feet, “I have no need of you.”

22 But much rather the members of the body that seem to be weaker are necessary,

23 and those we think to be less honorable of the body, upon these we put more abundant honor, and our indecent parts have more abundant decency,

24 but our decent parts have no need. But God blended the body together, giving more abundant honor to the lacking part,

25 so that there may be no division in the body, but the members may have the same concern for one another.

26 And whether one member suffers, all the members suffer together; or one member is glorified, all the members rejoice together.

27 But you are Christ's body, and members individually.

28 And God placed some in the church: first apostles, second prophets, third teachers, then powers, then gracious gifts of healings, helps, governings, kinds of tongues.

29 Are all apostles? Are all prophets? Are all teachers? Are all powers?

30 Do all have gracious gifts of healings? Do all speak in tongues? Do all interpret?

31 But be zealous for the better gracious gifts; and I show you a way beyond measure.

Chapter 13

1 If I speak in the tongues of people and angels but have no love, I have become sounding bronze or a clanging cymbal.

2 And if I have prophecy and know all mysteries and all knowledge, and if I have all faith so as to move mountains, but have no love, I am nothing.

3 And if I distribute all my possessions as food, and if I hand over my body so that I may be burned, but have no love, I benefit nothing.

4 Love is patient, love acts kindly; love is not jealous, does not boast, is not puffed up,

5 does not behave indecently, does not seek its own things, is not provoked, does not reckon the evil,

6 does not rejoice over unrighteousness, but rejoices together with the truth;

7 bears everything, believes everything, hopes everything, endures everything.

8 Love never falls away; but whether prophecies, they will be nullified; whether tongues, they will cease; whether knowledge, it will be nullified.

9 For we know in part and prophesy in part,

10 but when the perfect comes, then the partial will be nullified.

11 When I was an infant, I spoke as an infant, thought as an infant, reasoned as an infant; but when I have become a man, I have nullified the infant's things.

12 For now we see through a mirror in a riddle, but then face to face; now I know in part, but then I will know fully, just as I also was fully known.

13 But now faith, hope, love remain, these three; but greater than these is love.

Chapter 14

1 Pursue love, and be zealous for spiritual things, but rather that you may prophesy.

2 For the one speaking in a tongue speaks not to people but to God, for no one hears, but in spirit he speaks mysteries.

3 But the one prophesying speaks to people building up and encouragement and consolation.

4 The one speaking in a tongue builds himself up, but the one prophesying builds up a church.

5 And I want you all to speak in tongues, but rather that you may prophesy; for greater is the one prophesying than the one speaking in tongues, unless he interprets, so that the church may receive building up.

6 But now, brothers, if I come to you speaking in tongues, what will I benefit you unless I speak to you either in revelation or knowledge or prophecy or teaching?

7 Even lifeless things giving a sound, whether flute or lyre, if they do not give a distinction in the notes, how will what is played on the flute or lyre be known?

8 For also if a trumpet gives an unclear sound, who will prepare for war?

9 Thus you too, unless through the tongue you give a clear word, how will what is spoken be known? For you will be speaking into air.

10 There are, perhaps, so many kinds of sounds in the world, and none of them voiceless.

11 Therefore, if I do not know the force of the sound, I will be a barbarian to the one speaking, and the one speaking a barbarian to me.

12 Thus you too, since you are zealous for spirits, seek to abound toward building up the church.

13 Therefore let the one speaking in a tongue pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray in a tongue, my spirit prays, but my mind is fruitless.

15 What, then, is it? I will pray with the spirit, but also pray with the mind; I will sing with the spirit, but also sing with the mind.

16 Otherwise, if you bless with the spirit, how will the one filling the place of the untrained say the Amen at your thanksgiving, since he does not know what you say?

17 For you indeed give thanks well, but the other is not built up.

18 I thank my God, speaking in tongues more than all of you;

19 but in church I want to speak five words through my mind, so that I may also instruct others, rather than ten thousand words in a tongue.

20 Brothers, do not become children in understanding, but be infants in malice, and become mature in understanding.

21 In the law it is written, “In other tongues and in other lips I will speak to this people, and not even thus will they listen to me, says the Lord.”

22 So tongues are for a sign, not to believers but to unbelievers, but prophecy not to unbelievers but to believers.

23 Therefore, if the whole church assembles together and all speak in tongues, and untrained people or unbelievers enter, will they not say that you are mad?

24 But if all prophesy, and some unbeliever or untrained person enters, he is convicted by all, examined by all,

25 and thus the hidden things of his heart become manifest, and thus, falling upon his face, he will worship God, announcing that God really is among you.

26 What, then, is it, brothers? Whenever you assemble, each of you has a psalm, has a teaching, has a tongue, has a revelation, has an interpretation; let everything happen for building up.

27 If someone speaks in a tongue, by two or at most three, and in turn, and let one interpret.

28 But if there is no interpreter, let him be silent in church, but speak to himself and to God.

29 And let two or three prophets speak, and let the others discern.

30 But if it is revealed to another sitting, let the first be silent.

31 For you can all prophesy one by one, so that all may learn and all be encouraged.

32 And prophets' spirits submit to prophets.

33 For God is not of disorder but of peace, as in all the churches of the saints.

34 Let your women be silent in the churches; for it has not been permitted them to speak, but to submit, as the law also says.

35 But if they want to learn anything, let them ask their own husbands at home; for it is shameful for women to speak in church.

36 Or did God's word go out from you? Or did it reach you alone?

37 If someone thinks he is a prophet or spiritual, let him acknowledge that what I write to you are the Lord's commandments.

38 But if someone is ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 So, brothers, be zealous to prophesy, and do not prevent speaking in tongues.

40 Let everything happen decently and according to order.

Chapter 15

1 And I make known to you, brothers, the gospel which I proclaimed to you, which you also received, in which you also stand,

2 through which you are also saved, if you hold to the word with which I proclaimed it to you, unless you believed in vain.

3 For I handed over to you among the first things what I also received, that Christ died for our sins according to the writings,

4 and that he was buried, and that he has been raised on the third day according to the writings,

5 and that he appeared to Cephas, then to the twelve,

6 then appeared to above five hundred brothers at once, of whom most remain until now, but some also fell asleep,

7 then appeared to James, then to all the apostles,

8 and last of all, as to the aborted one, he appeared to me also.

9 For I am the least of the apostles, who am not fit to be called an apostle, because I persecuted God's church.

10 But by God's grace I am what I am, and his grace toward me did not become empty, but I labored more abundantly than them all; yet not I, but God's grace with me.

11 Therefore, whether I or they, thus we preach, and thus you believed.

12 But if Christ is preached that he has been raised from the dead, how do some among you say that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13 But if there is no resurrection of the dead, neither has Christ been raised.

14 And if Christ has not been raised, then our proclamation is empty, and your faith also empty.

15 And we are also found false witnesses of God, because we testified against God that he raised Christ, whom he did not raise, if indeed the dead are not raised.

16 For if the dead are not raised, neither has Christ been raised.

17 And if Christ has not been raised, your faith is futile; you are still in your sins.

18 Then those who fell asleep in Christ also perished.

19 If in this life only we have hoped in Christ, we are more pitiable than all people.

20 But now Christ has been raised from the dead; he became firstfruits of those who have fallen asleep.

21 For since through man came death, also through man resurrection of the dead.

22 For just as in Adam all die, so also in Christ all will be made alive.

23 But each in his own order: Christ firstfruits, then those of Christ at his coming,

24 then the end, when he hands over the kingdom to God and Father, when he nullifies every rule and every authority and power.

25 For he must reign until he places all the enemies under his feet.

26 The last enemy nullified is death.

27 For he subjected all things under his feet; but when he says that all things have been subjected, it is clear that the one who subjected all things to him is excepted.

28 But when all things are subjected to him, then the Son himself also will be subjected to the one who subjected all things to him, so that God may be all things in all.

29 Otherwise, what will those baptized for the dead do? If the dead are not raised at all, why are they also baptized for the dead?

30 Why do we also face danger every hour?

31 Daily I die, by our boasting which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord.

32 If according to man I fought beasts in Ephesus, what is the benefit to me? If the dead are not raised, let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die.

33 Do not be deceived: bad associations corrupt good habits.

34 Become sober righteously and do not sin; for some have ignorance of God; I say this to your shame.

35 But someone will say, “How are the dead raised? And with what sort of body do they come?”

36 Fool, what you sow is not made alive unless it dies.

37 And what you sow, you do not sow the body that will become, but a bare grain, perhaps of wheat or of some of the others.

38 But God gives it a body just as he wanted, and to each of the seeds its own body.

39 Not all flesh is the same flesh, but one flesh of people, another flesh of livestock, another of fish, another of birds.

40 And heavenly bodies and earthly bodies, but different is the glory of the heavenly and different that of the earthly.

41 One glory of sun, and another glory of moon, and another glory of stars; for star differs from star in glory.

42 Thus also the resurrection of the dead: it is sown in corruption, raised in incorruptibility;

43 sown in dishonor, raised in glory; sown in weakness, raised in power;

44 sown a natural body, raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.

45 Thus it is also written, “The first man Adam became a living soul”; the last Adam a life-giving spirit.

46 But the spiritual is not first, but the natural, then the spiritual.

47 The first man from earth, made of dust; the second man, the Lord from heaven.

48 As the one of dust, such also those of dust; and as the heavenly one, such also the heavenly ones.

49 And just as we bore the image of the one of dust, we will also bear the image of the heavenly one.

50 But I say this, brothers, that flesh and blood cannot inherit God's kingdom, nor does corruption inherit incorruptibility.

51 Look, I tell you a mystery: we will not all sleep, but we will all be changed, 52 in an instant, in a blink of an eye, at the last trumpet; for it will sound, and the dead will be raised incorruptible, and we will be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruptibility, and this mortal put on immortality.

54 But when this corruptible puts on incorruptibility and this mortal puts on immortality, then will come the word that is written, “Death was swallowed unto victory.”

55 Where, death, is your sting? Where, Hades, is your victory?

56 And the sting of death is sin, and the power of sin the law.

57 But thanks to God who gives us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 So, my beloved brothers, become firm, immovable, always abounding in the Lord's work, knowing that your labor is not empty in the Lord.

Chapter 16

1 And concerning the collection for the saints, just as I directed the churches of Galatia, so you too do.

2 On the first of the week, let each of you lay aside with himself, storing up whatever he prospers in, so that collections may not happen then when I come.

3 And when I arrive, whomever you approve, these I will send through letters to carry your gift to Jerusalem.

4 But if it is worthy for me also to go, they will go with me.

5 And I will come to you when I pass through Macedonia, for I am passing through Macedonia.

6 And perhaps I will remain with you or even winter, so that you may send me onward wherever I go.

7 For I do not want to see you now in passing, but hope to remain with you some time, if the Lord permits.

8 But I remain in Ephesus until Pentecost.

9 For a great and effective door has opened for me, and many opponents.

10 And if Timothy comes, watch that he may be with you without fear, for he works the Lord's work, as I also do.

11 Therefore let no one despise him, but send him onward in peace so that he may come to me, for I await him with the brothers.

12 And concerning Apollos the brother, I urged him much to come to you with the brothers, and it was altogether not his will to come now, but he will come when he has opportunity.

13 Keep watch, stand in the faith, act as men, be strengthened.

14 Let all your things happen in love.

15 And I urge you, brothers—you know Stephanas's household, that it is firstfruits of Achaia, and they appointed themselves to ministry to the saints—

16 that you too submit to such people and to everyone working together and laboring.

17 And I rejoice at the presence of Stephanas and Fortunatus and Achaicus, because these filled up your lack.

18 For they refreshed my spirit and yours; therefore acknowledge such people.

19 The churches of Asia greet you. Aquila and Priscilla greet you much in the Lord, with the church in their house.

20 All the brothers greet you. Greet one another with a holy kiss.

21 The greeting by my own hand, Paul's.

22 If someone does not love the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be accursed. Maran atha.

23 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

24 My love be with all of you in Christ Jesus. Amen.

2 Corinthians

Chapter 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ through God's will, and Timothy the brother, to God's church in Corinth, with all the saints in all Achaia:

2 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed is the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of compassions and God of all encouragement,

4 who encourages us in all our affliction, so that we may be able to encourage those in every affliction through the encouragement with which we ourselves are encouraged by God.

5 Because just as Christ's sufferings abound toward us, so through Christ our encouragement also abounds.

6 And whether we are afflicted, it is for your encouragement and salvation, which works in endurance of the same sufferings that we also suffer; or whether we are encouraged, it is for your encouragement and salvation, and our hope is firm concerning you,

7 knowing that just as you are sharers of the sufferings, so also of the encouragement.

8 For we do not want you to be ignorant, brothers, concerning our affliction that happened to us in Asia, that we were burdened exceedingly, beyond power, so that we despaired even of living.

9 But we ourselves have had the sentence of death within ourselves, so that we may not trust in ourselves but in God who raises the dead,

10 who rescued us from so great a death and rescues, in whom we have hoped that he will also still rescue,

11 you also helping together for us in petition, so that the gracious gift toward us from many persons may be thanked for by many on our behalf.

12 For our boasting is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and sincerity of God, not in fleshly wisdom but in God's grace, we conducted ourselves in the world, and more abundantly toward you.

13 For we write no other things to you than what you read or also acknowledge, and I hope that you will also acknowledge until the end,

14 just as you also acknowledged us in part, that we are your boast, just as you also ours on the day of the Lord Jesus.

15 And in this confidence I intended to come to you earlier, so that you might have a second grace,

16 and pass through you to Macedonia, and again from Macedonia come to you, and be sent onward by you to Judea.

17 Therefore, intending this, did I then use fickleness? Or do I plan what I plan according to flesh, so that with me there may be the Yes, yes and the No, no?

18 But God is faithful, that our word toward you did not become Yes and No.

19 For God's Son Jesus Christ, who was preached among you through us, through me and Silvanus and Timothy, did not become Yes and No, but in him has become Yes.

20 For as many as are God's promises, in him is the Yes and in him the Amen, to God for glory through us.

21 And the one who confirms us with you unto Christ and anointed us is God,

22 who also sealed us and gave the pledge of the Spirit in our hearts.

23 But I call upon God as witness upon my soul, that sparing you I no longer came to Corinth.

24 Not that we rule over your faith, but we are fellow workers of your joy, for by faith you stand.

Chapter 2

1 But I decided this for myself, not to come to you again in grief.

2 For if I grieve you, who then is the one who gladdens me except the one grieved by me?

3 And I wrote this very thing to you, so that when I come I may not have grief from those from whom I ought to rejoice, trusting in all of you that my joy is that of you all.

4 For from much affliction and anguish of heart I wrote to you through many tears, not so that you may be grieved, but so that you may know the love which I have more abundantly toward you.

5 But if someone has caused grief, he has grieved not me, but in part, so that I may not burden you all.

6 Sufficient for such a one is this punishment by the majority,

7 so that on the contrary you should rather forgive and encourage, lest such a one be swallowed by more abundant grief.

8 Therefore I urge you to confirm love toward him.

9 For to this end I also wrote, so that I may know your proven character, whether you are obedient in everything.

10 And to whom you forgive anything, I also; for also I, if I have forgiven anything, what I have forgiven, it is because of you in Christ's presence,

11 so that we may not be exploited by Satan, for we are not ignorant of his designs.

12 And coming to Troas for Christ's gospel, and a door having been opened for me in the Lord,

13 I have had no relief in my spirit because I did not find Titus my brother, but taking leave of them I went out to Macedonia.

14 But thanks to God, who always leads us in triumph in Christ and manifests through us the odor of his knowledge in every place,

15 because we are Christ's fragrance to God among those being saved and among those perishing,

16 to these an odor of death unto death, but to those an odor of life unto life. And who is sufficient for these things?

17 For we are not as the many, peddling God's word, but as from sincerity, but as from God, before God, we speak in Christ.

Chapter 3

1 Are we beginning again to commend ourselves? Or do we need, as some, commendatory letters to you or commendatory letters from you?

2 You are our letter, inscribed in our hearts, known and read by all people,

3 being manifested that you are Christ's letter ministered by us, inscribed not with ink but with the Spirit of the living God, not on stone tablets but on fleshly tablets of heart.

4 And we have such confidence through Christ toward God,

5 not that we are sufficient from ourselves to reckon anything as from ourselves, but our sufficiency is from God,

6 who also made us sufficient as ministers of a new covenant, not of letter but of spirit; for the letter kills, but the spirit gives life.

7 But if the ministry of death, imprinted in letters on stones, came in glory, so that Israel's sons could not gaze upon Moses's face because of the glory of his face, which was being nullified,

8 how will the ministry of the Spirit not rather be in glory?

9 For if the ministry of condemnation is glory, much more the ministry of righteousness abounds in glory.

10 For even what has been glorified has not been glorified in this respect, because of the surpassing glory.

11 For if what is being nullified is through glory, much more what remains is in glory.

12 Therefore, having such hope, we use much boldness,

13 and not as Moses put a veil upon his own face so that Israel's sons might not gaze upon the end of what was being nullified.

14 But their minds were hardened; for until today the same veil remains at the reading of the old covenant, not unveiled, because it is nullified in Christ.

15 But until today, whenever Moses is read, a veil lies upon their heart.

16 But whenever it turns toward the Lord, the veil is taken away.

17 And the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Lord's Spirit is, there is freedom.

18 But we all, with unveiled face beholding as in a mirror the Lord's glory, are transformed into the same image from glory to glory, as from the Lord, the Spirit.

Chapter 4

1 For this reason, having this ministry, just as we received mercy, we do not lose heart,

2 but renounced the hidden things of shame, not walking in cunning nor adulterating God's word, but by manifestation of the truth commending ourselves to every conscience of people before God.

3 But even if our gospel is veiled, it is veiled among those perishing,

4 among whom the god of this age blinded the minds of the unbelievers, so that the illumination of the gospel of Christ's glory, who is God's image, might not shine upon them.

5 For we preach not ourselves but Christ Jesus as Lord, and ourselves your slaves because of Jesus,

6 because God, who said for light to shine from darkness, is the one who shone in our hearts for illumination of the knowledge of God's glory in Jesus Christ's face.

7 But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, so that the excess of power may be God's and not from us,

8 afflicted in everything, but not confined; perplexed, but not despairing;

9 persecuted, but not abandoned; struck down, but not perishing;

10 always carrying around in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, so that Jesus's life also may be manifested in our body.

11 For we who live are always handed over to death because of Jesus, so that Jesus's life also may be manifested in our mortal flesh.

12 So death works in us, but life in you.

13 And having the same spirit of faith, according to what is written, “I believed, therefore I spoke,” we too believe, therefore also speak,

14 knowing that the one who raised the Lord Jesus will also raise us through Jesus and present us with you.

15 For all things are because of you, so that grace, increasing through the more, may cause thanksgiving to abound unto God's glory.

16 Therefore we do not lose heart; but even if our outer man is being destroyed, yet the inner is renewed day by day.

17 For the momentary lightness of our affliction works for us, beyond measure unto beyond measure, an eternal weight of glory,

18 while we look not at the things seen but the things not seen; for the things seen are temporary, but the things not seen eternal.

Chapter 5

1 For we know that if our earthly house of the tent is torn down, we have a building from God, a house not made by hands, eternal in the heavens.

2 For also in this we groan, longing to put on over ourselves our dwelling from heaven,

3 if indeed, having put it on, we will not be found naked.

4 For also we who are in the tent groan, burdened, because we do not want to be unclothed but clothed over, so that the mortal may be swallowed by life.

5 And the one who worked us for this very thing is God, who also gave us the pledge of the Spirit.

6 Therefore always being confident, and knowing that while at home in the body we are away from the Lord—

7 for we walk through faith, not through sight—

8 but we are confident and rather pleased to be away from the body and at home with the Lord.

9 Therefore we also aspire, whether at home or away, to be pleasing to him.

10 For we all must be manifested before Christ's judgment seat, so that each may receive the things through the body according to what he practiced, whether good or evil.

11 Therefore, knowing the Lord's fear, we persuade people, but have been manifested to God; and I hope also to have been manifested in your consciences.

12 For we do not again commend ourselves to you, but give you an opportunity of boasting for us, so that you may have an answer to those boasting in face and not heart.

13 For whether we were out of our minds, it is to God; whether we are sound-minded, to you.

14 For Christ's love constrains us, having judged this, that if one died for all, then all died;

15 and he died for all, so that those living may no longer live to themselves but to the one who died and was raised for them.

16 So from now we know no one according to flesh; and even if we have known Christ according to flesh, yet now we no longer know him thus.

17 So if someone is in Christ, a new creation; the ancient things passed away; look, all things have become new.

18 And all things are from God, who reconciled us to himself through Jesus Christ and gave us the ministry of reconciliation,

19 that God was in Christ reconciling a world to himself, not reckoning their trespasses to them, and placing in us the word of reconciliation.

20 Therefore we act as ambassadors for Christ, as God urges through us; we petition for Christ: be reconciled to God.

21 For he made the one who did not know sin sin for us, so that we may become God's righteousness in him.

Chapter 6

1 And working together, we also urge you not to receive God's grace in vain.

2 For he says, “At an acceptable time I listened to you, and on a day of salvation I helped you.” Look, now an acceptable time; look, now a day of salvation.

3 Giving no stumbling in anything, so that the ministry may not be blamed,

4 but in everything commending ourselves as God's ministers, in much endurance, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses,

5 in blows, in prisons, in disorders, in labors, in sleeplessness, in fastings,

6 in purity, in knowledge, in patience, in kindness, in the Holy Spirit, in unhypocritical love,

7 in a word of truth, in God's power, through the weapons of righteousness on the right and left,

8 through glory and dishonor, through ill repute and good repute; as deceivers and true,

9 as unknown and fully known, as dying and look, we live, as disciplined and not put to death,

10 as grieving but always rejoicing, as poor but enriching many, as having nothing and possessing everything.

11 Our mouth has opened toward you, Corinthians; our heart has been widened.

12 You are not confined in us, but are confined in your inward affections.

13 And for the same recompense—I speak as to children—be widened, you too.

14 Do not become unequally yoked with unbelievers. For what partnership is there for righteousness and lawlessness? And what fellowship for light with darkness?

15 And what agreement for Christ with Beliar? Or what portion for a believer with an unbeliever?

16 And what accord for God's temple with idols? For you are a temple of the living God, just as God said, “I will dwell in them and walk among them, and I will be their God, and they will be my people.”

17 Therefore, “Come out from their midst and be set apart, says the Lord, and do not touch an unclean thing, and I will receive you,

18 and will be a Father to you, and you will be sons and daughters to me, says the Lord Almighty.”

Chapter 7

1 Therefore, having these promises, beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from every defilement of flesh and spirit, completing holiness in God's fear.

2 Make room for us. We wronged no one, corrupted no one, exploited no one.

3 I do not speak for condemnation, for I have said beforehand that you are in our hearts, to die together and live together.

4 Much is my boldness toward you, much my boasting for you; I have been filled with encouragement, I overflow with joy in all our affliction.

5 For also when we came to Macedonia, our flesh has had no relief, but being afflicted in everything: fights outside, fears within.

6 But God, who encourages the lowly, encouraged us by Titus's presence,

7 and not only by his presence but also by the encouragement with which he was encouraged over you, reporting to us your longing, your lamentation, your zeal for me, so that I rejoiced more.

8 Because even if I grieved you with the letter, I do not regret it, even if I did regret it; for I see that that letter grieved you, even if for an hour.

9 Now I rejoice, not that you were grieved, but that you were grieved unto repentance; for you were grieved according to God, so that you might suffer loss in nothing from us.

10 For grief according to God works repentance unto salvation without regret, but the world's grief works death.

11 For look, this very thing, your being grieved according to God, how much diligence it worked in you, indeed defense, indeed indignation, indeed fear, indeed longing, indeed zeal, indeed vengeance! In everything you commended yourselves as pure in the matter.

12 Therefore, even if I wrote to you, it was not because of the one who wronged nor because of the one wronged, but for your diligence for us to be manifested to you before God.

13 For this reason we have been encouraged in your encouragement, and much more we rejoiced over Titus's joy, because his spirit has been refreshed by you all.

14 Because if I have boasted anything to him for you, I was not shamed; but as we spoke everything in truth to you, so also our boasting before Titus became truth.

15 And his inward affections are more abundantly toward you, as he remembers the obedience of you all, how with fear and trembling you received him.

16 I rejoice that in everything I have confidence in you.

Chapter 8

1 And we make known to you, brothers, God's grace given in the churches of Macedonia,

2 that in much trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their simplicity.

3 Because according to power, I testify, and beyond power, of their own choice,

4 with much urging petitioning us to receive the gift and the fellowship of the ministry to the saints,

5 and not as we hoped, but they gave themselves first to the Lord and to us through God's will,

6 so that we urged Titus that just as he began beforehand, so he might also complete this grace toward you.

7 But just as you abound in everything, faith and word and knowledge and all diligence and the love from you in us, so also abound in this grace.

8 I speak not by command, but through the diligence of others also testing the genuineness of your love.

9 For you know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that because of you he became poor, being rich, so that by his poverty you may become rich.

10 And I give judgment in this, for this benefits you, who began beforehand from last year not only to do but also to will.

11 But now also complete the doing, so that just as the eagerness to will, so also the completing may be from what you have.

12 For if the eagerness is present, it is acceptable according to whatever someone has, not according to what he does not have.

13 For not so that others have relief and you affliction, but from equality, at the present time your abundance for their lack,

14 so that their abundance also may become for your lack, so that equality may come,

15 as it is written, “The one with much did not have excess, and the one with little did not have less.”

16 But thanks to God who gives the same diligence for you in Titus's heart,

17 because he received the urging, but being more diligent, of his own choice he went out to you.

18 And we sent together with him the brother whose praise in the gospel is through all the churches,

19 and not only this, but also appointed by the churches as our fellow traveler with this gift ministered by us, for the Lord's own glory and your eagerness,

20 avoiding this, that someone may blame us in this abundance ministered by us,

21 taking forethought for good things not only before the Lord but also before people.

22 And we sent with them our brother, whom we tested in many things often as diligent, but now much more diligent through much confidence toward you.

23 Whether concerning Titus, he is my partner and fellow worker toward you; whether our brothers, apostles of churches, Christ's glory.

24 Therefore demonstrate to them, and before the churches, the demonstration of your love and our boasting for you.

Chapter 9

1 For concerning the ministry to the saints, it is superfluous for me to write to you.

2 For I know your eagerness, which I boast of for you to Macedonians, that Achaia has been prepared from last year, and the zeal from you stirred up the majority.

3 But I sent the brothers, so that our boast for you may not be emptied in this respect, so that, as I said, you may be prepared,

4 lest, if Macedonians come with me and find you unprepared, we—to avoid saying you—may be shamed in this confidence of boasting.

5 Therefore I considered it necessary to urge the brothers to come beforehand to you and prepare beforehand your blessing announced beforehand, for this to be ready thus as a blessing and not as greed.

6 But this: the one sowing sparingly will also reap sparingly, and the one sowing upon blessings will also reap upon blessings.

7 Each just as he chooses in his heart, not from grief or necessity; for God loves a cheerful giver.

8 And God is able to make all grace abound toward you, so that in everything, always having all sufficiency, you may abound unto every good work,

9 as it is written, “He scattered, he gave to the poor; his righteousness remains forever.”

10 And may the one supplying seed to the sower and bread for eating supply and multiply your seed and increase the produce of your righteousness,

11 being enriched in everything unto all simplicity, which works thanksgiving to God through us.

12 Because the ministry of this service not only fills up the lacks of the saints, but also abounds through many thanksgivings to God,

13 through the proof of this ministry glorifying God for the submission of your confession to Christ's gospel and simplicity of fellowship toward them and toward all,

14 and in their petition for you, longing for you because of God's surpassing grace upon you.

15 But thanks to God for his indescribable gift.

Chapter 10

1 And I myself, Paul, urge you through Christ's gentleness and fairness, who face to face am lowly among you, but absent am confident toward you.

2 But I petition that when present I may not be confident with the confidence with which I reckon to dare against some who reckon us as walking according to flesh.

3 For walking in flesh, we do not wage war according to flesh,

4 for the weapons of our warfare are not fleshly, but powerful with God for pulling down strongholds,

5 pulling down reasonings and every height raised against God's knowledge, and taking every thought captive to Christ's obedience,

6 and having readiness to avenge every disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 Look at the things before your face. If someone trusts himself to be Christ's, let him reckon this again from himself, that just as he is Christ's, so we too are Christ's.

8 For even if I boast something more abundantly concerning our authority, which the Lord gave us for building up and not for pulling you down, I will not be shamed,

9 so that I may not seem as though to frighten you through the letters.

10 Because, he says, “The letters are weighty and strong, but the presence of the body weak and the speech despised.”

11 Let such a one reckon this, that as we are in word through letters when absent, such also when present in deed.

12 For we do not dare to class or compare ourselves with some of those commending themselves; but they, measuring themselves among themselves and comparing themselves with themselves, do not understand.

13 But we will not boast beyond measure, but according to the measure of the rule which God apportioned to us, a measure to reach even as far as you.

14 For we do not overstretch ourselves as though not reaching you, for we reached even you in Christ's gospel,

15 not boasting beyond measure in others' labors, but having hope, as your faith grows, to be enlarged among you according to our rule unto abundance,

16 to proclaim the gospel to the regions beyond you, not to boast in another's rule in things ready.

17 But let the one boasting boast in the Lord.

18 For not the one commending himself is approved, but the one whom the Lord commends.

Chapter 11

1 I wish you would bear with me a little in foolishness; but indeed bear with me.

2 For I am jealous for you with God's jealousy, for I betrothed you to one husband, to present a pure virgin to Christ.

3 But I fear lest, as the serpent deceived Eve in his cunning, so your minds be corrupted from the simplicity toward Christ.

4 For if the one coming preaches another Jesus whom we did not preach, or you receive a different spirit which you did not receive, or a different gospel which you did not accept, you bore it well.

5 For I reckon to have lacked nothing of the exceedingly great apostles.

6 But even if untrained in speech, yet not in knowledge; but in everything we were manifested in all things toward you.

7 Or did I commit sin, humbling myself so that you may be exalted, because I proclaimed God's gospel to you freely?

8 I robbed other churches, receiving wages for ministry to you.

9 And present with you and lacking, I burdened no one, for the brothers coming from Macedonia filled up my lack; and in everything I kept myself unburdensome to you and will keep myself so.

10 Christ's truth is in me, that this boasting will not be sealed up for me in the regions of Achaia.

11 Why? Because I do not love you? God knows.

12 But what I do I will also do, so that I may cut off the opportunity of those wanting an opportunity, so that in what they boast they may be found just as we also.

13 For such people are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into Christ's apostles.

14 And no wonder, for Satan himself transforms himself into an angel of light.

15 Therefore no great thing if his ministers also transform themselves as ministers of righteousness, whose end will be according to their works.

16 Again I say, let no one think me foolish; but otherwise receive me even as foolish, so that I too may boast a little.

17 What I speak I speak not according to the Lord, but as in foolishness, in this confidence of boasting.

18 Since many boast according to flesh, I too will boast.

19 For gladly you bear with the foolish, being prudent.

20 For you bear it if someone enslaves you, if someone devours, if someone takes, if someone exalts himself, if someone beats you in the face.

21 I speak according to dishonor, as though we were weak; but in whatever someone dares—I speak in foolishness—I too dare.

22 Are they Hebrews? I too. Are they Israelites? I too. Are they Abraham's seed? I too.

23 Are they Christ's ministers? I speak as deranged: I more; in labors more abundantly, in blows exceedingly, in prisons more abundantly, in deaths often.

24 From Jews five times I received forty less one.

25 Three times I was beaten with rods, once stoned, three times shipwrecked; I have spent a night and day in the deep;

26 in journeys often, in dangers of rivers, dangers of robbers, dangers from kin, dangers from nations, dangers in city, dangers in wilderness, dangers in sea, dangers among false brothers;

27 in labor and toil, in sleeplessness often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness.

28 Apart from the things besides, my daily pressure, the concern of all the churches.

29 Who is weak, and I am not weak? Who is offended, and I do not burn?

30 If I must boast, I will boast of the things of my weakness.

31 The God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who is blessed forever, knows that I do not lie.

32 In Damascus the ethnarch of Aretas the king guarded the city of the Damascenes, wanting to seize me,

33 and through a window in a basket I was lowered through the wall, and escaped his hands.

Chapter 12

1 Indeed, boasting does not benefit me, for I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord.

2 I know a man in Christ fourteen years ago—whether in body I do not know, or outside the body I do not know, God knows—such a one caught up as far as the third heaven.

3 And I know such a man—whether in body or outside the body I do not know, God knows—

4 that he was caught up into paradise and heard unutterable words which it is not permitted for a man to speak.

5 For such a one I will boast, but for myself I will not boast except in my weaknesses.

6 For if I want to boast, I will not be foolish, for I will speak truth; but I refrain, lest someone reckon concerning me beyond what he sees me to be or hears anything from me.

7 And because of the excess of the revelations, so that I may not exalt myself beyond measure, a thorn in the flesh was given to me, a messenger of Satan, to strike me, so that I may not exalt myself beyond measure.

8 Concerning this I urged the Lord three times that it might depart from me.

9 And he has said to me, “My grace suffices for you, for my power is perfected in weakness.” Therefore most gladly I will rather boast in my weaknesses, so that Christ's power may dwell upon me.

10 Therefore I am pleased in weaknesses, in insults, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ; for when I am weak, then I am powerful.

11 I have become foolish in boasting; you compelled me. For I ought to have been commended by you, for I lacked nothing of the exceedingly great apostles, even if I am nothing.

12 Indeed the signs of the apostle were worked among you in all endurance, in signs and wonders and powers.

13 For what is there in which you were made inferior to the other churches, except that I myself did not burden you? Forgive me this injustice.

14 Look, a third time I am ready to come to you, and I will not burden you, for I seek not your things but you; for the children ought not to store up for the parents, but the parents for the children.

15 But most gladly I will spend and be spent completely for your souls, even if, loving you more abundantly, I am loved less.

16 But let it be: I did not burden you, but being cunning, I took you by deceit.

17 Did I exploit you through anyone whom I have sent to you?

18 I urged Titus and sent the brother with him. Did Titus exploit you? Did we not walk in the same spirit? In the same footsteps?

19 Again do you think that we defend ourselves to you? Before God we speak in Christ; but all things, beloved, are for your building up.

20 For I fear lest, coming, I find you not such as I want, and I be found by you such as you do not want; lest there be strifes, jealousies, furies, selfish ambitions, backbitings, whisperings, puffings up, disorders;

21 lest when I come again my God humble me before you, and I mourn many of those who sinned beforehand and did not repent of the impurity and sexual immorality and licentiousness which they practiced.

Chapter 13

1 This third time I come to you. Upon the mouth of two witnesses and three every word will stand.

2 I have said beforehand and say beforehand, as present the second time, and absent now I write to those who sinned beforehand and all the rest, that if I come again I will not spare,

3 since you seek proof of Christ speaking in me, who is not weak toward you but powerful among you.

4 For even if he was crucified from weakness, yet he lives from God's power; for we too are weak in him, but will live with him from God's power toward you.

5 Test yourselves whether you are in the faith; examine yourselves. Or do you not recognize yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you, unless perhaps you are disapproved?

6 But I hope that you will know that we are not disapproved.

7 And I pray to God that you do no evil, not so that we may appear approved, but so that you may do the good and we be as disapproved.

8 For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For we rejoice when we are weak and you are powerful; and this we also pray, your restoration.

10 For this reason I write these things absent, so that present I may not act severely according to the authority which the Lord gave me for building up and not for pulling down.

11 Finally, brothers, rejoice, be restored, be encouraged, think the same, be at peace, and the God of love and peace will be with you.

12 Greet one another with a holy kiss. All the saints greet you.

13 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and God's love and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit be with you all. Amen.

Galatians

Chapter 1

1 Paul, an apostle not from people nor through a man, but through Jesus Christ and God the Father who raised him from the dead,

2 and all the brothers with me, to the churches of Galatia:

3 grace to you and peace from God the Father and our Lord Jesus Christ,

4 who gave himself for our sins, so that he may rescue us from the present evil age, according to the will of our God and Father,

5 to whom the glory unto the ages of the ages. Amen.

6 I marvel that you so quickly transfer from the one who called you in Christ's grace to a different gospel,

7 which is not another, except that there are some who trouble you and want to overturn Christ's gospel.

8 But even if we or an angel from heaven proclaims a gospel to you contrary to what we proclaimed to you, let him be accursed.

9 As we have said beforehand, now I also say again: if someone proclaims a gospel to you contrary to what you received, let him be accursed.

10 For now do I persuade people or God? Or do I seek to please people? For if I still pleased people, I would not be Christ's slave.

11 But I make known to you, brothers, that the gospel proclaimed by me is not according to man.

12 For neither did I receive it from a man nor was I taught it, but through revelation of Jesus Christ.

13 For you heard my former conduct in Judaism, that exceedingly I persecuted God's church and ravaged it,

14 and advanced in Judaism beyond many contemporaries in my race, being more abundantly zealous for my ancestral traditions.

15 But when God, who set me apart from my mother's womb and called me through his grace, was pleased

16 to reveal his Son in me, so that I may proclaim him among the nations, immediately I did not consult flesh and blood,

17 nor did I go up to Jerusalem to the apostles before me, but went away to Arabia and again returned to Damascus.

18 Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to visit Peter, and remained with him fifteen days.

19 But I saw no other of the apostles except James the Lord's brother.

20 And what I write to you, look, before God, I do not lie.

21 Then I came to the regions of Syria and Cilicia.

22 But I was unknown by face to the churches of Judea in Christ,

23 and they were only hearing that “The one formerly persecuting us now proclaims the faith which he formerly ravaged,”

24 and they glorified God in me.

Chapter 2

1 Then after fourteen years I again went up to Jerusalem with Barnabas, also taking Titus along.

2 And I went up according to revelation, and set before them the gospel which I preach among the nations, but privately to those of repute, lest I run or ran in vain.

3 But not even Titus with me, being Greek, was compelled to be circumcised,

4 but because of the false brothers brought in, who slipped in to spy upon our freedom which we have in Christ Jesus, so that they may enslave us,

5 to whom we did not yield in submission even for an hour, so that the truth of the gospel may remain with you.

6 But from those reputed to be something—whatever they once were makes no difference to me; God does not accept a man's face—for those of repute added nothing to me,

7 but on the contrary, seeing that I have been entrusted with the gospel of uncircumcision, just as Peter of circumcision,

8 for the one who worked in Peter for apostleship of circumcision also worked in me for the nations,

9 and knowing the grace given to me, James and Cephas and John, reputed to be pillars, gave right hands of fellowship to me and Barnabas, so that we should go to the nations, but they to circumcision,

10 only that we remember the poor, which very thing I was also diligent to do.

11 But when Peter came to Antioch, I opposed him to his face, because he stood condemned.

12 For before some came from James, he ate together with the nations; but when they came, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing those of circumcision.

13 And the remaining Jews also joined in hypocrisy with him, so that even Barnabas was carried away with their hypocrisy.

14 But when I saw that they did not walk straight toward the truth of the gospel, I said to Peter before all, “If you, being a Jew, live as the nations and not as Jews, why do you compel the nations to live as Jews?

15 We, Jews by nature and not sinners from nations,

16 knowing that a man is not justified from works of law except through faith of Jesus Christ, we too believed in Christ Jesus, so that we may be justified from faith of Christ and not from works of law, because from works of law no flesh will be justified.

17 But if, seeking to be justified in Christ, we ourselves also were found sinners, is Christ then a minister of sin? May it never be!

18 For if I build again the things I tore down, I demonstrate myself a transgressor.

19 For through law I died to law, so that I may live to God.

20 I have been crucified with Christ; and no longer I live, but Christ lives in me; and what I now live in flesh, I live in faith of the Son of God, who loved me and handed himself over for me.

21 I do not reject God's grace; for if righteousness is through law, then Christ died without cause.”

Chapter 3

1 O senseless Galatians, who bewitched you not to obey the truth, before whose eyes Jesus Christ was depicted among you crucified?

2 I want to learn this only from you: did you receive the Spirit from works of law or from hearing of faith?

3 Are you so senseless? Having begun by spirit, are you now completed by flesh?

4 Did you suffer so many things in vain, if indeed even in vain?

5 Therefore the one supplying the Spirit to you and working powers among you, is it from works of law or from hearing of faith?

6 Just as Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him as righteousness.

7 Know, then, that those from faith, these are Abraham's sons.

8 And the Scripture, foreseeing that God justifies the nations from faith, proclaimed the gospel beforehand to Abraham, that “All the nations will be blessed in you.”

9 So those from faith are blessed with faithful Abraham.

10 For as many as are from works of law are under a curse; for it is written, “Cursed is everyone who does not remain in all things written in the book of the law, to do them.”

11 And that no one is justified in law before God is clear, because “The righteous one will live from faith.”

12 And the law is not from faith, but “The man who does them will live in them.”

13 Christ bought us out from the curse of the law, becoming a curse for us, for it is written, “Cursed is everyone hanging upon wood,”

14 so that Abraham's blessing may come to the nations in Christ Jesus, so that we may receive the promise of the Spirit through faith.

15 Brothers, I speak according to man: even a man's ratified covenant no one rejects or adds provisions to.

16 And the promises were spoken to Abraham and to his seed. He does not say, “And to seeds,” as concerning many, but as concerning one, “And to your seed,” who is Christ.

17 But I say this: a covenant ratified beforehand by God unto Christ, the law which came four hundred and thirty years later does not invalidate, so as to nullify the promise.

18 For if the inheritance is from law, it is no longer from promise; but God has freely given it to Abraham through promise.

19 What, then, the law? It was added because of transgressions, until the seed should come to whom it has been promised, ordained through angels in a mediator's hand.

20 And the mediator is not of one, but God is one.

21 Is the law, then, against God's promises? May it never be! For if a law was given which could give life, righteousness would indeed have been from law.

22 But the Scripture shut up all things under sin, so that the promise from faith of Jesus Christ may be given to those who believe.

23 But before faith came, we were guarded under law, shut up unto the faith about to be revealed.

24 So the law has become our tutor unto Christ, so that we may be justified from faith.

25 But faith having come, we are no longer under a tutor.

26 For you are all God's sons through faith in Christ Jesus.

27 For as many as were baptized into Christ put on Christ.

28 There is no Jew nor Greek, there is no slave nor free, there is no male and female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus.

29 But if you are Christ's, then you are Abraham's seed and heirs according to promise.

Chapter 4

1 And I say, for as long as the heir is an infant, he differs nothing from a slave, being lord of all,

2 but is under guardians and stewards until the father's appointed time.

3 Thus we too, when we were infants, were enslaved under the world's elements.

4 But when the fullness of time came, God sent out his Son, born from a woman, born under law,

5 so that he may buy out those under law, so that we may receive adoption as sons.

6 And because you are sons, God sent out the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, “Abba, Father.”

7 So you are no longer a slave but a son; and if a son, also God's heir through Christ.

8 But then, not knowing God, you served as slaves to those not being gods by nature.

9 But now, knowing God, or rather being known by God, how do you turn again to the weak and poor elements, to which you want to serve as slaves again anew?

10 You observe days and months and seasons and years.

11 I fear for you, lest I have labored toward you in vain.

12 Become as I, because I too as you, brothers, I petition you. You wronged me in nothing.

13 And you know that because of weakness of the flesh I proclaimed the gospel to you formerly,

14 and my trial in my flesh you did not despise nor spit out, but received me as God's angel, as Christ Jesus.

15 What, then, was your blessedness? For I testify to you that, if possible, having dug out your eyes, you would have given them to me.

16 So have I become your enemy by speaking truth to you?

17 They are zealous for you, not well, but want to exclude you, so that you may be zealous for them.

18 But it is good to be sought zealously in a good thing always, and not only when I am present with you.

19 My little children, for whom I again suffer birth pains until Christ is formed in you,

20 and I wanted to be present with you now and change my voice, because I am perplexed about you.

21 Tell me, you who want to be under law, do you not hear the law?

22 For it is written that Abraham had two sons, one from the slave woman and one from the free woman.

23 But the one from the slave woman has been born according to flesh, and the one from the free woman through the promise.

24 These are being allegorized, for these are the two covenants, one from Mount Sinai, bearing children unto slavery, which is Hagar.

25 For Hagar is Mount Sinai in Arabia, and corresponds to the present Jerusalem, and serves as a slave with her children.

26 But the Jerusalem above is free, which is mother of us all.

27 For it is written, “Rejoice, barren one who does not bear; break forth and cry, you who do not suffer birth pains; because more are the children of the desolate than of the one having the husband.”

28 But we, brothers, according to Isaac, are children of promise.

29 But just as then the one born according to flesh persecuted the one according to spirit, so also now.

30 But what does the Scripture say? “Cast out the slave woman and her son, for the slave woman's son will certainly not inherit with the free woman's son.”

31 Therefore, brothers, we are not children of a slave woman but of the free woman.

Chapter 5

1 Therefore stand in the freedom with which Christ freed us, and do not be held again in a yoke of slavery.

2 Look, I, Paul, say to you that if you are circumcised, Christ will benefit you nothing.

3 And I testify again to every man being circumcised that he is a debtor to do the whole law.

4 You were severed from Christ, you who are justified in law; you fell away from grace.

5 For we by spirit from faith await hope of righteousness.

6 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision has any strength nor uncircumcision, but faith working through love.

7 You ran well; who hindered you from obeying the truth?

8 The persuasion is not from the one calling you.

9 A little leaven leavens the whole lump.

10 I trust concerning you in the Lord that you will think nothing else; but the one troubling you will carry the judgment, whoever he may be.

11 And I, brothers, if I still preach circumcision, why am I still persecuted? Then the offense of the cross has been nullified.

12 I wish those unsettling you would even cut themselves off.

13 For you were called upon freedom, brothers; only do not make freedom an opportunity for the flesh, but through love serve one another as slaves.

14 For the whole law is fulfilled in one word, in “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.”

15 But if you bite and devour one another, watch lest you be consumed by one another.

16 And I say, walk by spirit, and you will certainly not fulfill desire of flesh.

17 For the flesh desires against the spirit, and the spirit against the flesh; and these oppose one another, so that whatever you want, these things you may not do.

18 But if you are led by spirit, you are not under law.

19 And the works of the flesh are manifest, which are adultery, sexual immorality, impurity, licentiousness,

20 idolatry, sorcery, enmities, strifes, jealousies, furies, selfish ambitions, divisions, factions,

21 envies, murders, drunkenness, revelries, and things like these, which I tell you beforehand, just as I also said beforehand, that those practicing such things will not inherit God's kingdom.

22 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faith,

23 gentleness, self-control; against such things there is no law.

24 And those of Christ crucified the flesh with the passions and desires.

25 If we live by spirit, let us also walk in line by spirit.

26 Let us not become conceited, provoking one another, envying one another.

Chapter 6

1 Brothers, even if a man is overtaken in some trespass, you who are spiritual restore such a one in a spirit of gentleness, watching yourself lest you too be tempted.

2 Carry one another's burdens, and thus fulfill Christ's law.

3 For if someone thinks to be something, being nothing, he deceives his own mind.

4 But let each examine his own work, and then he will have the boast toward himself only and not toward the other.

5 For each will carry his own load.

6 And let the one instructed in the word share in all good things with the one instructing.

7 Do not be deceived; God is not mocked, for whatever a man sows, this he will also reap.

8 Because the one sowing unto his own flesh will reap corruption from the flesh, but the one sowing unto the Spirit will reap eternal life from the Spirit.

9 And doing the good, let us not lose heart, for in its own time we will reap, not giving up.

10 So then, as we have time, let us work the good toward all, and especially toward the household of faith.

11 See with how large letters I wrote to you with my own hand.

12 As many as want to make a good showing in flesh, these compel you to be circumcised, only so that they may not be persecuted for Christ's cross.

13 For neither do those being circumcised themselves keep law, but want you to be circumcised so that they may boast in your flesh.

14 But may it never be for me to boast except in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, through whom a world has been crucified to me and I to a world.

15 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision has any strength nor uncircumcision, but a new creation.

16 And as many as will walk in line by this rule, peace upon them and mercy, and upon God's Israel.

17 Henceforth let no one cause me troubles, for I carry the marks of the Lord Jesus in my body.

18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, brothers. Amen.

Ephesians

Chapter 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ through God's will, to the saints who are in Ephesus and faithful in Christ Jesus:

2 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 Blessed is the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who blessed us with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places in Christ,

4 just as he chose us in him before the foundation of a world, for us to be holy and blameless before him in love,

5 having predestined us unto adoption as sons through Jesus Christ unto himself, according to the good pleasure of his will,

6 unto praise of the glory of his grace, in which he graced us in the beloved one,

7 in whom we have redemption through his blood, forgiveness of trespasses, according to the riches of his grace,

8 which he made abound toward us in all wisdom and understanding,

9 having made known to us the mystery of his will, according to his good pleasure which he purposed in him,

10 for a stewardship of the fullness of the times, to sum up all things in Christ, both the things in the heavens and those upon earth,

11 in him, in whom we also received an allotted inheritance, predestined according to the purpose of the one working all things according to the counsel of his will,

12 for us to be unto praise of his glory, who have hoped beforehand in Christ,

13 in whom you too, having heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation, in whom also having believed, were sealed with the Holy Spirit of promise,

14 who is a pledge of our inheritance, unto redemption of the possession, unto praise of his glory.

15 For this reason I too, having heard your faith in the Lord Jesus and the love toward all the saints,

16 do not cease giving thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 so that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give you a spirit of wisdom and revelation in knowledge of him,

18 the eyes of your understanding having been illuminated, so that you may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance among the saints,

19 and what the surpassing greatness of his power toward us who believe, according to the working of the might of his strength,

20 which he worked in Christ, raising him from the dead, and seated him at his right hand in the heavenly places,

21 far above every rule and authority and power and lordship and every name named, not only in this age but also in the coming one,

22 and subjected all things under his feet, and gave him as head over all things to the church,

23 which is his body, the fullness of the one filling all things in all.

Chapter 2

1 And you, being dead in trespasses and sins,

2 in which you once walked according to the age of this world, according to the ruler of the authority of the air, of the spirit now working in the sons of disobedience,

3 among whom we all also once conducted ourselves in the desires of our flesh, doing the wills of the flesh and the thoughts, and were by nature children of wrath, as also the rest;

4 but God, being rich in mercy, because of his great love with which he loved us,

5 even when we were dead in trespasses, made us alive together with Christ—by grace you have been saved—

6 and raised us together and seated us together in the heavenly places in Christ Jesus,

7 so that in the coming ages he may demonstrate the surpassing riches of his grace in kindness toward us in Christ Jesus.

8 For by grace you have been saved through faith, and this not from you, God's gift,

9 not from works, so that no one may boast.

10 For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works which God prepared beforehand, so that we may walk in them.

11 Therefore remember that you once were the nations in flesh, called uncircumcision by the so-called circumcision in flesh made by hands,

12 that at that time you were apart from Christ, alienated from Israel's citizenship and strangers to the covenants of promise, having no hope and godless in the world.

13 But now in Christ Jesus you who once were far became near in Christ's blood.

14 For he himself is our peace, who made both one and broke down the middle wall of the barrier,

15 the enmity in his flesh, nullifying the law of commandments in decrees, so that he may create the two in himself into one new man, making peace,

16 and reconcile both in one body to God through the cross, killing the enmity in it.

17 And coming, he proclaimed peace to you who were far and to those near,

18 because through him we both have access in one Spirit to the Father.

19 So then you are no longer strangers and resident aliens, but fellow citizens of the saints and God's household,

20 built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the cornerstone,

21 in whom the whole building, fitted together, grows into a holy temple in the Lord,

22 in whom you too are built together into God's dwelling in spirit.

Chapter 3

1 For this reason I, Paul, the prisoner of Christ Jesus for you, the nations—

2 if indeed you heard the stewardship of God's grace given to me for you,

3 that according to revelation he made the mystery known to me, just as I wrote beforehand briefly,

4 by which, reading, you can understand my comprehension in Christ's mystery,

5 which in other generations was not made known to the sons of people as it has now been revealed to his holy apostles and prophets in spirit,

6 that the nations are fellow heirs and of the same body and fellow sharers of his promise in Christ through the gospel,

7 of which I became a minister according to the gift of God's grace given to me according to the working of his power.

8 To me, less than the least of all saints, this grace was given, to proclaim among the nations the untraceable riches of Christ,

9 and illuminate all as to what is the fellowship of the mystery hidden from the ages in God who created all things through Jesus Christ,

10 so that now God's manifold wisdom may be made known to the rulers and authorities in the heavenly places through the church,

11 according to the purpose of the ages which he made in Christ Jesus our Lord,

12 in whom we have boldness and access in confidence through his faith.

13 Therefore I ask not to lose heart in my afflictions for you, which are your glory.

14 For this reason I bend my knees to the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,

15 from whom every family in heavens and upon earth is named,

16 so that he may give you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with power through his Spirit unto the inner man,

17 for Christ to dwell through faith in your hearts,

18 rooted and founded in love, so that you may have strength to grasp with all the saints what is the breadth and length and depth and height,

19 and to know Christ's love surpassing knowledge, so that you may be filled unto all God's fullness.

20 And to the one able to do above all things, exceedingly beyond what we ask or think, according to the power working in us,

21 to him the glory in the church in Christ Jesus unto all generations of the age of the ages. Amen.

Chapter 4

1 Therefore I, the prisoner in the Lord, urge you to walk worthily of the calling with which you were called,

2 with all humility and gentleness, with patience, bearing with one another in love,

3 being diligent to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

4 One body and one Spirit, just as you were also called in one hope of your calling;

5 one Lord, one faith, one baptism;

6 one God and Father of all, who is over all and through all and in you all.

7 But to each one of us grace was given according to the measure of Christ's gift.

8 Therefore he says, “Ascending into height, he took captivity captive, and gave gifts to people.”

9 And “He ascended,” what is it except that he also first descended into the lower parts of the earth?

10 The one descending is himself also the one ascending far above all the heavens, so that he may fill all things.

11 And he himself gave some as apostles, some as prophets, some as evangelists, some as shepherds and teachers,

12 for the fitting of the saints, unto work of ministry, unto building up Christ's body,

13 until we all attain the unity of faith and knowledge of God's Son, unto a mature man, unto a measure of stature of Christ's fullness,

14 so that we may no longer be infants, tossed by waves and carried around by every wind of teaching, in people's trickery, in cunning toward the scheming of error,

15 but speaking truth in love, may grow in all things unto him who is the head, Christ,

16 from whom the whole body, fitted together and joined together through every joint of supply, according to working in the measure of each single part, makes the growth of the body unto building itself up in love.

17 Therefore I say this and testify in the Lord, that you no longer walk as also the remaining nations walk in the futility of their mind,

18 being darkened in understanding, alienated from God's life because of the ignorance within them, because of the hardness of their heart,

19 who, having become insensible, handed themselves over to licentiousness for the working of every impurity in greed.

20 But you did not thus learn Christ,

21 if indeed you heard him and were taught in him, just as truth is in Jesus,

22 for you to put off, according to the former conduct, the old man being corrupted according to the desires of deceit,

23 and to be renewed in the spirit of your mind,

24 and put on the new man created according to God in righteousness and holiness of truth.

25 Therefore, having put off the lie, speak truth, each with his neighbor, because we are members of one another.

26 Be angry and do not sin; do not let the sun set upon your provocation,

27 nor give place to the devil.

28 Let the one stealing no longer steal, but rather labor, working the good with the hands, so that he may have to share with the one having need.

29 Let no rotten word go out from your mouth, but if there is a good one for building up the need, so that it may give grace to those hearing.

30 And do not grieve God's Holy Spirit, in whom you were sealed unto a day of redemption.

31 Let all bitterness and fury and wrath and shouting and slander be taken away from you with all malice.

32 And become kind toward one another, compassionate, forgiving one another, just as God also in Christ forgave you.

Chapter 5

1 Therefore become imitators of God as beloved children,

2 and walk in love, just as Christ also loved us and handed himself over for us, an offering and sacrifice to God unto an odor of fragrance.

3 But sexual immorality and every impurity or greed, let it not even be named among you, as is fitting for saints,

4 and shamefulness and foolish speech or coarse jesting, things not fitting, but rather thanksgiving.

5 For you know this, that every sexually immoral or unclean or greedy one, who is an idolater, has no inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and God.

6 Let no one deceive you with empty words, for because of these things God's wrath comes upon the sons of disobedience.

7 Therefore do not become fellow sharers with them.

8 For you once were darkness, but now light in the Lord; walk as children of light,

9 for the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth,

10 examining what is pleasing to the Lord,

11 and do not share together in the fruitless works of darkness, but rather also expose them.

12 For the things done secretly by them are shameful even to speak of.

13 But all things exposed are manifested by the light, for everything manifested is light.

14 Therefore he says, “Awake, sleeper, and rise from the dead, and Christ will shine upon you.”

15 Therefore watch how carefully you walk, not as unwise but as wise,

16 buying out the time, because the days are evil.

17 For this reason do not become foolish, but understanding what the Lord's will is.

18 And do not become drunk with wine, in which is dissipation, but be filled in spirit,

19 speaking to one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord,

20 always giving thanks for all things in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ to God and Father,

21 submitting to one another in God's fear.

22 Wives, submit to your own husbands as to the Lord,

23 because the husband is head of the wife, as also Christ head of the church, and he himself is savior of the body.

24 But just as the church submits to Christ, so also the wives to their own husbands in everything.

25 Husbands, love your own wives, just as Christ also loved the church and handed himself over for her,

26 so that he may sanctify her, cleansing her with the washing of water in a word,

27 so that he may present her to himself as the glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or anything of such things, but so that she may be holy and blameless.

28 Thus husbands ought to love their own wives as their own bodies. The one loving his own wife loves himself.

29 For no one ever hated his own flesh, but nourishes and cherishes it, just as the Lord also the church,

30 because we are members of his body, from his flesh and from his bones.

31 For this reason a man will leave his father and mother and join himself to his wife, and the two will be one flesh.

32 This mystery is great, but I speak unto Christ and unto the church.

33 Nevertheless, you too individually, let each thus love his own wife as himself, and the wife fear the husband.

Chapter 6

1 Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is righteous.

2 “Honor your father and mother,” which is the first commandment with a promise,

3 “so that it may be well with you and you may be long-lived upon the earth.”

4 And fathers, do not provoke your children to anger, but nourish them in the Lord's discipline and admonition.

5 Slaves, obey the lords according to flesh with fear and trembling, in simplicity of your heart, as Christ,

6 not according to eye-service as people-pleasers, but as Christ's slaves, doing God's will from the soul,

7 serving as slaves with goodwill to the Lord and not to people,

8 knowing that whatever good each does, this he will receive from the Lord, whether slave or free.

9 And lords, do the same toward them, giving up the threat, knowing that your own Lord also is in heavens, and there is no partiality with him.

10 Finally, my brothers, be empowered in the Lord and in the might of his strength.

11 Put on God's full armor, so that you may be able to stand against the devil's schemes,

12 because our wrestling is not against blood and flesh, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the world-rulers of the darkness of this age, against the spiritual things of wickedness in the heavenly places.

13 For this reason take up God's full armor, so that you may be able to withstand on the evil day, and having worked everything, to stand.

14 Therefore stand, having girded your waist in truth and put on the breastplate of righteousness,

15 and shod your feet in readiness of the gospel of peace,

16 above all taking up the shield of faith, in which you will be able to quench all the burning arrows of the evil one,

17 and receive the helmet of salvation and the Spirit's sword, which is God's word,

18 through every prayer and petition, praying at every time in spirit, and keeping watch unto this very thing in all perseverance and petition concerning all the saints,

19 and for me, so that a word may be given me in opening my mouth, in boldness to make known the mystery of the gospel,

20 for which I act as ambassador in a chain, so that in it I may speak boldly as I ought to speak.

21 And so that you too may know the things concerning me, what I practice, Tychicus the beloved brother and faithful minister in the Lord will make all things known to you,

22 whom I sent to you for this very thing, so that you may know the things concerning us and he may encourage your hearts.

23 Peace to the brothers and love with faith from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

24 Grace be with all who love our Lord Jesus Christ in incorruptibility. Amen.

Philippians

Chapter 1

1 Paul and Timothy, slaves of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus in Philippi, with overseers and ministers:

2 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 I thank my God at every remembrance of you,

4 always in every petition of mine for you all, making the petition with joy,

5 for your fellowship unto the gospel from the first day until now,

6 trusting this very thing, that the one who began a good work in you will complete it until Jesus Christ's day.

7 Just as it is righteous for me to think this for you all, because I have you in my heart, both in my bonds and in the defense and confirmation of the gospel, you all being my fellow sharers of grace.

8 For God is my witness, how I long for you all in Jesus Christ's inward affections.

9 And this I pray, that your love may abound still more and more in knowledge and all perception,

10 for you to discern the things that differ, so that you may be sincere and without offense unto Christ's day,

11 filled with fruits of righteousness through Jesus Christ, unto God's glory and praise.

12 But I want you to know, brothers, that the things concerning me have rather come unto the gospel's advancement,

13 so that my bonds became manifest in Christ in the whole praetorium and to all the rest,

14 and most of the brothers in the Lord, trusting through my bonds, dare more abundantly to speak the word fearlessly.

15 Some indeed preach Christ even because of envy and strife, but some also because of goodwill.

16 These proclaim Christ from selfish ambition, not purely, thinking to bring affliction upon my bonds,

17 but those from love, knowing that I am set for defense of the gospel.

18 For what? Except that in every way, whether in pretense or truth, Christ is proclaimed, and in this I rejoice; but I will also rejoice.

19 For I know that this will turn out for me unto salvation through your petition and supply of Jesus Christ's Spirit,

20 according to my eager expectation and hope, that in nothing I will be shamed, but in all boldness, as always, now also Christ will be magnified in my body, whether through life or through death.

21 For to me, to live is Christ and to die gain.

22 But if to live in flesh, this is fruit of work for me, and what I will choose I do not make known.

23 For I am constrained by the two, having the desire to depart and be with Christ, much more better, 24 but to remain in the flesh is more necessary because of you.

25 And trusting this, I know that I will remain and stay with you all for your advancement and joy of faith,

26 so that your boast may abound in Christ Jesus in me through my presence again with you.

27 Only conduct yourselves as citizens worthily of Christ's gospel, so that whether coming and seeing you or absent, I may hear the things concerning you, that you stand in one spirit, with one soul striving together for the faith of the gospel,

28 and frightened in nothing by the opponents, which is to them a demonstration of destruction, but to you of salvation, and this from God,

29 because to you was freely given, for Christ, not only to believe in him but also to suffer for him,

30 having the same struggle as you saw in me and now hear in me.

Chapter 2

1 Therefore, if any encouragement in Christ, if any consolation of love, if any fellowship of spirit, if any inward affections and compassions,

2 fulfill my joy, that you think the same, having the same love, united in soul, thinking the one thing,

3 nothing according to selfish ambition or conceit, but in humility considering one another above yourselves,

4 each looking not to your own things but each also to others' things.

5 For let this be thought among you which was also in Christ Jesus,

6 who, being in God's form, did not consider being equal to God a seizure,

7 but emptied himself, taking a slave's form, becoming in people's likeness,

8 and being found in appearance as a man, humbled himself, becoming obedient until death, and death of a cross.

9 Therefore God also exalted him beyond measure and freely gave him a name above every name,

10 so that in Jesus's name every knee may bend, of heavenly and earthly and subterranean beings,

11 and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, unto God the Father's glory.

12 So, my beloved, just as you always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling.

13 For God is the one working in you both the willing and the working for the good pleasure.

14 Do everything without grumblings and reasonings,

15 so that you may become blameless and unmixed, God's children without blemish in the midst of a crooked and distorted generation, among whom you appear as luminaries in a world,

16 holding forth a word of life, for a boast to me unto Christ's day, that I did not run in vain nor labor in vain.

17 But even if I am poured out upon the sacrifice and service of your faith, I rejoice and rejoice together with you all.

18 And the same, you too rejoice and rejoice together with me.

19 And I hope in the Lord Jesus to send Timothy quickly to you, so that I too may be heartened, knowing the things concerning you.

20 For I have no one of equal soul who will genuinely care for the things concerning you,

21 for all seek their own things, not those of Christ Jesus.

22 But you know his proven character, that as a child with a father he served as a slave with me unto the gospel.

23 Therefore I hope to send this one immediately, whenever I see the things concerning me,

24 and I trust in the Lord that I myself also will come quickly.

25 But I considered it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus, my brother and fellow worker and fellow soldier, but your apostle and servant of my need,

26 since he was longing for you all and distressed because you heard that he was sick.

27 For indeed he was sick near death; but God had mercy on him, and not him only but also me, so that I might not have grief upon grief.

28 Therefore I sent him more diligently, so that seeing him you may rejoice again and I be less grieved.

29 Therefore receive him in the Lord with all joy, and hold such people in honor,

30 because for Christ's work he drew near until death, risking his life so that he may fill up your lack of service toward me.

Chapter 3

1 Finally, my brothers, rejoice in the Lord. To write the same things to you is not tedious for me, but safe for you.

2 Watch the dogs, watch the evil workers, watch the mutilation.

3 For we are the circumcision, who serve God in spirit and boast in Christ Jesus and do not trust in flesh,

4 though I also have confidence in flesh. If someone else thinks to trust in flesh, I more:

5 circumcision on the eighth day, from Israel's race, of Benjamin's tribe, a Hebrew from Hebrews, according to law a Pharisee,

6 according to zeal persecuting the church, according to righteousness in law having become blameless.

7 But whatever things were gains to me, these I have considered loss because of Christ.

8 But indeed I also consider everything to be loss because of the surpassing knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord, because of whom I suffered loss of all things, and consider them refuse so that I may gain Christ,

9 and be found in him, not having my own righteousness from law, but that through faith of Christ, the righteousness from God upon faith,

10 to know him and the power of his resurrection and fellowship of his sufferings, being conformed to his death,

11 if somehow I may attain the resurrection from the dead.

12 Not that I already received or have already been perfected, but I pursue, if I may also grasp that for which I was also grasped by Christ Jesus.

13 Brothers, I do not reckon myself to have grasped it; but one thing, forgetting the things behind and stretching toward those before,

14 I pursue according to the goal for the prize of God's upward calling in Christ Jesus.

15 Therefore, as many as are mature, let us think this; and if you think anything differently, God will also reveal this to you.

16 Nevertheless, unto what we attained, walk in line by the same rule, think the same thing.

17 Become fellow imitators of me, brothers, and watch those walking thus, just as you have us as a pattern.

18 For many walk, of whom I often told you, but now also weeping say, the enemies of Christ's cross, 19 whose end is destruction, whose god the belly and glory in their shame, who mind earthly things.

20 For our citizenship is in heavens, from which we also await a savior, the Lord Jesus Christ,

21 who will transform the body of our humiliation, for it to become conformed to the body of his glory, according to the working of his ability also to subject all things to himself.

Chapter 4

1 So, my beloved and longed-for brothers, my joy and crown, stand thus in the Lord, beloved.

2 I urge Euodia and urge Syntyche to think the same in the Lord.

3 And I ask you also, genuine yokefellow, help them, who strove together with me in the gospel, also with Clement and my remaining fellow workers, whose names are in a book of life.

4 Rejoice in the Lord always; again I will say, rejoice.

5 Let your fairness be known to all people. The Lord is near.

6 Be anxious about nothing, but in everything by prayer and petition with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God.

7 And God's peace, surpassing every mind, will guard your hearts and thoughts in Christ Jesus.

8 Finally, brothers, whatever things are true, whatever dignified, whatever righteous, whatever pure, whatever lovable, whatever well spoken of, if any virtue and if any praise, reckon these things.

9 What you also learned and received and heard and saw in me, practice these things, and the God of peace will be with you.

10 And I rejoiced greatly in the Lord, that now at last you revived your thinking for me, about which you also were thinking, but lacked opportunity.

11 Not that I speak according to lack, for I learned to be sufficient in the things in which I am.

12 And I know to be humbled, and know to abound; in everything and in all things I have been initiated both to be filled and to hunger, both to abound and to lack.

13 I have strength for all things in Christ who empowers me.

14 Nevertheless you did well, sharing together in my affliction.

15 And you too know, Philippians, that at the beginning of the gospel, when I went out from Macedonia, no church shared with me in an account of giving and receiving except you alone,

16 because even in Thessalonica you sent both once and twice for my need.

17 Not that I seek the gift, but I seek the fruit increasing unto your account.

18 But I have received everything and abound; I have been filled, receiving from Epaphroditus the things from you, an odor of fragrance, an acceptable sacrifice, pleasing to God.

19 And my God will fill every need of yours according to his riches in glory in Christ Jesus.

20 And to our God and Father the glory unto the ages of the ages. Amen.

21 Greet every saint in Christ Jesus. The brothers with me greet you.

22 All the saints greet you, and especially those of Caesar's household.

23 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

Colossians

Chapter 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ through God's will, and Timothy the brother,

2 to the saints and faithful brothers in Christ in Colossae: grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 We thank the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, always praying concerning you,

4 having heard your faith in Christ Jesus and the love toward all the saints,

5 because of the hope laid away for you in the heavens, which you heard beforehand in the word of the truth of the gospel,

6 which is present with you, just as also in all the world, and is bearing fruit, just as also among you from the day you heard and fully knew God's grace in truth,

7 just as you also learned from Epaphras our beloved fellow slave, who is a faithful minister of Christ for you,

8 who also made clear to us your love in spirit.

9 For this reason we too, from the day we heard, do not cease praying for you and asking that you may be filled with knowledge of his will in all spiritual wisdom and understanding,

10 for you to walk worthily of the Lord unto all pleasing, bearing fruit in every good work and growing unto knowledge of God,

11 empowered with all power according to the might of his glory, unto all endurance and patience with joy,

12 giving thanks to the Father who made us fit for the portion of the inheritance of the saints in the light,

13 who rescued us from the authority of darkness and transferred us into the kingdom of the Son of his love,

14 in whom we have redemption through his blood, forgiveness of sins,

15 who is an image of the invisible God, firstborn of all creation,

16 because in him all things were created, those in the heavens and those upon earth, visible and invisible, whether thrones or lordships or rulers or authorities; all things have been created through him and unto him,

17 and he is before all things, and all things have held together in him,

18 and he is the head of the body, the church, who is beginning, firstborn from the dead, so that he may become first in all things,

19 because in him all the fullness was pleased to dwell,

20 and through him to reconcile all things unto him, making peace through the blood of his cross, through him, whether the things upon earth or those in the heavens.

21 And you, once being alienated and enemies in thought in evil works, but now he reconciled,

22 in the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and blameless and unaccused before him,

23 if indeed you remain in faith, founded and firm, and not moved away from the hope of the gospel which you heard, proclaimed in all creation under heaven, of which I, Paul, became a minister.

24 Now I rejoice in my sufferings for you, and fill up in turn the lacks of Christ's afflictions in my flesh for his body, which is the church,

25 of which I became a minister according to God's stewardship given to me for you, to fulfill God's word,

26 the mystery hidden from the ages and from the generations, but now manifested to his saints,

27 to whom God wanted to make known what are the riches of the glory of this mystery among the nations, which is Christ in you, the hope of glory,

28 whom we proclaim, admonishing every man and teaching every man in all wisdom, so that we may present every man mature in Christ Jesus,

29 for which I also labor, struggling according to his working which works in me in power.

Chapter 2

1 For I want you to know how great a struggle I have concerning you and those in Laodicea and as many as have not seen my face in flesh,

2 so that their hearts may be encouraged, being joined together in love and unto all riches of the full assurance of understanding, unto knowledge of the mystery of God and Father and of Christ,

3 in whom all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge are hidden.

4 And I say this so that no one may deceive you with persuasive speech.

5 For even if I am absent in flesh, yet in spirit I am with you, rejoicing and seeing your order and the firmness of your faith toward Christ.

6 Therefore, as you received Christ Jesus the Lord, walk in him,

7 rooted and built upon in him and confirmed in the faith, just as you were taught, abounding in it in thanksgiving.

8 Watch lest there be someone carrying you off as spoil through philosophy and empty deceit, according to people's tradition, according to the world's elements and not according to Christ,

9 because in him all the fullness of deity dwells bodily,

10 and you have been filled in him, who is the head of every rule and authority,

11 in whom you were also circumcised with a circumcision not made by hands, in the stripping off of the body of the sins of the flesh, in Christ's circumcision,

12 buried together with him in baptism, in which you were also raised together through faith of the working of God who raised him from the dead.

13 And you, being dead in trespasses and the uncircumcision of your flesh, he made alive together with him, forgiving us all the trespasses,

14 wiping out the handwritten document against us in decrees, which was opposed to us, and he has taken it out of the midst, nailing it to the cross,

15 stripping off the rulers and authorities, he displayed them in boldness, triumphing over them in it.

16 Therefore let no one judge you in eating or drinking or in respect of a feast or new moon or sabbaths,

17 which are a shadow of the coming things, but the body is Christ's.

18 Let no one disqualify you, wanting in humility and worship of angels, entering into things he has not seen, vainly puffed up by the mind of his flesh,

19 and not holding the head, from whom the whole body, supplied and joined together through joints and bonds, grows with God's growth.

20 Therefore, if you died with Christ from the world's elements, why, as living in a world, are you subjected to decrees,

21 “Do not handle, nor taste, nor touch,”

22 which are all unto corruption through use, according to people's commandments and teachings?

23 These indeed have an appearance of wisdom in self-chosen worship and humility and unsparing treatment of body, not in any honor toward satisfaction of the flesh.

Chapter 3

1 Therefore, if you were raised together with Christ, seek the things above, where Christ is, seated at God's right hand.

2 Mind the things above, not those upon earth,

3 for you died, and your life has been hidden with Christ in God.

4 When Christ, our life, is manifested, then you too will be manifested with him in glory.

5 Therefore put to death your members upon earth: sexual immorality, impurity, passion, evil desire, and greed, which is idolatry,

6 because of which God's wrath comes upon the sons of disobedience,

7 in which you too once walked, when you lived in them.

8 But now you too put off everything: wrath, fury, malice, slander, shameful speech from your mouth.

9 Do not lie to one another, having stripped off the old man with his practices,

10 and put on the new, renewed unto knowledge according to the image of the one who created him,

11 where there is no Greek and Jew, circumcision and uncircumcision, barbarian, Scythian, slave, free, but Christ all things and in all.

12 Therefore put on, as God's chosen ones, holy and beloved, inward affections of compassion, kindness, humility, gentleness, patience,

13 bearing with one another and forgiving one another, if someone has a complaint against someone; just as Christ also forgave you, so you too.

14 And above all these, love, which is the bond of perfection.

15 And let God's peace arbitrate in your hearts, unto which you were also called in one body, and become thankful.

16 Let Christ's word dwell in you richly, in all wisdom teaching and admonishing one another, in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, in grace singing in your heart to the Lord.

17 And everything, whatever you do in word or deed, all in the Lord Jesus's name, giving thanks to God and Father through him.

18 Wives, submit to your own husbands, as was fitting in the Lord.

19 Husbands, love the wives and do not be embittered toward them.

20 Children, obey the parents in everything, for this is pleasing to the Lord.

21 Fathers, do not provoke your children, so that they may not lose heart.

22 Slaves, obey in everything the lords according to flesh, not in eye-services as people-pleasers, but in simplicity of heart, fearing God.

23 And everything, whatever you do, work from the soul, as to the Lord and not to people,

24 knowing that from the Lord you will receive the recompense of the inheritance, for you serve as slaves to the Lord Christ.

25 But the one wronging will receive what he wronged, and there is no partiality.

Chapter 4

1 Lords, provide the righteous thing and equality to the slaves, knowing that you too have a Lord in heavens.

2 Persevere in prayer, keeping watch in it in thanksgiving,

3 praying together also concerning us, so that God may open to us a door of the word, to speak Christ's mystery, because of which I have also been bound,

4 so that I may manifest it as I ought to speak.

5 Walk in wisdom toward those outside, buying out the time.

6 Let your word always be in grace, seasoned with salt, to know how you ought to answer each one.

7 Tychicus, the beloved brother and faithful minister and fellow slave in the Lord, will make known to you all the things concerning me,

8 whom I sent to you for this very thing, so that he may know the things concerning you and encourage your hearts,

9 with Onesimus the faithful and beloved brother, who is from you. They will make known to you all the things here.

10 Aristarchus my fellow captive greets you, and Mark, Barnabas's cousin, concerning whom you received commands: if he comes to you, receive him,

11 and Jesus called Justus, who are of circumcision. These alone are fellow workers unto God's kingdom, who became consolation to me.

12 Epaphras, who is from you, Christ's slave, greets you, always struggling for you in prayers, so that you may stand mature and filled in every will of God.

13 For I testify to him that he has much zeal for you and those in Laodicea and those in Hierapolis.

14 Luke the beloved physician greets you, and Demas.

15 Greet the brothers in Laodicea, and Nymphas and the church in his house.

16 And when the letter is read among you, make it also be read in the church of the Laodiceans, and you too read the one from Laodicea.

17 And say to Archippus, “Watch the ministry which you received in the Lord, so that you may fulfill it.”

18 The greeting by my own hand, Paul's. Remember my bonds. Grace be with you. Amen.

1 Thessalonians

Chapter 1

1 Paul and Silvanus and Timothy, to the church of Thessalonians in God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ: grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

2 We thank God always concerning you all, making mention of you in our prayers,

3 unceasingly remembering your work of faith and labor of love and endurance of hope of our Lord Jesus Christ, before our God and Father,

4 knowing, brothers beloved by God, your choice,

5 because our gospel came to you not in word only, but also in power and in the Holy Spirit and in much full assurance, just as you know what sort we became among you because of you.

6 And you became imitators of us and of the Lord, receiving the word in much affliction with joy of the Holy Spirit,

7 so that you became patterns to all those believing in Macedonia and Achaia.

8 For from you the Lord's word has sounded out, not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place your faith toward God has gone out, so that we have no need to speak anything.

9 For they themselves report concerning us what sort of entrance we have to you, and how you turned to God from the idols to serve as slaves to a living and true God,

10 and await his Son from the heavens, whom he raised from the dead, Jesus who rescues us from the coming wrath.

Chapter 2

1 For you yourselves know, brothers, our entrance to you, that it has not become empty,

2 but even having suffered beforehand and been insulted, as you know, in Philippi, we were bold in our God to speak God's gospel to you in much struggle.

3 For our exhortation is not from error nor from impurity nor in deceit,

4 but just as we have been approved by God to be entrusted with the gospel, so we speak, not as pleasing people but God who examines our hearts.

5 For neither did we ever come in a word of flattery, as you know, nor in a pretext of greed, God is witness,

6 nor seeking glory from people, neither from you nor from others, being able to be a burden as Christ's apostles.

7 But we became gentle in your midst, as a nurse cherishes her own children.

8 Thus yearning for you, we were pleased to share with you not only God's gospel but also our own souls, because you have become beloved to us.

9 For you remember, brothers, our labor and toil, for working night and day so as not to burden any of you, we preached God's gospel to you.

10 You are witnesses, and God, how holily and righteously and blamelessly we became toward you who believe,

11 just as you know how, as a father his own children, we encouraged each one of you and consoled you,

12 and testified, for you to walk worthily of God who calls you into his own kingdom and glory.

13 For this reason we too thank God unceasingly, because receiving a word of hearing from us, of God, you accepted not a word of people but, just as it truly is, God's word, which also works in you who believe.

14 For you became imitators, brothers, of God's churches in Judea in Christ Jesus, because you too suffered the same things from your own countrymen as they also from the Jews,

15 who both killed the Lord Jesus and their own prophets and drove you out, and do not please God and are opposed to all people,

16 preventing us from speaking to the nations so that they may be saved, to fill up their sins always; but wrath came upon them unto the end.

17 But we, brothers, orphaned from you for an hour's time, in face, not heart, were more abundantly diligent to see your face in much desire.

18 Therefore we wanted to come to you, I, Paul, both once and twice, and Satan hindered us.

19 For what is our hope or joy or crown of boasting? Or is it not also you before our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming?

20 For you are our glory and joy.

Chapter 3

1 Therefore, no longer bearing it, we were pleased to be left in Athens alone,

2 and sent Timothy, our brother and God's minister and our fellow worker in Christ's gospel, to strengthen you and encourage you concerning your faith,

3 so that no one be shaken in these afflictions, for you yourselves know that we are appointed to this.

4 For also when we were with you, we told you beforehand that we were about to be afflicted, just as it also happened and you know.

5 For this reason I too, no longer bearing it, sent to know your faith, lest the tempter tempted you and our labor become empty.

6 But now Timothy having come to us from you and brought us good news of your faith and love, and that you have good remembrance of us always, longing to see us just as we also you,

7 for this reason we were encouraged, brothers, over you in all our affliction and necessity through your faith,

8 because now we live, if you stand in the Lord.

9 For what thanksgiving can we repay to God concerning you for all the joy with which we rejoice because of you before our God,

10 night and day petitioning exceedingly to see your face and fit the lacks of your faith?

11 And may our God and Father himself and our Lord Jesus Christ direct our way to you.

12 And may the Lord make you increase and abound in love toward one another and toward all, just as we also toward you,

13 to strengthen your hearts blameless in holiness before our God and Father at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints.

Chapter 4

1 Finally, therefore, brothers, we ask you and urge you in the Lord Jesus, just as you received from us how you ought to walk and please God, that you abound more.

2 For you know what commands we gave you through the Lord Jesus.

3 For this is God's will, your sanctification, for you to abstain from sexual immorality,

4 for each of you to know how to acquire his own vessel in sanctification and honor,

5 not in passion of desire, just as also the nations who do not know God,

6 not to overstep and exploit his brother in the matter, because the Lord is an avenger concerning all these things, just as we also told you beforehand and solemnly testified.

7 For God did not call us upon impurity but in sanctification.

8 Therefore the one rejecting rejects not a man but God, who also gave his Holy Spirit unto us.

9 And concerning brotherly love, you have no need for writing to you, for you yourselves are taught by God to love one another,

10 for also you do it toward all the brothers in all Macedonia; but we urge you, brothers, to abound more,

11 and aspire to be quiet and practice your own affairs and work with your own hands, just as we commanded you,

12 so that you may walk decently toward those outside and have need of no one.

13 But I do not want you to be ignorant, brothers, concerning those who have fallen asleep, so that you may not grieve as also the rest who have no hope.

14 For if we believe that Jesus died and rose, so also God will bring those who fell asleep through Jesus with him.

15 For this we say to you in a word of the Lord, that we the living, remaining unto the Lord's coming, will certainly not precede those who fell asleep,

16 because the Lord himself, with a command, with an archangel's voice and with God's trumpet, will descend from heaven, and the dead in Christ will rise first,

17 then we the living, remaining, will be caught up together with them in clouds unto a meeting with the Lord into air, and thus we will always be with the Lord.

18 So encourage one another in these words.

Chapter 5

1 And concerning the times and seasons, brothers, you have no need for writing to you,

2 for you yourselves know precisely that the Lord's day comes thus as a thief in night.

3 For when they say, “Peace and security,” then sudden destruction stands upon them, just as the birth pain upon the pregnant woman, and they will certainly not escape.

4 But you, brothers, are not in darkness, so that the day may overtake you as a thief.

5 You all are sons of light and sons of day; we are not of night nor of darkness.

6 So then let us not sleep as also the rest, but keep watch and be sober.

7 For those sleeping sleep at night, and those becoming drunk are drunk at night.

8 But we, being of day, let us be sober, putting on a breastplate of faith and love and as a helmet hope of salvation,

9 because God did not appoint us unto wrath but unto acquisition of salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ,

10 who died for us, so that whether we keep watch or sleep, we may live together with him.

11 Therefore encourage one another and build up each other, just as you also do.

12 And we ask you, brothers, to know those laboring among you and leading you in the Lord and admonishing you,

13 and consider them exceedingly in love because of their work. Be at peace among yourselves.

14 And we urge you, brothers, admonish the disorderly, console the fainthearted, hold to the weak, be patient toward all.

15 See that no one repays anyone evil for evil, but always pursue the good both toward one another and toward all.

16 Always rejoice.

17 Pray unceasingly.

18 In everything give thanks, for this is God's will in Christ Jesus toward you.

19 Do not quench the Spirit.

20 Do not despise prophecies.

21 Examine everything; hold the good.

22 Abstain from every evil form.

23 And may the God of peace himself sanctify you completely, and may your spirit and soul and body be kept whole, blamelessly at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

24 The one calling you is faithful, who will also do it.

25 Brothers, pray concerning us.

26 Greet all the brothers with a holy kiss.

27 I adjure you by the Lord for the letter to be read to all the holy brothers.

28 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

2 Thessalonians

Chapter 1

1 Paul and Silvanus and Timothy, to the church of Thessalonians in God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ:

2 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 We ought to thank God always concerning you, brothers, just as is worthy, because your faith grows exceedingly and the love of each one of you all toward one another increases,

4 so that we ourselves boast in you in God's churches for your endurance and faith in all your persecutions and afflictions which you bear,

5 a demonstration of God's righteous judgment, for you to be counted worthy of God's kingdom, for which you also suffer,

6 if indeed it is righteous with God to repay affliction to those afflicting you,

7 and to you afflicted relief with us, at the revelation of the Lord Jesus from heaven with angels of his power,

8 in fire of flame giving vengeance to those not knowing God and those not obeying the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ,

9 who will pay a penalty, eternal destruction away from the Lord's face and from the glory of his strength,

10 when he comes to be glorified in his saints and marveled at among all those believing, because our testimony to you was believed, on that day.

11 For which we also pray always concerning you, so that our God may count you worthy of the calling and fulfill every good pleasure of goodness and work of faith in power,

12 so that the name of our Lord Jesus Christ may be glorified in you, and you in him, according to the grace of our God and Lord Jesus Christ.

Chapter 2

1 And we ask you, brothers, concerning the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and our gathering together to him,

2 that you not quickly be shaken from the mind nor alarmed, neither through spirit nor through word nor through a letter as through us, as though Christ's day has come.

3 Let no one deceive you in any way, because unless the apostasy comes first and the man of sin is revealed, the son of destruction,

4 who opposes and exalts himself above everything called God or an object of reverence, so that he sits in God's temple as God, displaying himself that he is God.

5 Do you not remember that while still with you I told you these things?

6 And now you know what restrains, for him to be revealed in his own time.

7 For the mystery of lawlessness already works, only the one restraining now, until he comes out of the midst.

8 And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord will consume with the breath of his mouth and nullify by the manifestation of his coming,

9 whose coming is according to Satan's working, in all power and signs and wonders of falsehood,

10 and in every deceit of unrighteousness among those perishing, because they did not accept the love of the truth for them to be saved.

11 And for this reason God will send them a working of error, for them to believe the lie, 12 so that all may be judged who did not believe the truth but were pleased in unrighteousness.

13 But we ought to thank God always concerning you, brothers beloved by the Lord, because God chose you from the beginning unto salvation in sanctification of spirit and faith of truth,

14 unto which he called you through our gospel, unto acquisition of the glory of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 So then, brothers, stand and hold the traditions which you were taught, whether through word or through our letter.

16 And may our Lord Jesus Christ himself and our God and Father, who loved us and gave eternal encouragement and good hope in grace, 17 encourage your hearts and strengthen you in every good word and work.

Chapter 3

1 Finally, pray, brothers, concerning us, so that the Lord's word may run and be glorified, just as also among you,

2 and so that we may be rescued from the unreasonable and evil people, for faith is not of all.

3 But the Lord is faithful, who will strengthen you and guard you from the evil one.

4 And we trust in the Lord concerning you that what we command you, you both do and will do.

5 And may the Lord direct your hearts unto God's love and unto Christ's endurance.

6 And we command you, brothers, in our Lord Jesus Christ's name, to withdraw from every brother walking disorderly and not according to the tradition which he received from us.

7 For you yourselves know how you ought to imitate us, because we were not disorderly among you,

8 nor ate bread freely from anyone, but in labor and toil working night and day, so as not to burden any of you,

9 not that we have no authority, but so that we may give ourselves to you as a pattern, to imitate us.

10 For also when we were with you, we commanded you this, that if someone does not want to work, neither let him eat.

11 For we hear that some walk disorderly among you, working nothing but meddling.

12 And to such people we command and urge through our Lord Jesus Christ, that working with quietness they eat their own bread.

13 But you, brothers, do not lose heart doing good.

14 And if someone does not obey our word through the letter, mark this one and do not mix together with him, so that he may be shamed.

15 And do not consider him as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother.

16 And may the Lord of peace himself give you peace continually in every way. The Lord be with you all.

17 The greeting by my own hand, Paul's, which is a sign in every letter; thus I write.

18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

1 Timothy

Chapter 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ according to the command of God our Savior and the Lord Jesus Christ our hope,

2 to Timothy, genuine child in faith: grace, mercy, peace from God our Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 Just as I urged you to remain in Ephesus when traveling to Macedonia, so that you may command some not to teach differently,

4 nor attend to myths and endless genealogies, which provide inquiries rather than God's stewardship in faith.

5 But the end of the command is love from a pure heart and good conscience and unhypocritical faith,

6 from which some, missing the mark, turned aside to futile speech,

7 wanting to be teachers of law, understanding neither what they say nor concerning what they affirm.

8 But we know that the law is good, if someone uses it lawfully,

9 knowing this, that law is not laid down for a righteous one, but for lawless and unsubmissive ones, ungodly and sinners, unholy and profane, father-strikers and mother-strikers, man-killers,

10 sexually immoral people, men who bed males, enslavers of people, liars, perjurers, and if anything else opposes the healthy teaching,

11 according to the gospel of the glory of the blessed God, with which I was entrusted.

12 And I have thanks to Christ Jesus our Lord who empowered me, because he considered me faithful, appointing me to ministry,

13 formerly being a blasphemer and persecutor and insolent one; but I received mercy because, not knowing, I did it in unbelief.

14 And our Lord's grace increased exceedingly with faith and love in Christ Jesus.

15 The word is faithful and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am first.

16 But for this reason I received mercy, so that in me first Jesus Christ may demonstrate all patience, for a pattern of those about to believe upon him unto eternal life.

17 And to the King of the ages, incorruptible, invisible, only wise God, honor and glory unto the ages of the ages. Amen.

18 This command I entrust to you, child Timothy, according to the prophecies going before concerning you, so that in them you may wage the good warfare,

19 having faith and a good conscience, which some, rejecting, were shipwrecked concerning faith,

20 of whom are Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I handed over to Satan so that they may be disciplined not to blaspheme.

Chapter 2

1 Therefore I urge first of all that petitions, prayers, intercessions, thanksgivings be made for all people,

2 for kings and all those in high position, so that we may lead a tranquil and quiet life in all piety and dignity.

3 For this is good and acceptable before God our Savior,

4 who wants all people to be saved and come unto knowledge of truth.

5 For one God, also one mediator of God and people, a man, Christ Jesus,

6 who gave himself as a corresponding ransom for all, the testimony in its own times,

7 for which I was appointed a herald and apostle—I speak truth in Christ, do not lie—a teacher of nations in faith and truth.

8 Therefore I want the men to pray in every place, lifting holy hands without wrath and reasoning,

9 likewise also the women to adorn themselves in orderly attire with modesty and sound-mindedness, not in braids or gold or pearls or costly clothing,

10 but what is fitting for women professing reverence for God, through good works.

11 Let a woman learn in quietness in all submission.

12 But I do not permit a woman to teach nor to exercise authority over a man, but to be in quietness.

13 For Adam was formed first, then Eve,

14 and Adam was not deceived, but the woman, deceived, has come into transgression.

15 But she will be saved through childbearing, if they remain in faith and love and sanctification with sound-mindedness.

Chapter 3

1 The word is faithful: if someone aspires to oversight, he desires a good work.

2 Therefore the overseer must be irreproachable, husband of one wife, sober, sound-minded, orderly, hospitable, able to teach,

3 not given to wine, not a striker, not greedy for shameful gain, but fair, not quarrelsome, not loving silver,

4 leading his own household well, having children in submission with all dignity,

5 but if someone does not know to lead his own household, how will he care for God's church?

6 Not newly planted, so that being puffed up he may not fall into the devil's judgment.

7 And he must also have a good testimony from those outside, so that he may not fall into reproach and the devil's snare.

8 Ministers likewise dignified, not double-speaking, not attending to much wine, not greedy for shameful gain,

9 having the mystery of faith in a pure conscience.

10 And let these too be examined first, then minister, being unaccused.

11 Women likewise dignified, not slanderers, sober, faithful in everything.

12 Let ministers be husbands of one wife, leading children and their own households well.

13 For those who ministered well acquire for themselves a good standing and much boldness in faith in Christ Jesus.

14 I write these things to you, hoping to come to you sooner,

15 but if I delay, so that you may know how one ought to conduct oneself in God's household, which is the church of the living God, a pillar and support of the truth.

16 And confessedly great is the mystery of piety: God was manifested in flesh, justified in spirit, seen by angels, preached among nations, believed in a world, taken up in glory.

Chapter 4

1 And the Spirit expressly says that in later times some will depart from the faith, attending to deceiving spirits and teachings of demons,

2 in hypocrisy of lie-speakers seared in their own conscience,

3 forbidding to marry, to abstain from foods which God created for partaking with thanksgiving by the faithful and those who fully know the truth.

4 Because every creation of God is good, and nothing to be rejected when received with thanksgiving,

5 for it is sanctified through God's word and intercession.

6 Setting these things before the brothers, you will be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished in the words of faith and the good teaching which you have followed.

7 But refuse profane and old-womanish myths, and train yourself toward piety.

8 For bodily training is beneficial for a little, but piety is beneficial for everything, having promise of the present life and the coming one.

9 The word is faithful and worthy of all acceptance.

10 For unto this we also labor and are reproached, because we have hoped upon the living God, who is Savior of all people, especially believers.

11 Command these things and teach.

12 Let no one despise your youth, but become a pattern of the believers in word, in conduct, in love, in spirit, in faith, in purity.

13 Until I come, attend to reading, to exhortation, to teaching.

14 Do not neglect the gracious gift within you, which was given to you through prophecy with the laying on of the hands of the eldership.

15 Practice these things, be in these things, so that your advancement may be manifest among all.

16 Attend to yourself and the teaching; remain in them, for doing this you will save both yourself and those hearing you.

Chapter 5

1 Do not rebuke an older man harshly, but urge him as a father, younger men as brothers,

2 older women as mothers, younger women as sisters, in all purity.

3 Honor widows who are truly widows.

4 But if some widow has children or descendants, let them learn first to show piety toward their own household and repay recompenses to the ancestors, for this is good and acceptable before God.

5 But the one truly a widow and left alone has hoped upon God and remains in petitions and prayers night and day,

6 but the one living luxuriously has died while living.

7 And command these things, so that they may be irreproachable.

8 But if someone does not take forethought for his own, and especially the household, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever.

9 Let a widow be enrolled who has become not less than sixty years old, wife of one husband,

10 attested in good works, if she raised children, if she received strangers, if she washed saints' feet, if she aided the afflicted, if she followed every good work.

11 But refuse younger widows, for when they grow wanton against Christ, they want to marry, 12 having judgment because they rejected the first faith.

13 And at the same time they also learn to be idle, going around the houses, and not only idle but also gossips and meddlers, speaking things they ought not.

14 Therefore I want younger women to marry, bear children, rule the household, give no opportunity to the opponent for reviling,

15 for already some turned aside after Satan.

16 If some believing man or believing woman has widows, let them aid them, and let the church not be burdened, so that it may aid those truly widows.

17 Let the elders who have led well be counted worthy of double honor, especially those laboring in word and teaching.

18 For the Scripture says, “You shall not muzzle a threshing ox,” and “The worker is worthy of his wage.”

19 Do not accept an accusation against an elder except upon two or three witnesses.

20 Expose those sinning before all, so that the rest too may have fear.

21 I solemnly testify before God and the Lord Jesus Christ and the chosen angels, that you keep these things without prejudgment, doing nothing according to partiality.

22 Lay hands quickly upon no one, nor share in others' sins; keep yourself pure.

23 No longer drink water only, but use a little wine because of your stomach and your frequent weaknesses.

24 Some people's sins are evident beforehand, going before unto judgment, but for some they also follow after.

25 Likewise also the good works are evident beforehand, and those otherwise cannot be hidden.

Chapter 6

1 As many as are slaves under a yoke, let them consider their own masters worthy of all honor, so that God's name and the teaching may not be blasphemed.

2 And those having believing masters, let them not despise them because they are brothers, but rather serve as slaves, because those receiving the benefit are faithful and beloved. Teach these things and exhort.

3 If someone teaches differently and does not approach healthy words, those of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the teaching according to piety,

4 he has been puffed up, knowing nothing, but diseased concerning inquiries and word-fights, from which come envy, strife, slanders, evil suspicions,

5 constant frictions of people corrupted in mind and deprived of the truth, considering piety to be gain. Depart from such people.

6 But piety with sufficiency is great gain.

7 For we brought nothing into the world; it is clear that neither can we carry anything out.

8 But having nourishment and coverings, with these we will be content.

9 But those wanting to be rich fall into temptation and a snare and many senseless and harmful desires, which plunge people into ruin and destruction.

10 For the love of silver is a root of all evils, which some, aspiring to, wandered from the faith and pierced themselves through with many pains.

11 But you, O man of God, flee these things, and pursue righteousness, piety, faith, love, endurance, gentleness.

12 Struggle the good struggle of faith; grasp eternal life, unto which you were also called and confessed the good confession before many witnesses.

13 I command you before God who gives life to all things and Christ Jesus who testified the good confession before Pontius Pilate,

14 that you keep the commandment spotless, irreproachable, until the manifestation of our Lord Jesus Christ,

15 which in its own times the blessed and only Sovereign will show, the King of those reigning and Lord of those ruling,

16 who alone has immortality, dwelling in unapproachable light, whom none of people saw nor can see, to whom honor and eternal might. Amen.

17 Command the rich in the present age not to be high-minded nor to hope upon uncertainty of riches, but in the living God who provides us everything richly for enjoyment,

18 to work good, to be rich in good works, to be ready to share, generous,

19 storing up for themselves a good foundation for the future, so that they may grasp eternal life.

20 O Timothy, guard the deposit, turning aside from profane empty sounds and oppositions of falsely named knowledge, 21 which some professing missed the mark concerning faith. Grace be with you. Amen.

2 Timothy

Chapter 1

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ through God's will, according to promise of life in Christ Jesus,

2 to Timothy, beloved child: grace, mercy, peace from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

3 I have thanks to God, whom I serve from ancestors in a pure conscience, as I have unceasing remembrance concerning you in my petitions night and day,

4 longing to see you, remembering your tears, so that I may be filled with joy,

5 receiving remembrance of the unhypocritical faith in you, which dwelt first in your grandmother Lois and your mother Eunice, and I am convinced also in you.

6 For which reason I remind you to rekindle God's gracious gift, which is in you through the laying on of my hands.

7 For God did not give us a spirit of cowardice, but of power and love and sound-minded discipline.

8 Therefore do not be ashamed of our Lord's testimony nor of me his prisoner, but suffer hardship together for the gospel according to God's power,

9 who saved us and called us with a holy calling, not according to our works but according to his own purpose and grace given to us in Christ Jesus before eternal times,

10 but manifested now through the manifestation of our Savior Jesus Christ, who nullified death and illuminated life and incorruptibility through the gospel,

11 for which I was appointed a herald and apostle and teacher of nations.

12 For which reason I also suffer these things, but I am not ashamed, for I know whom I have believed, and am convinced that he is able to guard my deposit unto that day.

13 Have a pattern of healthy words which you heard from me, in faith and love in Christ Jesus.

14 Guard the good deposit through the Holy Spirit dwelling in us.

15 You know this, that all those in Asia turned away from me, of whom are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16 May the Lord give mercy to Onesiphorus's household, because he often refreshed me and was not ashamed of my chain,

17 but being in Rome, sought me more diligently and found me.

18 May the Lord give him to find mercy from the Lord on that day; and how much he ministered in Ephesus, you know better.

Chapter 2

1 Therefore you, my child, be empowered in the grace in Christ Jesus,

2 and what you heard from me through many witnesses, entrust these things to faithful people who will be fit also to teach others.

3 Therefore you suffer hardship as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.

4 No one serving as a soldier entangles himself in life's affairs, so that he may please the one who enlisted him.

5 And if someone also competes, he is not crowned unless he competes lawfully.

6 The laboring farmer must first partake of the fruits.

7 Understand what I say, for may the Lord give you understanding in everything.

8 Remember Jesus Christ, raised from the dead, from David's seed, according to my gospel,

9 in which I suffer hardship until bonds as a criminal, but God's word has not been bound.

10 For this reason I endure everything because of the chosen ones, so that they too may obtain salvation in Christ Jesus with eternal glory.

11 The word is faithful: for if we died together, we will also live together;

12 if we endure, we will also reign together; if we deny, he too will deny us;

13 if we are unfaithful, he remains faithful; he cannot deny himself.

14 Remind them of these things, solemnly testifying before the Lord not to fight over words, useful for nothing, unto overthrow of those hearing.

15 Be diligent to present yourself approved to God, a worker without shame, cutting straight the word of truth.

16 But avoid profane empty sounds, for they will advance unto more ungodliness,

17 and their word will have spread as gangrene, of whom are Hymenaeus and Philetus,

18 who missed the mark concerning truth, saying that the resurrection has already happened, and overturn some people's faith.

19 Nevertheless God's firm foundation stands, having this seal: “The Lord knew those who are his,” and “Let everyone naming Christ's name depart from unrighteousness.”

20 And in a great house there are not only gold and silver vessels, but also wooden and earthen, and some for honor, some for dishonor.

21 Therefore if someone cleanses himself from these, he will be a vessel for honor, sanctified and useful to the master, prepared for every good work.

22 And flee youthful desires, but pursue righteousness, faith, love, peace with those calling upon the Lord from a pure heart.

23 But refuse foolish and uninstructed inquiries, knowing that they bear fights.

24 And the Lord's slave must not fight, but be gentle toward all, able to teach, patient under evil,

25 in gentleness disciplining those opposing, lest perhaps God give them repentance unto knowledge of truth,

26 and they become sober again out of the devil's snare, having been captured alive by him unto his will.

Chapter 3

1 And know this, that in last days difficult times will come.

2 For people will be self-lovers, silver-lovers, boastful, arrogant, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy,

3 without natural affection, implacable, slanderers, without self-control, untamed, not loving good,

4 traitors, reckless, puffed up, pleasure-lovers rather than God-lovers,

5 having a form of piety but having denied its power; and turn away from these.

6 For from these are those entering the houses and taking captive the little women heaped with sins, led by various desires,

7 always learning and never able to come unto knowledge of truth.

8 And in the way Jannes and Jambres opposed Moses, so these too oppose the truth, people corrupted in mind, disapproved concerning faith.

9 But they will not advance further, for their senselessness will be evident to all, as that of those also became.

10 But you have followed my teaching, conduct, purpose, faith, patience, love, endurance,

11 persecutions, sufferings, such as happened to me in Antioch, in Iconium, in Lystra, what sort of persecutions I endured; and from all the Lord rescued me.

12 And also all those wanting to live piously in Christ Jesus will be persecuted.

13 But evil people and impostors will advance toward the worse, deceiving and being deceived.

14 But you remain in what you learned and were assured of, knowing from whom you learned,

15 and that from infancy you know the sacred letters, able to make you wise unto salvation through faith in Christ Jesus.

16 Every writing is God-breathed and beneficial for teaching, for conviction, for correction, for discipline in righteousness,

17 so that God's man may be complete, equipped for every good work.

Chapter 4

1 Therefore I solemnly testify before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who is about to judge living and dead according to his manifestation and his kingdom:

2 preach the word, stand ready opportunely, inopportunely, convict, rebuke, exhort in all patience and teaching.

3 For a time will be when they will not bear the healthy teaching, but according to their own desires will heap up teachers for themselves, itching in hearing,

4 and will turn their hearing away from the truth, but turn aside to the myths.

5 But you be sober in everything, suffer hardship, do an evangelist's work, fulfill your ministry.

6 For I am already being poured out, and the time of my departure has come.

7 I have struggled the good struggle, completed the race, kept the faith.

8 Henceforth the crown of righteousness is laid away for me, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will repay me on that day, and not to me only but also to all who have loved his manifestation.

9 Be diligent to come to me quickly,

10 for Demas abandoned me, loving the present age, and traveled to Thessalonica, Crescens to Galatia, Titus to Dalmatia.

11 Luke alone is with me. Taking Mark, bring him with yourself, for he is useful to me for ministry.

12 And I sent Tychicus to Ephesus.

13 When coming, bring the cloak which I left in Troas with Carpus, and the books, especially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppersmith demonstrated many evil things to me; may the Lord repay him according to his works.

15 You too guard against him, for he greatly opposed our words.

16 At my first defense no one stood with me, but all abandoned me; may it not be reckoned to them.

17 But the Lord stood by me and empowered me, so that through me the proclamation may be fulfilled and all the nations hear; and I was rescued from a lion's mouth.

18 And the Lord will rescue me from every evil work and save me unto his heavenly kingdom, to whom the glory unto the ages of the ages. Amen.

19 Greet Prisca and Aquila and Onesiphorus's household.

20 Erastus remained in Corinth, but I left Trophimus in Miletus sick.

21 Be diligent to come before winter. Eubulus greets you, and Pudens and Linus and Claudia and all the brothers.

22 The Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Grace be with you. Amen.

Titus

Chapter 1

1 Paul, God's slave and an apostle of Jesus Christ, according to faith of God's chosen ones and knowledge of truth according to piety,

2 upon hope of eternal life, which God who does not lie promised before eternal times,

3 but manifested his word in its own times in proclamation, with which I was entrusted according to the command of God our Savior,

4 to Titus, genuine child according to common faith: grace, mercy, peace from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ our Savior.

5 For this reason I left you in Crete, so that you may set right the things lacking and appoint elders city by city, as I directed you,

6 if someone is unaccused, husband of one wife, having faithful children, not in accusation of dissipation or unsubmissive.

7 For the overseer must be unaccused as God's steward, not self-willed, not prone to anger, not given to wine, not a striker, not greedy for shameful gain,

8 but hospitable, loving good, sound-minded, righteous, holy, self-controlled,

9 holding to the faithful word according to the teaching, so that he may be able both to exhort in the healthy teaching and convict those contradicting.

10 For there are also many unsubmissive people, futile speakers and mind-deceivers, especially those of circumcision,

11 whose mouths must be stopped, who overturn whole households, teaching what they ought not, for shameful gain.

12 Someone from them, their own prophet, said, “Cretans always liars, evil beasts, idle bellies.”

13 This testimony is true; for which reason convict them severely, so that they may be healthy in faith,

14 not attending to Jewish myths and commandments of people turning away from the truth.

15 All things indeed are clean to the clean, but to the defiled and unbelieving nothing is clean, but both their mind and conscience have been defiled.

16 They confess to know God, but deny him in works, being abominable and disobedient and disapproved for every good work.

Chapter 2

1 But you speak what is fitting for the healthy teaching,

2 for older men to be sober, dignified, sound-minded, healthy in faith, in love, in endurance;

3 older women likewise reverent in demeanor, not slanderers, not enslaved to much wine, teachers of good,

4 so that they may train the young women to be husband-lovers, child-lovers,

5 sound-minded, pure, keepers at home, good, submitting to their own husbands, so that God's word may not be blasphemed.

6 Likewise urge the younger men to be sound-minded,

7 in everything providing yourself as a pattern of good works, in the teaching incorruption, dignity, incorruptibility,

8 a healthy word not condemnable, so that the one on the opposing side may be shamed, having nothing bad to say concerning you.

9 Slaves to submit to their own masters, to be pleasing in everything, not contradicting,

10 not pilfering, but demonstrating all good faithfulness, so that they may adorn the teaching of God your Savior in everything.

11 For God's grace appeared, saving for all people,

12 disciplining us, so that denying ungodliness and worldly desires, we may live sound-mindedly and righteously and piously in the present age,

13 awaiting the blessed hope and manifestation of the glory of our great God and Savior Jesus Christ,

14 who gave himself for us, so that he may redeem us from all lawlessness and cleanse for himself a special people, zealous for good works.

15 Speak these things and exhort and convict with all command. Let no one despise you.

Chapter 3

1 Remind them to submit to rulers and authorities, to obey, to be ready for every good work,

2 to slander no one, to be unquarrelsome, fair, demonstrating all gentleness toward all people.

3 For we too once were senseless, disobedient, deceived, serving as slaves to various desires and pleasures, living in malice and envy, hateful, hating one another.

4 But when the kindness and love for humanity of God our Savior appeared,

5 not from works in righteousness which we did, but according to his mercy he saved us, through washing of rebirth and renewal of the Holy Spirit,

6 whom he poured out upon us richly through Jesus Christ our Savior,

7 so that justified by his grace we may become heirs according to hope of eternal life.

8 The word is faithful, and concerning these things I want you to affirm, so that those who have believed God may care to lead in good works. These things are good and beneficial for people.

9 But avoid foolish inquiries and genealogies and strifes and legal fights, for they are unbeneficial and futile.

10 Refuse a heretical man after a first and second admonition,

11 knowing that such a one has been perverted and sins, being self-condemned.

12 When I send Artemas to you or Tychicus, be diligent to come to me in Nicopolis, for there I have decided to winter.

13 Send onward Zenas the lawyer and Apollos diligently, so that nothing may lack to them.

14 And let our people too learn to lead in good works for necessary needs, so that they may not be fruitless.

15 All those with me greet you. Greet those loving us in faith. Grace be with you all. Amen.

Philemon

Chapter 1

1 Paul, Christ Jesus's prisoner, and Timothy the brother, to Philemon our beloved and fellow worker,

2 and Apphia the beloved and Archippus our fellow soldier and the church in your house:

3 grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

4 I thank my God always, making mention of you in my prayers,

5 hearing your love and faith which you have toward the Lord Jesus and toward all the saints,

6 so that the fellowship of your faith may become effective in knowledge of every good thing in you unto Christ Jesus.

7 For we have much thanks and encouragement for your love, because the inward affections of the saints have been refreshed through you, brother.

8 Therefore, having much boldness in Christ to command you what is fitting,

9 because of love I rather urge, being such a one as Paul, an old man, and now also Jesus Christ's prisoner.

10 I urge you concerning my child whom I begot in my bonds, Onesimus,

11 formerly useless to you, but now useful to you and me,

12 whom I sent back; but you receive him, that is, my inward affections,

13 whom I wanted to keep with myself, so that for you he may minister to me in the bonds of the gospel.

14 But without your judgment I wanted to do nothing, so that your good may not be as according to necessity but according to willingness.

15 For perhaps for this reason he was separated for an hour, so that you may have him eternally,

16 no longer as a slave but beyond a slave, a beloved brother, especially to me, but how much more to you, both in flesh and in the Lord.

17 Therefore if you hold me as a partner, receive him as me.

18 But if he wronged you anything or owes, charge this to me.

19 I, Paul, wrote with my own hand, I will repay, so that I may not tell you that you also owe yourself to me besides.

20 Yes, brother, may I benefit from you in the Lord; refresh my inward affections in the Lord.

21 Trusting your obedience, I wrote to you, knowing that you will also do beyond what I say.

22 And at the same time also prepare lodging for me, for I hope that through your prayers I will be freely given to you.

23 Epaphras my fellow captive in Christ Jesus greets you,

24 Mark, Aristarchus, Demas, Luke, my fellow workers.

25 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

Hebrews

Chapter 1

1 In many portions and many ways, God, having spoken long ago to the fathers in the prophets,

2 at the last of these days spoke to us in a Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, through whom he also made the ages,

3 who, being radiance of the glory and imprint of his substance, and carrying all things by the word of his power, having made purification of our sins through himself, sat at the right hand of the Majesty in high places,

4 becoming so much better than the angels as he has inherited a name more excellent than theirs.

5 For to which of the angels did he ever say, “You are my Son, I today have begotten you,” and again, “I will be a Father to him, and he will be a Son to me”?

6 And when he again brings the firstborn into the inhabited world, he says, “And let all God's angels worship him.”

7 And concerning the angels he says, “The one making his angels spirits and his servants a flame of fire,”

8 but concerning the Son, “Your throne, O God, is unto the age of the age; a rod of uprightness is the rod of your kingdom.

9 You loved righteousness and hated lawlessness; for this reason God, your God, anointed you with oil of exultation beyond your partners.”

10 And, “You, at the beginnings, Lord, founded the earth, and the heavens are works of your hands.

11 They will perish, but you remain, and all will grow old as a garment,

12 and as a covering you will roll them up, and they will be changed; but you are the same, and your years will not fail.”

13 But to which of the angels has he ever said, “Sit at my right hand until I place your enemies as a footstool of your feet”?

14 Are they not all serving spirits, sent out for ministry because of those about to inherit salvation?

Chapter 2

1 For this reason we must attend more abundantly to the things heard, lest we drift away.

2 For if the word spoken through angels became firm, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense,

3 how will we escape, neglecting so great a salvation, which, beginning to be spoken through the Lord, was confirmed to us by those who heard,

4 God bearing witness together with signs and wonders and various powers and distributions of the Holy Spirit according to his own will?

5 For not to angels did he subject the coming inhabited world, concerning which we speak.

6 But someone somewhere solemnly testified, saying, “What is man, that you remember him, or a son of man, that you visit him?

7 You made him a little lower than angels; you crowned him with glory and honor and appointed him over the works of your hands;

8 you subjected all things beneath his feet.” For in subjecting all things to him, he left nothing unsubmissive to him; but now we do not yet see all things subjected to him.

9 But we see Jesus, made a little lower than angels, crowned with glory and honor because of the suffering of death, so that by God's grace he may taste death for everyone.

10 For it was fitting for him, because of whom are all things and through whom are all things, bringing many sons into glory, to perfect the founder of their salvation through sufferings.

11 For both the one sanctifying and those being sanctified are all from one, for which reason he is not ashamed to call them brothers,

12 saying, “I will announce your name to my brothers; in the midst of an assembly I will hymn you.”

13 And again, “I will be trusting upon him,” and again, “Look, I and the children whom God gave me.”

14 Therefore, since the children have shared flesh and blood, he himself also similarly partook of the same, so that through death he may nullify the one having the might of death, that is, the devil,

15 and release those who through fear of death were liable to slavery throughout all their living.

16 For surely he does not take hold of angels, but takes hold of Abraham's seed.

17 Therefore he ought to be made like the brothers in everything, so that he may become a merciful and faithful high priest in the things toward God, to make propitiation for the people's sins.

18 For in that he himself has suffered, being tempted, he is able to help those being tempted.

Chapter 3

1 Therefore, holy brothers, partners of a heavenly calling, consider the apostle and high priest of our confession, Christ Jesus,

2 being faithful to the one who made him, as also Moses in all his house.

3 For this one has been counted worthy of more glory than Moses, insofar as the one who constructed the house has more honor than it.

4 For every house is constructed by someone, but the one who constructed all things is God.

5 And Moses indeed faithful in all his house as an attendant, for a testimony of the things to be spoken,

6 but Christ as a Son over his house, whose house we are, if indeed we hold firm the boldness and boast of hope until the end.

7 Therefore, just as the Holy Spirit says, “Today, if you hear his voice,

8 do not harden your hearts as in the provocation, on the day of temptation in the wilderness,

9 where your fathers tempted me, tested me, and saw my works forty years.

10 Therefore I was indignant with that generation and said, ‘They always err in heart, and they did not know my ways.’

11 As I swore in my wrath, ‘They shall not enter my rest.’”

12 Watch, brothers, lest there be in someone of you an evil heart of unbelief in departing from the living God,

13 but encourage one another each day, as long as it is called Today, so that no one of you may be hardened by sin's deceit.

14 For we have become partners of Christ, if indeed we hold firm the beginning of the confidence until the end,

15 in its being said, “Today, if you hear his voice, do not harden your hearts as in the provocation.”

16 For who, having heard, provoked? But was it not all those who came out from Egypt through Moses?

17 And with whom was he indignant forty years? Was it not those who sinned, whose limbs fell in the wilderness?

18 And to whom did he swear that they would not enter his rest, except those who disobeyed?

19 And we see that they could not enter because of unbelief.

Chapter 4

1 Therefore let us fear lest, a promise of entering his rest being left, someone of you may seem to have fallen short.

2 For we too have had good news proclaimed, just as those also; but the word of hearing did not benefit those, not having been mixed with faith for those who heard.

3 For we who believed enter the rest, just as he has said, “As I swore in my wrath, ‘They shall not enter my rest,’” although the works had come to be from a world's foundation.

4 For he has said somewhere concerning the seventh thus, “And God rested on the seventh day from all his works,”

5 and in this again, “They shall not enter my rest.”

6 Therefore, since it remains for some to enter it, and those formerly receiving good news did not enter because of disobedience,

7 again he designates some day, Today, saying in David after so much time, just as it has been said, “Today, if you hear his voice, do not harden your hearts.”

8 For if Joshua gave them rest, he would not speak after these things concerning another day.

9 Therefore a sabbath rest remains for God's people.

10 For the one entering his rest also himself rested from his works, just as God from his own.

11 Therefore let us be diligent to enter that rest, so that no one may fall in the same example of disobedience.

12 For God's word is living and effective and sharper than every two-edged sword, and penetrating until division of both soul and spirit, both joints and marrows, and judging thoughts and intentions of heart.

13 And there is no creation invisible before him, but all things naked and laid bare to his eyes, to whom our account is.

14 Therefore, having a great high priest who has passed through the heavens, Jesus God's Son, let us hold the confession.

15 For we do not have a high priest unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one tempted in everything according to likeness, without sin.

16 Therefore let us approach the throne of grace with boldness, so that we may receive mercy and find grace for timely help.

Chapter 5

1 For every high priest, taken from among men, is appointed on behalf of men in the things pertaining to God, so that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins,

2 being able to deal moderately with those who are ignorant and wandering, since he himself is also surrounded by weakness.

3 And because of this he is obliged, just as for the people, so also for himself, to offer for sins.

4 And no one takes the honor for himself, but the one called by God, just as Aaron also was.

5 So also Christ did not glorify himself to become high priest, but the one who spoke to him: You are my Son; today I have begotten you.

6 As he also says in another place: You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.

7 Who, in the days of his flesh, having offered both petitions and supplications to the one able to save him out of death, with a strong cry and tears, and having been heard because of his reverence,

8 although being a Son, learned obedience from the things he suffered.

9 And having been perfected, he became the cause of eternal salvation to all those obeying him,

10 being designated by God high priest according to the order of Melchizedek.

11 Concerning whom we have much to say, and difficult to explain in speaking, since you have become sluggish in hearing.

12 For although you ought to be teachers because of the time, you again have need of someone to teach you the elements of the beginning of the oracles of God, and you have come to have need of milk and not solid food.

13 For everyone partaking of milk is inexperienced in the word of righteousness, for he is an infant.

14 But solid food belongs to the mature, those who through practice have their senses trained for distinguishing both good and evil.

Chapter 6

1 Therefore, leaving the word of the beginning of Christ, let us be carried on to perfection, not laying down again a foundation of repentance from dead works and faith toward God,

2 of instruction concerning washings, and laying on of hands, and resurrection of the dead, and eternal judgment.

3 And this we will do, if indeed God permits.

4 For it is impossible for those once enlightened, who have tasted the heavenly gift and become partakers of the Holy Spirit,

5 and tasted the good word of God and powers of the coming age,

6 and fallen away, to renew them again to repentance, crucifying again for themselves the Son of God and exposing him publicly.

7 For land that has drunk the rain often coming upon it, and produces vegetation useful to those for whom it is also cultivated, partakes of blessing from God.

8 But producing thorns and thistles, it is rejected and near a curse, whose end is for burning.

9 But we are persuaded concerning you, beloved, of better things and things belonging to salvation, even if we speak thus.

10 For God is not unjust to forget your work and the labor of love which you displayed toward his name, having served the saints and serving them.

11 But we desire each of you to display the same diligence toward the full assurance of hope until the end,

12 so that you may not become sluggish, but imitators of those inheriting the promises through faith and patience.

13 For God, having made a promise to Abraham, since he had no one greater by whom to swear, swore by himself,

14 saying: Surely, blessing I will bless you, and multiplying I will multiply you.

15 And thus, having been patient, he obtained the promise.

16 For men indeed swear by the greater, and the oath for confirmation is an end to all dispute for them.

17 In which God, wishing more abundantly to show the heirs of the promise the unchangeableness of his purpose, intervened with an oath,

18 so that through two unchangeable things, in which it is impossible for God to lie, we who have fled for refuge might have strong encouragement to take hold of the hope set before us,

19 which we have as an anchor of the soul, both secure and firm, and entering into the interior of the curtain,

20 where Jesus entered as a forerunner on our behalf, having become high priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.

Chapter 7

1 For this Melchizedek, king of Salem, priest of God Most High, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings and blessed him,

2 to whom Abraham also apportioned a tenth from everything, is first, by interpretation, king of righteousness, and then also king of Salem, which is king of peace,

3 without father, without mother, without genealogy, having neither beginning of days nor end of life, but having been made like the Son of God, remains a priest continually.

4 But consider how great this man was, to whom even Abraham the patriarch gave a tenth from the spoils.

5 And indeed those from the sons of Levi receiving the priesthood have a commandment to take tithes from the people according to the law, that is, their brothers, although they have come out of the loins of Abraham.

6 But the one not tracing his genealogy from them has taken tithes from Abraham and has blessed the one having the promises.

7 But without any dispute the lesser is blessed by the better.

8 And here indeed dying men receive tithes, but there one who is testified to that he lives.

9 And, so to speak, through Abraham even Levi, who receives tithes, has been tithed.

10 For he was still in the loins of his father when Melchizedek met him.

11 If therefore perfection was through the Levitical priesthood, for the people had received the law on its basis, what further need was there for another priest to arise according to the order of Melchizedek and not to be called according to the order of Aaron?

12 For when the priesthood is changed, of necessity a change of law also takes place.

13 For the one of whom these things are said has partaken of another tribe, from which no one has attended to the altar.

14 For it is evident that our Lord has sprung from Judah, concerning which tribe Moses spoke nothing about priesthood.

15 And it is still more abundantly evident if another priest arises according to the likeness of Melchizedek, 16 who has become such, not according to a law of a fleshly commandment, but according to the power of an indestructible life.

17 For he testifies: You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.

18 For indeed a setting aside of the preceding commandment takes place because of its weakness and uselessness,

19 for the law perfected nothing, but there is a bringing in of a better hope, through which we draw near to God.

20 And insofar as it was not without an oath,

21 for they indeed have become priests without an oath, but he with an oath through the one saying to him: The Lord swore and will not change his mind: You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek,

22 by so much Jesus has become guarantor of a better covenant.

23 And they indeed have become many priests because they are prevented by death from remaining.

24 But he, because he remains forever, has the priesthood that does not pass to another.

25 Therefore he is also able to save completely those approaching God through him, always living to intercede on their behalf.

26 For such a high priest was fitting for us, holy, innocent, undefiled, separated from sinners, and having become higher than the heavens,

27 who does not have a daily necessity, like the high priests, first to offer sacrifices for his own sins, then for those of the people; for this he did once for all, having offered himself.

28 For the law appoints men as high priests who have weakness, but the word of the oath, which came after the law, appoints a Son perfected forever.

Chapter 8

1 Now the main point in the things being said: we have such a high priest, who sat down at the right hand of the throne of the Majesty in the heavens,

2 a minister of the holy places and of the true tent, which the Lord erected, and not man.

3 For every high priest is appointed to offer both gifts and sacrifices; therefore it is necessary for this one also to have something which he may offer.

4 For if he were on earth, he would not even be a priest, since there are priests offering the gifts according to the law,

5 who serve a copy and shadow of the heavenly things, just as Moses was instructed when about to complete the tent; for he says: See that you make everything according to the pattern shown to you on the mountain.

6 But now he has obtained a more excellent ministry, by as much as he is also mediator of a better covenant, which has been established as law upon better promises.

7 For if that first one were faultless, a place would not have been sought for a second.

8 For finding fault with them, he says: Behold, days are coming, says the Lord, and I will conclude a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah,

9 not according to the covenant which I made with their fathers on the day when I took hold of their hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt, because they did not remain in my covenant, and I disregarded them, says the Lord.

10 For this is the covenant which I will make with the house of Israel after those days, says the Lord: Putting my laws into their understanding, I will also inscribe them upon their hearts, and I will be God to them, and they will be a people to me.

11 And they will certainly not teach, each his neighbor and each his brother, saying: Know the Lord; because all will know me, from their small to their great.

12 Because I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their lawless deeds I will certainly remember no more.

13 In saying: New, he has made the first old. But what is becoming old and aging is near disappearance.

Chapter 9

1 Therefore the first tent also indeed had ordinances of worship and the earthly sanctuary.

2 For a tent was prepared, the first, in which were both the lampstand and the table and the presentation of the loaves, which is called the Holy Place.

3 But after the second curtain was a tent called the Holy of Holies,

4 having a golden censer and the ark of the covenant covered on all sides with gold, in which were a golden jar containing the manna, and Aaron's rod that sprouted, and the tablets of the covenant.

5 And above it were cherubim of glory overshadowing the place of atonement, concerning which it is not now possible to speak in detail.

6 Now these things having been thus prepared, the priests continually enter into the first tent, performing the services of worship.

7 But into the second, the high priest alone once a year, not without blood, which he offers for himself and the ignorant offenses of the people,

8 the Holy Spirit indicating this: that the way of the holy places has not yet been manifested while the first tent still has standing,

9 which is a parable for the present time, according to which both gifts and sacrifices are offered that cannot perfect the worshiper with respect to conscience,

10 being imposed only in foods and drinks and various washings and ordinances of flesh until a time of rectification.

11 But Christ, having come as high priest of the coming good things, through the greater and more perfect tent, not made by hands, that is, not of this creation,

12 nor through the blood of goats and calves, but through his own blood, entered once for all into the holy places, having obtained eternal redemption.

13 For if the blood of bulls and goats, and ashes of a heifer sprinkling those who have been defiled, sanctify for the cleanness of the flesh,

14 how much more will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without blemish to God, cleanse your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?

15 And because of this he is mediator of a new covenant, so that, a death having taken place for redemption of the transgressions under the first covenant, those called may receive the promise of the eternal inheritance.

16 For where there is a testament, it is necessary that the death of the one who made it be brought forward.

17 For a testament is firm upon the dead, since it never has force while the one who made it lives.

18 Therefore not even the first has been inaugurated without blood.

19 For when every commandment according to the law had been spoken by Moses to all the people, taking the blood of the calves and goats with water and scarlet wool and hyssop, he sprinkled both the book itself and all the people,

20 saying: This is the blood of the covenant which God commanded for you.

21 And he likewise sprinkled with the blood both the tent and all the vessels of the ministry.

22 And almost everything is cleansed with blood according to the law, and without shedding of blood forgiveness does not take place.

23 Therefore it was necessary for the copies of the things in the heavens to be cleansed with these, but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these.

24 For Christ did not enter holy places made by hands, counterparts of the true ones, but into heaven itself, now to appear before the face of God on our behalf,

25 nor so that he might offer himself often, as the high priest enters into the holy places year by year with another's blood.

26 Since then he would have had to suffer often from the foundation of the world; but now once, at the consummation of the ages, he has been manifested for the setting aside of sin through his sacrifice.

27 And just as it is appointed for men to die once, and after this judgment,

28 so Christ also, having been offered once to bear the sins of many, will appear a second time, apart from sin, to those eagerly awaiting him, for salvation.

Chapter 10

1 For the law, having a shadow of the coming good things, not the very image of the things, can never, by the same sacrifices which they offer continually year by year, perfect those approaching.

2 Otherwise, would they not have ceased being offered, because the worshipers, having been cleansed once, would no longer have any consciousness of sins?

3 But in them there is a reminder of sins year by year.

4 For it is impossible for the blood of bulls and goats to take away sins.

5 Therefore, entering into the world, he says: Sacrifice and offering you did not desire, but a body you prepared for me.

6 In whole burnt offerings and offerings for sin you did not take pleasure.

7 Then I said: Behold, I have come, in the roll of the book it is written concerning me, to do your will, O God.

8 Saying above: Sacrifice and offering and whole burnt offerings and offerings for sin you did not desire, nor did you take pleasure in them, which are offered according to the law,

9 then he has said: Behold, I have come to do your will, O God. He takes away the first so that he may establish the second.

10 By this will we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all.

11 And every priest indeed stands daily ministering and often offering the same sacrifices, which can never take away sins.

12 But he, having offered one sacrifice for sins continually, sat down at the right hand of God,

13 from then on awaiting until his enemies are placed as a footstool for his feet.

14 For by one offering he has perfected continually those being sanctified.

15 And the Holy Spirit also testifies to us; for after having said beforehand:

16 This is the covenant which I will make with them after those days, says the Lord: Putting my laws upon their hearts, I will also inscribe them upon their understandings,

17 and their sins and their lawless deeds I will certainly remember no more.

18 Now where there is forgiveness of these, there is no longer an offering for sin.

19 Therefore, brothers, having boldness for entrance into the holy places by the blood of Jesus,

20 which he inaugurated for us as a new and living way through the curtain, that is, his flesh,

21 and a great priest over the house of God,

22 let us approach with a true heart in full assurance of faith, having our hearts sprinkled from an evil conscience and our body washed with pure water.

23 Let us hold fast the confession of hope without wavering, for the one who promised is faithful.

24 And let us consider one another for the stirring up of love and good works,

25 not abandoning the gathering together of ourselves, as is the custom of some, but encouraging, and so much more as you see the day approaching.

26 For if we sin willingly after receiving the knowledge of the truth, there no longer remains a sacrifice for sins,

27 but a certain fearful expectation of judgment and a zeal of fire about to devour the adversaries.

28 Anyone having set aside the law of Moses dies without mercies upon two or three witnesses.

29 Of how much worse punishment do you think the one will be deemed worthy who has trampled the Son of God, and regarded as common the blood of the covenant by which he was sanctified, and insulted the Spirit of grace?

30 For we know the one who said: Vengeance is mine; I will repay, says the Lord. And again: The Lord will judge his people.

31 It is fearful to fall into the hands of the living God.

32 But recall the earlier days in which, having been enlightened, you endured a great struggle of sufferings,

33 partly being publicly exposed to both reproaches and afflictions, and partly having become partners of those living thus.

34 For you also sympathized with my bonds, and accepted with joy the plundering of your possessions, knowing that you have in yourselves a better and abiding possession in the heavens.

35 Therefore do not throw away your boldness, which has a great recompense.

36 For you have need of endurance, so that, having done the will of God, you may receive the promise.

37 For yet a very little while, the coming one will come and will not delay.

38 But the righteous one will live by faith, and if he draws back, my soul takes no pleasure in him.

39 But we are not of drawing back to destruction, but of faith to the preservation of the soul.

Chapter 11

1 Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the proof of things not seen.

2 For by this the elders were testified to.

3 By faith we understand that the ages have been fitted together by the word of God, so that the things seen have not come into being from things appearing.

4 By faith Abel offered to God a greater sacrifice than Cain, through which he was testified to be righteous, God testifying concerning his gifts; and through it, having died, he is still spoken of.

5 By faith Enoch was transferred so as not to see death, and he was not found because God transferred him; for before his transfer he has been testified to have pleased God.

6 But without faith it is impossible to please him; for the one approaching God must believe that he exists and becomes a rewarder of those seeking him out.

7 By faith Noah, having been warned concerning things not yet seen, moved with reverence, prepared an ark for the salvation of his household, through which he condemned the world and became an heir of the righteousness according to faith.

8 By faith Abraham, being called, obeyed to go out to the place which he was about to receive as an inheritance, and he went out not knowing where he was going.

9 By faith he sojourned in the land of the promise as in a foreign land, dwelling in tents with Isaac and Jacob, the fellow heirs of the same promise.

10 For he was awaiting the city having the foundations, whose craftsman and maker is God.

11 By faith Sarah herself also received power for the depositing of seed, and beyond the time of age she gave birth, since she regarded the one who promised as faithful.

12 Therefore also from one, and that one having been deadened, were born as the stars of heaven in multitude and as the innumerable sand beside the lip of the sea.

13 According to faith all these died, not having received the promises, but having seen them from afar and been persuaded and greeted them, and confessed that they are strangers and sojourners upon the earth.

14 For those saying such things make evident that they seek a homeland.

15 And if indeed they were remembering that one from which they went out, they would have had opportunity to return.

16 But now they desire a better one, that is, a heavenly one; therefore God is not ashamed of them, to be called their God, for he prepared a city for them.

17 By faith Abraham, being tested, has offered Isaac, and the one who received the promises was offering his only-begotten,

18 to whom it was spoken: In Isaac a seed will be called for you,

19 reckoning that God is able even to raise from the dead, from where he also received him back in a parable.

20 By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning coming things.

21 By faith Jacob, dying, blessed each of the sons of Joseph and bowed in worship upon the top of his staff.

22 By faith Joseph, coming to his end, made mention of the exodus of the sons of Israel and gave orders concerning his bones.

23 By faith Moses, having been born, was hidden for three months by his parents, because they saw that the child was beautiful, and they did not fear the decree of the king.

24 By faith Moses, having become grown, refused to be called a son of Pharaoh's daughter,

25 having chosen rather to suffer ill treatment with the people of God than to have temporary enjoyment of sin,

26 having regarded the reproach of Christ as greater wealth than the treasures in Egypt, for he was looking toward the recompense.

27 By faith he left Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king, for he persevered as seeing the invisible one.

28 By faith he has kept the Passover and the sprinkling of the blood, so that the one destroying the firstborn might not touch them.

29 By faith they crossed the Red Sea as through dry land, of which the Egyptians, having made an attempt, were swallowed up.

30 By faith the walls of Jericho fell, having been encircled for seven days.

31 By faith Rahab the prostitute did not perish together with those who disobeyed, having received the spies with peace.

32 And what more do I say? For time will fail me while recounting concerning Gideon, and Barak and Samson and Jephthah, and David and Samuel and the prophets,

33 who through faith conquered kingdoms, worked righteousness, obtained promises, shut the mouths of lions,

34 quenched the power of fire, escaped the edges of the sword, were strengthened from weakness, became strong in war, put to flight armies of foreigners.

35 Women received their dead by resurrection; but others were tortured, not accepting release, so that they might obtain a better resurrection.

36 And others received trial of mockings and scourges, and further of bonds and imprisonment.

37 They were stoned, they were sawn apart, they were tempted, they died by slaughter of the sword; they went about in sheepskins, in goatskins, being in need, afflicted, ill-treated,

38 of whom the world was not worthy, wandering in deserts and mountains and caves and the holes of the earth.

39 And all these, having been testified to through faith, did not receive the promise,

40 God having foreseen something better concerning us, so that they might not be perfected apart from us.

Chapter 12

1 Therefore we also, having so great a cloud of witnesses surrounding us, having laid aside every weight and the easily entangling sin, let us run with endurance the contest set before us,

2 looking away to Jesus, the founder and perfecter of faith, who for the joy set before him endured a cross, despising shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God.

3 For consider the one who has endured such opposition from sinners against himself, so that you may not grow weary, fainting in your souls.

4 You have not yet resisted to the point of blood, struggling against sin.

5 And you have forgotten the exhortation which addresses you as sons: My son, do not regard lightly the discipline of the Lord, nor faint when reproved by him.

6 For whom the Lord loves he disciplines, and he scourges every son whom he receives.

7 If you endure discipline, God deals with you as sons; for what son is there whom a father does not discipline?

8 But if you are without discipline, of which all have become partakers, then you are illegitimate and not sons.

9 Furthermore, we had the fathers of our flesh as disciplinarians and respected them; will we not much more be subjected to the Father of spirits and live?

10 For they indeed disciplined for a few days according to what seemed good to them, but he for what is beneficial, for partaking of his holiness.

11 Now all discipline for the present does not seem to be of joy but of grief; but afterward it gives back a peaceful fruit of righteousness to those trained through it.

12 Therefore straighten the hanging hands and the paralyzed knees,

13 and make straight paths for your feet, so that the lame thing may not be turned aside, but rather be healed.

14 Pursue peace with all, and sanctification, without which no one will see the Lord,

15 watching lest anyone fall short of the grace of God, lest any root of bitterness growing upward cause trouble, and through this many be defiled,

16 lest anyone be a fornicator or profane like Esau, who for one meal sold his birthright.

17 For you know that even afterward, wishing to inherit the blessing, he was rejected; for he found no place for repentance, although he sought it out with tears.

18 For you have not approached a mountain that can be touched and burned with fire, and gloom and darkness and tempest,

19 and a trumpet's sound and a voice of words, which those hearing begged that no further word be added to them.

20 For they could not bear what was commanded: Even if a beast touches the mountain, it will be stoned or shot down with a missile.

21 And so fearful was what appeared that Moses said: I am terrified and trembling.

22 But you have approached Mount Zion and the city of the living God, heavenly Jerusalem, and myriads of angels,

23 a festal assembly and church of firstborn ones enrolled in the heavens, and God the judge of all, and spirits of righteous ones perfected,

24 and Jesus, mediator of a new covenant, and blood of sprinkling speaking better things than Abel.

25 See that you do not refuse the one speaking. For if those did not escape who refused the one giving warning on earth, much more we who turn away from the one from the heavens.

26 Whose voice shook the earth then, but now he has promised, saying: Yet once I shake not only the earth but also heaven.

27 Now the phrase: Yet once, indicates the removal of the things shaken, as things made, so that the things not shaken may remain.

28 Therefore, receiving an unshakable kingdom, let us have grace, through which we may serve God acceptably with modesty and reverence.

29 For our God is also a consuming fire.

Chapter 13

1 Let brotherly love remain.

2 Do not forget hospitality, for through this some entertained angels without knowing it.

3 Remember the prisoners as bound together with them, those being ill-treated as being yourselves also in a body.

4 Marriage is honorable among all, and the bed undefiled; but fornicators and adulterers God will judge.

5 Let your manner be without love of money, being content with the things present; for he himself has said: I will certainly not leave you, nor will I certainly abandon you.

6 So that, being confident, we say: The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear; what will man do to me?

7 Remember your leaders, who spoke the word of God to you, whose faith imitate, considering the outcome of their conduct.

8 Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever.

9 Do not be carried about by various and foreign teachings; for it is good for the heart to be established by grace, not by foods, in which those who walked were not benefited.

10 We have an altar from which those serving the tent have no authority to eat.

11 For the bodies of those animals whose blood is brought into the holy places for sin through the high priest are burned outside the camp.

12 Therefore Jesus also, so that he might sanctify the people through his own blood, suffered outside the gate.

13 Therefore let us go out to him outside the camp, bearing his reproach.

14 For we do not have here an abiding city, but we seek the coming one.

15 Through him therefore let us continually offer a sacrifice of praise to God, that is, fruit of lips confessing his name.

16 But do not forget doing good and sharing, for with such sacrifices God is pleased.

17 Obey your leaders and yield, for they keep watch over your souls as those who will give an account, so that they may do this with joy and not groaning, for this is unprofitable for you.

18 Pray concerning us, for we are persuaded that we have a good conscience, wishing to conduct ourselves well in all things.

19 But I more abundantly urge you to do this, so that I may be restored to you more quickly.

20 Now the God of peace, who brought up from the dead the great shepherd of the sheep, in the blood of an eternal covenant, our Lord Jesus,

21 may he fit you in every good work to do his will, doing in you what is pleasing before him through Jesus Christ, to whom be the glory forever and ever. Amen.

22 But I urge you, brothers, bear with the word of exhortation, for I have also written to you briefly.

23 Know that our brother Timothy has been released, with whom, if he comes more quickly, I will see you.

24 Greet all your leaders and all the saints. Those from Italy greet you.

25 Grace be with all of you. Amen.

James

Chapter 1

1 James, a slave of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes in the dispersion: Greetings.

2 Consider it all joy, my brothers, whenever you fall into various trials,

3 knowing that the testing of your faith produces endurance.

4 But let endurance have a perfect work, so that you may be perfect and complete, lacking in nothing.

5 But if any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask from God, who gives to all generously and does not reproach, and it will be given to him.

6 But let him ask in faith, doubting nothing; for the one doubting resembles a wave of the sea driven and tossed by wind.

7 For let that man not suppose that he will receive anything from the Lord,

8 a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways.

9 But let the lowly brother boast in his elevation,

10 and the rich in his humiliation, because like a flower of grass he will pass away.

11 For the sun rose with the scorching heat and dried the grass, and its flower fell off, and the beauty of its appearance perished; so also the rich man will wither in his journeys.

12 Blessed is a man who endures trial, because, having become approved, he will receive the crown of life which the Lord promised to those loving him.

13 Let no one being tempted say: I am tempted by God; for God is not tempted by evils, and he himself tempts no one.

14 But each is tempted, being drawn out and enticed by his own desire.

15 Then desire, having conceived, gives birth to sin; and sin, having been completed, brings forth death.

16 Do not be deceived, my beloved brothers.

17 Every good giving and every perfect gift is from above, coming down from the Father of lights, with whom there is no variation or shadow of turning.

18 Having willed it, he brought us forth by a word of truth, so that we might be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures.

19 Therefore, my beloved brothers, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath.

20 For a man's wrath does not produce God's righteousness.

21 Therefore, laying aside all filthiness and abundance of wickedness, receive in gentleness the implanted word, which is able to save your souls.

22 But become doers of the word and not hearers only, deceiving yourselves.

23 Because if anyone is a hearer of the word and not a doer, he resembles a man considering the face of his birth in a mirror.

24 For he considered himself and has gone away, and immediately forgot what he was like.

25 But the one having looked into the perfect law, that of freedom, and remained, this one, having become not a forgetful hearer but a doer of work, will be blessed in his doing.

26 If anyone among you seems to be religious, not bridling his tongue but deceiving his heart, this one's religion is vain.

27 Religion pure and undefiled before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their affliction, to keep oneself unspotted from the world.

Chapter 2

1 My brothers, do not hold the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ of glory with partialities.

2 For if a man with a gold ring enters your assembly in splendid clothing, and a poor man also enters in filthy clothing,

3 and you look upon the one wearing the splendid clothing and say to him: You sit here in a good place; and to the poor man you say: You stand there, or sit here beneath my footstool,

4 have you not also made distinctions among yourselves and become judges of evil reasonings?

5 Listen, my beloved brothers: Did not God choose the poor of this world, rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom which he promised to those loving him?

6 But you dishonored the poor man. Do not the rich oppress you, and do they themselves not drag you into courts?

7 Do they themselves not blaspheme the good name invoked upon you?

8 If indeed you fulfill the royal law according to the Scripture: You shall love your neighbor as yourself, you do well.

9 But if you show partiality, you work sin, being convicted by the law as transgressors.

10 For whoever will keep the whole law but stumble in one thing has become guilty of all.

11 For the one who said: Do not commit adultery, also said: Do not murder. But if you will not commit adultery, but will murder, you have become a transgressor of law.

12 So speak and so do, as those about to be judged through a law of freedom.

13 For judgment is merciless to the one who has not done mercy, and mercy boasts over judgment.

14 What is the benefit, my brothers, if anyone says he has faith but does not have works? Can faith save him?

15 But if a brother or sister are naked and lacking daily food,

16 and anyone among you says to them: Go in peace, be warmed and filled, but you do not give them the necessities of the body, what is the benefit?

17 So also faith, if it does not have works, is dead by itself.

18 But someone will say: You have faith, and I have works. Show me your faith from your works, and I will show you my faith from my works.

19 You believe that God is one; you do well. The demons also believe and shudder.

20 But do you wish to know, O empty man, that faith apart from works is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our father justified from works, having offered Isaac his son upon the altar?

22 You see that faith was working together with his works, and from the works faith was perfected.

23 And the Scripture was fulfilled which says: Abraham believed God, and it was reckoned to him as righteousness; and he was called a friend of God.

24 Therefore you see that a man is justified from works and not from faith alone.

25 And likewise was not Rahab the prostitute also justified from works, having received the messengers and sent them out by another way?

26 For just as the body apart from spirit is dead, so also faith apart from works is dead.

Chapter 3

1 Do not become many teachers, my brothers, knowing that we will receive a greater judgment.

2 For we all stumble in many things. If anyone does not stumble in word, this one is a perfect man, able to bridle also the whole body.

3 Behold, we put the bridles into the mouths of horses so that they obey us, and we direct their whole body.

4 Behold also the ships, being so great and driven by harsh winds, are directed by a very small rudder wherever the impulse of the one steering wishes.

5 So also the tongue is a small member and boasts greatly. Behold, how small a fire kindles how great a forest!

6 And the tongue is a fire, the world of unrighteousness. So the tongue is set among our members, staining the whole body and setting on fire the wheel of birth, and being set on fire by Gehenna.

7 For every nature of both beasts and birds, both reptiles and sea creatures, is tamed and has been tamed by human nature.

8 But no one among men can tame the tongue, an unrestrainable evil, full of death-bearing poison.

9 With it we bless God and the Father, and with it we curse men who have been made according to God's likeness.

10 From the same mouth come out blessing and curse. These things ought not to happen thus, my brothers.

11 Does the spring from the same opening pour forth the sweet and the bitter?

12 Can a fig tree, my brothers, produce olives, or a vine figs? So no spring can produce salty and sweet water.

13 Who is wise and knowledgeable among you? Let him show from good conduct his works in gentleness of wisdom.

14 But if you have bitter jealousy and selfish ambition in your heart, do not boast and lie against the truth.

15 This is not the wisdom coming down from above, but earthly, natural, demonic.

16 For where there are jealousy and selfish ambition, there are disorder and every base thing.

17 But the wisdom from above is first pure, then peaceable, forbearing, readily persuaded, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy.

18 And a fruit of righteousness is sown in peace by those making peace.

Chapter 4

1 From where are wars and battles among you? Are they not from here, from your pleasures waging war in your members?

2 You desire and do not have; you murder and are jealous and cannot obtain; you battle and wage war. But you do not have because you do not ask.

3 You ask and do not receive because you ask badly, so that you may spend on your pleasures.

4 Adulterers and adulteresses, do you not know that friendship with the world is enmity with God? Therefore whoever wishes to be a friend of the world is made an enemy of God.

5 Or do you think that the Scripture speaks vainly: The spirit which dwelt in us yearns toward envy?

6 But he gives greater grace; therefore he says: God opposes the proud, but gives grace to the humble.

7 Therefore be subjected to God; resist the devil, and he will flee from you.

8 Draw near to God, and he will draw near to you. Cleanse your hands, sinners, and purify your hearts, double-minded ones.

9 Be miserable and mourn and weep. Let your laughter be turned to mourning and your joy to dejection.

10 Be humbled before the Lord, and he will exalt you.

11 Do not speak against one another, brothers. The one speaking against a brother and judging his brother speaks against law and judges law. But if you judge law, you are not a doer of law but a judge.

12 There is one lawgiver, the one able to save and destroy. Who are you who judge the other?

13 Come now, those saying: Today and tomorrow let us go to this city and spend one year there and trade and gain,

14 who do not know the thing of tomorrow. For what is your life? For it is a vapor appearing for a little while, then disappearing.

15 Instead of your saying: If the Lord wills, we shall both live and do this or that.

16 But now you boast in your arrogances. All such boasting is evil.

17 Therefore to one knowing to do good and not doing it, it is sin to him.

Chapter 5

1 Come now, the rich, weep, howling over your coming miseries.

2 Your wealth has rotted, and your garments have become moth-eaten.

3 Your gold and silver have corroded, and their rust will be a testimony to you and will eat your flesh like fire. You stored up treasure in the last days.

4 Behold, the wage of the workers who reaped your fields, withheld by you, cries out, and the cries of those who harvested have entered into the ears of the Lord of hosts.

5 You lived luxuriously upon the earth and indulged yourselves; you nourished your hearts as in a day of slaughter.

6 You condemned, you murdered the righteous one; he does not oppose you.

7 Therefore be patient, brothers, until the coming of the Lord. Behold, the farmer awaits the precious fruit of the earth, being patient over it until he receives early and late rain.

8 You also be patient; establish your hearts, because the coming of the Lord has drawn near.

9 Do not groan against one another, brothers, so that you may not be condemned. Behold, a judge has stood before the doors.

10 Take as an example of suffering and patience, my brothers, the prophets who spoke in the name of the Lord.

11 Behold, we call blessed those enduring. You heard the endurance of Job and saw the end of the Lord, that the Lord is very compassionate and merciful.

12 But before all things, my brothers, do not swear, neither by heaven nor by earth nor any other oath; but let your yes be yes and your no be no, so that you may not fall into hypocrisy.

13 Does anyone among you suffer? Let him pray. Is anyone cheerful? Let him sing praise.

14 Is anyone among you sick? Let him call for the elders of the church, and let them pray over him, having anointed him with oil in the name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith will save the one suffering, and the Lord will raise him; and even if he has committed sins, it will be forgiven him.

16 Confess to one another the trespasses, and pray for one another so that you may be healed. A righteous man's petition has much strength when at work.

17 Elijah was a man of like passions with us, and with prayer he prayed that it not rain, and it did not rain upon the earth for three years and six months.

18 And again he prayed, and heaven gave rain, and the earth sprouted its fruit.

19 Brothers, if anyone among you wanders from the truth and someone turns him back,

20 let him know that the one turning a sinner back from the wandering of his way will save a soul from death and cover a multitude of sins.

1 Peter

Chapter 1

1 Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to chosen sojourners of the dispersion of Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,

2 according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, in sanctification of the Spirit, for obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: May grace and peace be multiplied to you.

3 Blessed is the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who according to his abundant mercy begot us again to a living hope through the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 to an inheritance incorruptible and undefiled and unfading, kept in the heavens for us,

5 who are guarded by the power of God through faith for salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.

6 In which you rejoice, having now for a little while, if it is necessary, been grieved in various trials,

7 so that the testing of your faith, much more precious than gold which perishes but is tested through fire, may be found for praise and honor and glory at the revelation of Jesus Christ,

8 whom, not having seen, you love; in whom, now not seeing but believing, you rejoice with inexpressible and glorified joy,

9 receiving the end of your faith, salvation of souls.

10 Concerning which salvation prophets sought out and searched out, who prophesied concerning the grace toward you,

11 searching into what or what kind of time the Spirit of Christ in them was indicating, testifying beforehand the sufferings for Christ and the glories after these.

12 To whom it was revealed that not to themselves but to us they were ministering these things, which have now been announced to you through those who proclaimed the good news to you in the Holy Spirit sent from heaven, into which angels desire to look.

13 Therefore, girding up the loins of your understanding, being sober, hope completely upon the grace being brought to you at the revelation of Jesus Christ,

14 as children of obedience, not conforming yourselves to the former desires in your ignorance,

15 but according to the holy one who called you, become holy yourselves also in all conduct,

16 because it is written: Become holy, because I am holy.

17 And if you invoke as Father the one judging without partiality according to each one's work, conduct the time of your sojourning in fear,

18 knowing that you were redeemed not with corruptible things, silver or gold, from your vain conduct handed down from fathers,

19 but with precious blood, as of a lamb without blemish and unspotted, of Christ,

20 indeed foreknown before the foundation of the world, but manifested at the last of the times because of you,

21 who through him believe in God, who raised him from the dead and gave him glory, so that your faith and hope might be in God.

22 Having purified your souls in obedience to the truth through the Spirit for unhypocritical brotherly love, love one another earnestly from a pure heart,

23 having been begotten again, not from corruptible seed but incorruptible, through the living word of God, which also remains forever.

24 Because all flesh is like grass, and all glory of man like a flower of grass; the grass was dried and its flower fell off,

25 but the word of the Lord remains forever. And this is the word proclaimed as good news to you.

Chapter 2

1 Therefore, laying aside all wickedness and all deceit and hypocrisies and envies and all evil speakings,

2 as newborn infants, desire the pure rational milk, so that by it you may grow,

3 if indeed you tasted that the Lord is kind.

4 Approaching him, a living stone, indeed rejected by men but chosen and honorable before God,

5 you yourselves also, as living stones, are being built as a spiritual house, a holy priesthood, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.

6 Therefore it also contains in the Scripture: Behold, I place in Zion a cornerstone, chosen, honorable, and the one believing upon him will certainly not be put to shame.

7 Therefore the honor is to you who believe; but to those disobeying: The stone which the builders rejected, this became the head of the corner,

8 and a stone of stumbling and a rock of offense; who stumble at the word, disobeying, to which they were also appointed.

9 But you are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people for possession, so that you may proclaim the excellences of the one who called you out of darkness into his marvelous light,

10 who once were not a people, but now a people of God; who had not received mercy, but now have received mercy.

11 Beloved, I urge you as strangers and sojourners to abstain from fleshly desires, which wage war against the soul,

12 having your conduct good among the nations, so that in what they speak against you as evildoers, having observed the good works, they may glorify God in a day of visitation.

13 Therefore be subjected to every human institution because of the Lord, whether to a king as being superior, 14 or to governors as sent through him for vengeance upon evildoers but praise of those doing good.

15 Because thus is the will of God, by doing good to muzzle the ignorance of foolish men,

16 as free, and not having freedom as a covering of wickedness, but as slaves of God.

17 Honor all; love the brotherhood; fear God; honor the king.

18 Household slaves, being subjected with all fear to the masters, not only to the good and forbearing but also to the crooked.

19 For this is grace, if because of consciousness of God someone bears griefs, suffering unjustly.

20 For what credit is there if, sinning and being struck, you endure? But if, doing good and suffering, you endure, this is grace before God.

21 For to this you were called, because Christ also suffered on our behalf, leaving us an example so that you might follow his footsteps,

22 who did not commit sin, nor was deceit found in his mouth,

23 who, being reviled, did not revile in return; suffering, did not threaten, but entrusted to the one judging righteously,

24 who himself bore our sins in his body upon the wood, so that, having departed from sins, we might live to righteousness; by whose wound you were healed.

25 For you were like wandering sheep, but now you turned back to the shepherd and overseer of your souls.

Chapter 3

1 Likewise, wives, being subjected to your own husbands, so that even if any disobey the word, through the conduct of the wives they may be gained without a word,

2 having observed your pure conduct in fear.

3 Whose adornment let it not be the outward one of braiding hair and putting around gold ornaments or putting on garments,

4 but the hidden man of the heart, in the incorruptibility of the gentle and quiet spirit, which is very precious before God.

5 For thus once also the holy women hoping upon God adorned themselves, being subjected to their own husbands,

6 as Sarah obeyed Abraham, calling him lord, whose children you became, doing good and not fearing any terror.

7 Husbands likewise, dwelling together according to knowledge, apportioning honor to the female as a weaker vessel, as also fellow heirs of the grace of life, so that your prayers may not be cut off.

8 And finally, all be of one mind, sympathetic, loving brothers, compassionate, friendly,

9 not giving back evil for evil or reviling for reviling, but on the contrary blessing, knowing that to this you were called, so that you might inherit a blessing.

10 For the one wishing to love life and see good days, let him stop his tongue from evil and his lips from speaking deceit.

11 Let him turn away from evil and do good; let him seek peace and pursue it.

12 Because the eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous, and his ears toward their petition, but the face of the Lord is upon those doing evils.

13 And who is the one who will harm you if you become imitators of the good?

14 But even if you should suffer because of righteousness, you are blessed. But do not fear their fear, nor be troubled.

15 But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts, and be always ready for a defense to everyone asking you an account concerning the hope in you, with gentleness and fear,

16 having a good conscience, so that in what they speak against you as evildoers, those abusing your good conduct in Christ may be put to shame.

17 For it is better, doing good, if the will of God wills it, to suffer than doing evil.

18 Because Christ also suffered once for sins, righteous on behalf of unrighteous, so that he might bring us to God, indeed put to death in flesh but made alive in the Spirit,

19 in which also, having gone, he proclaimed to the spirits in prison,

20 who once disobeyed, when once the patience of God was waiting in the days of Noah, an ark being prepared, into which a few, that is, eight souls, were brought safely through water.

21 Which also now saves us as a counterpart, baptism, not a removal of dirt of flesh, but a request of a good conscience toward God, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ,

22 who is at the right hand of God, having gone into heaven, angels and authorities and powers having been subjected to him.

Chapter 4

1 Therefore, Christ having suffered for us in flesh, you also arm yourselves with the same thought, because the one having suffered in flesh has ceased from sin,

2 to live the remaining time in flesh no longer for men's desires but for God's will.

3 For the past time of life is sufficient for us to have worked the will of the nations, having walked in licentiousness, desires, drunkenness, revelries, drinking parties, and unlawful idolatries,

4 in which they are surprised that you do not run together into the same outpouring of dissipation, blaspheming,

5 who will give an account to the one ready to judge living and dead.

6 For to this end the good news was also proclaimed to the dead, so that they might indeed be judged according to men in flesh, but live according to God in spirit.

7 But the end of all things has drawn near. Therefore be sound-minded and sober for prayers.

8 But before all things, having earnest love toward yourselves, because love will cover a multitude of sins.

9 Be hospitable to one another without murmurings.

10 Each, as he received a gift, ministering it to yourselves as good stewards of the varied grace of God.

11 If anyone speaks, as oracles of God; if anyone ministers, as from strength which God supplies, so that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom are the glory and the dominion forever and ever. Amen.

12 Beloved, do not be surprised at the burning among you occurring for your trial, as though a strange thing were happening to you,

13 but insofar as you partake of the sufferings of Christ, rejoice, so that also at the revelation of his glory you may rejoice, exulting.

14 If you are reproached in the name of Christ, you are blessed, because the Spirit of glory and of God rests upon you; on their part he is blasphemed, but on your part he is glorified.

15 For let none of you suffer as a murderer or thief or evildoer, or as an overseer of others' affairs.

16 But if as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorify God in this matter.

17 Because it is the time for judgment to begin from the house of God; but if first from us, what is the end of those disobeying the good news of God?

18 And if the righteous one is scarcely saved, where will the ungodly and sinner appear?

19 Therefore also let those suffering according to the will of God entrust their own souls to a faithful creator in doing good.

Chapter 5

1 I urge the elders among you, as a fellow elder and witness of the sufferings of Christ, also a partaker of the glory about to be revealed:

2 Shepherd the flock of God among you, overseeing not by compulsion but willingly, nor for shameful gain but eagerly,

3 nor as lording over the allotted portions, but becoming examples of the flock.

4 And when the chief shepherd has been manifested, you will receive the unfading crown of glory.

5 Likewise, younger ones, be subjected to elders; and all, being subjected to one another, clothe yourselves with humility, because God opposes the proud but gives grace to the humble.

6 Therefore be humbled under the mighty hand of God, so that he may exalt you in time,

7 having cast all your anxiety upon him, because he cares concerning you.

8 Be sober, keep watch, because your adversary the devil walks about as a roaring lion, seeking someone he may swallow.

9 Resist him, firm in faith, knowing that the same sufferings are being accomplished in your brotherhood in the world.

10 But the God of all grace, who called us into his eternal glory in Christ Jesus, after you have suffered a little, may he himself fit you, establish, strengthen, found you.

11 To him be the glory and the dominion forever and ever. Amen.

12 Through Silvanus, the faithful brother to you, as I reckon, I wrote briefly, urging and further testifying that this is the true grace of God, in which you have stood.

13 The one in Babylon chosen together with you greets you, and Mark my son.

14 Greet one another with a kiss of love. Peace to all of you in Christ Jesus. Amen.

2 Peter

Chapter 1

1 Simeon Peter, a slave and apostle of Jesus Christ, to those who obtained a faith equally precious with ours in the righteousness of our God and Savior Jesus Christ:

2 May grace and peace be multiplied to you in the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord,

3 as his divine power has given us all things pertaining to life and godliness, through the knowledge of the one who called us through glory and excellence,

4 through which the greatest and precious promises have been given to us, so that through these you may become partakers of divine nature, having escaped the corruption in the world in desire.

5 And for this very thing also, bringing in all diligence, supply in your faith excellence, and in excellence knowledge,

6 and in knowledge self-control, and in self-control endurance, and in endurance godliness,

7 and in godliness brotherly love, and in brotherly love love.

8 For these things, belonging to you and increasing, make you neither idle nor unfruitful toward the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

9 For the one to whom these things are not present is blind, being shortsighted, having taken forgetfulness of the cleansing of his former sins.

10 Therefore rather, brothers, be diligent to make your calling and election firm, for doing these things you will certainly never stumble.

11 For thus the entrance into the eternal kingdom of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ will be richly supplied to you.

12 Therefore I will not neglect always to remind you concerning these things, although you know and have been established in the present truth.

13 But I consider it right, as long as I am in this tent, to stir you up by reminder,

14 knowing that the putting off of my tent is soon, as also our Lord Jesus Christ indicated to me.

15 But I will also be diligent that after my departure you may at each time be able to make remembrance of these things.

16 For not having followed cleverly devised myths did we make known to you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but having become eyewitnesses of his majesty.

17 For having received honor and glory from God the Father, such a voice having been brought to him by the magnificent glory: This is my beloved Son, in whom I took pleasure,

18 and we heard this voice brought from heaven, being with him on the holy mountain.

19 And we have the prophetic word firmer, to which you do well to pay attention as to a lamp shining in a murky place, until day shines through and the light-bearer rises in your hearts,

20 knowing this first, that no prophecy of Scripture comes from its own interpretation.

21 For prophecy was never brought by man's will, but the holy men of God spoke, being carried by the Holy Spirit.

Chapter 2

1 But there also arose false prophets among the people, as there will also be false teachers among you, who will secretly bring in heresies of destruction, even denying the master who bought them, bringing upon themselves swift destruction.

2 And many will follow their destructions, because of whom the way of truth will be blasphemed.

3 And in greed they will trade in you with fabricated words, for whom the judgment from long ago is not idle, and their destruction does not slumber.

4 For if God did not spare angels having sinned, but having cast them into Tartarus with chains of gloom, handed them over, kept for judgment,

5 and did not spare the ancient world, but guarded Noah, an eighth, a herald of righteousness, having brought a flood upon a world of ungodly ones,

6 and having reduced the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah to ashes, condemned them to overthrow, having set an example of those about to be ungodly,

7 and rescued righteous Lot, being oppressed by the conduct of the lawless in licentiousness,

8 for by sight and hearing the righteous one, dwelling among them, was tormenting a righteous soul day after day with lawless works,

9 the Lord knows how to rescue godly ones out of trial, but to keep unrighteous ones being punished for a day of judgment,

10 and especially those going after flesh in desire of defilement and despising lordship. Daring, self-willed, they do not tremble, blaspheming glories,

11 whereas angels, being greater in strength and power, do not bring a blasphemous judgment against them before the Lord.

12 But these, like irrational natural animals born for capture and corruption, blaspheming in things they do not know, will be utterly corrupted in their corruption,

13 receiving a wage of unrighteousness, considering luxury in daytime a pleasure, spots and blemishes, reveling in their deceits, feasting together with you,

14 having eyes full of an adulteress and unceasing from sin, enticing unstable souls, having a heart trained in greeds, children of a curse.

15 Having left the straight way, they wandered, having followed the way of Balaam of Bosor, who loved a wage of unrighteousness.

16 But he had a rebuke of his own lawlessness: a voiceless beast of burden, having spoken with a man's voice, restrained the prophet's madness.

17 These are waterless springs, clouds driven by a storm, for whom the gloom of darkness has been kept forever.

18 For speaking swollen things of vanity, they entice in fleshly desires, in licentiousness, those who truly escaped those conducting themselves in wandering,

19 promising them freedom, themselves being slaves of corruption; for by what someone has been overcome, by this he has also been enslaved.

20 For if, having escaped the defilements of the world in the knowledge of the Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, but having again become entangled in these, they are overcome, their last things have become worse than the first.

21 For it was better for them not to have known the way of righteousness than, having known it, to turn back from the holy commandment handed down to them.

22 But the thing of the true proverb has happened to them: A dog having returned to its own vomit, and a sow having washed, to a rolling in mud.

Chapter 3

1 This is already a second letter I write to you, beloved, in which I stir up your sincere understanding by reminder,

2 to remember the words spoken beforehand by the holy prophets, and the commandment of the Lord and Savior from our apostles,

3 knowing this first, that mockers will come at the last of the days, walking according to their own desires,

4 and saying: Where is the promise of his coming? For since the fathers fell asleep, all things remain thus from the beginning of creation.

5 For this escapes them willingly, that heavens existed long ago, and earth standing together out of water and through water by the word of God,

6 through which the world then, having been flooded with water, perished.

7 But the present heavens and earth have been stored up by his word for fire, being kept for a day of judgment and destruction of ungodly men.

8 But let this one thing not escape you, beloved, that one day before the Lord is as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.

9 The Lord does not delay the promise, as some consider delay, but is patient toward us, not wishing any to perish but all to come to repentance.

10 But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in which the heavens will pass away with a rushing sound, and the elements, burning, will be dissolved, and earth and the works in it will be burned up.

11 Therefore, all these things being dissolved, what kind ought you to be in holy conducts and godlinesses,

12 expecting and hastening the coming of the day of God, because of which heavens being set on fire will be dissolved, and elements burning melt.

13 But according to his promise we expect new heavens and a new earth, in which righteousness dwells.

14 Therefore, beloved, expecting these things, be diligent to be found by him unspotted and blameless in peace,

15 and consider the patience of our Lord salvation, as also our beloved brother Paul, according to the wisdom given to him, wrote to you,

16 as also in all the letters, speaking in them concerning these things, in which are some things difficult to understand, which the unlearned and unstable twist, as also the remaining Scriptures, toward their own destruction.

17 Therefore you, beloved, knowing beforehand, guard yourselves so that, being carried away together by the wandering of the lawless, you may not fall from your own firmness.

18 But grow in grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. To him be the glory both now and to a day of eternity. Amen.

1 John

Chapter 1

1 What was from the beginning, what we have heard, what we have seen with our eyes, what we beheld and our hands touched, concerning the word of life,

2 and the life was manifested, and we have seen and testify and announce to you the eternal life, which was with the Father and was manifested to us,

3 what we have seen and heard we announce to you, so that you also may have fellowship with us; and our fellowship is also with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ.

4 And these things we write to you so that our joy may be fulfilled.

5 And this is the promise which we have heard from him and report to you, that God is light, and there is no darkness at all in him.

6 If we say that we have fellowship with him and walk in darkness, we lie and do not do the truth.

7 But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanses us from every sin.

8 If we say that we do not have sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.

9 If we confess our sins, he is faithful and righteous to forgive us the sins and cleanse us from every unrighteousness.

10 If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

Chapter 2

1 My little children, these things I write to you so that you may not sin. And if anyone sins, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous.

2 And he is atonement concerning our sins, but not concerning ours only, but also concerning the whole world.

3 And by this we know that we have known him, if we keep his commandments.

4 The one saying: I have known him, and not keeping his commandments, is a liar, and in this one the truth is not.

5 But whoever keeps his word, truly in this one the love of God has been perfected. By this we know that we are in him.

6 The one saying he remains in him ought himself also to walk thus, just as that one walked.

7 Brothers, I do not write a new commandment to you, but an old commandment which you had from the beginning; the old commandment is the word which you heard from the beginning.

8 Again I write a new commandment to you, which is true in him and in you, because the darkness is passing away and the true light already shines.

9 The one saying he is in the light and hating his brother is in the darkness until now.

10 The one loving his brother remains in the light, and there is no stumbling block in him.

11 But the one hating his brother is in the darkness and walks in the darkness, and does not know where he goes, because the darkness blinded his eyes.

12 I write to you, little children, because the sins have been forgiven you because of his name.

13 I write to you, fathers, because you have known the one from the beginning. I write to you, young men, because you have overcome the evil one. I write to you, children, because you have known the Father.

14 I wrote to you, fathers, because you have known the one from the beginning. I wrote to you, young men, because you are strong, and the word of God remains in you, and you have overcome the evil one.

15 Do not love the world nor the things in the world. If anyone loves the world, the love of the Father is not in him.

16 Because everything in the world, the desire of the flesh and the desire of the eyes and the arrogance of life, is not from the Father but is from the world.

17 And the world is passing away, and its desire; but the one doing the will of God remains forever.

18 Children, it is a last hour; and as you heard that the antichrist is coming, even now many antichrists have arisen, from which we know that it is a last hour.

19 They went out from us, but they were not from us; for if they were from us, they would have remained with us, but so that they might be manifested, that not all are from us.

20 And you have an anointing from the Holy One, and you know all things.

21 I did not write to you because you do not know the truth, but because you know it, and because every lie is not from the truth.

22 Who is the liar if not the one denying that Jesus is the Christ? This is the antichrist, the one denying the Father and the Son.

23 Everyone denying the Son does not have the Father either.

24 Therefore you, let what you heard from the beginning remain in you. If what you heard from the beginning remains in you, you also will remain in the Son and in the Father.

25 And this is the promise which he himself promised us, the eternal life.

26 These things I wrote to you concerning those deceiving you.

27 And you, the anointing which you received from him remains in you, and you have no need that anyone teach you; but as the same anointing teaches you concerning all things, and is true and is not a lie, and as it taught you, you will remain in him.

28 And now, little children, remain in him, so that when he is manifested we may have boldness and not be put to shame away from him at his coming.

29 If you know that he is righteous, you know that everyone doing righteousness has been begotten from him.

Chapter 3

1 See what kind of love the Father has given us, so that we may be called children of God. Because of this the world does not know us, because it did not know him.

2 Beloved, now we are children of God, and it has not yet been manifested what we will be; but we know that if he is manifested, we will be like him, because we will see him as he is.

3 And everyone having this hope upon him purifies himself, just as that one is pure.

4 Everyone doing sin also does lawlessness, and sin is lawlessness.

5 And you know that that one was manifested so that he might take away our sins, and sin is not in him.

6 Everyone remaining in him does not sin; everyone sinning has not seen him nor known him.

7 Little children, let no one deceive you. The one doing righteousness is righteous, just as that one is righteous.

8 The one doing sin is from the devil, because from the beginning the devil sins. For this the Son of God was manifested, so that he might dissolve the works of the devil.

9 Everyone begotten from God does not do sin, because his seed remains in him; and he cannot sin, because he has been begotten from God.

10 By this the children of God and the children of the devil are manifest: everyone not doing righteousness is not from God, and the one not loving his brother.

11 Because this is the message which you heard from the beginning, that we should love one another,

12 not as Cain was from the evil one and slaughtered his brother. And for what reason did he slaughter him? Because his works were evil, but those of his brother righteous.

13 Do not marvel, my brothers, if the world hates you.

14 We know that we have passed from death into life, because we love the brothers. The one not loving the brother remains in death.

15 Everyone hating his brother is a murderer, and you know that every murderer does not have eternal life remaining in him.

16 By this we have known love, because that one laid down his soul for us; and we ought to lay down our souls for the brothers.

17 But whoever has the livelihood of the world, and sees his brother having need, and closes his inward parts against him, how does the love of God remain in him?

18 My little children, let us not love in word nor in tongue, but in work and truth.

19 And by this we know that we are from the truth, and before him we will persuade our hearts,

20 because if our heart condemns us, God is greater than our heart and knows all things.

21 Beloved, if our heart does not condemn us, we have boldness toward God,

22 and whatever we ask we receive from him, because we keep his commandments and do the things pleasing before him.

23 And this is his commandment, that we should believe in the name of his Son Jesus Christ and love one another, as he gave us commandment.

24 And the one keeping his commandments remains in him, and he in him; and by this we know that he remains in us, from the Spirit which he gave us.

Chapter 4

1 Beloved, do not believe every spirit, but test the spirits, whether they are from God, because many false prophets have gone out into the world.

2 By this know the Spirit of God: every spirit confessing Jesus Christ having come in flesh is from God.

3 And every spirit not confessing Jesus Christ having come in flesh is not from God; and this is that of the antichrist, which you have heard is coming, and now is already in the world.

4 You are from God, little children, and have overcome them, because the one in you is greater than the one in the world.

5 They are from the world; because of this they speak from the world, and the world hears them.

6 We are from God. The one knowing God hears us; the one who is not from God does not hear us. From this we know the Spirit of truth and the spirit of wandering.

7 Beloved, let us love one another, because love is from God, and everyone loving has been begotten from God and knows God.

8 The one not loving did not know God, because God is love.

9 In this the love of God was manifested in us, that God has sent his only-begotten Son into the world so that we may live through him.

10 In this is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us and sent his Son as atonement concerning our sins.

11 Beloved, if God thus loved us, we also ought to love one another.

12 No one has ever beheld God. If we love one another, God remains in us, and his love is perfected in us.

13 By this we know that we remain in him and he in us, because he has given us from his Spirit.

14 And we have beheld and testify that the Father has sent the Son as Savior of the world.

15 Whoever confesses that Jesus is the Son of God, God remains in him and he in God.

16 And we have known and believed the love which God has in us. God is love, and the one remaining in love remains in God, and God in him.

17 In this love has been perfected with us, so that we may have boldness in the day of judgment, because as that one is, we also are in this world.

18 There is no fear in love, but perfect love casts fear outside, because fear has punishment; but the one fearing has not been perfected in love.

19 We love him because he first loved us.

20 If anyone says: I love God, and hates his brother, he is a liar; for the one not loving his brother whom he has seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?

21 And this commandment we have from him, that the one loving God should also love his brother.

Chapter 5

1 Everyone believing that Jesus is the Christ has been begotten from God, and everyone loving the one who begot also loves the one begotten from him.

2 By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God and keep his commandments.

3 For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments; and his commandments are not heavy.

4 Because everything begotten from God overcomes the world; and this is the victory which overcame the world, our faith.

5 Who is the one overcoming the world if not the one believing that Jesus is the Son of God?

6 This is the one who came through water and blood, Jesus the Christ; not in the water only, but in the water and in the blood. And the Spirit is the one testifying, because the Spirit is the truth.

7 Because there are three testifying in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Spirit, and these three are one.

8 And there are three testifying on earth, the Spirit and the water and the blood, and the three are unto the one.

9 If we receive the testimony of men, the testimony of God is greater, because this is the testimony of God which he has testified concerning his Son.

10 The one believing in the Son of God has the testimony in himself; the one not believing God has made him a liar, because he has not believed in the testimony which God has testified concerning his Son.

11 And this is the testimony, that God gave us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.

12 The one having the Son has life; the one not having the Son of God does not have life.

13 These things I wrote to you who believe in the name of the Son of God, so that you may know that you have eternal life, and so that you may believe in the name of the Son of God.

14 And this is the boldness which we have toward him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he hears us.

15 And if we know that he hears us, whatever we ask, we know that we have the requests which we have asked from him.

16 If anyone sees his brother sinning a sin not unto death, he will ask, and he will give him life, to those sinning not unto death. There is a sin unto death; not concerning that do I say that he should ask.

17 All unrighteousness is sin, and there is sin not unto death.

18 We know that everyone begotten from God does not sin, but the one begotten from God keeps himself, and the evil one does not touch him.

19 We know that we are from God, and the whole world lies in the evil one.

20 But we know that the Son of God has come and has given us understanding, so that we may know the true one; and we are in the true one, in his Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God and eternal life.

21 Little children, guard yourselves from the idols. Amen.

2 John

Chapter 1

1 The elder to the chosen lady and her children, whom I love in truth, and not I alone, but also all who have known the truth,

2 because of the truth remaining in us, and it will be with us forever.

3 Grace, mercy, peace will be with us from God the Father and from the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and love.

4 I rejoiced greatly because I have found some of your children walking in truth, as we received commandment from the Father.

5 And now I ask you, lady, not as writing a new commandment to you, but the one which we had from the beginning, that we should love one another.

6 And this is love, that we should walk according to his commandments. This is the commandment, as you heard from the beginning, that you should walk in it.

7 Because many deceivers entered into the world, those not confessing Jesus Christ coming in flesh. This is the deceiver and the antichrist.

8 Watch yourselves, so that we may not lose what we worked, but may receive a full reward.

9 Everyone transgressing and not remaining in the teaching of Christ does not have God; the one remaining in the teaching of Christ, this one has both the Father and the Son.

10 If anyone comes to you and does not bring this teaching, do not receive him into a house, and do not say greetings to him.

11 For the one saying greetings to him partakes of his evil works.

12 Having many things to write to you, I did not wish through paper and ink, but I hope to come to you and speak mouth to mouth, so that our joy may be fulfilled.

13 The children of your chosen sister greet you. Amen.

3 John

Chapter 1

1 The elder to the beloved Gaius, whom I love in truth.

2 Beloved, concerning all things I pray that you prosper and be healthy, as your soul prospers.

3 For I rejoiced greatly when brothers came and testified to your truth, as you walk in truth.

4 I have no greater joy than these things, that I hear my own children walking in truth.

5 Beloved, you do a faithful thing, whatever you work toward the brothers and toward the strangers,

6 who testified to your love before the church; whom you will do well to send onward worthily of God.

7 For on behalf of the name they went out, receiving nothing from the nations.

8 Therefore we ought to receive such ones, so that we may become fellow workers with the truth.

9 I wrote to the church, but Diotrephes, who loves to be first among them, does not receive us.

10 Because of this, if I come, I will bring to remembrance his works which he does, babbling against us with evil words; and not being content with these, neither does he himself receive the brothers, and he prevents those wishing to and casts them out of the church.

11 Beloved, do not imitate the evil but the good. The one doing good is from God, but the one doing evil has not seen God.

12 Demetrius has been testified to by all and by the truth itself; and we also testify, and you know that our testimony is true.

13 I had many things to write, but I do not wish to write to you through ink and reed.

14 But I hope to see you immediately, and we will speak mouth to mouth.

15 Peace to you. The friends greet you. Greet the friends by name.

Jude

Chapter 1

1 Jude, a slave of Jesus Christ, and brother of James, to the called, sanctified in God the Father and kept for Jesus Christ:

2 May mercy and peace and love be multiplied to you.

3 Beloved, making all diligence to write to you concerning the common salvation, I had necessity to write to you, urging you to contend earnestly for the faith once handed down to the saints.

4 For certain men slipped in, those long ago written beforehand for this judgment, ungodly, changing the grace of our God into licentiousness and denying the only master God and our Lord Jesus Christ.

5 But I wish to remind you, you knowing this once, that the Lord, having saved a people out of the land of Egypt, the second time destroyed those not believing.

6 And angels who did not keep their own rule but left their own dwelling, he has kept in everlasting bonds under gloom for judgment of a great day.

7 As Sodom and Gomorrah and the cities around them, having committed fornication in a manner like these and gone after other flesh, are set forth as an example, undergoing punishment of eternal fire.

8 Yet likewise these also, dreaming, indeed defile flesh, and set aside lordship, and blaspheme glories.

9 But Michael the archangel, when disputing with the devil he was arguing concerning the body of Moses, did not dare to bring a judgment of blasphemy, but said: May the Lord rebuke you.

10 But these blaspheme whatever they do not know, and whatever they understand naturally, like the irrational animals, in these things they are corrupted.

11 Woe to them, because they went in the way of Cain, and for reward poured themselves out in the wandering of Balaam, and perished in the opposition of Korah.

12 These are reefs in your love feasts, feasting together without fear, shepherding themselves; waterless clouds carried about by winds; autumn trees, fruitless, having died twice, uprooted;

13 wild waves of the sea foaming up their own shames; wandering stars, for whom the gloom of darkness has been kept forever.

14 And Enoch, seventh from Adam, also prophesied to these, saying: Behold, the Lord came with his holy myriads,

15 to do judgment against all, and convict all their ungodly ones concerning all their works of ungodliness which they did ungodly, and concerning all the hard things which ungodly sinners spoke against him.

16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking according to their desires, and their mouth speaks swollen things, admiring persons for the sake of benefit.

17 But you, beloved, remember the words spoken beforehand by the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ,

18 that they were saying to you that in the last time there will be mockers walking according to their own desires of ungodlinesses.

19 These are those making divisions, natural, not having the Spirit.

20 But you, beloved, building yourselves upon your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Spirit,

21 keep yourselves in the love of God, awaiting the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life.

22 And have mercy on some, making distinctions,

23 but save others with fear, snatching them from the fire, hating even the tunic stained by the flesh.

24 But to the one able to guard them without stumbling, and to stand them blameless before his glory in exultation,

25 to the only wise God our Savior, be glory and majesty, dominion and authority, both now and unto all the ages. Amen.

Revelation

Chapter 1

1 Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave him to show his slaves what must happen soon; and he signified it, sending through his angel to his slave John,

2 who testified to the word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ, and whatever he saw.

3 Blessed is the one reading, and those hearing the words of the prophecy and keeping the things written in it, for the time is near.

4 John to the seven churches in Asia: Grace to you and peace from the one who is and who was and who is coming, and from the seven spirits which are before his throne,

5 and from Jesus Christ, the faithful witness, the firstborn from the dead and the ruler of the kings of the earth. To the one who loved us and washed us from our sins in his blood,

6 and made us kings and priests to his God and Father, to him be the glory and the dominion forever and ever. Amen.

7 Behold, he comes with the clouds, and every eye will see him, and those who pierced him, and all the tribes of the earth will mourn over him. Yes, amen.

8 I am the Alpha and the Omega, beginning and end, says the Lord, the one who is and who was and who is coming, the Almighty.

9 I, John, also your brother and fellow partaker in the affliction and in the kingdom and endurance of Jesus Christ, came to be on the island called Patmos because of the word of God and because of the testimony of Jesus Christ.

10 I came to be in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice like a trumpet,

11 saying: I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last; and what you see, write in a book and send to the churches in Asia, to Ephesus and to Smyrna and to Pergamum and to Thyatira and to Sardis and to Philadelphia and to Laodicea.

12 And I turned to see the voice which spoke with me, and having turned I saw seven golden lampstands,

13 and in the midst of the seven lampstands one like a son of man, clothed in a garment reaching to the feet and girded at the breasts with a golden belt.

14 And his head and hairs were white as white wool, as snow, and his eyes as a flame of fire,

15 and his feet like fine bronze, as having been fired in a furnace, and his voice as a voice of many waters,

16 and having in his right hand seven stars, and from his mouth a sharp two-edged sword going out, and his appearance as the sun shines in its power.

17 And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead; and he laid his right hand upon me, saying to me: Do not fear; I am the first and the last,

18 and the living one, and I became dead, and behold, I am living forever and ever. Amen. And I have the keys of Hades and of death.

19 Write what you saw, and what is, and what is about to happen after these things.

20 The mystery of the seven stars which you saw upon my right hand, and the seven golden lampstands: The seven stars are angels of the seven churches, and the seven lampstands which you saw are seven churches.

Chapter 2

1 To the angel of the Ephesian church write: These things says the one holding the seven stars in his right hand, the one walking in the midst of the seven golden lampstands:

2 I know your works and your labor and your endurance, and that you cannot bear evil ones; and you tested those claiming to be apostles and are not, and found them false.

3 And you bore, and have endurance, and because of my name you have labored and have not grown weary.

4 But I have against you that you left your first love.

5 Therefore remember from where you have fallen, and repent and do the first works; but if not, I come to you quickly and will move your lampstand from its place, unless you repent.

6 But this you have, that you hate the works of the Nicolaitans, which I also hate.

7 The one having an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To the one overcoming, I will give him to eat from the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God.

8 And to the angel of the church of the Smyrnaeans write: These things says the first and the last, who became dead and lived:

9 I know your works and affliction and poverty, but you are rich, and the blasphemy of those saying they themselves are Jews and are not, but a synagogue of Satan.

10 Fear none of the things you are about to suffer. Behold, the devil is about to cast some of you into prison, so that you may be tested, and you will have affliction for ten days. Become faithful until death, and I will give you the crown of life.

11 The one having an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. The one overcoming will certainly not be harmed by the second death.

12 And to the angel of the church in Pergamum write: These things says the one having the sharp two-edged sword:

13 I know your works and where you dwell, where the throne of Satan is; and you hold my name and did not deny my faith, even in the days in which Antipas, my faithful witness, was killed among you, where Satan dwells.

14 But I have a few things against you, because you have there those holding the teaching of Balaam, who was teaching Balak to put a stumbling block before the sons of Israel, to eat things sacrificed to idols and commit fornication.

15 Thus you also have those holding the teaching of the Nicolaitans, which I hate.

16 Repent; but if not, I come to you quickly and will wage war with them by the sword of my mouth.

17 The one having an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches. To the one overcoming, I will give him to eat from the hidden manna, and I will give him a white stone, and upon the stone a new name written, which no one knew except the one receiving.

18 And to the angel of the church in Thyatira write: These things says the Son of God, the one having his eyes as a flame of fire, and his feet like fine bronze:

19 I know your works and love and ministry and faith and your endurance, and your works, and the last more than the first.

20 But I have a few things against you, because you allow the woman Jezebel, who calls herself a prophetess, to teach, and my slaves to be deceived to commit fornication and eat things sacrificed to idols.

21 And I gave her time so that she might repent from her fornication, and she did not repent.

22 Behold, I cast her into a bed, and those committing adultery with her into great affliction, unless they repent from their works.

23 And her children I will kill with death, and all the churches will know that I am the one searching kidneys and hearts; and I will give to you, each, according to your works.

24 But to you I say, and to the rest in Thyatira, as many as do not have this teaching, and who did not know the depths of Satan, as they say: I will not put upon you another burden.

25 Only hold what you have until I come.

26 And the one overcoming and keeping my works until the end, I will give him authority over the nations,

27 and he will shepherd them with an iron rod; as the pottery vessels are shattered, as I also have received from my Father.

28 And I will give him the morning star.

29 The one having an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.

Chapter 3

1 And to the angel of the church in Sardis write: These things says the one having the spirits of God and the seven stars: I know your works, that you have the name that you live, and you are dead.

2 Become watchful, and establish the remaining things which are about to die, for I have not found your works fulfilled before God.

3 Therefore remember how you have received and heard, and keep and repent. Therefore if you do not keep watch, I will come upon you as a thief, and you will certainly not know at what hour I will come upon you.

4 You have a few names even in Sardis which did not defile their garments, and they will walk with me in white, because they are worthy.

5 The one overcoming, this one will be clothed in white garments, and I will certainly not erase his name from the book of life, and I will confess his name before my Father and before his angels.

6 The one having an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.

7 And to the angel of the church in Philadelphia write: These things says the holy one, the true one, the one having the key of David, the one opening and no one shuts, and shuts and no one opens:

8 I know your works. Behold, I have given before you an opened door, and no one can shut it, because you have a little power, and kept my word and did not deny my name.

9 Behold, I give from the synagogue of Satan, those saying they themselves are Jews and are not, but lie; behold, I will make them come and bow before your feet and know that I loved you.

10 Because you kept the word of my endurance, I also will keep you from the hour of trial about to come upon the whole inhabited world, to test those dwelling upon the earth.

11 Behold, I come quickly. Hold what you have, so that no one may take your crown.

12 The one overcoming, I will make him a pillar in the temple of my God, and he will certainly not go out anymore; and I will write upon him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God, the new Jerusalem, which comes down out of heaven from my God, and my new name.

13 The one having an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.

14 And to the angel of the church of the Laodiceans write: These things says the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God:

15 I know your works, that you are neither cold nor hot. Would that you were cold or hot!

16 Thus, because you are lukewarm and neither cold nor hot, I am about to vomit you from my mouth.

17 Because you say: I am rich and have become wealthy and have need of nothing, and do not know that you are the miserable and pitiable and poor and blind and naked one,

18 I counsel you to buy from me gold refined by fire, so that you may be rich, and white garments, so that you may clothe yourself and the shame of your nakedness may not be manifested; and anoint your eyes with eye salve, so that you may see.

19 As many as I love, I reprove and discipline; therefore be zealous and repent.

20 Behold, I have stood at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will enter to him and dine with him, and he with me.

21 The one overcoming, I will give him to sit with me on my throne, as I also overcame and sat with my Father on his throne.

22 The one having an ear, let him hear what the Spirit says to the churches.

Chapter 4

1 After these things I saw, and behold, a door opened in heaven, and the first voice which I heard, as of a trumpet speaking with me, saying: Come up here, and I will show you what must happen after these things.

2 And immediately I came to be in the Spirit, and behold, a throne was set in heaven, and upon the throne one sitting.

3 And the one sitting was like in appearance to a jasper and sardine stone, and a rainbow around the throne like in appearance to emerald.

4 And around the throne were twenty-four thrones, and upon the thrones I saw the twenty-four elders sitting, clothed in white garments, and they had upon their heads golden crowns.

5 And from the throne go out lightnings and thunders and voices, and seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven spirits of God.

6 And before the throne a glassy sea like crystal, and in the midst of the throne and around the throne four living creatures full of eyes in front and behind.

7 And the first living creature like a lion, and the second living creature like a calf, and the third living creature having the face as a man, and the fourth living creature like a flying eagle.

8 And the four living creatures, each one by itself, had six wings apiece, around and within full of eyes; and they have no rest day and night, saying: Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, who was and who is and who is coming.

9 And whenever the living creatures will give glory and honor and thanksgiving to the one sitting upon the throne, the one living forever and ever,

10 the twenty-four elders will fall before the one sitting upon the throne, and worship the one living forever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying:

11 You are worthy, Lord, to receive the glory and the honor and the power, because you created all things, and because of your will they are and were created.

Chapter 5

1 And I saw upon the right hand of the one sitting upon the throne a book written within and behind, sealed with seven seals.

2 And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a great voice: Who is worthy to open the book and loose its seals?

3 And no one in heaven nor upon the earth nor beneath the earth was able to open the book nor look at it.

4 And I wept much because no one was found worthy to open and read the book, nor look at it.

5 And one of the elders says to me: Do not weep; behold, the lion from the tribe of Judah, the root of David, overcame, to open the book and loose its seven seals.

6 And I saw, and behold, in the midst of the throne and of the four living creatures and in the midst of the elders, a lamb standing as slaughtered, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven spirits of God sent into all the earth.

7 And he came and has taken the book from the right hand of the one sitting upon the throne.

8 And when he took the book, the four living creatures and the twenty-four elders fell before the lamb, each having harps and golden bowls full of incenses, which are the prayers of the saints.

9 And they sing a new song, saying: You are worthy to take the book and open its seals, because you were slaughtered and bought us for God in your blood from every tribe and tongue and people and nation,

10 and made us kings and priests to our God, and we will reign upon the earth.

11 And I saw and heard a voice of many angels around the throne and the living creatures and the elders, and thousands of thousands,

12 saying with a great voice: Worthy is the lamb who has been slaughtered to receive the power and wealth and wisdom and strength and honor and glory and blessing.

13 And every creature which is in heaven and on the earth and beneath the earth and upon the sea, the things which are, and all the things in them, I heard saying: To the one sitting upon the throne and to the lamb, the blessing and the honor and the glory and the dominion forever and ever.

14 And the four living creatures were saying: Amen. And the twenty-four elders fell and worshiped the one living forever and ever.

Chapter 6

1 And I saw when the lamb opened one of the seals, and heard one of the four living creatures saying as a voice of thunder: Come and see.

2 And I saw, and behold, a white horse, and the one sitting upon it having a bow; and a crown was given him, and he went out overcoming and so that he might overcome.

3 And when he opened the second seal, I heard the second living creature saying: Come and see.

4 And another horse went out, fiery red, and to the one sitting upon it was given to take peace from the earth, and so that they might slaughter one another; and a great sword was given him.

5 And when he opened the third seal, I heard the third living creature saying: Come and see. And I saw, and behold, a black horse, and the one sitting upon it having a balance in his hand.

6 And I heard a voice in the midst of the four living creatures saying: A choenix of wheat for a denarius, and three choenixes of barley for a denarius; and do not harm the oil and the wine.

7 And when he opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth living creature saying: Come and see.

8 And I saw, and behold, a pale green horse, and the one sitting upon it, his name Death, and Hades follows with him; and authority was given them to kill over the fourth of the earth with sword and with famine and with death and by the beasts of the earth.

9 And when he opened the fifth seal, I saw beneath the altar the souls of those slaughtered because of the word of God and because of the testimony which they had.

10 And they were crying with a great voice, saying: Until when, holy and true master, do you not judge and avenge our blood upon those dwelling on the earth?

11 And white robes were given to each, and it was said to them that they should rest yet a little time, until both their fellow slaves and their brothers, those about to be killed as they also were, should be fulfilled.

12 And I saw when he opened the sixth seal, and behold, a great earthquake occurred, and the sun became black as a sack of hair, and the moon became as blood, 13 and the stars of heaven fell to the earth, as a fig tree casts its unripe figs when shaken by a great wind.

14 And heaven was separated as a book being rolled up, and every mountain and island were moved from their places.

15 And the kings of the earth and the great ones and the rich and the commanders of thousands and the powerful and every slave and every free one hid themselves in the caves and in the rocks of the mountains,

16 and say to the mountains and the rocks: Fall upon us and hide us from the face of the one sitting upon the throne and from the wrath of the lamb,

17 because the great day of his wrath came, and who is able to stand?

Chapter 7

1 And after these things I saw four angels standing upon the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, so that wind might not blow upon the earth nor upon the sea nor upon any tree.

2 And I saw another angel coming up from the rising of the sun, having a seal of the living God, and he cried with a great voice to the four angels to whom it was given to harm the earth and the sea,

3 saying: Do not harm the earth nor the sea nor the trees, until we seal the slaves of our God upon their foreheads.

4 And I heard the number of those sealed: a hundred forty-four thousand sealed from every tribe of the sons of Israel.

5 From the tribe of Judah twelve thousand sealed; from the tribe of Reuben twelve thousand sealed; from the tribe of Gad twelve thousand sealed;

6 from the tribe of Asher twelve thousand sealed; from the tribe of Naphtali twelve thousand sealed; from the tribe of Manasseh twelve thousand sealed;

7 from the tribe of Simeon twelve thousand sealed; from the tribe of Levi twelve thousand sealed; from the tribe of Issachar twelve thousand sealed;

8 from the tribe of Zebulun twelve thousand sealed; from the tribe of Joseph twelve thousand sealed; from the tribe of Benjamin twelve thousand sealed.

9 After these things I saw, and behold, a great crowd which no one was able to number, from every nation and tribes and peoples and tongues, standing before the throne and before the lamb, clothed in white robes, and palms in their hands,

10 and crying with a great voice, saying: Salvation to the one sitting upon the throne of our God, and to the lamb.

11 And all the angels had stood around the throne and the elders and the four living creatures, and fell before the throne upon their face and worshiped God,

12 saying: Amen. The blessing and the glory and the wisdom and the thanksgiving and the honor and the power and the strength to our God forever and ever. Amen.

13 And one of the elders answered, saying to me: These clothed in the white robes, who are they, and from where did they come?

14 And I have said to him: Lord, you know. And he said to me: These are those coming out of the great affliction, and they washed their robes and whitened their robes in the blood of the lamb.

15 Because of this they are before the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his temple, and the one sitting upon the throne will dwell in a tent over them.

16 They will hunger no more, nor thirst anymore, nor will the sun fall upon them, nor any heat,

17 because the lamb in the midst of the throne will shepherd them and guide them to living springs of waters, and God will wipe away every tear from their eyes.

Chapter 8

1 And when he opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven for about half an hour.

2 And I saw the seven angels who stand before God, and seven trumpets were given them.

3 And another angel came and stood upon the altar, having a golden censer; and much incense was given him, so that he might give it to the prayers of all the saints upon the golden altar before the throne.

4 And the smoke of the incense went up with the prayers of the saints from the hand of the angel before God.

5 And the angel has taken the censer and filled it from the fire of the altar and cast it to the earth, and there were voices and thunders and lightnings and an earthquake.

6 And the seven angels having the seven trumpets prepared themselves so that they might trumpet.

7 And the first angel trumpeted, and there came hail and fire mingled with blood, and it was cast to the earth, and the third of the trees was burned up, and all green grass was burned up.

8 And the second angel trumpeted, and as a great mountain burning with fire was cast into the sea, and the third of the sea became blood,

9 and the third of the creatures in the sea, those having souls, died, and the third of the ships was destroyed.

10 And the third angel trumpeted, and a great star fell from heaven, burning as a lamp, and it fell upon the third of the rivers and upon the springs of waters.

11 And the name of the star is called Wormwood; and the third becomes wormwood, and many of men died from the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 And the fourth angel trumpeted, and the third of the sun was struck, and the third of the moon and the third of the stars, so that the third of them might be darkened, and the day might not shine for the third of it, and the night likewise.

13 And I saw and heard one angel flying in midheaven, saying with a great voice: Woe, woe, woe to those dwelling upon the earth, from the remaining voices of the trumpet of the three angels about to trumpet.

Chapter 9

1 And the fifth angel trumpeted, and I saw a star having fallen from heaven to the earth, and the key of the shaft of the abyss was given him.

2 And he opened the shaft of the abyss, and smoke went up from the shaft as smoke of a great furnace, and the sun and the air were darkened from the smoke of the shaft.

3 And from the smoke locusts came out to the earth, and authority was given them as the scorpions of the earth have authority.

4 And it was said to them that they should not harm the grass of the earth nor any green thing nor any tree, except only the men who do not have the seal of God upon their foreheads.

5 And it was given them that they should not kill them, but that they should be tormented for five months; and their torment as a scorpion's torment when it strikes a man.

6 And in those days men will seek death and will not find it, and will desire to die, and death will flee from them.

7 And the likenesses of the locusts were like horses prepared for war, and upon their heads as crowns like gold, and their faces as faces of men.

8 And they had hairs as hairs of women, and their teeth were as those of lions.

9 And they had breastplates as iron breastplates, and the sound of their wings as a sound of chariots of many horses running into war.

10 And they have tails like scorpions, and stings were in their tails, and their authority to harm men for five months.

11 And they have over them as king the angel of the abyss; his name in Hebrew Abaddon, and in Greek he has the name Apollyon.

12 The one woe passed; behold, two woes still come after these things.

13 And the sixth angel trumpeted, and I heard one voice from the four horns of the golden altar before God,

14 saying to the sixth angel who had the trumpet: Loose the four angels bound at the great river Euphrates.

15 And the four angels were loosed, those prepared for the hour and day and month and year, so that they might kill the third of men.

16 And the number of armies of the cavalry was two myriads of myriads, and I heard their number.

17 And thus I saw the horses in the vision and those sitting upon them, having fiery and hyacinth-colored and sulfurous breastplates; and the heads of the horses as heads of lions, and from their mouths go out fire and smoke and sulfur.

18 By these three the third of men were killed, from the fire and from the smoke and from the sulfur going out from their mouths.

19 For their authorities are in their mouth, for their tails are like serpents, having heads, and with them they harm.

20 And the rest of men, who were not killed in these plagues, did not even repent from the works of their hands, so as not to worship the demons and the idols, the golden and the silver and the bronze and the stone and the wooden, which can neither see nor hear nor walk.

21 And they did not repent from their murders nor from their sorceries nor from their fornication nor from their thefts.

Chapter 10

1 And I saw another strong angel coming down from heaven, clothed with a cloud, and a rainbow upon the head, and his face as the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire.

2 And he had in his hand an opened little book, and placed his right foot upon the sea and the left upon the earth,

3 and cried with a great voice, as a lion roars; and when he cried, the seven thunders spoke their own voices.

4 And when the seven thunders spoke their own voices, I was about to write; and I heard a voice from heaven saying to me: Seal what the seven thunders spoke, and do not write these things.

5 And the angel whom I saw standing upon the sea and upon the earth raised his hand into heaven,

6 and swore by the one living forever and ever, who created heaven and the things in it and the earth and the things in it and the sea and the things in it, that there will be time no more,

7 but in the days of the voice of the seventh angel, when he is about to trumpet, the mystery of God should also be completed, as he proclaimed the good news to his own slaves, the prophets.

8 And the voice which I heard from heaven again speaking with me and saying: Go, take the opened little book in the hand of the angel standing upon the sea and upon the earth.

9 And I went to the angel, saying to him: Give me the little book. And he says to me: Take and eat it up, and it will make your belly bitter, but in your mouth it will be sweet as honey.

10 And I took the little book from the hand of the angel and ate it up, and in my mouth it was sweet as honey; and when I ate it, my belly was made bitter.

11 And he says to me: You must prophesy again concerning peoples and nations and tongues and many kings.

Chapter 11

1 And a reed like a rod was given me, saying: Rise and measure the temple of God and the altar and those worshiping in it.

2 And the court within the temple, cast outside and do not measure it, because it was given to the nations, and they will tread the holy city for forty-two months.

3 And I will give to my two witnesses, and they will prophesy for a thousand two hundred sixty days, clothed in sacks.

4 These are the two olive trees and two lampstands standing before the God of the earth.

5 And if anyone wishes to harm them, fire goes out from their mouth and devours their enemies; and if anyone wishes to harm them, thus he must be killed.

6 These have authority to shut heaven, so that rain may not fall in the days of their prophecy; and they have authority over the waters to turn them into blood, and to strike the earth with every plague as often as they wish.

7 And when they complete their testimony, the beast coming up from the abyss will make war with them and overcome them and kill them.

8 And their corpses upon the street of the great city, which is called spiritually Sodom and Egypt, where also our Lord was crucified.

9 And those from the peoples and tribes and tongues and nations will look at their corpses for three and a half days, and will not allow their corpses to be placed in tombs.

10 And those dwelling upon the earth will rejoice over them and be glad, and will send gifts to one another, because these two prophets tormented those dwelling upon the earth.

11 And after the three and a half days a spirit of life from God entered upon them, and they stood upon their feet, and great fear fell upon those observing them.

12 And they heard a great voice from heaven saying to them: Come up here. And they went up into heaven in the cloud, and their enemies observed them.

13 And in that hour there was a great earthquake, and the tenth of the city fell, and in the earthquake seven thousand names of men were killed, and the rest became fearful and gave glory to the God of heaven.

14 The second woe passed; behold, the third woe comes quickly.

15 And the seventh angel trumpeted, and there were great voices in heaven, saying: The kingdoms of the world became those of our Lord and of his Christ, and he will reign forever and ever.

16 And the twenty-four elders sitting before God upon their thrones fell upon their faces and worshiped God,

17 saying: We thank you, Lord God Almighty, who is and who was and who is coming, because you have taken your great power and reigned.

18 And the nations were enraged, and your wrath came, and the time of the dead to be judged, and to give the reward to your slaves the prophets and to the saints and to those fearing your name, the small and the great, and to destroy those destroying the earth.

19 And the temple of God in heaven was opened, and the ark of his covenant was seen in his temple, and there were lightnings and voices and thunders and an earthquake and great hail.

Chapter 12

1 And a great sign was seen in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon beneath her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars.

2 And having in the womb, she cries, suffering birth pains and being tormented to give birth.

3 And another sign was seen in heaven, and behold, a great fiery red dragon having seven heads and ten horns, and upon his heads seven diadems.

4 And his tail drags the third of the stars of heaven and cast them to the earth; and the dragon has stood before the woman about to give birth, so that when she gives birth he may devour her child.

5 And she gave birth to a male son, who is about to shepherd all the nations with an iron rod; and her child was snatched to God and his throne.

6 And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she has a place prepared by God, so that there they may nourish her for a thousand two hundred sixty days.

7 And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought, and his angels,

8 and they did not prevail, nor was their place found anymore in heaven.

9 And the great dragon was cast out, the ancient serpent, the one called Devil and Satan, who deceives the whole inhabited world; he was cast to the earth, and his angels were cast with him.

10 And I heard a great voice saying in heaven: Now came the salvation and the power and the kingdom of our God and the authority of his Christ, because the accuser of our brothers was cast down, the one accusing them before our God day and night.

11 And they overcame him because of the blood of the lamb and because of the word of their testimony, and they did not love their soul until death.

12 Because of this rejoice, heavens and those dwelling in tents in them. Woe to those dwelling on the earth and the sea, because the devil came down to you, having great wrath, knowing that he has a little time.

13 And when the dragon saw that he was cast to the earth, he pursued the woman who gave birth to the male.

14 And the two wings of the great eagle were given to the woman, so that she may fly into the wilderness, into her place, where she is nourished there for a time and times and half a time, away from the face of the serpent.

15 And the serpent cast from his mouth after the woman water as a river, so that he might make her carried away by the river.

16 And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened its mouth and swallowed the river which the dragon cast from his mouth.

17 And the dragon was enraged at the woman, and went away to make war with the rest of her seed, those keeping the commandments of God and having the testimony of Jesus Christ.

18 And I stood upon the sand of the sea.

Chapter 13

1 And I saw a beast coming up from the sea, having seven heads and ten horns, and upon its horns ten diadems, and upon its heads a name of blasphemy.

2 And the beast which I saw was like a leopard, and its feet as those of a bear, and its mouth as a mouth of a lion; and the dragon gave it his power and his throne and great authority.

3 And I saw one of its heads as slaughtered to death, and its wound of death was healed, and there was wonder in all the earth after the beast.

4 And they worshiped the dragon who gave authority to the beast, and worshiped the beast, saying: Who is like the beast? Who can make war with it?

5 And a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies was given it, and authority to act for forty-two months was given it.

6 And it opened its mouth for blasphemy toward God, to blaspheme his name and his tent and those dwelling in tents in heaven.

7 And it was given it to make war with the saints and overcome them, and authority was given it over every tribe and tongue and nation.

8 And all those dwelling upon the earth will worship it, whose names have not been written in the book of life of the lamb slaughtered from the foundation of the world.

9 If anyone has an ear, let him hear.

10 If anyone gathers captivity, he goes into captivity; if anyone will kill with a sword, he must be killed with a sword. Here is the endurance and the faith of the saints.

11 And I saw another beast coming up from the earth, and it had two horns like a lamb, and was speaking as a dragon.

12 And it exercises all the authority of the first beast before it, and makes the earth and those dwelling in it worship the first beast, whose wound of death was healed.

13 And it does great signs, so that it even makes fire come down from heaven to the earth before men.

14 And it deceives those dwelling upon the earth because of the signs which it was given it to do before the beast, saying to those dwelling upon the earth to make an image to the beast which has the wound of the sword and lived.

15 And it was given it to give spirit to the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast might even speak and make as many as do not worship the image of the beast be killed.

16 And it makes all, the small and the great and the rich and the poor and the free and the slaves, so that it may give them a mark upon their right hand or upon their foreheads,

17 and so that no one may be able to buy or sell except the one having the mark or the name of the beast or the number of its name.

18 Here is wisdom. The one having understanding, let him calculate the number of the beast, for it is a number of a man, and its number is six hundred sixty-six.

Chapter 14

1 And I saw, and behold, a lamb standing upon Mount Zion, and with him a hundred forty-four thousand having the name of his Father written upon their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voice from heaven as a voice of many waters and as a voice of great thunder, and I heard a voice of harpists playing on their harps.

3 And they sing as a new song before the throne and before the four living creatures and the elders; and no one was able to learn the song except the hundred forty-four thousand, those bought from the earth.

4 These are those who were not defiled with women, for they are virgins. These are those following the lamb wherever he goes. These were bought from men, a firstfruits to God and to the lamb.

5 And in their mouth deceit was not found, for they are without blemish before the throne of God.

6 And I saw another angel flying in midheaven, having eternal good news to proclaim to those dwelling upon the earth, and every nation and tribe and tongue and people,

7 saying with a great voice: Fear God and give him glory, because the hour of his judgment came; and worship the one who made heaven and earth and sea and springs of waters.

8 And another angel followed, saying: Fell, fell Babylon, the great city, because she has made all nations drink from the wine of the wrath of her fornication.

9 And a third angel followed them, saying with a great voice: If anyone worships the beast and its image and receives a mark upon his forehead or upon his hand,

10 he also will drink from the wine of the wrath of God, mixed unmixed in the cup of his anger, and will be tormented with fire and sulfur before the holy angels and before the lamb.

11 And the smoke of their torment goes up forever and ever, and they have no rest day and night, those worshiping the beast and its image, and if anyone receives the mark of its name.

12 Here is endurance of the saints; here are those keeping the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus.

13 And I heard a voice from heaven saying to me: Write: Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord from now on. Yes, says the Spirit, so that they may rest from their labors, and their works follow with them.

14 And I saw, and behold, a white cloud, and upon the cloud one sitting like a son of man, having upon his head a golden crown and in his hand a sharp sickle.

15 And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a great voice to the one sitting upon the cloud: Send your sickle and reap, because the hour to reap came for you, because the harvest of the earth has dried.

16 And the one sitting upon the cloud cast his sickle upon the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 And another angel came out of the temple in heaven, himself also having a sharp sickle.

18 And another angel came out of the altar, having authority over the fire, and called with a great cry to the one having the sharp sickle, saying: Send your sharp sickle and gather the clusters of the earth, because its grapes have ripened.

19 And the angel cast his sickle into the earth and gathered the vine of the earth, and cast into the great winepress of the wrath of God.

20 And the winepress was trodden outside the city, and blood came out of the winepress as far as the bridles of the horses, for a thousand six hundred stadia.

Chapter 15

1 And I saw another sign in heaven, great and marvelous, seven angels having seven plagues, the last, because in them the wrath of God was completed.

2 And I saw as a glassy sea mingled with fire, and those overcoming the beast and its image and its mark, the number of its name, standing upon the glassy sea, having harps of God.

3 And they sing the song of Moses, slave of God, and the song of the lamb, saying: Great and marvelous are your works, Lord God Almighty; righteous and true are your ways, king of the saints.

4 Who will certainly not fear you, Lord, and glorify your name? Because you alone are holy; because all the nations will come and worship before you, because your righteous ordinances were manifested.

5 And after these things I saw, and behold, the temple of the tent of testimony in heaven was opened,

6 and the seven angels having the seven plagues came out of the temple, clothed in pure and splendid linen and girded around the breasts with golden belts.

7 And one of the four living creatures gave the seven angels seven golden bowls full of the wrath of God, the one living forever and ever.

8 And the temple was filled with smoke from the glory of God and from his power, and no one was able to enter the temple until the seven plagues of the seven angels should be completed.

Chapter 16

1 And I heard a great voice from the temple saying to the seven angels: Go and pour out the bowls of the wrath of God into the earth.

2 And the first went away and poured out his bowl upon the earth, and there came a bad and evil sore upon the men having the mark of the beast and those worshiping its image.

3 And the second angel poured out his bowl into the sea, and it became blood as of a dead one, and every living soul died in the sea.

4 And the third angel poured out his bowl into the rivers and into the springs of the waters, and it became blood.

5 And I heard the angel of the waters saying: You are righteous, Lord, the one who is and who was and the holy one, because you judged these things,

6 because they poured out blood of saints and prophets, and you gave them blood to drink, for they are worthy.

7 And I heard another from the altar saying: Yes, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are your judgments.

8 And the fourth angel poured out his bowl upon the sun, and it was given him to scorch men with fire.

9 And men were scorched with great heat, and blasphemed the name of God, the one having authority over these plagues, and did not repent to give him glory.

10 And the fifth angel poured out his bowl upon the throne of the beast, and its kingdom became darkened, and they were chewing their tongues from the pain,

11 and blasphemed the God of heaven from their pains and from their sores, and did not repent from their works.

12 And the sixth angel poured out his bowl upon the great river Euphrates, and its water was dried, so that the way of the kings from the risings of the sun might be prepared.

13 And I saw from the mouth of the dragon and from the mouth of the beast and from the mouth of the false prophet three unclean spirits like frogs.

14 For they are spirits of demons doing signs, to go out to the kings of the earth and of the whole inhabited world, to gather them to war of that great day of God Almighty.

15 Behold, I come as a thief. Blessed is the one watching and keeping his garments, so that he may not walk naked and they see his shame.

16 And he gathered them into the place called in Hebrew Armageddon.

17 And the seventh angel poured out his bowl into the air, and a great voice came out from the temple of heaven, from the throne, saying: It has happened.

18 And there were voices and thunders and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as had not occurred since men came to be upon the earth, so great an earthquake, so mighty.

19 And the great city became three parts, and the cities of the nations fell, and Babylon the great was remembered before God, to give her the cup of the wine of the wrath of his anger.

20 And every island fled, and mountains were not found.

21 And great hail, as of a talent's weight, comes down from heaven upon men, and men blasphemed God from the plague of the hail, because its plague is exceedingly great.

Chapter 17

1 And one of the seven angels having the seven bowls came and spoke with me, saying to me: Come, I will show you the judgment of the great prostitute sitting upon the many waters,

2 with whom the kings of the earth committed fornication, and those dwelling on the earth were made drunk from the wine of her fornication.

3 And he carried me away into a wilderness in the Spirit, and I saw a woman sitting upon a scarlet beast full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.

4 And the woman was clothed with purple and scarlet, and gilded with gold and precious stone and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand full of abominations and uncleanness of her fornication,

5 and upon her forehead a name written: Mystery, Babylon the great, the mother of the prostitutes and of the abominations of the earth.

6 And I saw the woman drunk from the blood of the saints and from the blood of the witnesses of Jesus, and seeing her I marveled with great wonder.

7 And the angel said to me: Why did you marvel? I will tell you the mystery of the woman and of the beast bearing her, the one having the seven heads and the ten horns.

8 The beast which you saw was and is not, and is about to come up from the abyss and go into destruction; and those dwelling upon the earth will marvel, whose names have not been written upon the book of life from the foundation of the world, seeing the beast, that it was and is not, although it is.

9 Here is the understanding having wisdom: the seven heads are seven mountains, where the woman sits upon them.

10 And they are seven kings; the five fell, and the one is, the other has not yet come; and when he comes, he must remain a little.

11 And the beast which was and is not, he himself also is an eighth, and is from the seven, and goes into destruction.

12 And the ten horns which you saw are ten kings, who have not yet received a kingdom, but receive authority as kings for one hour with the beast.

13 These have one purpose, and will give their own power and authority to the beast.

14 These will make war with the lamb, and the lamb will overcome them, because he is Lord of lords and King of kings; and those with him are called and chosen and faithful.

15 And he says to me: The waters which you saw, where the prostitute sits, are peoples and crowds and nations and tongues.

16 And the ten horns which you saw upon the beast, these will hate the prostitute, and will make her desolated and naked, and will eat her flesh and burn her up with fire.

17 For God gave into their hearts to do his purpose, and to do one purpose, and to give their kingdom to the beast, until the words of God should be completed.

18 And the woman whom you saw is the great city having kingship over the kings of the earth.

Chapter 18

1 And after these things I saw an angel coming down from heaven, having great authority, and the earth was illuminated from his glory.

2 And he cried in strength with a great voice, saying: Fell, fell Babylon the great, and became a dwelling of demons and a prison of every unclean spirit and a prison of every unclean and hated bird,

3 because all the nations have drunk from the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth became rich from the power of her luxury.

4 And I heard another voice from heaven saying: Come out of her, my people, so that you may not partake together of her sins, and so that you may not receive from her plagues,

5 because her sins followed as far as heaven, and God remembered her wrongdoings.

6 Give back to her as she also gave back to you, and double to her double according to her works; in the cup which she mixed, mix double for her.

7 As much as she glorified herself and lived luxuriously, so much give her torment and mourning, because in her heart she says: I sit as a queen, and I am not a widow, and I will certainly not see mourning.

8 Because of this in one day her plagues will come, death and mourning and famine, and she will be burned up with fire, because strong is the Lord God judging her.

9 And the kings of the earth who committed fornication and lived luxuriously with her will weep for her and mourn over her, when they see the smoke of her burning,

10 standing from afar because of the fear of her torment, saying: Woe, woe, the great city Babylon, the strong city, because in one hour your judgment came.

11 And the merchants of the earth weep and mourn over her, because no one buys their cargo anymore,

12 cargo of gold and silver and precious stone and pearl and fine linen and purple and silk and scarlet, and every thyine wood and every ivory vessel and every vessel from most precious wood and bronze and iron and marble,

13 and cinnamon and incenses and ointment and frankincense and wine and oil and fine flour and wheat and cattle and sheep, and of horses and carriages and bodies, and souls of men.

14 And the ripe fruit of the desire of your soul departed from you, and all the rich and splendid things departed from you, and you will certainly not find them anymore.

15 The merchants of these things, those who became rich from her, will stand from afar because of the fear of her torment, weeping and mourning,

16 and saying: Woe, woe, the great city clothed with fine linen and purple and scarlet, and gilded with gold and precious stone and pearls,

17 because in one hour so great wealth was desolated. And every helmsman and all the company upon the ships and sailors and as many as work the sea stood from afar,

18 and were crying, seeing the smoke of her burning, saying: Who is like the great city?

19 And they cast dust upon their heads and were crying, weeping and mourning, saying: Woe, woe, the great city, in which all having ships in the sea became rich from her costliness, because in one hour she was desolated.

20 Rejoice over her, heaven and the holy apostles and the prophets, because God judged your judgment against her.

21 And one strong angel lifted a stone like a great millstone and cast it into the sea, saying: Thus with a rush Babylon the great city will be cast, and will certainly not be found anymore.

22 And a sound of harpists and musicians and flute players and trumpeters will certainly not be heard in you anymore; and any craftsman of any craft will certainly not be found in you anymore, and a sound of a mill will certainly not be heard in you anymore.

23 And a light of a lamp will certainly not shine in you anymore, and a voice of bridegroom and bride will certainly not be heard in you anymore, because your merchants were the great ones of the earth, because by your sorcery all the nations were deceived.

24 And in her was found blood of prophets and saints and of all those slaughtered upon the earth.

Chapter 19

1 And after these things I heard a great voice of a great crowd in heaven saying: Hallelujah, the salvation and the glory and the honor and the power to the Lord our God,

2 because true and righteous are his judgments, because he judged the great prostitute who corrupted the earth in her fornication, and avenged the blood of his slaves from her hand.

3 And a second time they have said: Hallelujah. And her smoke goes up forever and ever.

4 And the twenty-four elders and the four living creatures fell and worshiped God, the one sitting upon the throne, saying: Amen, hallelujah.

5 And a voice came out from the throne, saying: Praise our God, all his slaves and those fearing him, both the small and the great.

6 And I heard as a voice of a great crowd and as a voice of many waters and as a voice of strong thunders, saying: Hallelujah, because the Lord God Almighty reigned.

7 Let us rejoice and exult and give him the glory, because the marriage of the lamb came, and his wife prepared herself.

8 And it was given her that she might clothe herself with pure and splendid fine linen, for the fine linen is the righteous deeds of the saints.

9 And he says to me: Write: Blessed are those called to the supper of the marriage of the lamb. And he says to me: These are the true words of God.

10 And I fell before his feet to worship him, and he says to me: See that you do not; I am your fellow slave and of your brothers having the testimony of Jesus. Worship God. For the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy.

11 And I saw heaven opened, and behold, a white horse, and the one sitting upon it called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he judges and makes war.

12 And his eyes as a flame of fire, and upon his head many diadems, having a name written which no one knows except himself,

13 and clothed in a garment dipped in blood, and his name is called the Word of God.

14 And the armies in heaven were following him upon white horses, clothed in white and pure fine linen.

15 And from his mouth goes out a sharp sword, so that with it he may strike the nations; and he himself will shepherd them with an iron rod, and he himself treads the winepress of the wine of the wrath and of the anger of God Almighty.

16 And he has upon the garment and upon his thigh the name written: King of kings and Lord of lords.

17 And I saw one angel standing in the sun, and he cried with a great voice, saying to all the birds flying in midheaven: Come and gather to the supper of the great God,

18 so that you may eat flesh of kings and flesh of commanders of thousands and flesh of strong ones and flesh of horses and of those sitting upon them, and flesh of all, free and slaves and small and great.

19 And I saw the beast and the kings of the earth and their armies gathered to make war with the one sitting upon the horse and with his army.

20 And the beast was seized, and with it the false prophet who did the signs before it, by which he deceived those receiving the mark of the beast and those worshiping its image; the two were cast living into the lake of fire burning with sulfur.

21 And the rest were killed with the sword of the one sitting upon the horse, the one going out from his mouth, and all the birds were filled from their flesh.

Chapter 20

1 And I saw an angel coming down from heaven, having the key of the abyss and a great chain upon his hand.

2 And he seized the dragon, the ancient serpent, who is Devil and Satan, and bound him for a thousand years,

3 and cast him into the abyss and shut him in and sealed over him, so that he might not deceive the nations anymore until the thousand years should be completed; and after these things he must be loosed for a little time.

4 And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given them; and the souls of those beheaded because of the testimony of Jesus and because of the word of God, and those who did not worship the beast nor its image and did not receive the mark upon their forehead and upon their hand; and they lived and reigned with Christ for the thousand years.

5 But the rest of the dead did not live again until the thousand years should be completed. This is the first resurrection.

6 Blessed and holy is the one having part in the first resurrection; over these the second death has no authority, but they will be priests of God and of Christ, and will reign with him for a thousand years.

7 And when the thousand years should be completed, Satan will be loosed from his prison,

8 and will go out to deceive the nations in the four corners of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them to war, whose number is as the sand of the sea.

9 And they went up upon the breadth of the earth and encircled the camp of the saints and the beloved city, and fire came down from God out of heaven and devoured them.

10 And the devil deceiving them was cast into the lake of fire and sulfur, where the beast and the false prophet are, and they will be tormented day and night forever and ever.

11 And I saw a great white throne and the one sitting upon it, from whose face earth and heaven fled, and a place was not found for them.

12 And I saw the dead, small and great, standing before God, and books were opened, and another book was opened, which is of life; and the dead were judged from the things written in the books according to their works.

13 And the sea gave the dead in it, and death and Hades gave the dead in them, and they were judged, each according to their works.

14 And death and Hades were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death.

15 And if anyone was not found written in the book of life, he was cast into the lake of fire.

Chapter 21

1 And I saw a new heaven and a new earth, for the first heaven and the first earth passed away, and the sea is no more.

2 And I, John, saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.

3 And I heard a great voice from heaven saying: Behold, the tent of God with men, and he will dwell in a tent with them, and they will be his peoples, and God himself will be with them, their God.

4 And God will wipe away every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more, nor mourning nor cry nor pain will be anymore, because the first things departed.

5 And the one sitting upon the throne said: Behold, I make all things new. And he says to me: Write, because these words are true and faithful.

6 And he said to me: It has happened. I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give to the one thirsting from the spring of the water of life freely.

7 The one overcoming will inherit all things, and I will be God to him, and he will be the son to me.

8 But to the cowardly and unbelieving and abominable and murderers and fornicators and sorcerers and idolaters and all the false ones, their part in the lake burning with fire and sulfur, which is second death.

9 And one of the seven angels having the seven bowls full of the seven last plagues came to me and spoke with me, saying: Come, I will show you the bride, the wife of the lamb.

10 And he carried me away in the Spirit upon a great and high mountain, and showed me the great city, the holy Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from God,

11 having the glory of God, and its luminary like a most precious stone, as a jasper stone shining like crystal,

12 and having a great and high wall, having twelve gates, and upon the gates twelve angels, and names inscribed, which are of the twelve tribes of the sons of Israel.

13 From the east three gates, from the north three gates, from the south three gates, from the west three gates.

14 And the wall of the city having twelve foundations, and in them names of the twelve apostles of the lamb.

15 And the one speaking with me had a golden reed, so that he might measure the city and its gates and its wall.

16 And the city lies foursquare, and its length is as much as also the breadth; and he measured the city with the reed to twelve thousand stadia. Its length and breadth and height are equal.

17 And he measured its wall, a hundred forty-four cubits, a man's measure, which is an angel's.

18 And the building of its wall was jasper, and the city pure gold, like pure glass.

19 And the foundations of the wall of the city adorned with every precious stone: the first foundation jasper, the second sapphire, the third chalcedony, the fourth emerald,

20 the fifth sardonyx, the sixth sardius, the seventh chrysolite, the eighth beryl, the ninth topaz, the tenth chrysoprase, the eleventh hyacinth, the twelfth amethyst.

21 And the twelve gates twelve pearls; each one of the gates was from one pearl, and the street of the city pure gold, as transparent glass.

22 And I did not see a temple in it, for the Lord God Almighty is its temple, and the lamb.

23 And the city has no need of the sun nor of the moon to shine in it, for the glory of God illuminated it, and its lamp the lamb.

24 And the nations of those being saved will walk in its light, and the kings of the earth bring their glory and honor into it.

25 And its gates will certainly not be shut by day, for night will not be there.

26 And they will bring the glory and the honor of the nations into it.

27 And anything defiling and doing abomination and falsehood will certainly not enter into it, except those written in the book of life of the lamb.

Chapter 22

1 And he showed me a pure river of water of life, splendid as crystal, going out from the throne of God and of the lamb.

2 In the midst of its street, and on this side and that side of the river, a tree of life producing twelve fruits, giving its fruit each month, and the leaves of the tree for healing of the nations.

3 And every curse will be no more, and the throne of God and of the lamb will be in it, and his slaves will serve him,

4 and they will see his face, and his name upon their foreheads.

5 And night will not be there, and they have no need of a lamp and light of sun, because the Lord God illuminates them, and they will reign forever and ever.

6 And he said to me: These words are faithful and true; and the Lord God of the holy prophets sent his angel to show his slaves what must happen soon.

7 Behold, I come quickly. Blessed is the one keeping the words of the prophecy of this book.

8 And I, John, the one seeing these things and hearing; and when I heard and saw, I fell to worship before the feet of the angel showing me these things.

9 And he says to me: See that you do not; for I am your fellow slave and of your brothers the prophets and of those keeping the words of this book. Worship God.

10 And he says to me: Do not seal the words of the prophecy of this book, because the time is near.

11 The one doing injustice, let him do injustice still; and the one being filthy, let him be filthy still; and the righteous one, let him be justified still; and the holy one, let him be sanctified still.

12 And behold, I come quickly, and my reward with me, to give back to each as his work will be.

13 I am the Alpha and the Omega, beginning and end, the first and the last.

14 Blessed are those doing his commandments, so that their authority will be over the tree of life, and they may enter through the gates into the city.

15 But outside are the dogs and the sorcerers and the fornicators and the murderers and the idolaters and everyone loving and doing falsehood.

16 I, Jesus, sent my angel to testify these things to you concerning the churches. I am the root and the offspring of David, the splendid and morning star.

17 And the Spirit and the bride say: Come. And the one hearing, let him say: Come. And the one thirsting, let him come; and the one wishing, let him take water of life freely.

18 For I testify together to everyone hearing the words of the prophecy of this book: If anyone adds to these things, God will add upon him the plagues written in this book.

19 And if anyone takes away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God will take away his part from the book of life and from the holy city and the things written in this book.

20 The one testifying these things says: Yes, I come quickly. Amen. Yes, come, Lord Jesus.

21 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with all of you. Amen.
